We've known misguided girls who washed their hair twice a week — just because a best friend did so. Some hair needs frequent sudsing. (Typical example: tresses treated several times a day to hair-sprays.) But other hair may tend to "wear out" through too many "home shampoos." This hair loses its body and elasticity; it's had too much of too-harsh cleansing. We'll be honest with you and your hair. Come in and consult about your personal shampoo schedule.
TROUBLE-SHOOTER
Our salon shampoos offer something else, as well as scientific care. We massage away your tensions, and float nervous strain right down the drain. Your scalp feels so good, under our strong fingers. Taut neck muscles settle back in line. It's worth the price of the whole session, just to feel that sudsy let-down. And that makes your glamorous new hairstyle an extra bonus, doesn't it?
FROM UNDER THE DRYER:
Ever noticed? When a man gets too big for his britches, his hat won't fit either.
If there's an alert, aggressive all around hair dresser reading this column, who is interested in working with us, give a call or drop in.

"Why Did My Cleaner Remove My Dress Buttons?

—Mrs. S. Y. N.

Dear Mrs. S. Y. N.:

You mention that you sewed your buttons on especially tight before sending your dress to the drycleaner. Then you learned he removed the buttons, cleaned the dress and sewed them back on. He made a charge for this, too. Well, Mrs. S. Y. N., he probably saved your very attractive buttons and saved himself from a reasonable complaint by you.

Buttons do strange things when drycleaned. Some take cleaning without a qualm. The majority, I'm afraid seem to resent drycleaning, especially those beautiful ornaments and buttons dreamed up by dress designers and made from the new plastic varieties. Drycleaners have learned to their sorrow that some of these buttons and ornaments will vanish completely when immersed in drycleaning solvent; some distort and take on crazy shapes; same soften, some chip, some lose color or bleed onto the fabric. Then who gets the blame?

Taking buttons and ornaments off, sewing them back on, is a tedious process in some cases, Mrs. S. Y. N., especially if there are many of them. It takes time, and labor costs are rising constantly. Frequently drycleaners are forced to make a charge for this service.

To preserve your lovely buttons and ornaments, I would suggest instead of sewing them on tightly before sending a garment to the drycleaner, that you remove the buttons and resew them when your garment returns fresh and clean. Or be certain that your drycleaner does. He will be glad to perform this service and you will be better satisfied.

Council To Learn Origins Of Yule Traditions At Meet

"Adventures into Yuletide Traditions" will be the theme of the Columbus Council PTA meeting Thursday, Dec. 6, 1:30 p.m. at Central High School.

A program of carols, yuletide traditions and customs will be presented by the 150-voice chorus of fifth and sixth grade pupils from Leawood Elementary School.

The origin of traditional American customs, as the carols, Christmas tree, lights, gifts and the creche, will be traced through narration and song.

Since many of these traditions came to America from other lands, some of the carols will be sung in their original language. Included will be carols from France, Germany, England and Italy.

Teachers of the participating classes are, Mrs. Janet Sander, Miss Faith Yochum, Mrs. Gladys Newell and Don Skelton.

Assisting student teachers from Capital University will be Miss Beth Linder and Ronald Kenreich.

Mrs. Kathleen Trueblood is principal.

Columbus To Host European 'Invasion'

MAPPING EFFECTIVENESS of the defensive blue forces in the mock war to be conducted by the 37th Infantry Division Dec. 8 and 9 are members of the 166th Infantry, stationed at the Sullivant-av Armory. M/Sgt. Alfred DeLeon, right, regular army advisor to the 166th, of 4167 Sullivant-av, is explaining proposed troop movements to M/Sgt. Walter Donaugh, sergeant major of the 166th, of 3380 Fairmoor.

COORDINATING by teletype the mock movements of troops of the 166th Infantry who will participate in the gigantic Army exercise Dec. 8 and 9 are operators, left M/Sgt. James Merwine, Hilltridge-rd, Reynoldsburg and Daniel Mitchell, 4169 Sullivant-av.

By TED BEARDSHEAR

If it looks like an Army invasion the weekend of Dec. 8, Columbusites will be right. Except the army is here to play something like—chess not invade the city.

More than 900 officers and men of the Ohio's 37th Infantry Division will be here for the maneuver. Units will come from all over the state.

According to Col. Spain, executive officer of the 166th Infantry, a Hilltop unit, it is a "free map maneuver exercise; a vehicle to teach commanders and unit staffs the principles and techniques of operations."

The only thing missing from this "war" will be the sound of guns, bombs, shells and die-hard infantry-men digging foxholes in the backyard. But they'll all be there on paper.

Maj. Gen. Loren K. Windom, commander of the 37th and Ohio adjutant general, will direct the continuous 24-hour battle from his headquarters at Fort Hayes. Two other National Guard armories in Columbus—Sullivant-av and Howey-rd—also will be used as battle headquarters for the opposing divisions.

Apparent at the three posts will be personnel, trucks carrying the latest Army radios and wire field phones. Inside, there will be a flurry of activities around the maps and teletypes. Commercial phones will be used to convey information from post to post.

"This is no canned exercise—we could lose this war," said M-Sgt. Walter Donough, sergeant-major of the 166th Infantry.

The exercise is reported to be the first of this type ever conducted by a reserve component division.

Using its top staff officers and non-coms, the Ohio National Guard division will split into two mythical divisions. The "Red" divisions will be the agressors. The "Blue" divisions will be the defenders who purpose is to "make a river crossing and to prevent the agressors from withdrawing."

The field of operations is not Columbus. Rather the maps are of a European nation.

The players will be placed in the situation with a briefing, the requirements will be outlined and the maneuver will begin Saturday afternoon.

From that point on, the commanders of the imaginary forces wil devise plans, issue orders and make sound decisions in an effort to accomplish their respective division's missions.

Gibson Heads 'Umpires'

Umpires, headed by Brig. Gen. Oliver H. Gibson, assistant adjutant general of Ohio, numbering over 100 will decide questions arising during the maneuver. For instance, when contact is made between the two divisions, the umpires will decide whether either force is able to advance. They will paint the battle conditions.

Simulated atomic attacks will be used to impress on commanders and their staffs the magnitudes of the weapons and their effect.

The umpires will use dice to determine the effectiveness of the weapons and the "computors" will take into consideration maneuvering and the exposure of troops in the target area.

The map war will provide as realistic an approach to combat conditions as can be obtained in a classroom. Only the blood and sound will be missing.

Teenagers Are Wanted At Center

East Columbus Recreation Center needs teen-agers (12-18) who like people, fun and learning something unusual for participation in teen activities. Activities are listed below.

Monday, girls in gym, modern jazz, 7-8 p.m., basketball 8-9:30 p.m.; free movie for all 7-9:30 p.m.

Tuesday, teen newspaper, 7-8:30 or 9 p.m., boys intermediate basketball leagues 7 p.m.

Wednesday, Teen Club 7-7:30 p.m., for girls only 7:30-9 p.m., boys' gym 7:30-9:30 p.m., weightlifting 8-9 p.m.

Friday, teen dances 7:30-9 p.m.

Saturday, boys' gym 10:30-11:45 a.m.

The cross country team at East Columbus Recreation Center consisted of Larry Matthews, Richard Price, John Matthews, George Blunt, Arnold Fuller and Reed Jackson. The team placed second in the All-City Meet, with Larry Matthews coming in fifth and Reed Jackson coming in tenth.

Basketball league standings at present are:

Annexation Bid Rejected Friday

A request to annex 946 acres of Franklin Township to Columbus was rejected by county commissioners Friday.

Commissioners explained most of the resident landowners who signed the original petition had asked to have their names withdrawn.

The tract is west of the Scioto River and south of Frank-rd. It included 239 acres of city-owned property, including the Columbus Workhouse.

Little Action At Bexley Due To Absenteeism

It's getting to be a habit with Bexley council members. Another regular Tuesday night meeting slipped by with little action because of the absence of two of the solons.

Council President C. J. Kurtz and Councilman William Schoedinger were both missing from this latest meeting.

The solons who did make it slated a meeting Thursday night to act on a rezoning ordinance allowing apartments to be constructed on Parkview-av between Bryden rd and Main-st.

Councilman J. Roth Crabbe, speaking for the Bexley Civic Improvements Association, also informed the lawmakers that that group would like some official word on when it could start excavating for Bexley's first swimming pool to be located on the Jeffrey Mansion grounds.

Pledges totaling $55,000 already have been received by the BCIA.

Ram 5 Spoils Raider Opener With 51-49 Win

Jeff Robinson's drive-in layup goal with 11 seconds remaining in the game handed Reynoldsburg a heart-breaking 51-49 loss to Whitehall in the Raiders' cage opener Tuesday night.

Fifteen-point performances by senior Bobby Nease and sophomore Carty Spencer helped Reynoldsburg to a 30-20 halftime lead but the Rams charged back with a 31-point second half to set up Robinson's heroics in the final seconds of play.

Sam Maxwell led all scorers with 17 points for Whitehall while Darryl Redman and John Merringer chipped in for seven points each for the losing Raiders.

Central Wins Cage Tourney

Central's Pirates assumed a contender tag in the upcoming City League title race Saturday by topping South, 58-45, to win the Capital City Invitational cage tournament.

Senior Tom Fullove paced the Buc attack with 16 points as Central jumped off to an early lead and were never headed.

WHETSTONE HARASSED Marion-Franklin with a tight defense, downing the Red Devils, 55-41, in the consolation game.

Friday night's opening games saw South edge Marion-Franklin, 51-49, and Central wallop Whetstone, 60-40, to set up the playoff match.

Sophomore Joe Middendorf settled the nip-and-tuck Bulldog-Devil game with two straight baskets, the last one coming with 59 seconds remaining.

Middendorf led South scorers with 15 points while Ted Ayres dropping in 12 markers for the losers. George Broadnax paced Central's win over Whetstone with 14 points. The Pirates led only 14-12 at the end of the first period but gradually pulled away.

Homemakers 'Speak Their Minds' At Chicago Conference

CHICAGO — The growing importance and changing responsibilities of America's 21 million suburban homemakers were stressed here last week at a National Suburban Homemakers Conference.

More than 200 persons met in the Sheraton-Blackstone hotel to hear 54 representative homemakers, finalists in the search for National Suburban Homemaker of 192, frankly discuss the "Changing Patterns of Living as They Affect the American Homemaker." The national conference was sponsored by the Suburban Press Foundation, Inc. (Hartley Newspapers are members of the foundation).

Topics covered in the two-hour discussion session ranged from supermarkets and shopping habits to home design, Communists and TV commercials.

Here are some of the comments, conclusions and suggestions of the nation's top suburban homemakers.

—"We need more recipe and cooking information on packages." . . . . I like the variety to be found in the 9000 items stocked by the typical supermarket but I find it overwhelming." "Food needs to be packaged in larger quantities, both for economy and to save time with fewer trips to the store." "Candy displays at checkout counters pose problems for children. Can't they be eliminated or placed out of reach?"

—Appliance manufactures need to perfect their products, reduce service and maintenance problems.

—"If consumers are dissatisfied, it is up to them to let industry know it and express their wishes. We are homemakers and consumers and must get through to industry. We haven't told them how we feel."

—Kitchen appliances, particularly dishwashers and garbage disposals, often pose safety hazards for small children. "I would like control knobs on back panel and some precaution made to make it impossible for children to operate disposal.

—Most new homes have insufficient work space in the kitchens.

—"We're worried about safe foods, preservatives, bug sprays, insecticides. How can we be sure foods we buy are safe for our families?"

On the press and TV:

—"With respect to magazines reproducing classic masterpieces in nude art, art is in the eyes of the beholder. If children have been introduced to this type of thing through going to art museums and parents have taken care to teach them the fine arts, there should be no reason for them not to see such photos. Anything that God created is beautiful."

—"Editors and publishers must realize their tremendous responsibility to the public. The press sometimes dramatizes sex so much that they must think it is the most important thing in life."

—"There is a lot of bad TV, and I'm concerned about it. But the kind of censorship to be imposed must come from the parents. When a bad show comes on, I shut off the set and get a book for my children to read."

—"We need more educational programming, baby and child care shows on TV."

—All the homemakers stressed they had a lot of faith in their suburban hometown newspapers because they "know the reporters and publishers who take an active part in the community and therefore are more accurate and more apt to tell the truth than the city dailies which don't have to be responsible to the local readership. The suburban paper is personal and brings people together."

—They were nearly unanimous in protesting the Christmas toy commercials on television. "They are getting completely out of hand."

Eagles To Hold Benefit Dinner

Boy Scout Troop 297 of Columbus Aerie No. 297 Fraternal Order of Eagles, 771 N. High-st, is sponsoring a fried chicken dinner Saturday, Dec. 1, from 5 till 8 p.m.

The dinner is open to all Eagles and families, guests, and friends. Donations are $1 for adults and 50c for children under 12.

Rodenfels Is Building Truck Service Center

A major expansion of its service department is under way at Rodenfels Chevrolet Company, 555 W. Broad-st, according to an announcement today by Richard R. Rodenfels, president.

Plans call for the erection of a new building on land recently acquired to the rear of the present property. This building will house the new Truck Service Center where trucks of all makes will be serviced.

Rodenfels plans to add 18 additional mechanics to accommodate the firms' growing service volume. "Since all truck service will be handled in the new facility, passenger car service in the present service department will be greatly speeded up," Rodenfels said.

The new facility will be ready for business in early 1963. Krause and Pagura is new structure.

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the new Rodenfels Chevrolet Truck Service Center were held recently at the site of the new location—rear of 555 W. Broad. The Center, which will employ 18 additional mechanics, will open in early 1963. From left are: William G. Dennis, service manager, Donald B. Suiser, truck manager; Joseph Schuman, Chevrolet district manager; Howard C. Lloyd, general sales manager; Richard R. Rodenfels, president, and William Krause of Krause and Pagura, contractors.

Heaping Measure Of Pride Goes To 'Our Homemakers'

By "MIDGE" DeWITT

Ever wonder how Cinderella felt after the ball?

Hartley Newspapers had a good chance to check the reactions of four Cinderellas this past week. Our Suburban Homemakers, Mrs. Kedron Heckner, Mrs. L. T. McKinley, Mrs. Philip Wagner and Mrs. Oliver Tallman, returned from Chicago with nothing but words of praise about the contest. And even though they didn't get the princely gift of $5,000, all four suburban homemakers were aglow with pride for the profession in which they serve.

The airplane trip was a first for Emma Wagner and she admits that the 40 minutes the plane circled Columbus attempting to land gave her "a few anxious moments." But the greeting, complete with oversize signs "Welcome Home Suburban Homemaker of the Year," tambourines and other noisemakers in the hands of friends, which the stewardess told the ladies awaited them on the ground quickly allayed all fears.

They were greeted by their loyal subjects: husbands, children, neighbors and friends. The largest delegation of 20 was led by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Green of Reynoldsburg. Mr. Greene, owner of Davidson-Greene Volkswagen, is Mr. Heckner's employer.

The queens agreed that the fact that all four husbands and 16 children left behind them had missed them was the greatest prize they could have won. The three days in Chicago was the longest time that June Tallman had ever been away from her family.

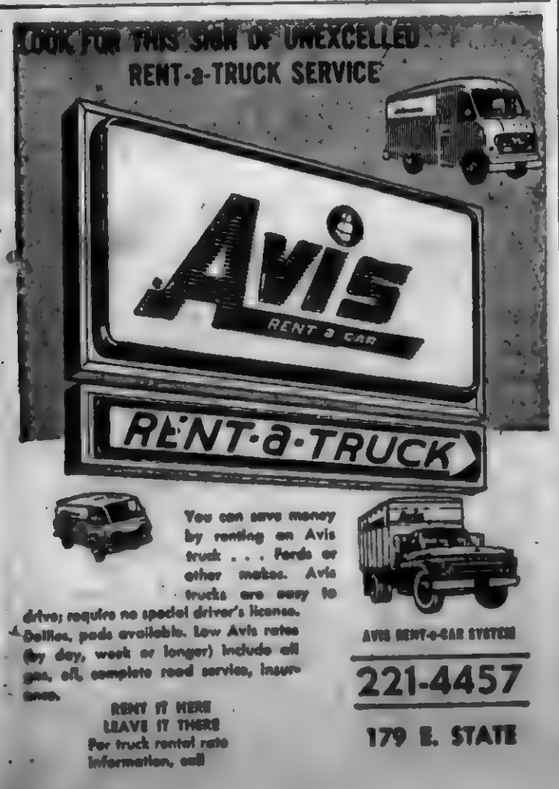
Old Friends Rediscovered

Midge McKinley says she has rediscovered many old friends and made many new ones as a result of the contest. Mrs. Wagner's mother, who lives in Lithopolis where Emma grew up, was "flooded with phone calls" about her famous daughter. One call came from a 95-year-old cousin who just called to say she was proud of Cousin Emma.

Several bon voyage parties were held for the candidates before they took off for Chicago. A luncheon was held in Mrs. McKinley's honor by her husband's employer, Ernest G. Fritsche, and there was a nice gift of money which Midge "immediately spent on clothes for the trip."

The adult church choir which Mrs. Wagner directs saw that she had just the right costume jewelry for her trip.

When the Girl Scouts held their first meeting at Mrs. Tallman's home after her return, one of the girls, who, like every good Scout, had taken an oath of bravery, just couldn't hold back the tears when told that her troop leader had not been elected national winner.



Mrs. Tallman also treasures a surprise letter of congratulations from her children's first grade school teacher now living in New York.

An after-the-ball party was held by a dozen or so of Mrs. Tallman's friends and each lady entered the house waving a copy of June's favorite recipe clipped from the pages of the special Homemaker Section. For many years she had served her caramel party pie to her friends but had kept the recipe a carefully guarded secret.

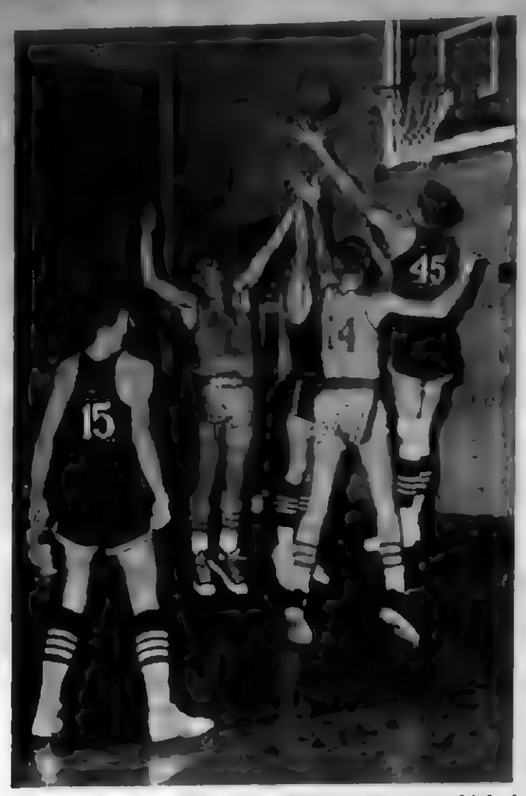
Midge McKinley confides that she made a discovery because of her part in the contest — "how wonderful people are and how pleased they can be at the good fortune of someone else."

All four homemakers agreed that when asked by friends, "How did you come out?" they could never say, "We lost." They felt they had won much — a new adventure in Chicago, new ideas from the panel discussions that were a part of the Suburban Homemaker Conference, a new sense of pride in their "trade," and above all, they still had their own special kingdom over which to reign.

Long live our four queens!

GOOD NEWS FOR COLUMBUS

RODENFELS TO EXPAND SERVICE DEPARTMENT



18 NEW MECHANICS

Rodenfels announces the construction of a new Truck Service Center which will be completed and ready for business in early 1963. This new facility will assure you even faster service at Rodenfels. The new facility will employ 18 additional mechanics. Trucks will be serviced in the new addition which will free up space and man power for passenger cars in our present Service Department. This expansion is in line with our policy of making and keeping Rodenfels the No. 1 automobile dealership in Central Ohio.

Whitehall, Academy, Lions Drop Openers

WHITEHALL'S Gary DeForest (45) leaps high to snare an errant Gahanna shot off the backboard between two Lion players, Rick Mathews (40) and Gary Starrett (14). Looing on is the Rams' Ken Maxwell (15).

Three area basketball teams opened their '62-'63 cage seasons on a sour note last weekend as high school hardwood action bounced into the sports picture.

Whitehall suffered a 44-39 defeat at the hands of Gahanna which saw the winning Lions come back after trailing 22-15 at intermission.

THE RAMS hung onto a 28-28 tie at the end of three quarters but couldn't keep pace with Gahanna's strong second-half effort.

Bill Dildine led all scorers with a 16-point performance and Howie Bailey added 10 more markers but it wasn't quite enough to put out a Whitehall win. The Ram Reserves won, 25-20.

Rams Edge Raiders

Jeff Robinson's last second field goal gave Whitehall its first cage win of the season, a 51-49 squeaker over Reynoldsburg Tuesday evening.

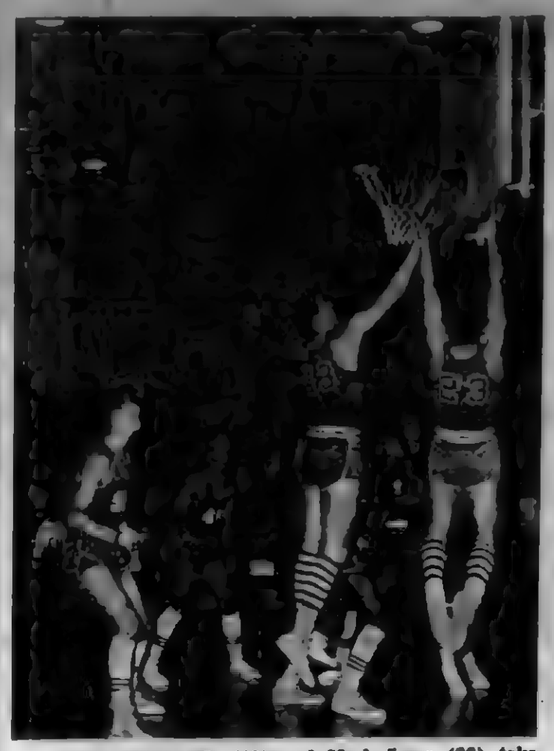
Robinson's lay-up goal with 11 seconds remaining in the game capped a brilliant Ram comeback after they had trailed by 10 points at halftime.

Sam Maxwell topped the Whitehall scorers with 17 points while Bob Nease and Canty Spencer each dropped in 15 for the losers. The Ram Reserves copped their second straight win, 26-17.

BEXLEY ALSO watched a 26-22 halftime lead melt away as Grove City came on strong to down the Lions, 49-46.

Jim Hoyer put 17 of Bexley's points on the scoreboard but the Lions couldn't keep pace with the Greyhounds' second half comeback. Bexley did cop the prelim, however 45-37.

Jim Workman, the Mid-Eight League's top scorer last season, dropped in 22 points for the winners.



BILL GROVES' basket with 26 seconds remaining in the game gave Berne Union a 34-32 comeback win over Academy Saturday night.

The Vikings led 29-18 as late as the beginning of the final period but couldn't suppress the Rockets fourth-period splurge.

Academy's Holzman paced the loser's attack with 15 points.

WEEKEND CAGE action finds Worthington at Bexley, Whitehall at Mt. Vernon, Academy at St. Marys, Hartley at Linden, East at Chillicothe, Eastmoor at Portsmouth and St. Charles at Aquinas, all Friday night.

Saturday competition has Aquinas at Hartley (2 p.m.), DeSales at Walnut Ridge and Bexley at St. Charles.

JACK DIAMOND (43) and Mark Lang (33) take to the air in true Hartley Hawk fashion as they surround an errant Rosary shot in Saturday night play at the Mission Carnival. Watching the Hawk flight are Rosary's Ed Rohenbeck (51) and Butch Micheal (45).

ST. CHARLES' Mike Baumann (0) leaps high to bat in a tip shot against Holy Family in Mission Carnival action Saturday night. Family's Dick Getz (35) jumps too late to interfere with Baumann's effort while the Carolians' Frank Lally (10) looks on.

Rams, Eagles Mission Champs

St. Marys and Watterson took top honors in their individual brackets in the Mission Basketball Tourney Saturday night at Ready.

The Rams' George Maurer was the evening's top scorer with 20 points, 15 of them coming in one 'game' as he scored all his teams points.

Each game lasted through one eight-minute period. Here are the individual scores: Watterson 12, St. Charles 10; St. Marys 12, Newark Catholic 6; St. Marys 15, DeSales 8; Watterson 9, Hartley 5; St. Charles 16, Holy Family 4; DeSales 6, Rosary 5; Newark 18, Holy Family 6; Hartley 7, Rosary 4.

THREE RETURN AT BEXLEY

Scots, Rams, Vikings Face Loop Openers

Three area teams roll up their sleeves and get down to league business this weekend as basketball '62-'63 works up a full head of steam, while a fourth still has a few weeks to prepare for its loop opener.

At Walnut Ridge, head hoop coach Jackie Moore has 10 juniors and three sophomores to mold into a cage squad before the Scots make their initial appearance into the City League this season.

Six of the 10 juniors are lettermen and include Jim Pyles (5-11), Ron Dawson (5-9), Mike Wiebusch (5-8), Dennis Day (5-8), Don McKray (6-3) and Don Arledge (5-9).

The other junior candidates are Allen Glickler (5-10), Jim Purnell (6-1) (both reserve lettermen), Ken Evans (6-3), a transfer from Japan and Danny Wolff (5-11), back this season after being sidelined last year with a broken leg suffered in football.

Sophomore candidates up from the junior high team are 5-9 Dave Feyh, 5-11 John McQuaid and 5-11 Dave Walter.

All but Glickler, Purnell and Evans were varsity lettermen in football this past season.

The Scotties lack height, speed and experience as they prepare for their City League opener, Dec. 13 at Marion-Franklin but Moore has been impressed with the squad's attitude and hustle and expects his charges to improve with age.

Walnut Ridge won only one basketball game last season—a double overtime win against DeSales, which opens the Scot cage card, Dec. 1.

Although league play opens this Friday, the outlook at Whitehall is brighter with five lettermen returning to bolster head cage coach 'Shook' Morelands' hopes for a successful CBL season.

Three seniors should key the Ram cagers with 5-10 Howie Bailey, 6-1 Bill Dildine and 6-2 Sam Maxwell back to resume their hardwood duties.

Eric Ford (6-2) and Jeff Robinson (6-0), both juniors, give Moreland a full quintet of experienced cagers. Top prospects up from last season's reserve squad are Ken Maxwell, a junior, and Dan Francis, a senior.

Gary DeForest, a 6-4 senior, and Joe Colling, a 5-8 senior, both trying their hand at the hardwood for the first time, should provide Moreland with some valuable depth.

Over at Academy, head coach Phil Hess has three lettermen returning in his Viking squad of 35 prospects.

The Vikings, who finished in a fourth-place tie with a 10-6 mark in the Franklin County League last season, will be banking heavily on the services of three veterans—6-0 senior forward Ed Laws, 5-10 junior forward John Larrimer and 6-4 junior center Ken Holzman to carry them through a 17-game slate.

Top reserve prospects moving up to the varsity are 6-0 senior forward Mike Leahy, 5-10 senior guard Pete Peterson, 6-1 sophomore forward Steve Blake and 5-9 sophomore guard Terry Larrimer.

Academy lists University and St. Marys as the team to beat in the County circuit this season. Assisting Hess with his cage duties this season will be Dick Price.

Ex-Ohio State cager Gene Millard has three starters back from last years' team to give Bexley a semi-experienced squad.

Seniors Jim Hayes, Jeff Schmidt and Roger Williamson will provide Milliard with a good slice of game experience while senior Jeff Berlin should also be an important part of the Lion's CBL efforts this season.

Hayes, as a member of CBL all-league team last season, should be the key to any Bexley title aspirations this year. Junior John Poston at 6-3 and sophomore Bill Salt, also standing 6-3, should make up in height what they lack in experience.

"If we can get a lot of help from some of the younger boys and a maximum effort from our seniors, we could have an interesting season," Milliard said, looking ahead to the Lions' Central Buckeye slate.

Basketball Lore For Women Only

Have you ever sat at a basketball game and looked over to see some poor soul sitting there with a confused look on his face?

You probably have or if you haven't you were most likely to engrossed in the action to notice.

STRANGE AS it might seem to the rabid cage fan, there are some people who come out to the game to watch junior play, cheer their lungs out but really never know what it's all about.

So,— come on, mom. Let those dishes soak for a moment in that new washday discovery you're using and take a look here. This might be of interest to you.

It would be too large a job to explain everything about that head-spinning game called basketball but here are a few things on which you might nudge pop and display your knowledge next time that official blows that infernal whistle on the hardwood court.

DISCOUNTING FOULS for the moment, your team might hand over the ball to the opposition on any one of these four rule infractions or several timing goofs.

The No. 1 culprit is probably "traveling" (or in the old days, "steps"). This infraction occurs when a player in possession moves both his feet when he is not "dribbling" (bouncing) the ball. One foot must remain stationary.

The next most common infraction is "double dribble." That occurs when a player in possession stops bouncing the ball and then resumes his dribbling without exchanging the ball first with another player. This infraction can also occur if the player touches the ball with both hands while dribbling.

ANOTHER INFRACTION is known as "over and back." This occurs when the ball is returned back over the center line after a player has crossed the line moving toward his basket.

"Palming the ball" is another infraction which is usually hard to catch. This occurs when a player in possession (while dribbling) takes a step with the palm of his hand under the ball.

Two timing rules when not observed also result in the loss of possession. The first involves the team in possession getting the ball over the center line after an out-of-bounds play. If the offensive team does not get the ball over the center line in 10 seconds, it loses possession.

THE SECOND major timing violation occurs when an offensive player remains stationary in the six-foot line beneath his basket, for a period of longer than three seconds.

The other major understanding of basketball revolves around "fouling."

There are two types of fouls — personal and technical. Technical fouls are for the most part rare and are not often called.

A technical foul might be called for excessive bench coaching, player, fan or coach harassing of an official or on a player hassle.

PERSONAL FOULS are are much more frequent—too frequent, as most coaches and students of the game will tell you.

Basically a personal foul is called when a player makes bodily contact with an opposing player, often causing the loss of possession or interference with an intended shot at the basket.

There are offensive and defensive fouls but the most common is the defensive foul which results in the foul shot.

Defensive fouls can be called for a number of reasons but most common is contact involved when a defensive player attempts to "steal" the ball, resulting in bodily contact, interfering contact on shot attempts, excessive contact made on rebounds.

THE MOST common offensive foul is "charging" which occurs when a player in possession makes bodily contact with a defensive player who is stationary.

Each player, (except in professional basketball games) is allowed five fouls before he is out of the game. A player fouled in the act of shooting is awarded two free shots at the basket from the foul line, each shot counting one point. Regular play baskets are worth two points.

If a player is fouled while not in the act of shooting at the basket, he is given one shot until the opposition accumulates a total of five team fouls in a half.

AT THIS point, the player fouled is given one shot and an option. If he makes the first shot, he may shoot a second time.

The foul shot, incidentally, must hit the steel rim of the basket. If it does not, the ball is ruled dead and the opposition takes possession.

Those are a few basics. Here are a few words you might hear at a baskeball game: "freezing" the ball—when the team in possession attempts to run out the clock by maintaining possession and not shooting at the basket; goal tending — when a defensive player interferes with the ball on its downward flight toward the basket or touches the net when the ball is in flight; fast break—when a team attempts to move the ball down the floor quickly, usually with several long passes before the opposition can set up his defenses; center jump — when the two opposing centers jump to tip the ball to a teammate at the start of each of four quarters; tip in — when a player scores a basket after the ball has been initially shot and is bouncing off the rim or backboard; rebounding — securing possession of the ball after a shot; turnover — loss of possession before a team can make a shot at the basket; jump ball— when two opposing players maintain equal possession of the ball at the same time.

And that, sport fans, is basically basketball — in a very large nutshell.

Meat consumption per person varies widely by country. Last year New Zealand was the highest consumer, with 223 pounds per person. Per capita consumption in the U. S. was 161 pounds, according to OSU Extension economists.

Area Rallied In Safety Check Tests

Several area counties, communities and organizations received special awards this week as results of the National Vehicle Safety Check program of last May were tabulated by the Auto Industries High Safety Committee of the Ohio Department of Highway Safety.

These, in Hartley Newspaper locations, include:

Franklin and Madison counties, The Columbus Catholic Youth Council, the Somerset Holy Trinity Catholic Youth Council, St. Joseph's Cathedral, the city of Columbus.

The official reports show that 416,265 vehicles in Ohio received the 10-point Safety Check during the 1962 program. Of this total, 59,283 vehicles were found to be defective in one or more of the items included on the safety check list.

Five people will receive an award of $100 worth of groceries, at the rate of $10 per week for 10 weeks.

At the Brunner Bros. Texaco Service Station five people will receive 100 gallons of gasoline. In addition it will give away 200 lubrication jobs and two mud and snow tires.

Two Are Promoted At City National Bank

Boyer

Patton

Two promotions have been announced for City National Bank's East Broad office.

Bruce Boyer, 400 Stanbery, manager, has been named assistant vice-president, and John Patton, 2400 Bryden-rd, assistant manager, has been promoted to assistant cashier.

They are among 16 officers of City National promoted in a major realignment of responsibilities. In making the announcement, John G. McCoy, bank president, said all promotions were made from within the present officer staff.

All branch office managers and major department supervisors were named assistant vice-presidents. Assistant office managers were promoted to assistant cashiers.

Others named assistant vice-presidents are Elmer Athearn, Long-st manager; Glenn Beaber, Olentangy manager; Bill Jones, West Broad manager; Bill Owens, Kingsdale manager; Charles Arganbright, Cleveland-av manager; Ken Merrick, installment loan manager; Tom Boswell, mortgage loan manager; Elsa Schnug, travel department manager; John Fisher, advertising and public relations director; and Ben Stevenson, investment officer.

Others named assistant cashiers are Ken Schwenker, Olentangy assistant manager; Ken Helmick, West Broad assistant manager; Gerald Truck, Cleveland-av assistant manager; and Jim Imes, Kingsdale assistant manager.

Career Meet Of Agriculture College Slated

Ohio State University's College of Agriculture and Home Economics will stage a career conference from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 1.

Dr. Roy M. Kottmen, dean of the college, will talk with agriculture and home economics students about career opportunities and study courses available at Ohio State.

Interested students will meet in the Agricultural Administration building while those interested in home economics will meet in Campbell Hall.

Columbus Men Are Appointed To Loan Group

Harold C. Esper, president of Main Federal, Columbus, has been appointed vice chairman of the Public Relations Committee of the Ohio Savings and Loan League by Charles S. Merion, Cleveland, league president.

Other Columbus men also appointed to the committee are: William Guthrie, president of Buckeye Federal; Arthur Allen, president of Ohio Federal; and H. C. Gockenbach, president of Dollar Federal.

This Little Boy Is Everybody's Little Boy!

He Is The 1962 Christmas Seal Boy

Marlon Burton and his brother, Darrell, two, are pictured on the Tuberculosis Society's Christmas Seal appeal letter delivered last week to 225,000 Columbus and Franklin County residents.

Last April, Marlon and and his father entered Benjamin Franklin (TB) Hospital for treatment. Marlon's mother and Darrell remained well, and at home, 1009 26th Ave.

Thanks to Christmas Seal research which has improved treatment methods and shortened hospitalization periods, the Burtons can look forward to being a united family again.

"There were 365 new cases of tuberculosis of all kinds reported in Columbus and Franklin County last year," John Nippert, president of the Board of Directors of the Tuberculosis Society, reported today. "Many of these cases were first reported from free Christmas Seal X-rays and school tuberculin tests," he said. "The Burtons are typical of families separated by contagious tuberculosis."

Goal in the Tuberculosis Society's once-a-year Christmas Seal campaign is $212,000. Dr. Harold H. Eibling, Superintendent of Columbus Public Schools, is general chairman.

"The TB Society's aim — to protect family circles by eradicating contagious TB — never changes," Nippert pointed out. "In 1963, our programs will be re-directed to make them even more effective. They will focus on other lesser-known respiratory diseases which often delay diagnosis and treatment of TB."

Next year Christmas Seal dollars alone will provide an estimated 50,000 free TB-RD chest X-rays and 20,000 school tuberculin tests; concentrated projects to find all tuberculosis infection in given high incidence groups; health education and dramatic research projects aimed at finding better diagnostic tools, a drug to kill the TB germ and a vaccine to prevent TB.

SWISS OPEN NEW CLUBROOM, PLAN SAENGERFEST HERE

GRAND OPENING of the new Swiss Club 1036 S. Front-st, also launched plans for the 1965 Swiss Saengerfest, with singers from all over the country appearing here June 4, 5 and 6. The new Swiss Chalet building, overlooking the Scioto, is the clubhouse of the organization, made up of five societies. The Saengerfest in 1965 will be held at Veterans Memorial. Appearing at the dedication were, from left, Mayor and Mrs. Ralston Westlake; Herbert Kunzi, president of the Swiss Home Association; Hon. Otto Othon Goetz, Swiss consul to Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky, and Joseph Mueller, national chairman of Swiss Singers of St. Louis, Mo.

Offer Christmas Recordings

For the Christmas season, the Franklin County Chapter of the American Red Cross again offers its "Voice From Home" project.

Families and close relatives of servicemen and women unable to be home for Christmas, are invited to tape record, free of charge, a four-minute holiday greeting to send to their service person.

Uniformed volunteers will be on hand to help any member of the family to compose their message and record it. A picture will be taken of them and included with the tape.

Recordings will be scheduled Thursday, Nov. 29, through Saturday, Dec. 8. Hours will be 10 a.m. to 12 noon, 4 to 8 p.m. weekdays, and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays.

Appointments should be made by calling the Franklin County Red Cross, 995 E. Broad-st, CL. 3-8511, where all recordings will be made.

Each tape and photo will be packaged ready for the family to mail.

Named President Of Presbytery

Bob Dennis of Hoge Memorial Church has been installed president of the Columbus Presbytery Council of Presbyterian Men.

He is a claims adjuster for Buckeye Union Casualty Co. and lives at 160 Demorest-av.

Past-president of Hoge Chapter of Prebytery Men, he has attended the national meeting of the organization at Chicago.

He is an elder and Sunday School teacher in the Junior Department at Hoge.

The Civil War's first naval engagement took place at Pensacola, Fla., Sept. 14, 1861, when forces from the U.S.S. Colorado attacked the Navy Yard.

Advent Music Series Is Planned At Church

The traditional "Round-the-Table" musical feast Sunday, Dec. 2 at 5 and 8 p.m. will begin with the annual Advent series at the First Congregational Church, 444 E. Broad-st. Edward Johe is minister of music.

The "menu" will feature glees, canons, rounds and carols. Christmas pudding is the one non-musical course that is served.

The feast will be held in the parish hall where the chancel choir will be seated around a large banquet table, and guests surround the choir in the fashion of a theater-in-the-round.

An old English greathouse motif will be carried out in the decorations and the illusion of medieval times enhanced by illumination from candles, costumed pages and a "master of the hall."

Rev. Chalmers Coe will be the "master."

The second in this series of three services will be Dec. 9, 4 p.m., will be a vespers service of two cantatas and other music of special interest.

Included in the service is "The Gloria" by Antonio Vivaldi, presented by the chancel choir and soloists, and "Hodie Christus Natus Est" by the contemporary German-American composer Harald Rohlig.

In this cantata the chancel choir and soloist will be accompanied by pipe organ and three trumpets.

The high school choir of the church will present "In Dulci Jubilo" by Buxtehude and will be accompanied by organ and strings, and the Pilgrim Bell Choir will play "Changes" on two carols.

On Dec. 16, 4 p.m., the third and final service in the series, also a vespers, will be held.

The festival of "Nine Lessons and Carols" will be sung by two children's choirs, the chancel choir and soloists, with scriptures read by laymen of the church.

The music is drawn from both ancient and modern sources, and the service is patterned after one originated in England many generations

Mommie ...They want me to come to church."

Yes, Mommie, they do want her in church, for in the church, they have a place for all ages. No child is too young to learn. This also provides you an opportunity to worship and give undivided attention to church services.

"Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Limbo Dancers Please At Ciro Club

AMUSEMENTS

BEACH ADVENTURE

EDGAR BUCHANAN, in the title role of the episode "Good Old Uncle Walt," enjoys the company of Stacy King (left) and Theona Bryant, who portray Florida beauties on NBC-TV's "Wide Country" series which will be shown on WLW—C, TV-4, on Thursday, Dec. 13, at 7:30 p.m. Buchanan portrays a "confidence" man.

The supper club that first brought the "twist" to Columbus has done it again—this time it's the limbo.

That club is Ciro's on E. Main-st, and the limber limboers call themselves Lord Fish Ray Limbo Dancers and Calypso Quintette. They opened Nov. 21 and the management expects to keep them around for some time.

That's considerable, too, when you see how this group delights Ciro customers. Lord Fish and his boys share the spotlight with "Little Bekeeta," a fire dancer who tip-toes barefoot through fire and then ignites her arms and legs.

If that's not enough to make you choke on your martini olive, toothpick et al, there's still more. Namely, vocalist Little Foxy and witty Chico.

Chico, you'll find out, is the group's mouth-piece. He plays the maracas when he's not talking and adds that welcome zest and variety to the act.

One point that might astonish you is the fact that our hero, Lord Fish, is 55 years old. That's a lot of age to tote around on the rugged night club circuit, but he appears to be holding up well.

LORD FISH RAY

Limbo, they say, was originally a burial rites when natives danced under a coffin. If the coffin was touched by the dancers, then the deceased was in trouble.

Naturally, a coffin wouldn't lend itself well to a night club act (guys would be swearin' off right and left likened to seeing pink elephants) so some of the sharper limboers substituted a rod which can be raised and lowered, depending on their own agility.

The audience gets into the act, too. In fact, that's one of the big drawing factors—teaching the limbo to the audience and inviting the customers to try it themselves.

Lord Fish and his boys are originally from Nassau, Bahamas and have appeared in three movies, "Bop Girl," "Go Calypso" and "Calypso Joe." They've played the leading hotels in Miami Beach.

Music for dancing (this is worth the price of admission) starts at 9 o'clock nightly with floor shows at 10 and midnight.

—John Auble, Jr.

LAST DAY

THURSDAY, Nov. 29, is the last day to see Helen Hayes and Maurice Evans perform "A Program For Two Players" at Mershon Auditorium. They're staging a two-night stand. Showtime is 8 p.m.

OSU Theater Sets Season

Arthur Miller's "The Crucible" will hold down the University Theatre fort until Dec. 1 (it opened Nov. 26) but just in case you like to look ahead, here's what to expect:

Feb. 26 to Mar. 2 — Ben Johnson's "Volpone" or "The Fox" which is one of the most famous comedies in the history of the theater.

Apr. 2 to 6—Harold Painter's "The Caretaker" which was produced in New York only last fall.

May 22 to 25 — Leonard Bernstein's "West Side Story," a sensation wherever it's performed.

Experiment '63, the off-Broadway musical "The Fantasticks" and 12 film classics are additional events of the season.

Tonight On 10

The discovery of the giant Douglas Fir Tree is dramatized in the true "Death Valley Days" episode, "The Grass Man," tonight (Thursday), 7:30 p.m., on Channel 10.

Worker, Boss Is Subject Of Documentary

"Labor and Management: Where We Stand," a one-hour documentary-discussion program produced by WBNS-TV on the problems existing between the worker and his boss in the United States, will be aired at 8 p.m., Wednesday, Dec. 5.

The program is the first of approximately six "Channel 10 Reports: Crossfire" programs scheduled for production in the coming year. It is directed by Jack Hunter and prepared under the auspices of the Channel 10 News Department.

Wayne Byers, Channel 10 newsman, will host and moderate the show. Two prominent authorities — one on labor and one on management — will participate as panelists on the program.

AUBLEGRAPH

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Hartley Entertainment Editor

Pretty Tresses Will Always Stop The Printing Presses

Dear Boss:

After long-run jealousy cringing over natty Nick Adams and his big stories on "Saints And Sinners" I've come up with the solution to all our problems:

What we need around here is a good, high-class copy boy. Take, for instance, Sharon Farrell. Now there's a copy boy's copy boy!

With something like her around, how can a reporter help but be successful? Inspiration . . . that's the key. Gulping down Toll House Cookies and Early American sandwiches for lunch to stay by the phone for that BIG story just doesn't work.

You see, chief, Sharon plays Polly Holloran on the show. It's a program about us newspaper people (on Monday nights, TV-4, at 8:30 p.m. in case you want to take a peek for yourself).

What she's done for Adams and the New York Bulletin she could do for us. Right?

You'll find my requisition sheet for same in the company suggestion box. Meanwhile, slinky Sharon will be spurring journalistic greatness in her most recent episode entitled "Judith Was A Lady." That goes on Monday, Dec. 3.

In this show, Adams discovers that fellow reporter Everett Harper (guest star Arthur Franz) embellishes the facts of a murder case to make his story more colorful and causes a million-dollar libel suit.

How's that for action. That even tops the time crazy-old Marmee walked into the office and proclaimed he was the world's only left-handed turban-shaper.

On second thought, as sweet as it may be, maybe we better do without Miss Farrell's services for awhile. After all, it would get awfully crowded around here with TV cameras moving in and out.

And, too, those close-ups would be murder, to say nothing of the explaining I'd have to do to my winsome wife everytime I hollered "Copy Boy!"

SHARON FARRELL

Mrs. Betty Lee Corbett, 42, a buyer for the Union Co. here, was the biggest one-show champion in five months on "The Price Is Right" color program Nov. 12 on TV-4.

Mrs. Corbett and her husband, a superintendent at the Davison Chemical Co., have been in New York on a buying trip. Their home in Columbus is at 2621 Woodley-rd.

Center To Present 'I Am A Camera'

The Gallery Players production of "I Am A Camera" will open Saturday night, December 1, for a six-performance run on December 2, 5, 6, 8, and 9, at the Jewish Center, 1125 South College-av.

With Harriet Slott in the central role, the John Van Druten comedy-hit is the first major presentation of the Gallery Players subscription season.

The action of the play is set in a Berlin boardinghouse in 1930 when the Nazis were forming their plans for world-domination.

The production is being directed by Gene Gerrard of WOSU, produced by Harold Eisenstein of the Center, with settings by Bill Walters and lighting by Hubert Stegmiller. Gil Parrish is stage manager.

"Camera" will be shown next week at a special performance at Lockbourne Air Force Base for military men on alert. The production will be transported in its entirety by Tuesday, Dec. 4.

Individual tickets and subscriptions may still be purchased at the Center or by calling the Gallery Players Box Office at BE. 1-3731. Specialty priced tickets ($1) are available for the December 5 and 6 performances.

Limbo Dancers Please At Ciro Club

AMUSEMENTS

BEACH ADVENTURE

EDGAR BUCHANAN, in the title role of the episode "Good Old Uncle Walt," enjoys the company of Stacy King (left) and Theona Bryant, who portray Florida beauties on NBC-TV's "Wide Country" series which will be shown on WLW-C, TV-4, on Thursday, Dec. 13, at 7:30 p.m. Buchanan portrays a "confidence" man.

The supper club that first brought the "twist" to Columbus has done it again—this time it's the limbo.

That club is Ciro's on E. Main-st, and the limber limboers call themselves Lord Fish Ray Limbo Dancers and Calypso Quintette. They opened Nov. 21 and the management expects to keep them around for some time.

That's considerable, too, when you see how this group delights Ciro customers. Lord Fish and his boys share the spotlight with "Little Bekeeta," a fire dancer who tip-toes barefoot through fire and then ignites her arms and legs.

If that's not enough to make you choke on your martini olive, toothpick et al, there's still more. Namely, vocalist Little Foxy and witty Chico.

Chico, you'll find out, is the group's mouth-piece. He plays the maracas when he's not talking and adds that welcome zest and variety to the act.

One point that might astonish you is the fact that our hero, Lord Fish, is 55 years old. That's a lot of age to tote around on the rugged night club circuit, but he appears to be holding up well.

LORD FISH RAY

Limbo, they say, was originally a burial rites when natives danced under a coffin. If the coffin was touched by the dancers, then the deceased was in trouble.

Naturally, a coffin wouldn't lend itself well to a night club act (guys would be swearin' off right and left likened to seeing pink elephants) so some of the sharper limboers substituted a rod which can be raised and lowered, depending on their own agility.

The audience gets into the act, too. In fact, that's one of the big drawing factors—teaching the limbo to the audience and inviting the customers to try it themselves.

Lord Fish and his boys are originally from Nassau, Bahamas and have appeared in three movies, "Bop Girl," "Go Calypso" and "Calypso Joe." They've played the leading hotels in Miami Beach.

Music for dancing (this is worth the price of admission) starts at 9 o'clock nightly with floor shows at 10 and midnight.

—John Auble, Jr.

LAST DAY

THURSDAY, Nov. 29, is the last day to see Helen Hayes and Maurice Evans perform "A Program For Two Players" at Mershon Auditorium. They're staging a two-night stand. Showtime is 8 p.m.

OSU Theater Sets Season

Arthur Miller's "The Crucible" will hold down the University Theatre fort until Dec. 1 (it opened Nov. 26) but just in case you like to look ahead, here's what to expect:

Feb. 26 to Mar. 2 — Ben Johnson's "Volpone" or "The Fox" which is one of the most famous comedies in the history of the theater.

Apr. 2 to 6—Harold Painter's "The Caretaker" which was produced in New York only last fall.

May 22 to 25 — Leonard Bernstein's "West Side Story," a sensation wherever it's performed.

Experiment '63, the off-Broadway musical "The Fantasticks" and 12 film classics are additional events of the season.

Tonight On 10

The discovery of the giant Douglas Fir Tree is dramatized in the true "Death Valley Days" episode, "The Grass Man," tonight (Thursday), 7:30 p.m., on Channel 10.

Worker, Boss Is Subject Of Documentary

"Labor and Management: Where We Stand," a one-hour documentary-discussion program produced by WBNS-TV on the problems existing between the worker and his boss in the United States, will be aired at 8 p.m., Wednesday, Dec. 5.

The program is the first of approximately six "Channel 10 Reports: Crossfire" programs scheduled for production in the coming year. It is directed by Jack Hunter and prepared under the auspices of the Channel 10 News Department.

Wayne Byers, Channel 10 newsman, will host and moderate the show. Two prominent authorities — one on labor and one on management — will participate as panelists on the program.

Another AUBLEGRAPH

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Hartley Entertainment Editor

Pretty Tresses Will Always Stop The Printing Presses

Dear Boss:

After long-run jealousy cringing over natty Nick Adams and his big stories on "Saints And Sinners" I've come up with the solution to all our problems:

What we need around here is a good, high-class copy boy. Take, for instance, Sharon Farrell. Now there's a copy boy's copy boy!

With something like her around, how can a reporter help but be successful? Inspiration . . . that's the key. Gulping down Toll House Cookies and Early American sandwiches for lunch to stay by the phone for that BIG story just doesn't work.

You see, chief, Sharon plays Polly Holloran on the show. It's a program about us newspaper people (on Monday nights, TV-4, at 8:30 p.m. in case you want to take a peek for yourself).

What she's done for Adams and the New York Bulletin she could do for us. Right?

You'll find my requisition sheet for same in the company suggestion box. Meanwhile, slinky Sharon will be spurring journalistic greatness in her most recent episode entitled "Judith Was A Lady." That goes on Monday, Dec. 3.

In this show, Adams discovers that fellow reporter Everett Harper (guest star Arthur Franz) embellishes the facts of a murder case to make his story more colorful and causes a million-dollar libel suit.

How's that for action. That even tops the time crazy-old Marmee walked into the office and proclaimed he was the world's only left-handed turban-shaper.

On second thought, as sweet as it may be, maybe we better do without Miss Farrell's services for awhile. After all, it would get awfully crowded around here with TV cameras moving in and out.

And, too, those close-ups would be murder, to say nothing of the explaining I'd have to do to my winsome wife everytime I hollered "Copy Boy!"

SHARON FARRELL

Mrs. Betty Lee Corbett, 42, a buyer for the Union Co. here, was the biggest one-show champion in five months on "The Price Is Right" color program Nov. 12 on TV-4.

Mrs. Corbett and her husband, a superintendent at the Davison Chemical Co., have been in New York on a buying trip. Their home in Columbus is at 2621 Woodley-rd.

The Music Committee of the Jewish Center on College-av, continues to extend an invitation to all instrumentalists in the community to participate in the center's orchestra. The group meets on Thursdays at 8 p.m. Call BE. 1-2731 for information.

Center To Present 'I Am A Camera'

The Gallery Players production of "I Am A Camera" will open Saturday night, December 1, for a six-performance run on December 2, 5, 6, 8, and 9, at the Jewish Center, 1125 South College-av.

With Harriet Slott in the central role, the John Van Druten comedy-hit is the first major presentation of the Gallery Players subscription season.

The action of the play is set in a Berlin boardinghouse in 1930 when the Nazis were forming their plans for world-domination.

The production is being directed by Gene Gerrard of WOSU, produced by Harold Eisenstein of the Center, with settings by Bill Walters and lighting by Robert Stegmiller. Gil Parrish is stage manager.

"Camera" will be shown next week at a special performance at Lockbourne Air Force Base for military men on alert. The production will be transported in its entirety for Tuesday, Dec. 4.

Individual tickets and subscriptions may still be purchased at the Center or by calling the Gallery Players Box Office at BE. 1-2731. Specially priced tickets ($1) are available for the December 5 and 6 performances.

THE BIG TEN . . .

"What Kind Of Fool Am I" leads the WVKO Fabulous 50 Tunedex this week. The Sammy Davis, Jr., ballad has been rapidly growing since first played by the Good Guys at the station. Others include:

2. "Go Away Little Girl" (Steve Lawrence); 3, "I Left My Heart In San Francisco" (Tony Bennett); 4, "Keep Your Hands Off My Baby" (Little Eva); 5, "That's Life" Gabriel and The Angels); 6, "I'll Bring It On Home To You" (Carla Thomas); 7, "You Are My Sunshine" (Ray Charles); 8, "Rumors" (Johnny Crawford); 9, "Ride" (Dee Dee Sharp); 10, "Release Me" (Little Esther).

Go-Discovery tune is 'Won't You Come On Back" by Fats Domino. Go-Album is "The Greatest Hits" by Dion.

How About Changing

THIS ✦ FOR THIS

Cold winter weather is coming . . . that's sure. And right now in Port Charlotte the weather's springlike. When you trade cold winters for the "New Way of Life" at Port Charlotte, you get the better part of the deal in more than one way. Chances are you can live in Port Charlotte for much less than it costs you now, wherever you live. And in Port Charlotte you live in a year round vacation land, in one of Florida's finest recreation sites, on the Gulf of Mexico. Fish, swim, play golf, boat; shop right in the community, attend church . . . relax and dose in the warm sun.

Walnut Ridge World

By KEN MICK and BILL GEE

Senior Choir, Ensembles Scheduled For TV Show

The senior choir, under the direction of Jerry Maxwell, was to perform today, Nov. 29, on local WOSU-TV, Channel 34. The boys' and girls' ensembles will also be featured on the half-hour program which is scheduled from 9:30 to 10 p.m.

The boys' ensemble will be featured in "The Winter Song" and and the girls' ensemble will give their rendition of "Tonight" and "Silent Strings."

Walnut Ridge seniors were given pamphlets and information on Otterbein College in Westerville, and Wittenberg in Springfield.

Next Tuesday, Miami of Ohio at Oxford will present its pamphlets and information.

The top meal of the week was served Tuesday in the cafeteria. The meal consisted of porcupine beef rolls, buttered peas, a fruit cup, roll, butter and a cinnamon roll.

The Tartan staff staged a show which featured dancing girls and a skit by some of the staff members. Tartans, the school yearbook, will be sold for $4.50 beginning Dec. 3.

The junior high basketball team opened their season Tuesday by meeting Crestview in the Walnut Ridge gym. They play Indianola next Tuesday.

Saturday afternoon, the Walnut Ridge matmen will wrestle Newark at 2 p.m. It is their initial conflict.

The senior high basketball team faces DeSales Saturday, Dec. 1 at 8 p.m. The reserve game starts at 6:45 p.m.

A summer theater circuit, often including the more popular resort areas, is called "the straw hat circuit."

Whitehall Branch Post Office Opens Dec. 3

The new Whitehall Branch Post Office, 83 Robinwood-av, will be open for business Monday, Dec. 3.

Whitehall postal patrons will be doing business in the air-conditioned building with the new bank-type service counter and modern lighting.

Off-street parking will be provided.

The architectural design of the building and other features are ultra-modern.

Mark Hawks, superintendent, and Franklin Gradwohl, assistant superintendent, three window clerks, 22 letter carriers will staff the new branch which serves 783 businesses and 15,400 residential patrons in postal zone 13.

The old Whitehall Branch will be retained through December to serve patrons living in postal zone 27. The new Livingston Avenue Station will be the delivery headquarters for postal zone 27 when it is completed.

The new facility is part of the Post Office Department's commercial leasing plan, Postmaster Allen M. Rowe explained.

Under this program, investment financing is used to obtain needed facilities which remain under private ownership, pay local taxes to the community, and are leased to the Federal Government.

At the same time, the need for large outlays of money from the Federal Treasury for construction is eliminated.

Bexley Lodge Has Election

Bexley Lodge 704 FandAM, elected Richard J. Bull, 2149 Wesleyan-dr, worshipful master for the coming year.

Other elected officers were: Webster L. Davis, Jr., senior warden; Louben Yanevich, junior warden; John B. Marshall, treasurer; Paul H. Steen, secretary; Thomas W. Tobin, senior deacon; Don L. McDowell, junior deacon; Carl S. Kendall, tyler; and William A. Schneider, trustee.

The Fellowcraft Club elected Frank W. Schroeder as captain and Harold L. Dickley as secretary-treasurer.

Installation of officers, to which non-Masonic guests are invited, will be held Saturday, Dec. 1 at 8 p.m. in Bexley Masonic Temple, 2521 E. Main-st. A reception and refreshments will follow.

$225 GOES IN FINAL

Eastside Housewife Wins Ninth Round

Perhaps it is not a man's world after all.

Despite heavy competition from the male football enthusiasts, Stella Katula, 101 Fairway-av, won the ninth round in Hartley Newspapers gigantic football contest.

Mrs. Katula nosed-out Bill Robinson, West Jefferson, and Betsy Bossert, 380 N. Virginia Lee-rd to win the $25 prize.

All three missed on only six of the 24 games played last weekend, but Mrs. Katula's guess on the tie-breaker was closest to the exact score of the Ohio State-Michigan game.

OSU won 28-0. Mrs. Katula guessed 40-7, Robinson 20-13, and Miss Bossert picked Michigan 20-13.

Entries currently are flooding in for the 10th and final round of the contest. Since no one claimed the bonus jackpot over the nine weeks by picking all 24 games correctly, $225 will be split three ways in the final round.

The contestant who finishes first will receive 50 percent of the pot. The second place runner-up will receive 30 percent, and 20 percent will be awarded to the contestant who finishes third.

The final money will not be doubled if the winners are paid subscribers.

Blue Law Men Take State View

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Greater Columbus Sunday Association officials are pointing with pride this week to Cincinnati and citing that city as the "model" area throughout the state as far as enforcement of the Sunday Sales law is concerned.

Gene King, association secretary, is envious of the Queen City but, more important, he says he knows why Cincinnati is outstanding in the fight, and these reasons are disturbing him.

Positive law enforcement by Cincinnati officals was leading King's list. Secondly, the secretary feels that that city's merchants have "excellent support for the concept of Sunday observance from labor must be signed by the individ-

EARLY CUSTOMERS to Whitehall's new Post Office like Carolyn Ryan, 461 Lawrence-av, were surprised during dedication ceremonies Wednesday at getting a bonus of canned goods with the purchase of stamps. Behind the counter is Frank Gradwohl, assistant superintendent, and handing Mrs. Ryan her foodstuffs is Erwin S. Merz, assistant postmaster.

Whitehall Post Office Dedicated Wednesday

Postmaster Allen M. Rowe, Whitehall Mayor Walter Moling and Raymond Glassmeyer, division director of Postal Services, officially opened the new Whitehall Branch Post Office at 83 S. Robinwood-av Dec. 5.

Lenny Haas, Chamber of Commerce president in Whitehall, served as master of ceremonies.

Those attending the dedication were entertained by the Whitehall High School band.

The Post Office dedication Committee, Mrs. Raymond Ellis and Mrs. Carl Stalder, National Association of Postal Supervisors Auxiliary; Mrs. Robert Taylor and Mrs. Jack Welch, National Association of Letter Carriers Auxiliary, and Mrs. Orvie Ryan, United Federation of Postal Clerks Auxiliary, served as hostesses.

Groceries and other items given with the purchase of stamps, just like modern day merchandising, was made possible through donations from local tradespeople.

Off-street parking, a bank-type service counter, 24-hour lock box service are some of the new features offered at the new facility.

Modern lighting, the use of stone, brick, stainless steel and wood and glass paneling gives the new facility a freshness and richness in design. The building features a year-round air-conditioning system.

The new building was constructed by the Crown Investment Co., 4920 E. Fifth-av.

Like most new postal buildings going up across the country, this branch is leased to the Post Office Department.

The building remains under

TONIGHT ENDS KIWANIS DRIVE

The Eastern and Gahanna Kiwanis clubs will end their three-day welfare newspaper drive tonight (Thursday).

Residents are urged to keep their porch lights on this evening as the Kiwanians make their final rounds.

Reports indicate that sales on Tuesday and Wednesday nights went "well above average."

DATES POOL 'BLITZ'

KAREN BOHL, 17, a senior at Bexley High School, is shown on the Jeffrey Mansion grounds hunting for the new swimming pool to be built there by the Bexley Civic Improvement Association. She, along with other residents there, will have a while to wait since construction won't begin until 1963. It's nice to plan ahead, though, isn't it?

The Bexley Civic Improvement Board and volunteer workers will stage a "blitz drive" of that suburban city Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 8 and 9, in a big push for funds.

The funds are for that city's first swimming pool which is to be constructed on the Jeffrey Mansion grounds. Construction is scheduled to begin in the spring of 1963 for the opening in the summer of that year.

The BCIA is a non-profit organization and has been rapidly receiving pledges for the pool construction. To date some $55,000 has been pledged by Bexley residents for the community-wide project.

The drive this weekend is designed to "totally canvass" homes in Bexley, according to Bill Birch, BCIA chairman.

Representatives will turn out in force on both days dur-

GORDAN HARRIS

New Principal Is Named At Eastmoor

Theodore H. Mayer, principal of Eastmoor Senior High School, was named first principal of Brookhaven High School at the Columbus Board of Education meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Gordan K. Harris, vice-principal at North High School, was named to succeed Mayer at Eastmoor.

Both appointments will become effective Jan. 1, 1963.

Brookhaven is scheduled to open at the beginning of the second semester at the end of January, with a faculty of 27 and sophomore and junior classes totaling 691 pupils.

More Free Tickets!

Ten more readers of Hartley Newspapers' classified ad sections will find their names listed between the ads on the Christmas Shoppers Guide today.

Lucky readers will win two guest tickets to the RKO Palace's current hit, "No Man Is An Island."

RKO Palace manager, Ed. McGlone, says the film is one of the strangest and most thrilling stories to come out since WWII. The movie is based on the actual war-time experiences of U. S. Navy Radioman George R. Tweed, who successfully hid from Japanese invaders on Guam for more than 34 months. Jeffrey Hunter plays the lead.

Why not look for timely gift suggestions in the Shoppers Guide Now? Your name and address may appear there.

If your name is listed, call BR. 4-1155. In the event you see a friend's name, let him know about it.

Children: Send Santa Letters To This Paper

Now is the time for all good children to write their annual letters to Santa Claus, telling him what they want for Christmas.

Hartley Newspapers will again give Santa a helping hand this year. Starting next week, our newspapers will publish the kiddies' letters. After they have been printed, Hartley Newspapers will forward them to the North Pole.

Letters must contain not more than 50 words and have the full name and address of each boy and girl. To insure printing, letters should arrive at our office before Dec. 15.

The address is: Santa Claus, 2465 W. Broad-st, Columbus 4, O.

THESE ARE some of the 34 students who participated in Whitehall High's recent community-wide book drive. The students took on the task as a senior class project under the direction of class advisors James Poe and Helen Truex. The advisors reported that they collected some $500 worth of overdue books from area residents and returned them, free of charge, to the school's library.

Over 200 Books Collected From Community By Whitehall Seniors

The sweet smell of success is lingering at Whitehall High School this week. It has good reason to be in the air.

It results from a recent senior class community-wide project—the first time a nearly-graduated group has ever staged such a venture there.

The seniors, on Nov. 26, canvassed the community on a house-to-house basis to collect library books that were overdue and unreturned from the school's book shelves.

Thirty-four students participated in the drive and collected more than 200 books. The books represent a value of approximately $500.

Highlight of the drive was the recovery of a book entitled

"Encyclopedia of Educational Research," which has been missing for some time from the office of Principal Austin Peel.

Senior class advisors, James Poe and Helen Truex, wrapped the book in a ribbon and presented it to the school head during an assembly.

Students who worked actively on the drive include:

20 Garden Clubs Slate Gallery Show

The Columbus Region, Garden Club of Ohio, will hold a flower show in cooperation with the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts on Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 8 and 9, at the Gallery.

The show, "Christmas Magic," will be focused on holiday decorations and arrangements, and classes approach the theme from every angle of design and interpretation.

Show judging will take place Saturday from 12-2. It will then be open to the public from 3-9, and on Sunday noon to 4.

One of the show highlights is a class for interpreting through plant materials a Madonna of Holy Family picture selected by the exhibitor from the permanent collection at the gallery.

Another interesting class, "Santa's Surprise," requires the exhibitor to bring a gift suitable for a man or woman at the Franklin County Home, in original gift wrapping. Gifts will be placed under a large tree decorated by Art Gallery children.

Columbus Region, Garden Club of Ohio, comprises 20 garden clubs in Central Ohio. All will be competing in the show.

Many of the clubs have prepared unusual Christmas decorations and arrangements to be offered for sale at the show include bunches of "grapes" of buckeyes and chestnuts, containers designed by flower arrangers, ornaments, dry plant materials for arrangements, gardening and flower arranging books, and birdhouses.

Flower show chairman is Mrs. W. C. Harrison of Franklin Garden Club, vice president of Garden Club of Ohio.

Huge 'Households', 'Families' Too Confront Professional Housekeepers

The art of housekeeping a home—keeping a family happy by making their surroundings clean, comfortable and inviting is the profession of many women, and quite a few men.

Creating a "home away from home" in hospitals and hotels, motels and inns, college dormitories and clubs, is the trust of executive housekeepers; their "families" are patients and guests.

Housekeeping in a large department store, historical home or club is also the job for a skilled executive.

Management of even a small household is a demanding job, and the professional's problems are multiplied many fold—by the number of rooms in her care, the number of occupants whose comfort is her concern.

And what makes an executive housekeeper?

A lot of know-how, plenty of experience in directing a large crew of workers, a touch of artistry in the arrangement of a room, judgment and financial ability in purchase and supply, poise in the face of the unexpected emergencies that crop up in any well-run "household," a large measure of good common sense and, of course, the ability to be everywhere at once.

Individual demands of their jobs are as varied as the "households" of the 60 housekeeping directors and assistants who are members of Columbus Chapter, National Executive Housekeepers Association. Each has its personalized problems; each calls for different planning and administration.

Even the needs of patients vary from general to specialized hospitalized, as do hotel guests—from travellers to residents. And clubs and department stores present a still different situation.

Hotel rooms, tastefully decorated and sparkling clean for each new guest, suggest no clue of the planning and activity that made them so. Supervision of maids and porters, purchase and maintenance of linen and cleaning supplies, draperies and slipcovers, are but one phase of the housekeeper's task.

And in hospitals there is the added need for sterile cleanliness of operating rooms, emergency rooms and treatment centers. All this, as well as the patients' rooms, corridors and offices are the housekeeper's responsibility.

There is a beehive of activity behind the scenes of a large department store, with tons of merchandise received, dispatched to receiving centers, and from there to departments. Clean up of this chaos is the role of the store's directors of house keeping.

At F and R Lazarus, cartons and paper go into the huge hopper, are "chewed up," blown through a cyclone machine, and finally emerge in small pieces, where they are baled. As many as 50 to 500 bales in a day are disposed of in this manner.

A crew of nearly 100 under the direction of the store's executive housekeeper, keep the floors of the stores clean and inviting, operate passenger freight elevators and take charge of emergencies.

Many of today's housekeeping executives were trained in the school of experience, their on the job know-how, developed further by educational monthly meetings of the National Executive Housekeeping Association, and quarterly meetings with the Ohio Hospital Association.

There are also training schools at the University of Kentucky, Kellog Center in Lansing, Mich., and a two-months' course in Washington, D. C.

Ohio State University has followed the lead of other universities throughout the country, and will soon offer a course leading to a degree in executive housekeeping.

Included will be a study of basic social sciences, personnel management, budgeting and purchasing, interior design, maintenance controls, safety and sanitation.

Columbus Chapter, NEHA, one of 45 chapters of the organization, has done a great deal towards developing the profession. Originally organized in 1932, soon after the founding the national organization it disbanded after a short period.

The chapter was reactivated in 1942, and since then has grown steadily.

This year's officers are, Mrs. Maude Chaney, executive housekeeper at Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital, president; Mrs. Maud Kinkhead, Doctor's Hospital, vice-president; Mrs. Sarah Taylor, University Hospital, recording secretary.

Mrs. Helen Long, Bradley Hall, OSU, corresponding secretary, and Miss Edna Pfaltzgraf, University Hospital, treasurer.

THESE ARE THE HOUSES THEY KEEP—The Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital and University Hospital are the "households" of these housekeepers. From left are, Mrs. Mary Hoffman, 382 Thurman-av, night executive housekeeper of University Hospital; Mrs. Luella Broerman, 1269 Lancaster-av, executive housekeeper of the Ohio Rehabilitation Center, and Mrs. Catherine Hawkins, 2189 Summit-st, executive assistant at the Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital.

NERVE-CENTER of housekeeping of F and R Lazarus and Co. is the office of James W. Mahaffey of 6520 Creon-dr, Reynoldsburg, at left.

Kinder Key Caroling Set

EAST AREA chairman for the Kinder Key caroling program is Mrs. Charles Wiseman, 2744 Bexley Park.

Groups all over Columbus and surrounding areas are busy practicing in preparation for the ninth annual Kinder Key Christmas caroling program.

This year, caroling will be Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 11 and 12 from 6 to 9 p.m.

Kinder Key sponsors the project each year on behalf of the Kinder Key Heart laboratory at Children's Hospital. The laboratory is primarily a diagnostic center for detecting rheumatic fever and congenital heart disease in children.

Kinder Key carolers will wear identifying capes or carry cards.

Any organizations, family or neighborhood groups interested in participating in the caroling may contact: Mrs. Charles Wiseman, 2744 Bexley Park-rd, BE. 5-5506, chairman for the Eastside, or Mrs. David Caton, 817 S. Hague-av, 274-3923, chairman of the drive.

Anyone interested in contributing by mail, may send checks to Kinder Key Heart Laboratory, Children's Hospital, Attention—Miss Fritz.

Bexley OES To Seat New Officers

Bexley Chapter, OES, 524, will install new officers Saturday, Dec. 8, 7:30 p.m. at the Bexley Temple, 2521 E. Main-st.

Elected officers to be installed are worthy matron, Mary Aldridge; worthy patron, Stanley Smith; associate matron, Norma Tobin; associate patron, Thomas Tobin.

Conductress, Jane Krauss; associate conductress, Jacqueline Mettge; secretary, Dorothy Sudduth, and treasurer, Mildred Williams.

Appointive officers will be installed.

Betty M. Johnson, past grand matron, will be the installing officer.

Bexley Chapter will sponsor a reception following installation, honoring the new officers.

Garden Club Plans Party

French Run Garden Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Donald L. Fritz, 1218 East Nocturne-rd, Monday, Dec. 10, 6:30 p.m. for the annual Christmas dinner and party.

After dinner, members will exchange secret pal garden-motif gifts, and have carol singing and games.

Mrs. Andrew Jakobsky, 903 Hillridge-rd, will assist Mrs. Fritz as hostess for the holiday event.

UCW Board Will Hear Panelists

Board of Managers of United Church Women will meet Wednesday, Dec. 12, 10 a.m. until noon at YWCA, 65 S. Third-st.

A panel including Dr. John Wilson, executive secretary of Ohio Council of Churches; Rabbi Stephen Arnold, assistant Rabbi of Temple Israel, and Fr. Charles A. Jackson, assistant pastor of Holy Family parish, will discuss "Deepening the Channels of Peace."

Program will be presented by the interfaith committee, interfaith relations department of United Church Women.

Mrs. Charles Blackman is chairman of the committee and Mrs. Alva Peterson is chairman of the department.

PATIENTS at Alum Crest Hospital did their Christmas shopping free at the Holiday Gift Shop, sponsored by the Women's Committee and financed by contributions. John Allen made his selections with the aid of committee members, from left, Mrs. Lensy Wheeler, Mrs. Joe Toepfner and Mrs. L. O. Shofner, shop chairman.

Alum Crest Patients 'Shop' Free At Store

The Womens Committee, now celebrating its tenth year, opened the Holiday Gift Shop at Alum Crest Hospital Tuesday, Dec. 4.

When the shop closed Dec. 6, the 225 patients at the hospital had had the opportunity of doing their Christmas shopping under ideal conditions.

They were met in their rooms by Crest or Women's Committee members with a wheel chair or a steady arm to take them to the Holiday Shop, where they were assisted in making selection of a gift to give and one for themselves.

Packages were gift wrapped and mailed by members of the Committee.

A gift cart was taken to the bedside of those who could not come to the shop.

Gifts were displayed in a typical Christmas setting, with decorations changed from year to year. Traditional, however, was the Nativity scene.

When shopping was finished, patients stopped for a cup of tea and homemade Christmas cookies in the occupational therapy room across from the Gift Shop. Christmas carols were played on the portable organ.

The shop, free to the patients, made possible through the inspiration of the Women's Committee's first president, Mrs. Raymond Spohr.

Funds to provide merchandise for the shop are made available to the Committee from contributions made by interested individuals, organizations, business and industrial groups.

Chairmen, named by Mrs. Norman Vick, president of the Women's Committee, for the 1962 Holiday Gift Shop are, Mrs. Louis Shofner, general chairman; Mrs. Joseph Toepfner and Mrs. Jack Kull, purchasing; Mrs. Douglas Dobson, collections of individual gifts; Mrs. Byron Hartle, shop assistants; Mrs. Paul Falter, gift wrapping and mailing; Mrs. Oscar Ruffing and Mrs. Fred Gierhart, music and tea table, and Mrs. Clark Pritchett, publicity.

Mrs. Gerald Besaw, 250 Edgevale Road is treasurer, to whom contributions may be made at any time during the year.

British Club To Fete Kids, Hold Election

Eastside British Club will hold children's Christmas party Saturday, Dec. 8, 2 till 4:30 p.m.

Ice cream, cookies, candy and toys will be the agenda.

Regular meeting will be Tuesday, Dec. 11, 8 p.m., when new officers will be elected. Both programs will be held in the Ohio Federal Building, Reynoldsburg.

New members will be welcome and any woman from the British Commonwealth can join for information call UN. 6-5127.

'Daubers' Will Exhibit At Gallery

The "Daubers"—a group of women artists from throughout Columbus—have been invited for the 19th year to exhibit their work at the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts.

The women will present their work Dec. 14 through Dec. 21 at the Gallery, according to President Mrs. Hugh L. Graves, 54 W. Weisheimer.

Mrs. Henry Hoagland, 2448 Southway-dr, is chairman of this year's exhibit. She reports that 25 of the women will have offerings in the show, including works of painting, sculpture, ceramics and jewelry.

The pieces were selected and will be judged by Prof. Robert D. King of the Ohio State University College of Fine Arts.

Admission is free and the exhibit is open to the public.

East Baptist Women Date Circle Meets

Enrollment Outpaces Funds In County Schools

EDITOR'S NOTE:

Voters in two major sections of Franklin County will go to the polls again Tuesday, Dec. 11, to reconsider school levy issues which failed to pass in November.

Washington Local District (Dublin area) voters again face an operational levy consisting of five mills renewal and four mills new.

Madison Local District (Groveport area) is asking for 2.5 mills additional to meet increased enrollment demands. This operational levy, accompanied by a 3.1-mill bond issue request, failed in the November election. Next Tuesday the bond issue will not appear on the ballot. By law it cannot be resubmitted again this calendar year.

Because the election is of vital importance to many citizens, Hartley Newspapers has published many letters and stories pertaining to it—and this week has invited County School Supt. Thomas A. Quick to present his viewpoint.

BY THOMAS J. QUICK
Supt., Franklin County Schools

All school districts in Franklin County, a fast growing metropolitan area, are facing the greatest challenge of their existence. Each of the past six years has seen a 10 per cent growth in enrollment of the Franklin County School System. This past year, 1,700 additional students were enrolled in the nine districts.

The classrooms for these students can only be provided through bond issues voted by the people of the various districts. No additional aid from state or federal government is available until after the local district has voted bonds to nine per cent of its ability and then only when such funds are available.

Supt. Quick

This problem is well known to school officials, board members and others of the communities who regularly keep in touch with their schools. The schools have a difficult time communicating this information to all the people without running the risk of seeming to be threatening or twisting their arms.

The superintendents of the local schools and board members have this information, their meetings are open to the public and they are willing to meet with groups or individuals to answer questions.

The money for operating any public school comes from three sources. (1) Taxes on property in the district, (2) state foundation money by formula based upon the number of pupils attending school and the valuation of the school district, (3) federal government grants for students whose parents work on federal projects. The school receives local tax money in accordance with the amount of millage voted by the people. This money provides educational programs for the students who attend the schools. State money is provided by formula based upon the number of students who attend the schools and the valuation of the school district.

These monies are carefully budgeted and appropriated for certain purposes as determined by the board of education and school administration. Records of all transactions are carefully kept by the clerk of the board whose books are examined by the state auditors once each 18 to 24 months, insuring accurate business methods.

A public hearing on the budget is held each July after public notice is made in the newspapers. A financial statement of all receipts and expenditures is published in the newspapers following the close of each financial year, Dec. 31.

The total valuation of any school district times the number of mills taxes voted determines the amount of income from the local source. The valuation of the Madison Local School District in 1957 was $19,474,511 with 1,300 students in school. The valuation in 1962 is $21,040,730 with 1,700 students in school. A gain of nine per cent in valuation but a gain of 16 per cent in students in the same five-year period of time.

The valuation of the Washington Local School District in 1957 was $8,994,479 with 877 students in school. The valuation in 1962 is $13,852,830 with 1,206 students in school. A gain of 54 per cent in valuation and a gain of 37 per cent in students in the same five-year period of time.

The average increase in valuation for all Franklin County schools from 1957 to 1962 was 56 per cent. The valuation is not keeping up with the needs — the millage must therefore be increased to supply a very apparent need.

When a reappraisal of property is made for tax adjustment purposes, the schools gain very little because the millage rates outside the 10-mill limitation are reduced so as to return the same amount of money as before the reappraisal.

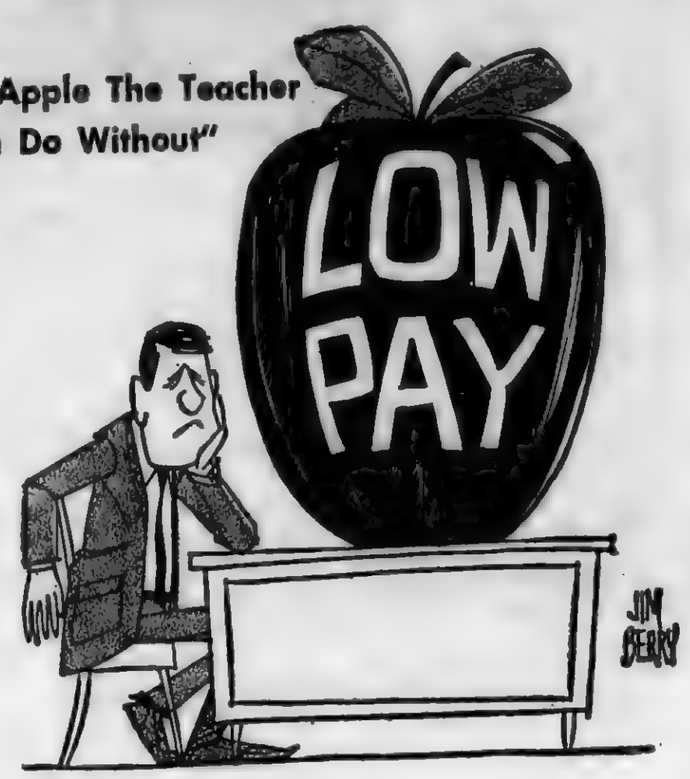
The year following reappraisal the schools will lose state money because the new and higher valuation is used as the local responsibility factor in the state foundation program formula resulting in less money from the state.

All school buildings must meet certain state requirements as to construction, size, safety, etc. All being built with local funds are constructed very economically and usually do not contain some desirable features because of lack of money. Buildings built with federal government help must meet certain standards which are higher and which evidence themselves when comparisons are made.

The present Madison Local school buildings are loaded to capacity. With the present increase of 120 pupils per year being upped to 300 or 500 per year because of many housing projects under way, many more school rooms are needed immediately. (It takes from one to two years after a bond issue is passed to have rooms ready for occupancy.)

The average increase per year in the four fastest growing districts of the Franklin County School System is 363 (Reynoldsburg, 399; Jefferson, 224; Hamilton, 448; Scioto-Darby, 381).

As to curriculum — there are no subjects offered in any of the Franklin County schools not listed in the Minimum Standards for Ohio High Schools. In fact, the curriculum does not offer several subjects recommended to make it broad enough to meet the needs of all the students.



Half-day sessions simply shorten the day and narrow the curriculum available to the students thus denying them the opportunity of a broad educational program.

Study halls serve two purposes: 1. a scheduled time when students can study and make preparations for reporting and reciting, 2. a programming device whereby the daily periods, the students and the teachers can be brought together in the most effective and economical manner.

According to figures released by the State Department of Education for the school year 1960-61 (latest available) the Madison Local Schools spent $336.76 per student and the Washington Local Schools spent $347.70 per student. The state average for all local schools was $355.05 per student. The Franklin County average was $335.06 per student. Of the amount spent per student, Madison spent 66.4 per cent and Washington spent 64.6 per cent for instructional costs. The county average was 66.8 per cent and the state average was 71.7 per cent.

The schools are most anxious to communicate with the school patrons at all times. We want to keep our people informed. Schools are the biggest "business" in any community. The number of students is growing by leaps and bounds, the resources to offer them an educational opportunity equal to the demands of the times must be greatly increased.

Says County Neglecting Needs Of Children

Our county commissioners seem to put Franklin Village at the bottom of the list. Why?

Pray tell me how the people of Franklin County can enjoy this festive holiday season knowing full well that Franklin Village (county children's home) is out of money.

The plain facts are: "The food the children will eat for the rest of this year is in cans and boxes in their storeroom. Balanced meals will not be possible, except for milk and a sparse smattering of meat and fresh fruits. It is not a rumor to say that the children may have "gruel" for Christmas; except that the gruel may be cornflakes or bean soup." The above quote comes direct from a bulletin published by a citizens advisory committee to the Child Welfare Board.

I feel sure many people will read this and other articles and the village will be swamped with donations for Christmas, but what will happen in January and the months to follow?

With all the great organizations in this county who really want to do worthwhile welfare work, why can't they get together and select a coordinator and pool their funds for the greatest good?

Since our county commissioners see fit to spend most of their limited funds on improved roads, new sewers, professional health services, etc., there seems to be only two answers; either we band together and take care of our problem or send more dollars to Washington and get back nickels in exchange, due to the tremendous cost of federal aid.

Harold A. Waits
Grove City

(Ed. Note: Following receipt of this letter it was learned that the Junior Red Cross In Schools organization in Franklin County anticipates adopting as its community Christmas project the sponsorship of Christmas dinner for more than 200 boys and girls at Franklin Village.)

Reynoldsburg Schools Thank Public For Aid

Prior to the recent elections, the Reynoldsburg Board of Education asked the citizens of the school district to continue their support of the local schools by approving the renewal of a three-mill operating levy. The voters responded by giving one of the largest majority approvals given to any school issue in Franklin County at this election.

We want to thank the residents of the Reynoldsburg school district for their approval of this levy as it is only through public support that we may continue to build and improve our school program in a growing community.

We also want to express our appreciation to the local newspapers, Parent-Teacher associations, and all individuals who helped in the publicity and distribution of information on the issue. We shall continue in our attempt to provide the best possible school program within our means for the children in the Reynoldsburg school district, with the hope that our efforts may merit the continued support of the community.

R. P. Helschman, Executive Head
Reynoldsburg Board of Education

Refugee Aid Exists

I want to call your attention to a mistake in a story appearing in some of your papers. It was in the story by Ed Churchill concerning Cuban refugees.

In this article was a statement as follows:"There is no official organization in Columbus for such work . . .". The reference was to work with refugees.

The Catholic Welfare Bureau of the Diocese has had a program for the resettlement of refugees since 1949, and since then has assisted over 600. In addition, many unaccompanied Cuban children have been placed in this area.

The Welfare Bureau receives requests for settlement of Cuban refugees through Catholic Relief Services — National Catholic Welfare Conference, which maintains an office in Miami. Any local home or job possibilities are filled by asking this organization to select a family to send here.

I am sure that there are other local organizations with national affiliations who operate in this field as we do.

Frequent references to this program are found in "The Catholic Times."

Frosting On The Cake

By
"UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

Only hungry minds ever become educated. Such minds become educated whether or not they go to school. There is a vast difference between "schooling" and education.

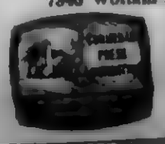
No schoolmaster can make brains out of custard pie in any skull, and unless people are born with "food furniture" in their attic, a lot of money can be wasted on "furniture polish."

It's a tragedy that many richly endowed minds are born into an unfriendly environment where the greatest American right is to be born dumb and stay that way.

The brightest fact about education is that many highly equipped kids, born into stupid environments, do manage to survive every negative influence and then the age-old adage proves itself again, namely "one more beautiful rose has bloomed in a dung hill."

The real beginning of the whole learning process is good mental furniture. Then someone gives that mind a real "smell of fire." Then the spark of inspiration has a chance because the main draft of hungry mindedness is drawing like any draft or flue should draw.

Every good mind becomes a superb fanning mill that sorts the wheat from the chaff - - meaning a good "forgettery" is just as essential as a trained memory.



So much of so-called education is rubbish and trivia, and so little is eternal truth that always works. The greatest debt any mind owes to itself is to have as nearly as possible a "good watchman" at the gate of his five senses. The unlearning process is the other half of all genuine education.

College Grads Being 'Short Changed'

Nuts to education!

Why should parents be so concerned with the education of their children? What do they want to do, deprive them of the "good things" in life—the split-level home, the $4000 chrome-plated car?

Perhaps it would be best if we encourage our children to quit school as soon as the law permits. Then they all can become apprentices to carpenters, plumbers, plasterers, toolmakers, bricklayers, etc.

McPeek

By the time their foolish companions who remained in the classrooms are taking initiation pledges to college fraternities, the dropouts will be craftsmen earning between $4 and $6 per hour . . . with time-and-a-half for overtime.

And what does the future hold for the college graduate? If he's a teacher and devotes three or four extra summers to acquiring a master's degree he eventually may earn as much as $6000 or $7000 a year.

Of course, that doesn't measure up to the carpenter's or bricklayer's $10,000 or $12,000, but if the teacher foregoes having children and sends his wife out to find a job, he too may acquire a split-level home.

The story, according to recent government figures, is much the same for accountants (average annual income of $7000 to $8000), lawyers (about the same), journalists (about equal to teachers' pay), etc.

The irony is that in hypocritical Russia - - which touts itself as being the workers Utopia - - the blue collar and white-collar employes are rewarded substantially more than are craftsmen.

But here in America, where self-advancement and achievement are rightly glorified under our free enterprise system, it appears the crafts and trades rapidly are taking the forefront.

Don't misunderstand, I'm four-square in favor of fair wages for everyone. God knows the "working class" was much exploited in the early industrial days of our country, but, and you may call it sour grapes if you wish, I firmly believe that education and the effort to improve one's position should be justly rewarded.

If a carpenter is paid $5 an hour, I think the teacher, the lawyer, the accountant, etc., should be paid substantially more.

But it isn't likely this will be so. We have too many fat-headed nincompoops in Washington enamored with the "labor vote" who will see to that.

Such as the other day when the Pentagon put the squeeze on Lockheed Aircraft. No one will deny the critical necessity of advancing our missile production, but it's a sad state when the government knocks the props out from under a strike-threatened corporation that already pays one of the highest wage rates in industry.

Perhaps the political vote seekers wish to develop a mess on the West Coast similar to what they permitted at Cape Canaveral, where missile project electricians and other crafts workers and laborers have earned as much as $30,000 and $40,000 a year.

If this is the case, let me repeat: to hell with education.

Christ Presents Challenge To Every Age

We are living in a challenging age.

It is an age that demands the best in man to reveal the best for humanity. This is not an age for pessimism, nor for dispair, nor for defeatism. This is an age of challenge.

Among the many and inspiring challenges given to mankind is the one by Jesus Christ. During His last days on earth, He said, "Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all that I have commanded you." Three significant things are revealed in His challenge for every age.

Dr. Belcastro

First, he challenges every man to be an internationalist. Jesus was the first true internationalist. He belongs to all of humanity. He challenges His followers to win the world to one humanity. We are living in an age when we must rise above provincialism and nationalism to internationalism. Today, we are forced by the rise of events to choose between one world or chaos. He challenges us to choose one world.

Second, He challenges every man to be redemptive. Jesus came into the world to transform the inner life of hate, selfishness and unbelief in man into a life of love through a full fellowship with God as He has revealed His fullness in history. There are many people who are in need of transformation, redemption and personality plus. Today we are forced to live with and among people of hate or of love, of sin or of righteousness. He challenges us to lead people to experience love and righteousness through the fullness of God.

Third, He challenges every man to be a social builder. Society lives on ideas. The character of any society is not determined by its armies, nor its buildings, but its ideas. Jesus revealed the eternal ideas of a true society, especially in His Sermon on the Mount. He challenges us to be reformers, pioneers, dreamers and builders of a society whose ideas enrich the cultural environment of humanity.

It is great to be alive. No age is so dark that one cannot see the stars. Let us rise and permit the challenge of Christ to lead us forward toward a better tomorrow.

—Dr. Joe Belcastro

EVENTIDE

Since dawn a great, creative sun has pressed the kiss of life upon responding earth
while we have toiled the hours.
Come, now, my love,
in this brief intertime, before we rest upon the breast of earth, let us be one while nature's vespers, like a benediction, fill the heights and depths of earth and sky.
This magic time shall pass, but briefly now its glory fills our hearts and it shall be a token of our blessed memory.

There is something about eventide that goes deep into minds and souls. For most, twilight is a time for gathering up odds and ends of the day to be stored for another time while they soak the haven that is home, there to rest and be refreshed, and to commune, once again with kinsmen of blood and love.

We remember the day, sort out its adventures, and try to bind the wounds of mind and spirit. Perhaps before we were astir, first light and the bright star of morning spread like sentinels across the land.

At noontime, with heaven's light diffused over hill and stream and wood and over men's structures of steel and concrete, we may have wondered just what was reality or dream.

But at eventide, as we approach the love and light and warmth of home, we see the man in the moon with that astonished look on his face, or Tannhauser's evening star already glowing like celestial candlelight against the growing darkness.

Scouts 'Cook-Up' Unique Go-Roundup Camporee

By CARL JAPIKSE

The Boy Scouts of America were on display recently as the White Oaks District held a Go-Roundup camporee at Broad and Hamilton on Dec. 1 and 2.

The purpose of the camporee was to show the people of Eastern Columbus what Scouting is really like. It is hoped that the display encouraged youngsters of Scouting age to join the Boy Scout movement.

The program of the camporee consisted of various demonstrations of Scoutcraft exhibited by the 16 troops during the afternoon on Saturday, with a typical Scouting campfire for the evening's program.

By nature, all Scouts are hungry. Therefore it was fitting that a good proportion of the demonstrations throughout the afternoon were about the preparation of food. The variety of cooking ranged from the usual Scout menu of hamburgers and potatoes, to the more appetizing dish of chicken cooked over a bed of coals on a spit. There was also a variety of desserts, including cakes and pastries, which were cooked in Dutch ovens and reflector ovens.

And with all the food, a person is liable to get indigestion. So there were demonstrations on first aid, with the boys becoming so proficient at it that they were showing up Doctor Kildare.

In the evening, the Scouts took on the task of entertaining the 200 people who showed up for the evening program. Scouts from various troops took the challenge and presented skits of their own production.

Indian dancing was added to the amusement, with Troop 369, whooping it up. Music was added by a young Scout from Troop 373, Vern Boetcher, who played several songs on his accordion. A duet on the harmonica was played by Em Richards and Lloyd Douglas.

In all, 304 boys and leaders were on hand to give the visitors the complete picture of Scouting. Troops participating were Troop 68, 107, 135, 166, 195, 231, 234, 271, 277, 278, 288, 369, 370, 372 and 373. Troop 27 from the Olentangy district was a guest troop at the camporee and shared with the other troops in demonstrating Scouting to the public.

ROUND-UP achievement badge is shown being explained here by Scoutmaster Vern Boetcher of Troop 373, Whitehall. Sitting are Dave Knauff, Lloyd Douglas and Don Luft. Standing are Keith Ward and Mike Pope. This was just part of the activity at the Go-Roundup camporee at Broad and Hamilton Dec. 1 and 2.—(Photos by Alfred Voelkel).

THE BUGLE rang through the East Columbus air Dec. 1-2 during a Boy Scout exhibition tagged Go-Roundup. Purpose of the camporee was to promote the interests of Scouting by showing other lads the benefits available. It was staged at Broad and Hamilton-rd.

INDIAN DANCING was an extra added attraction at the Go Roundup Camporee in Whitehall and proved to be a big feature. These are boys of Troop 369, Columbus, whooping it up here around the camp fire.

Lt. Wagner Has Part In Exercise

Army 2d Lt. Edward F. Wagner Jr., 23, whose parents live at 242 S. Chesterfield-rd, recently participated with other members of the 1st Armored Division's 6th Artillery in a live-fire demonstration at Fort Hood, Tex.

Lieutenant Wagner, assistant executive officer of the artillery's Battery A, entered the Army in October 1961. He is a graduate of Aquinas College High School.

'Toys For Tots' Canvass Will Take Place Dec. 8

The Marine Corps Reserve, along with packs, troops and posts of the Central Ohio Council, Boy Scouts of America, begin the annual "Toys For Tots" campaign Dec. 8. Scouts will canvass neighborhoods once only on Dec. 8 to receive toy donations. If a Scout misses you, toys should be taken to fire stations and should be in new or good usable condition as extensive repair work cannot be done.

A Marine will be assigned to each collection station and the central collection station at the Buckeye Building.

Toys will be sorted from Dec. 9 through 14 at the Buckeye Building on the Ohio State Fairground.

Units or groups of individuals desiring to assist in the sorting can contact 1st Sgt. R. R. Burnett at CA. 8-1501.

All distribution will be handled by Franklin County Welfare agencies.

Among fire stations, which will be used as collection sites, are those at 2266 Lockbourne-rd, 125 E. Thurman-av, 540 W. Broad-st and Mill-st, 1049 W. Broad-st and Glenwood-av, 1000 E. Dance Dated In Whitehall

A dance will be sponsored by Jobs Daughters and DeMolay, Saturday, Dec. 8, to 11 p.m. in basement of the Municipal Building, 360 Yearling-rd.

Public is invited. Johnny Dollar, WVKO disc jockey, will entertain.

Battelle Choruses To Give Concert

The Battelle Male and Femme choruses, under the direction of Richard Patterson, will present their annual Christmas concert "Festival for Christmas" Sunday, Dec. 9, at 7:30 p.m. in the new 600-seat Battelle Auditorium at 505 King-av. The public is invited. There is no charge for admission and ample free parking is available.

The first pact concluded between the U.S. and an Asiatic country was the treaty with Siam in 1833.

Adventist Appeal Now Under Way

The 59th annual world-wide missions appeal, sponsored by the Columbus Seventh Day Adventist Church, is under way and will continue through Dec. 24.

Mrs. Lawrence E. Kagels, local appeal chairman, will lead volunteer workers participating in the four-week city-wide drive. The goal here is $10,000.

Funds will go toward extending welfare, disaster aid and educational services at home as well as a wide spread medical, welfare and educational ministry in 196 other countries.

The local church operates a welfare center at 970 N. High-st. Persons in need of assistance or knowing others needing material aid may phone [illegible].

On a world basis, in 1961 more than $1,545,000 in cash, some 6,706,493 articles of clothing and 4,192,288 food baskets were contributed.

BIDS ARE SOUGHT FOR NEW TRAFFIC SYSTEM

Whitehall Public Service Director Robert Mickey will advertise for bids to contract for the purchase and installation of a traffic control system on E. Broad-st at the entrance of the Columbus General Depot.

Council had established the system some months ago.

One bid was received and rejected and the specifications on the project were changed, said Mickey, "to promote greater safety and more reasonable bids."

ing the drive and this is expected to be the most profitable effort to date.

Cost of the pool has been estimated at $100,000.

Plans at present call for the structure to be Olympic size and shaped like a "Z" with a diving area at one end and a wading area at the other.

Straight as an Arrow

In Archery you score only when you hit the target. To score well, you must have straight arrows.

When you attend church, it makes it easier to stay on the straight path. The church wants to help you in all ways of life, but can only do so, if you stay within its circle. Attend church and know the joy of a good life.

"For God is not the author of confusion, but of peace, as in all churches of the saints."

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH ... THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

SANTA'S HOURS LISTED

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING SEASON at the Town and Country Shopping Center, E. Broad-st, officially opened the Friday after Thanksgiving when hundreds of youngsters watched Santa's helicopter land in the parking area. Shown here is two-year-old Kelly Palmer who virtually exploded with excitement on Santa's knee. Mr. Claus will be on hand at the Union from 12:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. and from 6:30 p.m. until 8:30 p.m. daily until Christmas.

Port Columbus Groups First To Test New DARR Program

The 8378th Air Force Reserve Recovery Group and the 9223d Air Force Reserve Recovery Squadron, located at Port Columbus, were called to a special tour of active duty three hours after the President's address to the nation on Oct. 22.

Within one hour after the recall notification, both units were on duty at Port Columbus, servicing military aircraft involved in operations relating to the Cuban Crisis.

It is believed that these reserve units were among the first to be placed on active duty and to participate in the build-up of military defense readiness after the President's address.

Military operations at Port Columbus were terminated on Nov. 28 and all Air Force reservists were released from active duty on Nov. 29.

Two hundred eighty-two Air Force Reserve Recovery Units were established at civilian airports throughout the United States. The three basic missions of the DARR program are:

1. Dispersal — To provide support for military aircraft which have dispersed from prime target areas prior to an attack by hostile forces.
2. Aircraft Recovery — To recover and service military aircraft under war conditions.
3. Reconstitution — To augment surviving Air Force bases after an initial attack on the United States.

The DARR Program is a unique plan to give the Air Force Reserves and the community an opportunity to make an immediate and vitally essential contribution to the defense needs of the United States. The reservists who man recovery units and the materials they need grow out of the community.

The 8378th AFRRG at Port Columbus was the first unit to test this concept.

Functions involving civic and civilian participation:

1. Airport Commission — Made possible the use of former Naval Air Station facilities at Port Columbus by the 8378th and 9223d. The units moved to Port Columbus on September 8.
2. Port Columbus civilian employees — Francis (Jack) Bolton, Airport Superintendent; Frank Mason, Port Columbus Maintenance Superintendent — gave the Air Force outstanding cooperation by making additional facilities available and providing needed equipment.
3. Port Columbus Fire Department — Made their equipment, personnel, and facilities available for all military needs.
4. North American Aviation — Provided aircraft generators, refueling units, tow bars, and other aircraft support equipment, when needed.

Food Firm Promotes J. R. Stevens

James R. Stevens, 4270 Shelbourne-rd, has been promoted to director of retail store operations of the S. M. Flickinger Co., 2151 Lockbourne-rd, suppliers of all Super Duper Markets in central Ohio, according to Hinton H. Morris, general manager of the Columbus division.

Stevens

In making the promotion, a new post in the Flickinger organization, Morris said, "Public acceptance of the Super Duper system has accelerated both the number of stores and their personnel necessary to serve central Ohio's growing market."

Stevens has been associated in the food industry for more than 15 years, the last eight in sales supervision with the Flickinger Co. In his new capacity, he will be responsible for operations, sales and merchandising in the more than 20 Super Duper Markets throughout the area and will supervise operations in a number of new markets to be opened in 1963.

Child Center Changes Location

Dr. H. Owen Ward, executive director of The Alfred L. Willson Children's Center, announces the removal of the center's facilities from 615 Town-st to its new location at 785 N. Park-st.

Located one-half block north of the old White Cross Hospital, the new facility consists of a three story building. It contains 20 rooms which have been repainted and renovated. Ample parking facilities are available in the rear of the building.

Beauty Salon To Hold Show

Mary Goode, manager of the M. Robert Beauty Salon, Great Eastern Shopping Center, has announced a holiday hair styling and fashion show will be held at the Salon Tuesday, Dec. 11 at 8 p.m.

The show is entitled "Holiday Fashion Parade", and will include women's apparel from Walz's Styles.

Refreshments will be served and door prizes will be awarded.

Sponges, cloths, or stainless steel wool are recommended for cleaning stainless steel appliances. Avoid common metal scouring pads, scrapers, and wire brushes.

Super Duper Announces Gift-O-Rama

The Super Duper Stores and Family Stamps in Central Ohio are offering a "Christmas Gift-O-Rama" of $10,000 in free prizes.

Customers need not buy anything. Gift-O-Rama entry blanks are in all Super Duper stores. About 620 prizes will be awarded — 31 in each store.

Prizes include stereo hi-fi sets, men's and ladies watches, and Christmas toys.

Three Westsiders Cop Final Football Round; Split $225

E. C. Heater, Jr., 4640 Annhurst-rd, Richard H. Wiener, 249 S. Warren-av, and Robert Moon, 49 Demorest-rd finished one-two-three in the final round of Hartley Newspapers giant football contest.

Heater won $112.50 for his first place finish, correctly picking 22 of the 24 games. Wiener and Moon tied for second, each hitting on 21 of the 24 games.

Wiener's guess on the score of the Army-Navy game was a trifle closer than Moon's. Wiener picked Navy to win 23-17, and Moon predicted a 14-14 tie. Navy won the game 34-14.

Other contestants who missed only three of the 24 games are: Lee Wollam, Reynoldsburg, Rosalie Ladyoa, 62 N. Westgate-av, Winona Harshbarger, 751 Erickson-av, Rudolph Maynard, 541 Elsmere-st, and Janice Kerschler, 573 Frebis.

Executive Honored

James R. Riley, president of Suburban Motor Freight, Inc., 1100 King-av, will be the recipient of the Free Enterprise Awards Association's 1962 American Success Story award, Dec. 11.

Riley

Riley, a veteran of WW 1, was a hog-raiser and an auctioneer before entering the trucking business as a milk hauler. He began his one-truck operation in the 1920s and today he heads a firm which is ranked in the nation's top 75 trucking companies.

Suburban Motor Freight operates 30 terminals, owns 725 trucks, and employs 1000 persons. The company serves more than 5000 cities in the mid-west, and its trucks travel nine million miles a year.

Riley founded the Columbus Boys Choir, helped establish the Columbus Town Meeting of the Air, and currently serves as trustee of Baldwin-Wallace College and of Riverside Methodist Hospital.

The American Success Story award will be presented to Riley for his contribution to his industry, his work in numerous youth, church, government, and charitable organizations.

Santa To Visit Humane Society Animal Shelter

Thomas C. Justice, general manager of the Humane Society, announced that Santa Claus in full regalia will visit the Humane Society's animal shelter at 10 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 13. Santa Claus will make his annual distribution of Christmas goodies to the puppies, dogs, kittens, and cats which are the temporary "guests" of the animal shelter while waiting to be adopted.

The public is invited to take their boys and girls to the animal shelter to see Santa Claus. Invitations also are extended to institutions, children's organizations, nurseries, and kindergartens to be in attendance.

Justice said there are many pets of all sizes and types available at the shelter for adoption and would make wonderful Christmas presents.

This event is sponsored by the KEN-L-Treats Division of the Quaker Oats Company. Santa Claus will be represented by Russ Baldwin.

Wallace Is Reassigned

Airman Third Class James M. Wallace, son of Mr. and Mrs. James I. Wallace of 1392 Bryden-rd, has been reassigned to Little Rock AFB, Ark., following his graduation from Air Force technical training course for missile engine mechanics at Sheppard AFB, Tex. He attended East High School.

AUSTIN PEEL, center, Whitehall principal, was all smiles this week as seniors there recovered one of his prized books during their recent community-wide book drive. The book, "Encyclopedia of [illegible] Research," was wrapped in ribbon and presented to the principal by senior class advisors, James Joe and Helen Truex.

"We were most pleasantly surprised with the results of the drive," said both Poe and Miss Truex. "We never really expected it to succeed to such proportions."

Haytcher Seeks New Assistant

Whitehall councilmen Monday night gave first reading to an ordinance which would authorize City Solicitor Paul Haytcher to hire an assistant.

The ordinance provides that a salary of $330 per month be paid to the new man and gives Haytcher the power to designate him as a prosecuting attorney for the city.

Whitehaller Reaffirms Faith In Civic Pride

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

He'll probably blush when he reads this, but some recognition has to be given to a man named Donald Clark, 4157 Chandler-dr, in Whitehall.

What he did Monday night doesn't usually get this much newspaper space—and, it's a pretty safe bet that it won't any place else.

His feat? He simply acted as a citizen should and in the truest tradition of civic mindedness.

Clark entered Whitehall Council chambers Monday night and took a seat toward the back. He could have sat just about anywhere, though. The handful of residents who attend council meetings — not just in Whitehall, incidentally — hardly fill up the spacious new quarters.

He waited until the very last item on the council agenda. That's when Council President Walter Siemer polls the public for comments.

Clark came to the front of the chambers and quietly told them of his concern.

He's a tax-paying property owner. He's concerned with the "plague" of apartment buildings springing up.

He said he had heard that the city schools aren't able to offer the services they'd like to Whitehall students and he believes that it is because of an increase in apartments which means that more people are being "jammed" into the city, causing a subsequent influx on the schools.

He said he has three children himself.

Councilmen Ray Shipley and Darrell Todd supported the city's stand, however, by maintaining that there are properties in Whitehall that are totally unsuitable for home building.

Shipley even offered to take Clark on a tour of the city to justify every apartment building. The resident declined and said he had made a tour himself and this was the reason for his concern.

Council President Siemer agreed with Clark and said, "We recognize the situation as a problem."

If nothing else, it gave council food for thought. It probably made the lawmakers feel good deep down inside that a resident would take interest like this in the city.

The man asked his questions intelligently and in a straight forward manner. He wasn't pushy or uncompromising as is often the case at council meetings among irate citizens.

He even apologized for taking up council's time.

He didn't have to, though. They even thanked him for it.

Johnson

Navarro

Those named were: R. L. Getty, 365 Ridgedale dr, Worthington; L. R. Johnson, of 2848 Eastminster-rd, and G. A. Navarro, transferred from Allentown, Pa.

Getty, a graduate of Case Institute of Technology with a B.S. in electrical engineering, will have operating responsibility for line concentrator manufacture, frame wiring and testing and cable forming.

Johnson, a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh in engineering, will head a newly formed systems equipment engineering standards organization.

Navarro, a graduate of Clarkson College with a B.S. degree in industrial engineering, will be responsible for development engineering, electric switching system apparatus manufacture.

Seeks Permit

Cooper Pharmacy, Inc., 1506 S. Hamilton-rd, has applied for a 3.2 per cent beer carry-out permit from the Ohio Department of Liquor Control.

House Robbed

Frank G. Lumbert, 47, of 7230 E. Broad-st, reported to police Nov. 29 his home was robbed of $1780 worth of silver, china and clothing.

'Suburbia Today' Will Tell Of 19 Christmas Stockings

Paying subscribers will read how Pearl Buck, famous author of "The Good Earth," celebrates Christmas Eve at home when next week's edition of Eastern Review brings the December issue of SUBURBIA TODAY. Miss Buck hangs up "Nineteen Stockings by the Chimney Piece" — one for each of her own and her grandchildren and adopted children — and all by herself she fills them to overflowing.

Santa's in the suburbs this time of year, whether he comes by helicopter, jet plane or one-horse sleigh. In this month's Round Table, SUBURBIA TODAY asked editors of suburban newspapers, "How Does Your Town Keep Christmas?" and from across the country they reported that people are willing to experiment with new ideas, like the shoe party in Oak Cliff, Texas, for instance.

In this issue, too, Lydia Ratcliff brings back news from the Scandinavian Design Cavalcade, a report on the best ideas in everything from furniture to flower pots for our own kitchens and patios and holiday tables.

You've seen movie star Hermione Gingold as "Gigi's" grandmother; the head witch in "Bell, Book and Candle"; and the mayor's wife in "The Music Man." This month, you meet Miss Gingold as herself — a suburbanite at heart. "If I Lived in Whitefish Bay, Wisconsin" she begins . . . and from there on she — and you — are on home ground.

You can't lick car pools, but don't join them either, begs Robert DeRoos in his unsparing account of the wear and tear parents suffer while hauling their offspring from one place to another. Whatever the age of the children you drive, you're sure to find some chuckles (and twinges) in "Car Pools."

"Gumdrop Trees" make decorations for the holiday season. They're fun to create right at home and they can cost less than $3 to make. You can get the children in on the project or clear off one section of the kitchen table and make a gumdrop tree all by yourself. The complete directions are given in the article, so get a bag of gumdrops and get started.

Food Editor Melanie DeProft presents festive holiday dishes "To Enjoy, To Remember, To Cherish." There are recipes for cinnamon-apple salad; golden apple shells filled with smooth creme de pommes; Austrian pecan cookies; and Swiss basler brunsli cookies.

Explorer Post Tours Chicago

Explorer Post 271 took a motor tour of metropolitan Chicago over Thanksgiving weekend. The Explorers and their advisor visited the Museum of Science and Industry and the Loop in downtown Chicago.

The remainder of the weekend was spent at the United States Naval Air Station, Glenview, Ill. The Explorers spent two days at the air station, using the barracks and enlisted men's mess hall.

They were given a tour of the air station and an orientation flight in a Navy air transport plane.

The following Explorers made the trip, Craig Bush, Larry Peterson, Wayne Ballantyne, Randy Henkle, Joe Filippi, Chris Lambrecht and Steve and Larry Papier.

William R. Henkle is post advisor.

Mental Health Begins Christmas Gift Pick-up

The first major pick-up day, Wednesday, Dec. 5 for the Christmas Gift program for the patients of the Columbus State Hospital and Columbus Children's Psychiatric Hospital was announced by Mrs. Robert Nekervis. Mrs. Nekervis is area volunteer chairman of the Franklin County Mental Health Association.

The first of several thousand gifts will arrive by Swormstead Storage and Moving Van so that the massive preparation for Christmas can begin for many of the 2,500 patients of the state hospital. On Christmas morning every patient will receive a personal gift, and ward parties will be planned.

The Christmas gift program will continue through Friday, Dec. 21 and Super Swan Cleaners throughout the county will continue to act as gathering hosts. Clubs, groups and residents who will be meeting throughout December, were encouraged to continue leaving their gifts at Swan Cleaners.

The trading stamp and/or gift program will be in progress until Dec. 21 when the final gathering will be made to have all gifts at the hospital prior to Christmas Day.

Interested individuals are invited to call the Franklin County Mental Health Association at CA. 8-4344 for further information.

AMUSEMENTS

'Sound Of Music' Will Open Week's Engagement At Vets

One of the most popular musicals touring the country, "The Sound Of Music," will open in Columbus at Vets Memorial on Monday, Dec. 31, according to Mrs. Robert F. Boda of the Hartman Theater.

The bright musical is another in the presentations by the Theatre Guild subscription series which, most recently, brought "Mary, Mary" to the Hartman.

The masterpiece will run until Saturday, Jan. 5, with evening performances at 8:30 p.m. and matinees on Tuesday (New Year's Day) and Saturday at 2 p.m.

Richard Rodgers' happy melodies and the buoyant lyrics of Oscar Hammerstein 2nd give the show a "singing spirit."

This is a story about a family of singers — the Trapp family — and there could be no abler talents to tell it than Rodgers and Hammerstein.

Songs include "Do Re Mi," "The Sound of Music," "The Lonely Goatherd," "My Favorite Things" and "So Long, Farewell."

Starring in the smash musical hit will be Barbara Meister and John Myhers, along with Beatrice Krebs, Jack Collins and Martha Errolle.

The entire show is directed by Vincent J. Donehue.

Mail orders are being accepted now. Checks should be payable to the Hartman Box Office and accompanied by self-addressed, stamped return envelope. Alternate dates should be given.

"THE SOUND OF MUSIC" will fill the Columbus air for one week when it opens Monday, Dec. 31, at Veterans Memorial. The show stars Barbara Meister and John Myhers shown here singing one of the many beautiful Richard Rodgers melodies from the show. It runs here until Jan. 5 with a matinee on New Year's Day.

Cap Choir Dedicates Concert To Germans

The Capital University Chapel Choir Christmas concerts in Veterans Memorial Auditorium Sunday, Dec. 9, will be dedicated to the oppressed people of Eastern Germany.

The special dedication concerts were proposed by the choir members who sang behind the "Iron Curtain" last summer. Over 2,000 East Berliners heard the Capital University traveling choir.

Under the direction of Dr. Ellis E. Snyder, the Chapel Choir will sing at 3 and 8:30 p.m.

Kurt Meyers, student ticket manager, said all reserved tickets for both concerts are gone. However, as the tickets are issued free of charge, Meyers said he anticipates will not be claimed and will not be claimed and will be made available five minutes prior to each concert.

Players Club Will Premier Mystery-Melo

The Columbus premier of "Write Me a Murder," by Frederick ("Dial 'M' for Murder") Knott, opened at Players Club, 549 Franklin-av, Wednesday, Dec. 5, at 8:30 p.m. and will run through Dec. 9.

Featured in this mystery-melodrama are Harry Graham, Margaret Ilg, Annie Sidesinger, Lew Gray, Noble Parrish, John Taylor and Sam McClintic.

This will be the 196th production of Players Club, now celebrating its fortieth anniversary.

Ferg's Sleeping A Little Later Now With New Show

In the days of WTVN-TV's "Morning Show," durable Fraysher Ferguson had to get up mighty early to flex his muscles and promote physical fitness around these parts.

He's sleeping a little later now, since the "Morning Show" bit left the air Dec. 1, 1961, and instead of arriving at the WTVN-TV studio at 7:30 a.m., he's getting there around 9:30 a.m. just on Saturday mornings and doing his "one-two-three bends" for the entire family.

Ferguson began his own show designed for "family participation" Dec. 1 of this year, and is concentrating heavily on the physical fitness of the youth of the community and the correct methods of exercise.

His show's called "Fitness by Ferg" and, although less than a month old now, has been receiving good response from the health hunters. Even the non-yugurt fans are tuning him in with good results.

That 7:30 a.m. grind of the old days must've been rough. This writer worked at the station then and can remember how we yawned good mornings to him and didn't envy him a bit having to put on the tights and do the deep breathing before breakfast.

Ferguson is also athletic director of the Columbus Athletic Club and is featuring weekly guests on his program, such as prominent athletes from the Columbus area, as well as outstanding youngsters from the Columbus Recreation Department and Public Schools.

He's doing an important job. Even I, who thought that enough stamina to change the ribbon on my Remington would suffice, am tuning him in.

OWU Dating 'Messiah' On December 16

Advance tickets are going out this weekend for the Dec. 16 presentation of Handel's "Messiah," by the Ohio Wesleyan University music department with three great artists.

The tickets will be distributed free of charge. Ticketholders will be admitted first to the two performances and those without tickets will be admitted to Gray Chapel 10 minutes before start of each performance.

Identical concerts will be given at 3 and 8 p.m. on Dec. 16, because of the popularity of the Christmas concert.

Participating in the performance of "The Messiah" will be the Ohio Wesleyan Symphony, Men's Glee Club, Women's Chorale, A Cappella Choir and the following soloists: Maude Nosler, Chicago, soprano; Evelyn Reynolds, visiting artist, University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill., alto; Robert Price, Riverside Church, New York, tenor, and Gordon Almstead, Ohio Wesleyan music department, bass.

Conducting will be Rexford Keller, chairman of the OWU music department.

THE BIG TEN . . .

Agin this week, Sammy Davis Jr.'s big record, "What Kind of Fool Am I," leads the WVKO Fabulous 50 Tunedex. Others reported by the Good Guys include:

TB On TV 4

"Let's Live" at 11:30 a.m., Sunday, Dec. 9 on TV 4 will have as the subject "TB Control." Discussing this topic will be Gerald D. Fry, executive director of the Columbus and Franklin County TB Society; Dr. Harold I. Humphrey, superintendent of Benjamin Franklin Hospital; Dr. Ollie Goodloe, City of Columbus Health Commissioner; Dr. Joseph R. Boyle, medical director of Benjamin Franklin Clinic, and John Dickey, registrar of Franklin County TB Registry.

Brief Bits . . .

The Ohio State basketball games are preempting a few good "Saturday Night at the Movies" episodes on WLW-C TV-4, but something tells me Central Ohio fans aren't objecting.

Just so you'll know what you missed, the Dec. 8 film, "No Down Payment" with Sheree North and Tony Randall has been bounced.

Jilted Jean

The station will be carrying "Desiree" in color Dec. 15, however. This stars Jean Simmons in the title role and Marlon Brando as Napoleon. Desiree was the merchant's daughter whom Napoleon jilted to marry Josephine.

Air-time is 9 p.m.

Speaking of things being bounced. Channel 4 reports that the network is dropping both "Saints and Sinners" and "It's a Man's World" as of Feb. 4.

Both shows, which fell short in the ratings, are going to be replaced by "Monday Night at the Movies" which will feature late 20th Century Fox releases from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

KAHIKI KUTIE

PRETTY GALS like hostess Janice Smith here are big attractions at the Kahiki Polynesian Supper Club, 3583 E. Broad-st. Only 10 minutes from downtown Columbus, the Kahiki offers enchanting atmosphere and exotic tropical drinks. The "Beachcombers" play music nightly, from 5 p.m. to 2:30 a.m. For reservations, phone BE. 7-5425.

'Requiem' Seemed To Be Better Television Show

By JACK WITTENMEIER

The attempt to stuff a 90-minute television special into a feature length movie falls a bit short in "Requiem for a Heavyweight" now appearing at the World Theater.

The dramatic road to the bottom of a heavyweight contender which was one of writer Rod Serling's early claims to fame, allows the viewers to slip through the films' emotional grasp at too many spots.

Fight fans, who come to see a bevy of fistic action, better not miss the pre-credit sequence which affords the movie's lone ring scene with excellent camera effects.

Jackie Gleason, playing the role of the villianous manager of an aging boxer who's finished as a serious contender, is adequate but it's strictly Anthony Quinn's 'baby' as Mountain Rivera, the fighter.

"Requiem for a Heavyweight, despite its apparent padding to work in more scenes for Gleason and Rooney, is still a fine motion picture which doesn't pull any punches in portraying all the emotional conflict involved when a man finds he no longer has a dream to nurture.

ROGER AND IN—Bexley's Roger Williamson (31) leaps high, eluding an unidentified St. Charles cager, to drop in a jump shot against the Carolians. Waiting for developments under the basket are Bexley's Jeff Berlin and St. Charles' Joe Van Balen (42).

Scot Matmen 'Pin' Newark Team, 43-8

Walnut Ridge opened its wrestling season with a 43-8 win over Newark Saturday.

The Scottie matmen won eight of the ten weight division events in compiling their points.

CARDS STACK BEXLEY

Tigers Roll, 81-54, Scots In OT Win

East's vet-laden Tigers, served notice to City League hopefuls that the Bengals will be coming to play this season with a eyeopening 81-54 inaugural win over Chillicothe.

The Tigers chalked up 11 points before Chillicothe was able to score and led by a 15-point margin at halftime. East's Ed Waller paced the winners' attack with 29 big points while teammate Mike Hammond dropped in 16 more markers.

PORTSMOUTH overrame a third-period splurge that gave Eastmoor a 39-38 lead to edge the Warriors, 57-50.

Eastmoor's Steve Howell and Geldis shared the Warriars' scoring honors with 16 points apiece.

MT. VERNON hit Whitehall with both barrels, leveling the Rams under a 71-37 barrage that opened Central Buckeye League play for both teams.

The Yellow Jackets jumped off to a 17-3 first period lead and led by 27 points at halftime as they drew notice as a possible CBL contender.

Bill Dildine led Ram scorers with ten points.

BEXLEY TOOK it on the chin twice over a "lost weekend," bowing to Worthington in CBL play Friday, 42-39, before succumbing to St. Charles, 58-33 Saturday.

The Lions stayed in contention all the way with Worthington, trailing only 23-20 at halftime. Jeff Schmidt led Bexley scorers with 14 points but it wasn't enough to offset a 24-point performance by the winners' Ira Porterfield.

THE LIONS were unable to match St. Charles' swiftness afoot Saturday night and couldn't cope in particular with Carolian guard Dick Ferris, who burned the nets for 31 points including some fantastic drive-in field goals.

The Cardinals won handily, 58-33, and were never in scoring trouble, leading 28-14 at halftime. Bexley honors went to Jim Hoyer with nine markers.

ST. CHARLES didn't have as much success Friday night, dropping a 52-45 decision to a short but experienced Aquinas quintet.

The Terriers were held to a 34-34 deadlock after three periods but went ahead to stay on Tom Woodward's goal early in the final stanza.

Woodward led all scorers with 22 points while Joe VanBalen and Mike Bauman dropped in 14 and 12 points respectively for St. Charles.

HARTLEY ALSO felt the sting of the Terrier scoring punch, losing, 53-46, to Aquinas Saturday night.

The Hawks led, 25-24, at halftime but the Irish came on strong in the second half to pull ahead and away, thanks again to an 18-point splurge by Woodward.

John Flewellen topped all scorers, dropping in 21 markers for the losing Hawks.

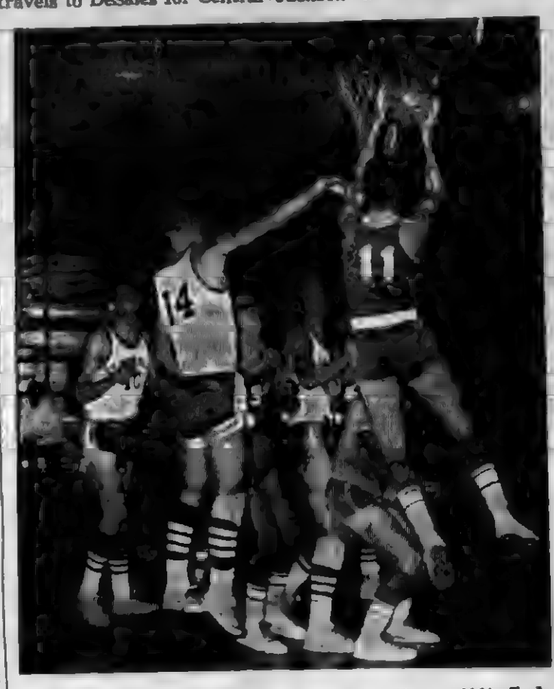
HARTLEY ALSO took it on the chin Friday night as Linden rolled up a lopsided 62-30 win.

Jack Diamond was the most productive Hawk in this one, racking up 15 points.

WALNUT RIDGE used a carbon copy of its lone '61-'62 cage win to down De Sales, 37-35, in an overtime Saturday night.

The Scots won only one game last season, a double overtime win over the same DeSales team.

Jim Pyles proved to be the difference this time as he led the Scottie scorers with 13 points which included a field goal and two free throws that proved the overtime margin.



ACADEMY GOT off on the wrong feet in the C ounty League race Friday night as the Vikings dropped a 43-24 verdict to St. Marys.

The Vikings trailed by a 17-12 margin at halftime but the Rams outscored them, 16-6, in the third period to pull away to victory.

John Larrimer's 11 points was the high point for the losers who suffered their second straight loss.

WEEKEND ACTION finds Bexley in Mt. Vernon and Delaware at Whitehall in CBL play while Watterson visits Hartley and St. Charles travels to DeSales for Central Catholic League action. East is at Salem and Academy journeys to Reynoldsburg to complete Friday night competition.

Saturday contests find North at St. Charles, Sheridan at Walnut Ridge and Jackson at Eastmoor.

HOYER BASKET—The Lions' Jim Hoyer (11) finds a tiny opening in the St. Charles defense and drives around the Carolians for a quick field goal. Bexley's Roger Williamson (31) looks on as St. Charles' Mike Baumann (40), Dan Boyle (14) and Joe Van Balen (42) move in to try to stop Hoyer.

EXCUSE, PLEASE—Bexley's Jim Hoyer (11) drives for the basket for a shot attempt in the Lions' game with St. Charles Saturday night despite the presence of the Carolians' Dan Boyle (14). Moving in on the play is Bexley's Jay Maupin (51).

Prestige Worrying Is Latest Indoor Sport

Last week we had turned our weary attention away from the remindants of the Cuban crisis and those other bizarre details that seem to clutter up 90 per cent of the front page these days and had buried ourselves in the tranquility of the sports pages.

There was always some good news there we knew and we were beginning to convince ourselves that maybe everything in the world wasn' tas bad as we thought.

WE WERE convinced, that is, until a friend of ours walked in to talk a little sports.

We were explaining how lucky we thought we were in reporting sports instead of the woes of the world these days.

Somehow the conversation got around to prestige or maybe the lack of it and this guy began to point out that it wasn't political prestige we had to worry about today but rather our increasing reverses in the world of sports.

"WE DON'T think we have much to worry about," we said, sure that American sports prestige was moving toward new frontiers.

"Nope," he said, frowning. "It's been a long time coming but remember that day at the Olympics when (John) Thomas couldn't make it over the bar. That was the beginning."

"Well, yes—but—"

"And how about our increasing reverses in the other Olympic contests to say nothing about the Japanese situation."

"The Japanese situation?", we asked.

"WELL, SURE," he said. "The Detroit Tigers didn't win all their games against the Japanese All-Stars a couple of weeks ago. And how about all these American baseball players considering joining this new Japanese league."

"Well, we've still got football," we said, growing a little nervous.

"Nope. All the good college players are going to Canada."

"Basketball?"

"The Russian teams that are touring the country are winning too many games."

"Tennis?"

"The Australians."

"Hockey?"

"The Canadians again."

NOW WE WERE beginning to feel that big knot in our stomach, usually reserved for reading the front page.

"And if all that isn't bad enough," he said, "how about this Swede who's heavyweight champion of the world."

"Well, now there's where we've got 'em," we said proudly. "The current champion is Sonny Liston and he's an American."

"Liston? You mean that gangster is the world champion now?"

"Gangster? Liston's no gangster. He might have had some kind of an unforunate past but—"

"Yes sir, don't worry about our political prestige. It's the ground we've lost in the sports world that you should worry about."

"Oh well," he said, "there's always the comics. But then—"

We pushed him out the door and poured a big glass of milk. We're afraid we're getting ulcers.

BITS OF WIT(T) — WLW-C has solved the problem of a Jerry Lucas-less Ohio State cage team this season. The OSU All-American will appear on a post-game show, following six of the Channel 4 telecasts of the Ohio State basketball games this season.

We were happy to note that there are still a few colleges that don't put the entire emphasis on winning football. Kansas State might have set a precedent last week when it unanimously suggested the rehiring of grid coach Doug Weaver to another three-year contract. Weaver's won-loss mark over the past three seasons stands at 3-27.

No Tournament Here

Canton has replaced Columbus as the site of the AA basketball tournament next March.

The tourney, which pits district winners from the Central, Eastern, Southeastern and one from the Canton sector against each other, will be switched to the Canton site since the Columbus facilities will not be available this year.

In all probability, the tourney will be returned to Columbus in 1963.

Capital Tabs Miller As Head Mat Coach

Lauren Miller, 23-year old seminary student, has been named head wrestling coach at Capital University.

Miller a former Cap grappler in the 167-pound class, will lead the Purple and White squad as they compete in six dual meets during the 563 season.

The schedule: Jan. 8—Otterbein; Feb. 2 — Akron, Feb. 6—at Ohio Wesleyan; Feb. 12 — Muskingum; Feb. 16 — Wittenberg; Feb. 19 — Kenyon; Mar. 1-2—Ohio Conference Meet at Hiram.

'Y' Plans Sports Club

A sports club to be affiliated with the South Side Branch YMCA is being organized.

An organizational meeting is scheduled Thursday, Jan. 3, at the new YMCA Building, 190 Southwood-av. All men who have served in an advisory capacity in the "Y" Inter-Church Athletic Program are invited.

Explorer Club Moves Indoors

With the coming of winter, the Columbus Underwater Explorers Club is beginning its indoor skindiving instruction program for new members.

The instructions cover the basic principles of both Skin and Scuba Diving. The diving course will begin with the student exhibiting his knowledge of basic swimming and will progress until the final check-out dive is held outdoors in early spring at Clark's Lake.

WHEN the student passes all of his or her qualification tests, he is awarded a certificate of Basic Diving Proficiency. Strict membership rules plus stiff safety procedures are observed at all times and make Underwater Explorers Club a safe and enjoyable way to participate in the sport.

Anyone interested in more information on either the club or the sport itself are asked to call Ed Lawson at BE. 7-6476 or Herb Gregory at CL. 3-3176.

Whitehall-Yearling RAM-blings

By SUE ISRAEL

Essay And Poster Contest Champs Named; Get Prizes

Winners of the essay and poster contest were announced at the Thanksgiving and patriotism assembly at WYHS Wednesday, Nov. 21.

The assembly opened with the student body participating in the "Pledge of Allegiance" and the "Star-Spangled Banner." The invocation was administered by Rev. Roberts, father of Whitehall Yearling's Student Council president, Roger Roberts.

Roger Roberts read the names of the three winners in each division.

Essay contest winners were Edith Knowicky, senior, first place; Anne Malay, junior, second, and Kristin Luker, junior, third place winner.

In the poster contest, winners were Cynthia Kramer, Dee Kelly and Mary Knight.

First place winners in each division received a $25 savings bond while second place winners received transistor radios. Third place winners received $5 in cash.

WYHS has organized an art club, under the leadership of the school art instructor, Mr. Bott. Club officers for the school year are Sandy Mapes, president; Dee Kelly, vice president; Kim Glass, secretary; and Bill Olinger, treasurer.

WYHS PTA presented "A Night On The Town," an all-adult talent show Wednesday evening, Nov. 21.

The audience was first introduced to a dancing scene in a small cafe.

In the first act, the "Rockheads," a chorus line clad in black pants, white blouse, red sash, and carrying canes, danced to the music of "Hey, Look Me Over."

Featured in the other acts were singers, dancers, musicians and comedians. Latin American dancing was demonstrated.

The "Postmarks," a barbershop quartet, sang two encores.

The "Rockheads" danced to "Toot, Toot, Tootsie Goodbye," while an illuminated train was pulled across the stage signifying the close of the program.

Proceeds will go to the PTA scholarship program.

WYHS dramatics class took a field trip to Otterbein College in Westerville. They observed the set and lighting for "Bell, Book and Candle," which will be presented in the near future. After touring the campus, the visitors ate lunch in the campus refectory.

WYHS Latin Club held its initiation program Wednesday, Dec. 5. At the candlelight service, the new members recited a pledge in Latin as part of their initiation. Following the program refreshments were served.

The Future Nurses' Club toured St. Anthony Hospital Nov. 27, after school.

Guest speaker at the Biology Club meeting was Mrs. Milford Markham, mother of WYHS sophomore, Bambi Markham, who spoke on her hobby, ornithology. This year the Biology Club is planning to have speakers from various fields of science. Field trips are also on the agenda.

There was an organizational meeting of WYHS Tri-Hi Nov. 29. All girls of high school age are welcome to join.

Post Office—

private ownership and pays local taxes to the community.

This gives the department flexibility in adapting its building program to changes in mail volumes and eliminates large outlays of money from the Federal Treasury for construction purposes.

Mark Hawks, superintendent, and Frank Gradwohl, assistant superintendent, three clerks and 22 carriers will serve the 15,400 residents and 738 business places in postal zone 13.

STUDENTS GIVE STOCK CERTIFICATES

East Sider At Columbus Christening

An East-side woman, Mrs Edward G. Myers, 1335 Byron-av, and her daughter, Mrs. Gerald K. O'Neil, 3801 Ashton-rd, were among those present at the rechristening of the US Columbus in Bremerton, Wash., Dec. 1.

Mrs. Myers was selected to christen the ship in 1944, at its original launching, as a representative of all Columbus mothers who lost sons in World War II.

The ship was remade into a missle launching vessel and Mrs. Meyers was chosen to attend the second christening.

She lost two sons in WWII, during the summer of 1944, and third son spent more than two years in overseas duty during the war.

Mrs. Meyers, and her daughter were flown to Bremerton as guests of the Timken Roller Bearing Co.

'UNTIL NEXT WEEK . . .'

Whitehall Holds Off On Maplewood Ave.

Whitehall Council Monday night postponed action on the improvement of Maplewood-av but indicated that they would "move ahead" on the project at the Dec. 18 meeting.

An ordinance to make overall improvements—similiar to those recently made on Yearling-rd—was tabled, much on the prompting of Councilman Kenneth McIntosh, who reported he wanted "more time to study costs."

Primarily, the ordinance provides for construction of a permanent paved street, curbing, paving, construction of sidewalks, driveway approaches and storm sewers on Maplewood-av from Broad-st to Main-st.

Cost of the project was set at $388,360, which is somewhat higher than the price of the Yearling-rd job. Consulting Engineer John D. Tilton explained that this was because a storm sewer trunk had to be constructed while there is an existing one on Yearling-rd.

Once the trunk is constructed it will be used for Collingwood-av, also, and hold down the costs of that project.

McIntosh said he wasn't satisfied with the city's share of funds for the Maplewood-av improvement, stating that he feels it was "ridiculously higher" than that of Yearling-rd and "didn't seem to be in proportion at all."

Plans and specifications already have been made on the Maplewood job.

Owners of all lots and lands bounding Maplewood will be assessed "a sum not in excess of" $15 a front foot, provided that standard driveway approaches of 70 square feet or less are used and that no water lines or sanitary sewer service is installed.

The city is to pay all sums in excess of $15 a front foot.

Assessments have been slated in 10 annual installments with interest on deferred payments at the same rate as those of bonds issued in anticipation of the collection.

If the ordinance is adopted at the next meeting, Tilton is authorized to prepare an estimated assessment in accordance with this setup.

Whitehall Accepts Budget Commission Tax Data

Whitehall lawmakers have accepted County Budget Commission tax recommendations and will levy the rate of each tax necessary within a 10-mill limitation on the tax duplicate there.

This was done in accordance with the provisions of the previously adopted tax budget in Whitehall for the coming fiscal year, beginning Jan. 1, 1963.

The Budget Commission of Franklin County had certified its action to Whitehall Council, along with an estimate by County Auditor Fred C. Dunn, of the rate of each tax necessary to be levied by the solons.

A summary of amounts required from the General Property Tax approved by the commission and the auditor-estimated tax rates includes:

For general fund, $44,640; $14,880 for Firemen's Pension Fund and $14,880 for Police Pension Fund—totaling $74,400. This means that a total estimated rate of $1.50 will be levied inside the 10-mill limit.

Whitehall Will Hire Plumber

Whitehall councilmen created the position of a part time plumbing inspector Monday night because "the amount and complexity of construction has increased materially within the past year," according to Solicitor Paul Haytcher.

The solicitor added that each application for a building permit to construct or alter a building must be acted upon and inspected by the chief building inspector and that it was necessary to provide Inspector A. W. Martin with assistance in regard to plumbing.

A state law requires that a master plumber pass on plans and make inspections.

The new position calls for a rate "not to exceed" $2 per hour.

Solons Make New 'Booster' Appropriation

Whitehall councilmen Monday night made a supplementary appropriation of $3,400 for designated accounts which could not be paid from the general fund.

From the existing general fund, $900 was appropriated and placed in accounts of building repair and maintenance, assistant city solicitor and assistant building inspector finances.

Taken from the street maintenance and repair fund was $2,500 for traffic light projects and other maintenance work.

The action makes up for insufficient funds in certain accounts which, City Auditor Walter Helber reported, "have definite obligations that should be met so as to preserve the good credit standing of the city."

a new experience for Mayer. In 1955, he took over similar duties at Eastmoor when that school was being completed.

Harris, vice-principal at North High since 1958, was principal at Weinland Park from 1954 to 1957. Before that, he taught music for seven years in the Columbus schools at Linden-McKinley High and Indianola Junior High schools.

He has bachelor of science and master of arts degrees in education from Ohio State University.

Mayer holds a bachelor of science in education from Capital University and master of arts in education from Ohio State University. His teaching experience in Columbus includes assignments at Roosevelt Junior High and West Junior-Senior High Schools.

Eastmoor High School's Warriors' Spear-It

By Sue Israel

Foreign Student Describes Impressions Of America

"American teenagers are typically American: young, active, smart and full of enthusiasm," said Mustafa Siyahi, 18, Eastmoor's American Field Service (AFS) exchange student from Turkey. "I have learned about the American teenagers, who are the reflections of the American people."

Musty, as his friends call him, is taking a number of subjects at Eastmoor. They include: Math Honors IV, Physics, American Literature, English Grammar, Trigonometry, Principles of Democracy and Typing.

"I do not find my subjects hard," Musty said, "but the homework takes a lot of time.

"In Turkey, most of the learning is done in the class periods, while at Eastmoor a big percentage of work and learning is done at home."

Even with Musty's heavy schedule and homework, he still finds time for extra curricular activities in and out of school. At Eastmoor he is a member of the Slide Rule Club, the Math Club and the Senior Science Club. Out of school, Musty is a member of the Air Explorers and plays the guitar.

"I would like to complete my college education in America, but I signed a contract with the AFS that I would not come back to the U.S. for two years after my present visit," Musty said sadly. "I would like to go to Massachusettes Institute of Technology or California Tech. I had college scholarships in Turkey, but I left them to come to America."

"Since I must leave America, I hope to complete my education in either Turkey or Germany," Musty added. "I want to go into electronics which I believe is interesting and one of the most important research fields of today and tomorrow."

The AFS sent Musty applications to be an exchange student in Nov., 1961. He waited about six months for a positive answer. When speaking of why he patiently waited, he said, "The main reason I waited for six months was interest and curosity in learning more about Americans and their way of life. Of course, it was a dream to come to America. I have been dreaming of coming for years and years."

Now that Musty is here, he finds "The American way of life is dominated by a major factor, speed. The American way of life is interesting and different."

"In Turkey the way the people live is very hard," Musty added. "Not everyone has a car or appliances."

But school students still have fun. "In Turkey, students belong to clubs and student associations," Musty said. "Most of their activities consist of movies, plays and trips organized by the schools."

"I'm real happy about my visit," Musty concluded. "This has been a wonderful experience. This has been a year I will never forget."

The Mayor was asked about the ordinance he introduced to council in its last meeting. After considerable thought, he answered, "I will ask council to have the ordinance withdrawn from consideration or suggest that it be tabled indefinitely, until the law is clarified by legislature. For us to pass a special ordinance would be premature and council didn't seem in a hurry to give the Mayor's court the jurisdiction . . . Perhaps council was right . . ." he said with deep thought.

Legislators To 'Clarify' Sunday Sales Law? Maybe Not!

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

A word to those who are asking the State Legislature to "clarify" the Sunday Sales law in Ohio:

"Don't expect miracles."

A Hartley Newspaper poll of area legislators indicates that they are nearly as confused as everybody else over the question which, basically, is to determine whether or not stores can operate on Sundays.

Two studies are being carried on by legislative groups in preparation for the General Assembly meeting in January, but the feeling is strong that they'll fall far short of adequacy.

There is even speculation that the lawmakers may repeal outright the 131-year-old law. Regardless, it's a pretty safe bet that little concrete action will be taken during this session.

Comments by some of the legislators include:

LYTLE ZUBER—"I haven't researched this thing . . . It's going to be a rough session, though, and that's about all I can say."

CHALMERS WYLIE—"I think anything we do will be based on these two studies being made. There is a lot of confusion as a result of the last election and I'm sure we should make some effort to clarify the law. I, myself, haven't made any definite decisions."

KLINE ROBERTS—"It should develop into a battle over semantics. I'm sure that everyone wants to settle the controversy but this is one of those things that you can't tell about until you sit around and talk with the legislators. I do feel that most of the people don't want to make Sunday a work day."

ROGER CLOUD (House Speaker)—"This is not a new subject. My guess is that the membership will not want to repeal the law entirely . . . but, we are going to have trouble finding the proper definitions."

EDMUND JAMES—"We're heading in the right direction."

ARCHER REILLY, JR.—"I feel that outside studies will be sufficient to enable us to render a decision."

ROBERT HOLMES—"I have no idea in the world how it might come out. I've heard as many different ideas of what we should do as people I've talked to. It's easy to say 'let the legislators do it' but doing it's another matter. The law does need clarifying, though."

Other comments went along these general lines. All of the above men are Republicans and all except Cloud (Logan County) and James (Noble County) are from the Franklin County area where the Greater Columbus Sunday Association recently aided in winning a vote at the polls Nov. 6 against a Lawson's Milk Co. amendment.

The feeling is also strong that much of the decision will hinge on the aforementioned studies. One is being made by the Legislative Services Commission under direction of Loren Blosser and the other by Representative James of the Ohio Judiciary Committee at the direction of House Speaker Cloud.

Blosser reported that his group doesn't have the available staff needed to completely research the question. "We're merely doing a thorough analysis of the present law and of the court decisions rendered so far. We're not doing a survey or extensive study.

"Somebody should do some research on economic pressures," Blosser hinted, "and how the public feels with respect for the Sabbath. These two questions aren't well defined—rather like our gambling laws."

James' survey is, perhaps, probing a bit deeper. "We're progressing well with it," he said in a telephone interview. "We want to set ourselves up so that when the issue is presented, we'll have some advanced knowledge. If we don't, we'll consume most of the time doing our 'homework.'"

James didn't give any indications as to what his survey was revealing. He did say, though, that he was "trying to determine the popular mandate."

Many of Ohio's lawmakers feel that the voters already have issued their "mandate" by repealing the Lawson amendment, indicating they would like stricter enforcement of the Sunday Blue Laws.

The general opinion among the legislators is that the matter will be brought up at this coming session. This is based, mainly, on the fact that two strong lobby groups,

Essay And Poster Contest Champs Named; Get Prizes

Winners of the essay and poster contest were announced at the Thanksgiving and patriotism assembly at WYHS Wednesday, Nov. 21.

The assembly opened with the student body participating in the "Pledge of Allegiance" and the "Star-Spangled Banner." The invocation was administered by Rev. Roberts, father of Whitehall Yearling's Student Council president, Roger Roberts.

Roger Roberts read the names of the three winners in each division.

Essay contest winners were Edith Knowlsky, senior, first place; Anne Malay, junior, second, and Kristin Luker, junior, third place winner.

In the poster contest, winners were Cynthia Kramer, Dee Kelly and Mary Knight.

First place winners in each division received a $25 savings bond while second place winners received transistor radios. Third place winners received $5 in cash.

WYHS has organized an art club, under the leadership of the school art instructor, Mr. Bott. Club officers for the school year are Sandy Mapes, president; Dee Kelly, vice president; Kim Glass, secretary; and Bill Olinger, treasurer.

WYHS PTA presented "A Night On The Town," an all-adult talent show Wednesday evening, Nov. 21.

The audience was first introduced to a dancing scene in a small cafe.

In the first act, the "Rockheads," a chorus line clad in black pants, white blouse, red sash, and carrying canes, danced to the music of "Hey, Look Me Over."

Featured in the other acts were singers, dancers, musicians and comedians. Latin American dancing was demonstrated.

The "Postmarks," a barbershop quartet, sang two encores.

The "Rockheads" danced to "Toot, Toot, Tootsie Goodbye," while an illuminated train was pulled across the stage signifying the close of the program.

Proceeds will go to the PTA scholarship program.

WYHS dramatics class took a field trip to Otterbein College in Westerville. They observed the set and lighting for "Bell, Book and Candle," which will be presented in the near future. After touring the campus, the visitors ate lunch in the campus refectory.

WYHS Latin Club held its initiation program Wednesday, Dec. 5. At the candlelight service, the new members recited a pledge in Latin as part of their initiation. Following the program refreshments were served.

The Future Nurses' Club toured St. Anthony Hospital Nov. 27, after school.

Guest speaker at the Biology Club meeting was Mrs. Milford Markham, mother of WYHS sophomore, Bambi Markham, who spoke on her hobby, ornithology. This year the Biology Club is planning to have speakers from various fields of science. Field trips are also on the agenda.

There was an organizational meeting of WYHS Tri-Hi Nov. 29. All girls of high school age are welcome to join.

Legislators To 'Clarify' Sunday Sales Law? Maybe Not!

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

A word to those who are asking the State Legislature to "clarify" the Sunday Sales law in Ohio:

"Don't expect miracles."

A Hartley Newspaper poll of area legislators indicates that they are nearly as confused as everybody else over the question which, basically, is to determine whether or not stores can operate on Sundays.

Two studies are being carried on by legislative groups in preparation for the General Assembly meeting in January, but the feeling is strong that they'll fall far short of adequacy.

There is even speculation that the lawmakers may repeal outright the 131-year-old law. Regardless, it's a pretty safe bet that little concrete action will be taken during this session.

Comments by some of the legislators include:

LYTLE ZUBER—"I haven't researched this thing . . . It's going to be a rough session, though, and that's about all I can say."

CHALMERS WYLIE—"I think anything we do will be based on these two studies being made. There is a lot of confusion as a result of the last election and I'm sure we should make some effort to clarify the law. I, myself, haven't made any definite decisions."

KLINE ROBERTS—"It should develop into a battle over semantics. I'm sure that everyone wants to settle the controversy but this is one of those things that you can't tell about until you sit around and talk with the legislators. I do feel that most of the people don't want to make Sunday a work day."

ROGER CLOUD (House Speaker)—"This is not a new subject. My guess is that the membership will not want to repeal the law entirely . . . but, we are going to have trouble finding the proper definitions."

EDMUND JAMES—"We're heading in the right direction."

ARCHER REILLY, JR.—"I feel that outside studies will be sufficient to enable us to render a decision."

ROBERT HOLMES—"I have no idea in the world how it might come out. I've heard as many different ideas of what we should do as people I've talked to. It's easy to say 'let the legislators do it' but doing it's another matter. The law does need clarifying, though."

Other comments went along these general lines. All of the above men are Republicans and all except Cloud (Logan County) and James (Noble County) are from the Franklin County area where the Greater Columbus Sunday Association recently aided in winning a vote at the polls Nov. 6 against a Lawson's Milk Co. amendment.

The feeling is also strong that much of the decision will hinge on the aforementioned studies. One is being made by the Legislative Services Commission under direction of Loren Blosser and the [illegible] by Representative James of the Ohio Judiciary Committee at the direction of House Speaker Cloud.

Blosser reported that his group doesn't have the available staff needed to completely research the question. "We're merely doing a thorough analysis of the present law and of the court decisions rendered so far. We're not doing a survey or extensive study.

"Somebody should do some research on economic pressures," Blosser hinted, "and [illegible] the public feels with respect for the Sabbath. These two questions aren't well defined—rather like our gambling laws."

James' survey is, perhaps, probing a bit deeper. "We're progressing well with it," he said in a telephone interview. "We want to set ourselves up so that when the issue is presented, we'll have some advanced knowledge. If we don't, we'll consume most of the time doing our 'homework.'"

James didn't give any indications as to what his survey was revealing. He did say, though, that he was "trying to determine the popular mandate."

Many of Ohio's lawmakers feel that the voters already have issued their "mandate" by repealing the Lawson amendment, indicating they would like stricter enforcement of the Sunday Blue Laws.

The general opinion among the legislators is that the matter will be brought up at this coming session. This is based, mainly, on the fact that two strong lobby groups,

Essay And Poster Contest Champs Named; Get Prizes

Winners of the essay and poster contest were announced at the Thanksgiving and patriotism assembly at WYHS Wednesday, Nov. 21.

The assembly opened with the student body participating in the "Pledge of Allegiance" and the "Star-Spangled Banner." The invocation was administered by Rev. Roberts, father of Whitehall Yearling's Student Council president, Roger Roberts.

Roger Roberts read the names of the three winners in each division.

Essay contest winners were Edith Knowlsky, senior, first place; Anne Malay, junior, second, and Kristin Luker, junior, third place winner.

In the poster contest, winners were Cynthia Kramer, Dee Kelly and Mary Knight.

First place winners in each division received a $25 savings bond while second place winners received transistor radios. Third place winners received $5 in cash.

WYHS has organized an art club, under the leadership of the school art instructor, Mr. Bott. Club officers for the school year are Sandy Mapes, president; Dee Kelly, vice president; Kim Glass, secretary; and Bill Olinger, treasurer.

WYHS PTA presented "A Night On The Town," an all-adult talent show Wednesday evening, Nov. 21.

The audience was first introduced to a dancing scene in a small cafe.

In the first act, the "Rockheads," a chorus line clad in black pants, white blouse, red sash, and carrying canes, danced to the music of "Hey, Look Me Over."

Featured in the other acts were singers, dancers, musicians and comedians. Latin American dancing was demonstrated.

The "Postmarks," a barbershop quartet, sang two encores.

The "Rockheads" danced to "Toot, Toot, Tootsie Goodbye," while an illuminated train was pulled across the stage signifying the close of the program.

Proceeds will go to the PTA scholarship program.

WYHS dramatics class took a field trip to Otterbein College in Westerville. They observed the set and lighting for "Bell, Book and Candle," which will be presented in the near future. After touring the campus, the visitors ate lunch in the campus refectory.

WYHS Latin Club held its initiation program Wednesday, Dec. 5. At the candlelight service, the new members recited a pledge in Latin as part of their initiation. Following the program refreshments were served.

The Future Nurses' Club toured St. Anthony Hospital Nov. 27, after school.

Guest speaker at the Biology Club meeting was Mrs. Milford Markham, mother of WYHS sophomore, Bambi Markham, who spoke on her hobby, ornithology. This year the Biology Club is planning to have speakers from various fields of science. Field trips are also on the agenda.

There was an organizational meeting of WYHS TAU Nov. 29. All girls of high school age are welcome to join.

East Sider At Columbus Christening

An East-side woman, Mrs Edward G. Myers, 1335 Byron-av, and her daughter, Mrs. Gerald K. O'Neil, 3801 Ashton-rd, were among those present at the rechristening of the US Columbus in Bremerton, Wash., Dec. 1.

Mrs. Myers was selected to christen the ship in 1944, at its original launching, as a representative of all Columbus mothers who lost sons in World War II.

The ship was remade into a missle launching vessel and Mrs. Meyers was chosen to attend the second christening.

She lost two sons in WWII, during the summer of 1944, and third son spent more than two years in overseas duty during the war.

Mrs. Meyers, and her daughter were flown to Bremerton as guests of the Timken Roller Bearing Co.

Legislators To 'Clarify' Sunday Sales Law? Maybe Not!

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

A word to those who are asking the State Legislature to "clarify" the Sunday Sales law in Ohio:

"Don't expect miracles."

A Hartley Newspaper poll of area legislators indicates that they are nearly as confused as everybody else over the question which, basically, is to determine whether or not stores can operate on Sundays.

Two studies are being carried on by legislative groups in preparation for the General Assembly meeting in January, but the feeling is strong that they'll fall far short of adequacy.

There is even speculation that the lawmakers may repeal outright the 131-year-old law. Regardless, it's a pretty safe bet that little concrete action will be taken during this session.

Comments by some of the legislators include:

LYTLE ZUBER—"I haven't researched this thing . . . It's going to be a rough session, though, and that's about all I can say."

CHALMERS WYLIE—"I think anything we do will be based on these two studies being made. There is a lot of confusion as a result of the last election and I'm sure we should make some effort to clarify the law. I, myself, haven't made any definite decisions."

KLINE ROBERTS—"It should develop into a battle over semantics. I'm sure that everyone wants to settle the controversy but this is one of those things that you can't tell about until you sit around and talk with the legislators. I do feel that most of the people don't want to make Sunday a work day."

ROGER CLOUD (House Speaker)—"This is not a new subject. My guess is that the membership will not want to repeal the law entirely . . . but, we are going to have trouble finding the proper definitions."

EDMUND JAMES—"We're heading in the right direction."

ARCHER REILLY, JR.—"I feel that outside studies will be sufficient to enable us to render a decision."

ROBERT HOLMES—"I have no idea in the world how it might come out. I've heard as many different ideas of what we should do as people I've talked to. It's easy to say 'let the legislators do it' but doing it's another matter. The law does need clarifying, though."

Other comments went along these general lines. All of the above men are Republicans and all except Cloud (Logan County) and James (Noble County) are from the Franklin County area where the Greater Columbus Sunday Association recently aided in winning a vote at the polls Nov. 6 against a Lawson's Milk Co. amendment.

The feeling is also strong that much of the decision will hinge on the aforementioned studies. One is being made by the Legislative Services Commission under direction of Loren Blosser and the other by Representative James of the Ohio Judiciary Committee at the direction of House Speaker Cloud.

Blosser reported that his group doesn't have the available staff needed to completely research the question. "We're merely doing a thorough analysis of the present law and of the court decisions rendered so far. We're not doing a survey or extensive study.

"Somebody should do some research on economic pressures," Blosser hinted, "and how the public feels with respect for the Sabbath. These two questions aren't well defined—rather like our gambling laws."

James' survey is, perhaps, probing a bit deeper. "We're progressing well with it," he said in a telephone interview. "We want to set ourselves up so that when the issue is presented, we'll have some advanced knowledge. If we don't, we'll consume most of the time doing our 'homework.'"

James didn't give any indications as to what his survey was revealing. He did say, though, that he was "trying to determine the popular mandate."

Many of Ohio's lawmakers feel that the voters already have issued their "mandate" by repealing the Lawson amendment, indicating they would like stricter enforcement of the Sunday Blue Laws.

The general opinion among the legislators is that the matter will be brought up at this coming session. This is based, mainly, on the fact that two strong lobby groups,

Essay And Poster Contest Champs Named; Get Prizes

Winners of the essay and poster contest were announced at the Thanksgiving and patriotism assembly at WYHS Wednesday, Nov. 21.

The assembly opened with the student body participating in the "Pledge of Allegiance" and the "Star-Spangled Banner." The invocation was administered by Rev. Roberts, father of Whitehall Yearling's Student Council president, Roger Roberts.

Roger Roberts read the names of the three winners in each division.

Essay contest winners were Edith Knowicky, senior, first place; Anne Malay, junior, second, and Kristin Luker, junior, third place winner.

In the poster contest, winners were Cynthia Kramer, Dee Kelly and Mary Knight.

First place winners in each division received a $25 savings bond while second place winners received transistor radios. Third place winners received $5 in cash.

WYHS has organized an art club, under the leadership of the school art instructor, Mr. Bott. Club officers for the school year are Sandy Mapes, president; Dee Kelly, vice president; Kim Glass, secretary; and Bill Olinger, treasurer.

WYHS PTA presented "A Night On The Town," an all-adult talent show Wednesday evening, Nov. 21.

The audience was first introduced to a dancing scene in a small cafe.

In the first act, the "Rockheads," a chorus line clad in black pants, white blouse, red sash, and carrying canes, danced to the music of "Hey, Look Me Over."

Featured in the other acts were singers, dancers, musicians and comedians. Latin American dancing was demonstrated.

The "Postmarks," a barbershop quartet, sang two encores.

The "Rockheads" danced to "Toot, Toot, Tootsie Goodbye," while an illuminated train was pulled across the stage signifying the close of the program.

Proceeds will go to the PTA scholarship program.

WYHS dramatics class took a field trip to Otterbein College in Westerville. They observed the set and lighting for "Bell, Book and Candle," which will be presented in the near future. After touring the campus, the visitors ate lunch in the campus refectory.

WYHS Latin Club held its initiation program Wednesday, Dec. 5. At the candlelight service, the new members recited a pledge in Latin as part of their initiation. Following the program refreshments were served.

The Future Nurses' Club toured St. Anthony Hospital Nov. 27, after school.

Guest speaker at the Biology Club meeting was Mrs. Milford Markham, mother of WYHS sophomore, Bambi Markham, who spoke on her hobby, ornithology. This year the Biology Club is planning to have speakers from various fields of science. Field trips are also on the agenda.

There was an organizational meeting of WYHS Tri-Hi Nov. 29. All girls of high school age are welcome to join.

East Sider At Columbus Christening

An East-side woman, Mrs Edward G. Myers, 1335 Byron-av, and her daughter, Mrs. Gerald K. O'Neil, 3801 Ashton-rd, were among those present at the rechristening of the US Columbus in Bremerton, Wash., Dec. 1.

Mrs. Myers was selected to christen the ship in 1944, at its original launching, as a representative of all Columbus mothers who lost sons in World War II.

The ship was remade into a missle launching vessel and Mrs. Meyers was chosen to attend the second christening.

She lost two sons in WWII, during the summer of 1944, and third son spent more than two years in overseas duty during the war.

Mrs. Meyers, and her daughter were flown to Bremerton as guests of the Timken Roller Bearing Co.

Legislators To 'Clarify' Sunday Sales Law? Maybe Not!

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

A word to those who are asking the State Legislature to "clarify" the Sunday Sales law in Ohio:

"Don't expect miracles."

A Hartley Newspaper poll of area legislators indicates that they are nearly as confused as everybody else over the question which, basically, is to determine whether or not stores can operate on Sundays.

Two studies are being carried on by legislative groups in preparation for the General Assembly meeting in January, but the feeling is strong that they'll fall far short of adequacy.

There is even speculation that the lawmakers may repeal outright the 131-year-old law. Regardless, it's a pretty safe bet that little concrete action will be taken during this session.

Comments by some of the legislators include:

LYTLE ZUBER—"I haven't researched this thing . . . it's going to be a rough session, though, and that's about all I can say."

CHALMERS WYLIE—"I think anything we do will be based on these two studies being made. There is a lot of confusion as a result of the last election and I'm sure we should make some effort to clarify the law. I, myself, haven't made any definite decisions."

KLINE ROBERTS—"It should develop into a battle over semantics. I'm sure that everyone wants to settle the controversy but this is one of those things that you can't tell about until you sit around and talk with the legislators. I do feel that most of the people don't want to make Sunday a work day."

ROGER CLOUD (House Speaker)—"This is not a new subject. My guess is that the membership will not want to repeal the law entirely . . . but, we are going to have trouble finding the proper definitions."

EDMUND JAMES—"We're heading in the right direction."

ARCHER REILLY, JR.—"I feel that outside studies will be sufficient to enable us to render a decision."

ROBERT HOLMES—"I have no idea in the world how it might come out. I've heard as many different ideas of what we should do as people I've talked to. It's easy to say 'let the legislators do it' but doing it's another matter. The law does need clarifying, though."

Other comments went along these general lines. All of the above men are Republicans and all except Cloud (Logan County) and James (Noble County) are from the Franklin County area where the Greater Columbus Sunday Association recently aided in winning a vote at the polls Nov. 6 against a Lawson's Milk Co. amendment.

The feeling is also strong that much of the decision will hinge on the aforementioned studies. One is being made by the Legislative Services Commission under direction of Loren Blosser and the other by Representative James of the Ohio Judiciary Committee at the direction of House Speaker Cloud.

Blosser reported that his group doesn't have the available staff needed to completely research the question. "We're merely doing a thorough analysis of the present law and of the court decisions rendered so far. We're not doing a survey or extensive study.

"Somebody should do some research on economic pressures," Blosser hinted, "and how the public feels with respect for the Sabbath. These two questions aren't well defined—rather like our gambling laws."

James' survey is, perhaps, probing a bit deeper. "We're progressing well with it," he said in a telephone interview. "We want to set ourselves up so that when the issue is presented, we'll have some advanced knowledge. If we don't, we'll consume most of the time doing our 'homework.'"

James didn't give any indications as to what his survey was revealing. He did say, though, that he was "trying to determine the popular mandate."

Many of Ohio's lawmakers feel that the voters already have issued their "mandate" by repealing the Lawson amendment, indicating they would like stricter enforcement of the Sunday Blue Laws.

The general opinion among the legislators is that the matter will be brought up at this coming session. This is based, mainly, on the fact that two strong lobby groups,

Winners of the essay and poster contest were announced at the Thanksgiving and patriotism assembly at WYHS Wednesday, Nov. 21.

The assembly opened with the student body participating in the "Pledge of Allegiance" and the "Star-Spangled Banner." The invocation was administered by Rev. Roberts, father of Whitehall Yearling's Student Council president, Roger Roberts.

Roger Roberts read the names of the three winners in each division.

Essay contest winners were Edith Knowlcky, senior, first place; Anne Malay, junior, second, and Kristin Luker, junior, third place winner.

In the poster contest, winners were Cynthia Kramer, Dee Kelly and Mary Knight.

First place winners in each division received a $25 savings bond while second place winners received transistor radios. Third place winners received $5 in cash.

WYHS has organized an art club, under the leadership of the school art instructor, Mr. Bott. Club officers for the school year are Sandy Mapes, president; Dee Kelly, vice president; Kim Glass, secretary; and Bill Olinger, treasurer.

WYHS PTA presented "A Night On The Town," an all-adult talent show Wednesday evening, Nov. 21.

The audience was first introduced to a dancing scene in a small cafe.

In the first act, the "Rockheads," a chorus line clad in black pants, white blouse, red sash, and carrying canes, danced to the music of "Hey, Look Me Over."

Featured in the other acts were singers, dancers, musicians and comedians. Latin American dancing was demonstrated.

The "Postmarks," a barbershop quartet, sang two encores.

The "Rockheads" danced to "Toot, Toot, Tootsie Goodbye," while an illuminated train was pulled across the stage signifying the close of the program.

Proceeds will go to the PTA scholarship program.

WYHS dramatics class took a field trip to Otterbein College in Westerville. They observed the set and lightins for "Bell, Book and Candle," which will be presented in the near future. After touring the campus, the visitors ate lunch in the campus refectory.

WYHS Latin Club held its initiation program Wednesday, Dec. 5. At the candlelight service, the new members recited a pledge in Latin as part of their initiation. Following the program refreshments were served.

The Future Nurses' Club toured St. Anthony Hospital Nov. 27, after school.

Guest speaker at the Biology Club meeting was Mrs. Milford Markham, mother of WYHS sophomore, Bambi Markham, who spoke on her hobby, ornithology. This year the Biology Club is planning to have speakers from various fields of science. Field trips are also on the agenda.

There was an organizational meeting of WYHS Tri-Hi Nov. 29. All girls of high school age are welcome to join.

Legislators To 'Clarify' Sunday Sales Law? Maybe Not!

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

A word to those who are asking the State Legislature to "clarify" the Sunday Sales law in Ohio:

"Don't expect miracles."

A Hartley Newspaper poll of area legislators indicates that they are nearly as confused as everybody else over the question which, basically, is to determine whether or not stores can operate on Sundays.

Two studies are being carried on by legislative groups in preparation for the General Assembly meeting in January, but the feeling is strong that they'll fall far short of adequacy.

There is even speculation that the lawmakers may repeal outright the 131-year-old law. Regardless, it's a pretty safe bet that little concrete action will be taken during this session.

Comments by some of the legislators include:

LYTLE ZUBER—"I haven't researched this thing . . . It's going to be a rough session, though, and that's about all I can say."

CHALMERS WYLIE—"I think anything we do will be based on these two studies being made. There is a lot of confusion as a result of the last election and I'm sure we should make some effort to clarify the law. I, myself, haven't made any definite decisions."

KLINE ROBERTS—"It should develop into a battle over semantics. I'm sure that everyone wants to settle the controversy but this is one of those things that you can't tell about until you sit around and talk with the legislators. I do feel that most of the people don't want to make Sunday a work day."

ROGER CLOUD (House Speaker)—"This is not a new subject. My guess is that the membership will not want to repeal the law entirely . . . but, we are going to have trouble finding the proper definitions."

EDMUND JAMES—"We're heading in the right direction."

ARCHER REILLY, JR.—"I feel that outside studies will be sufficient to enable us to render a decision."

ROBERT HOLMES—"I have no idea in the world how it might come out. I've heard as many different ideas of what we should do as people I've talked to. It's easy to say 'let the legislators do it' but doing it's another matter. The law does need clarifying, though."

Other comments went along these general lines. All of the above men are Republicans and all except Cloud (Logan County) and James (Noble County) are from the Franklin County area where the Greater Columbus Sunday Association recently aided in winning a vote at the polls Nov. 6 against a Lawson's Milk Co. amendment.

The feeling is also strong that much of the decision will hinge on the aforementioned studies. One is being made by the Legislative Services Commission under direction of Loren Blosser and the other by Representative James of the Ohio Judiciary Committee at the direction of House Speaker Cloud.

Blosser reported that his group doesn't have the available staff needed to completely research the question. "We're merely doing a thorough analysis of the present law and of the court decisions rendered so far. We're not doing a survey or extensive study.

"Somebody should do some research on economic pressures," Blosser hinted, "and how the public feels with respect for the Sabbath. These two questions aren't well defined—rather like our gambling laws."

James' survey is, perhaps, probing a bit deeper. "We're progressing well with it," he said in a telephone interview. "We want to set ourselves up so that when the issue is presented, we'll have some advanced knowledge. If we don't, we'll consume most of the time doing our 'homework.'"

James didn't give any indications as to what his survey was revealing. He did say, though, that he was "trying to determine the popular mandate."

Many of Ohio's lawmakers feel that the voters already have issued their "mandate" by repealing the Lawson amendment, indicating they would like stricter enforcement of the Sunday Blue Laws.

The general opinion among the legislators is that the matter will be brought up at this coming session. This is based, mainly, on the fact that two strong lobby groups,

Legislators To 'Clarify' Sunday Sales Law? Maybe Not!

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

A word to those who are asking the State Legislature to "clarify" the Sunday Sales law in Ohio:

"Don't expect miracles."

A Hartley Newspaper poll of area legislators indicates that they are nearly as confused as everybody else over the question which, basically, is to determine whether or not stores can operate on Sundays.

Two studies are being carried on by legislative groups in preparation for the General Assembly meeting in January, but the feeling is strong that they'll fall far short of adequacy.

There is even speculation that the lawmakers may repeal outright the 131-year-old law. Regardless, it's a pretty safe bet that little concrete action will be taken during this session.

Comments by some of the legislators include:

LYTLE ZUBER—"I haven't researched this thing . . . It's going to be a rough session, though, and that's about all I can say."

CHALMERS WYLIE—"I think anything we do will be based on these two studies being made. There is a lot of confusion as a result of the last election and I'm sure we should make some effort to clarify the law. I, myself, haven't made any definite decisions."

KLINE ROBERTS—"It should develop into a battle over semantics. I'm sure that everyone wants to settle the controversy but this is one of those things that you can't tell about until you sit around and talk with the legislators. I do feel that most of the people don't want to make Sunday a work day."

ROGER CLOUD (House Speaker)—"This is not a new subject. My guess is that the membership will not want to repeal the law entirely . . . but, we are going to have trouble finding the proper definitions."

EDMUND JAMES—"We're heading in the right direction."

ARCHER REILLY, JR.—"I feel that outside studies will be sufficient to enable us to render a decision."

ROBERT HOLMES—"I have no idea in the world how it might come out. I've heard as many different ideas of what we should do as people I've talked to. It's easy to say 'let the legislators do it' but doing it's another matter. The law does need clarifying, though."

Other comments went along these general lines. All of the above men are Republicans and all except Cloud (Logan County) and James (Noble County) are from the Franklin County area where the Greater Columbus Sunday Association recently sided in winning a vote at the polls Nov. 6 against a Lawson's Milk Co. amendment.

The feeling is also strong that much of the decision will hinge on the aforementioned studies. One is being made by the Legislative Services Commission under direction of Loren Blosser and the other by Representative James of the Ohio Judiciary Committee at the direction of House Speaker Cloud.

Blosser reported that his group doesn't have the available staff needed to completely research the question. "We're merely doing a thorough analysis of the present law and of the court decisions rendered so far. We're not doing a survey or extensive study.

"Somebody should do some research on economic pressures," Blosser hinted, "and how the public feels with respect for the Sabbath. These two questions aren't well defined—rather like our gambling laws."

James' survey is, perhaps, probing a bit deeper. "We're progressing well with it," he said in a telephone interview. "We want to set ourselves up so that when the issue is presented, we'll have some advanced knowledge. If we don't, we'll consume most of the time doing our 'homework.'"

James didn't give any indications as to what his survey was revealing. He did say, though, that he was "trying to determine the popular mandate."

Many of Ohio's lawmakers feel that the voters already have issued their "mandate" by repealing the Lawson amendment, indicating they would like stricter enforcement of the Sunday Blue Laws.

The general opinion among the legislators is that the matter will be brought up at this coming session. This is based, mainly, on the fact that two strong lobby groups,

Essay And Poster Contest Champs Named; Get Prizes

Winners of the essay and poster contest were announced at the Thanksgiving and patriotism assembly at WYHS Wednesday, Nov. 21.

The assembly opened with the student body participating in the "Pledge of Allegiance" and the "Star-Spangled Banner." The invocation was administered by Rev. Roberts, father of Whitehall Yearling's Student Council president, Roger Roberts.

Roger Roberts read the names of the three winners in each division.

Essay contest winners were Edith Knowlsky, senior, first place; Anne Maisy, junior, second, and Kristin Luker, junior, third place winner.

In the poster contest, winners were Cynthia Kramer, Dee Kelly and Mary Knight.

First place winners in each division received a $25 savings bond while second place winners received transistor radios. Third place winners received $5 in cash.

WYHS has organized an art club, under the leadership of the school art instructor, Mr. Bott. Club officers for the school year are Sandy Mapes, president; Dee Kelly, vice president; Kim Glass, secretary; and Bill Olinger, treasurer.

WYHS PTA presented "A Night On The Town," an all-adult talent show Wednesday evening, Nov. 21.

The audience was first introduced to a dancing scene in a small cafe.

In the first act, the "Rockheads," a chorus line clad in black pants, white blouse, red sash, and carrying canes, danced to the music of "Hey, Look Me Over."

Featured in the other acts were singers, dancers, musicians and comedians. Latin American dancing was demonstrated.

The "Postmarks," a barbershop quartet, sang two en-

The "Rockheads" danced to "Toot, Toot, Tootsie Goodbye," while an illuminated train was pulled across the stage signifying the close of the program.

Proceeds will go to the PTA scholarship program.

WYHS dramatics class took a field trip to Otterbein College in Westerville. They observed the set and lightins for "Bell, Book and Candle," which will be presented in the near future. After touring the campus, the visitors ate lunch in the campus refectory.

WYHS Latin Club held its initiation program Wednesday, Dec. 5. At the candlelight service, the new members recited a pledge in Latin as part of their initiation. Following the program refreshments were served.

The Future Nurses' Club toured St. Anthony Hospital Nov. 27, after school.

Guest speaker at the Biology Club meeting was Mrs. Milford Markham, mother of WYHS sophomore, Bambi Markham, who spoke on her hobby, ornithology. This year the Biology Club is planning to have speakers from various fields of science. Field trips are also on the agenda.

There was an organizational meeting of WYHS T-Hi Nov. 29. All girls of high school age are welcome to join.

This gives the department flexibility in adapting its building program to changes in mail volumes and eliminates large outlays of money from the Federal Treasury for construction purposes.

Mark Hawks, superintendent, and Frank Gradwohl, assistant superintendent, three clerks and 22 carriers will serve the 15,400 residents and 738 business places in postal zone 13.

STUDENTS GIVE STOCK CERTIFICATES

East Sider At Columbus Christening

An East-side woman, Mrs Edward G. Myers, 1335 Byron-av, and her daughter, Mrs. Gerald K. O'Neil, 3801 Ashton-rd, were among those present at the rechristening of the US Columbus in Bremerton, Wash., Dec. 1.

Mrs. Myers was selected to christen the ship in 1944, at its original launching, as a representative of all Columbus mothers who lost sons in World War II.

The ship was remade into a missle launching vessel and Mrs. Meyers was chosen to attend the second christening.

She lost two sons in WWII, during the summer of 1944, and third son spent more than two years in overseas duty during the war.

Mrs. Meyers, and her daughter were flown to Bremerton as guests of the Timken Roller Bearing Co.

Essay And Poster Contest Champs Named; Get Prizes

Winners of the essay and poster contest were announced at the Thanksgiving and patriotism assembly at WYHS Wednesday, Nov. 21.

The assembly opened with the student body participating in the "Pledge of Allegiance" and the "Star-Spangled Banner." The invocation was administered by Rev. Roberts, father of Whitehall Yearling's Student Council president, Roger Roberts.

Roger Roberts read the names of the three winners in each division.

Essay contest winners were Edith Knowlsky, senior, first place; Anne Malay, junior, second, and Kristin Luker, junior, third place winner.

In the poster contest, winners were Cynthia Kramer, Dee Kelly and Mary Knight.

First place winners in each division received a $25 savings bond while second place winners received transistor radios. Third place winners received $5 in cash.

WYHS has organized an art club, under the leadership of the school art instructor, Mr. Bott. Club officers for the school year are Sandy Mapes, president; Dee Kelly, vice president; Kim Glass, secretary; and Bill Olinger, treasurer.

WYHS PTA presented "A Night On The Town," an all-adult talent show Wednesday evening, Nov. 21.

The audience was first introduced to a dancing scene in a small cafe.

In the first act, the "Rockheads," a chorus line clad in black pants, white blouse, red sash, and carrying canes, danced to the music of "Hey, Look Me Over."

Featured in the other acts were singers, dancers, musicians and comedians. Latin American dancing was demonstrated.

The "Postmarks," a barbershop quartet, sang two encores.

The "Rockheads" danced to "Toot, Toot, Tootsie Goodbye," while an illuminated train was pulled across the stage signifying the close of the program.

Proceeds will go to the PTA scholarship program.

WYHS dramatics class took a field trip to Otterbein College in Westerville. They observed the set and lighting for "Bell, Book and Candle," which will be presented in the near future. After touring the campus, the visitors ate lunch in the campus refectory.

WYHS Latin Club held its initiation program Wednesday, Dec. 5. At the candlelight service, the new members recited a pledge in Latin as part of their initiation. Following the program refreshments were served.

The Future Nurses' Club toured St. Anthony Hospital Nov. 27, after school.

Guest speaker at the Biology Club meeting was Mrs. Milford Markham, mother of WYHS sophomore, Bambi Markham, who spoke on her hobby, ornithology. This year the Biology Club is planning to have speakers from various fields of science. Field trips are also on the agenda.

There was an organizational meeting of WYHS Tri-Hi Nov. 29. All girls of high school age are welcome to join.

East Sider At Columbus Christening

An East-side woman, Mrs Edward G. Myers, 1335 Byron-av, and her daughter, Mrs. Gerald K. O'Neil, 3801 Ashton-rd, were among those present at the rechristening of the US Columbus in Bremerton, Wash., Dec. 1.

Mrs. Myers was selected to christen the ship in 1944, at its original launching, as a representative of all Columbus mothers who lost sons in World War II.

The ship was remade into a missle launching vessel and Mrs. Meyers was chosen to attend the second christening.

She lost two sons in WWII, during the summer of 1944, and third son spent more than two years in overseas duty during the war.

Mrs. Meyers, and heir daughter were flown to Bremerton as guests of the Timken Roller Bearing Co.

Legislators To 'Clarify' Sunday Sales Law? Maybe Not!

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

A word to those who are asking the State Legislature to "clarify" the Sunday Sales law in Ohio:

"Don't expect miracles."

A Hartley Newspaper poll of area legislators indicates that they are nearly as confused as everybody else over the question which, basically, is to determine whether or not stores can operate on Sundays.

Two studies are being carried on by legislative groups in preparation for the General Assembly meeting in January, but the feeling is strong that they'll fall far short of adequacy.

There is even speculation that the lawmakers may repeal outright the 131-year-old law. Regardless, it's a pretty safe bet that little concrete action will be taken during this session.

Comments by some of the legislators include:

LYTLE ZUBER—"I haven't researched this thing . . . it's going to be a rough session, though, and that's about all I can say."

CHALMERS WYLIE—"I think anything we do will be based on these two studies being made. There is a lot of confusion as a result of the last election and I'm sure we should make some effort to clarify the law. I, myself, haven't made any definite decisions."

KLINE ROBERTS—"It should develop into a battle over semantics. I'm sure that everyone wants to settle the controversy but this is one of those things that you can't tell about until you sit around and talk with the legislators. I do feel that most of the people don't want to make Sunday a work day."

ROGER CLOUD (House Speaker)—"This is not a new subject. My guess is that the membership will not want to repeal the law entirely . . . but, we are going to have trouble finding the proper definitions."

EDMUND JAMES—"We're heading in the right direction."

ARCHER REILLY, JR.—"I feel that outside studies will be sufficient to enable us to render a decision."

ROBERT HOLMES—"I have no idea in the world how it might come out. I've heard as many different ideas of what we should do as people I've talked to. It's easy to say 'let the legislators do it' but doing it's another matter. The law does need clarifying, though."

Other comments went along these general lines. All of the above men are Republicans and all except Cloud (Logan County) and James (Noble County) are from the Franklin County area where the Greater Columbus Sunday Association recently aided in winning a vote at the polls Nov. 6 against a Lawson's Milk Co. amendment.

The feeling is also strong that much of the decision will hinge on the aforementioned studies. One is being made by the Legislative Services Commission under direction of Loren Blosser and the other by Representative James of the Ohio Judiciary Committee at the direction of House Speaker Cloud.

Blosser reported that his group doesn't have the available staff needed to completely research the question. "We're merely doing a thorough analysis of the present law and of the court decisions rendered so far. We're not doing a survey or extensive study.

"Somebody should do some research on economic pressures," Blosser hinted, "and how the public feels with respect for the Sabbath. These two questions aren't well defined—rather like our gambling laws."

James' survey is, perhaps, probing a bit deeper. "We're progressing well with it," he said in a telephone interview. "We want to set ourselves up so that when the issue is presented, we'll have some advanced knowledge. If we don't, we'll consume most of the time doing our 'homework.'"

James didn't give any indications as to what his survey was revealing. He did say, though, that he was "trying to determine the popular mandate."

Many of Ohio's lawmakers feel that the voters already have issued their "mandate" by repealing the Lawson amendment, indicating they would like stricter enforcement of the Sunday Blue Laws.

The general opinion among the legislators is that the matter will be brought up at this coming session. This is based, mainly, on the fact that two strong lobby groups,

Council OKs Airport Fee Increase

Columbus City Council approved increased landing fees at Port Columbus during regular session Monday night which will more than double revenue from that source.

Increases in landing fees for seven airlines using the air facility will hike annual revenue on fees to an estimated $223,000. Present revenue is about $100,000.

The higher fees, raised from an average of six cents to an average of 13 cents for each 1,000 pounds, are retroactive to last Jan. 7. This will enable the city to get an additional $83,000 in fees for 1962.

Successful negotiations for the increases were made in October at Kansas City by Councilmen William Fornof and Robert Southwick and two other members of the Airport Commission, Sam Randall and John Biehn.

In other action of interest to East Siders, council:

• Heard Carl Schoene, sewerage chief, report, in response to a query by Fornof, that Berwick residents appear to be in agreement with the city's latest plan for flood control along Bliss Run.

• Authorized an agreement to proceed with plans for extension of a main taxiway at Port Columbus. Engineering costs are estimated at $50,000. The total project will cost $850,000 with federal aid paying half.

FOR 'CAP' BUILDINGS

$1.6 Million Gets Regent Board Nod

New construction, totaling $1,650,000, was approved by Capital University's Board of Regents at its semi-annual meeting held Tuesday.

Scheduled for ground-breaking within the year are a new administration building, $625,000; classroom building, $550,000, and a wing on one of the women's residence halls, $425,000.

In other action, the regents approved a record $2,775,000 operational budget; upped the cost of room and board $50 each; and approved a student revolving loan fund.

The 1962-63 budget is over two million dollars higher than the budget of a decade ago. In 1952-53, Capital operated on a budget of $562,171.

The year's board at Capital was raised from $400 to $450. Rooms went up to $270 a year for men and $290 for women. Not raised was the $900 a year tuition rate. The new fees will go into effect at the start of the 1963-64 school year.

Juniors and seniors in need of funds to complete their education at Capital will be able to borrow a maximum of $500 from the revolving loan fund approved by the regents.

Re-elected chairman of the Board of Regents for the second consecutive year was Irvin F. Young, assistant superintendent of Columbus schools in charge of personnel. Other officers re-elected were Rev. John E. Braum, Port Clinton, vice-chairman; Rev. Arthur P. Michelfelder, Cincinnati, secretary; and Virgil Dassel, financial vice-president at Capital, treasurer.

New board members are Rev. Carl Hacker, Baltimore, Md., and Oscar Kaiser, Columbus.

Promoted to a full professor was Dr. Theodore Myers, a member of the biology department.

Whitehall VFW Raising Money For Needy Families

Whitehall Post 8794, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will host children from St. Vincent's Orphanage, Franklin Village and Hannah Neil Mission at a special children's Christmas show at the Esquire Theater on Saturday, Dec. 22, at 10 a.m.

Post Commander Robert Mickey advises that ticket sales are being conducted under the direction of committee members E. W. Funk, senior vice-commander and Linn Hiatt, publicity director.

Plans are to give additional financial support to the above named groups and to Rosemont Girls' School for their Christmas activities from the proceeds of ticket sales.

Proceeds will also be used to increase the fund used each year by Post 8794 for needy families.

Tickets are $1 and are avalable at post headquarters, 4100 E. Main-st, Whitehall, or from the Ticket Committee, BE. 7-4852.

Whitehall School Board Okays Tax Rate Slice

Whitehall residents were given a "Christmas present" Tuesday night, according to that city's School Superintendent Robert Crabbs.

The present is a reduction in the tax rates there and it became effective when board members accepted a resolution submitted by the Franklin County Budget Commission.

The resolution provides a drop of $2 in the current tax rate and means a 18.15-mill operating rate for 1962.

The bond retirement rate was established at 5.45 mills making a total of 23.60-mills —a reduction of 2-mills from 1962 rates.

Crabbs reported that the drop is being made possible relative to a recent Supreme Court decision and the fact that Whitehall recently lost the use of Courtright Elementary School.

"Residents can expect a proportionate tax drop in the future, also," Crabbs said.

In other action, the board granted an easement to the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. across a portion of the system's newest elementary school on Kae-av to provide service for that build-

Baby Derby Set

Again this year Hartley Newspapers will sponsor its Baby Derby saluting the first child born in the community after midnight Dec. 31.

Valuable gifts of merchandise and services await the newcomer and his family.

Hartley Newspapers will not assume responsibility for finding the first infant born in 1963 — parents, relatives or friends must notify us of the new arrival no later than 7 a.m. Jan. 2.

Society Editor Betty Daft, in charge of the Derby, said the winner's parents must reside in an area regularly covered by this newspaper.

The baby's birth, date, time of arrival, and address must be certified in writing by the attending physician and deposited in Hartley Newspapers' mail slot, 2465 W. Broad-st, by 7 a.m. Wednesday, Jan. 2.

Complete rules of the Derby will appear in next week's edition.

THEY SAY there's nothing lovelier than a tree, but Whitehall fire fighters would rather get rid of them. They shouldn't have much trouble, either, since this year the suburban crew is offering some of the finest trees since they began selling them 10 years ago. Pictured at left is Firefighter John Downing, checking one of the Christmas trees along with Fire Inspector James Soteriades. Proceeds from the sale of the trees will provide a party for Whitehall youth.

BENEFITS ALL AREA CHILDREN

Whitehall Firefighters Selling Trees; Will Have Party Again

It's a kind of anniversary at the Whitehall Fire Department but the men there are just too busy to celebrate.

It was ten years ago this year that the firefighters started a project whereby they sell Christmas trees and use the proceeds to give a party for Whitehall youth.

Public acceptance of the venture has been so good that the men right now are rushed selling the trees and any celebrating will have wait.

They started out with more than 1000 trees on the fire house lot and, of course, still have a wide selection of attractive ones to be sold.

The Childrens' Christmas party has been set this year for Dec. 23 from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m., according to tree chairman John Downing. All children in the Whitehall area are invited.

The firefighters will provide movies and other entertainment and the party will be highlighted by a ride on an honest-to-goodness fire truck for all of the youngsters.

What would a Christmas party be without Santa Claus? He'll be there, too, with candy for the kids.

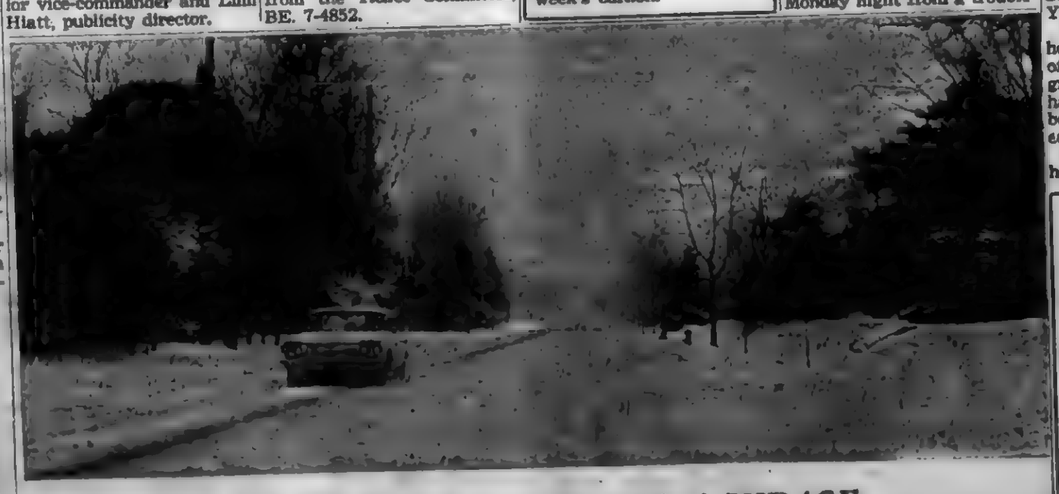
The trees are being sold at the 390 S. Yearling-rd fire station from $1.50 to $5. They also have special prices on trees over nine feet tall.

One of the nicest aspects about "tree-shopping"" here is that you can buy one at any hour of the day or night.

The firefighters are always on duty.

Ashbrook Reviving SRA Test Interest

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.



Congressman John Ashbrook looked tired and drawn Monday night from a trouble-some cold but the feeling is strong that he gave new "pep" to a controversy over the Science Research Associates Youth Inventory tests here.

Main targets for protests here over the administering of the guidance tests to eighth graders has been the Whitehall and Arlington school boards. Residents have termed the tests "brain-pickers."

Ashbrook, the Ohioan who has waded into the testing situation pools, has become the most energetic promoter in a campaign to have the tests banned. He gave his talk in a quiet and orderly manner to some 150 interested persons at the Arlington High "Little Theater."

The audience, spotty with a few Whitehall residents, seemed mostly concerned with the question as to whether or not the test was "Communist-in-

FOR THOSE of you who thought you saw snow in your front yard recently — and freezing temperatures on the thermometer — this is to set the record straight: "Don't Believe It." According to the calendar, it's all a mirage. Winter, you see, doesn't begin until Dec. 23 and that's not for a week yet. We must admit, though, that scenes like this (on Cassady-av) are enough to fool a fellow. Ah, well . . . if winter comes, can spring be far behind?

spired."

Ashbrook, who has introduced Bill 10508 in the House of Representatives to "curb testing abuses in schools," tried to side-step this question. Some well-meaning citizens pushed it further and Ashbrook's final reply was that "some tests of this type may have been."

The congressman was hesitant, as in the past, to discuss the testing program on a local level. He said it was a national problem and should be discussed in that vein.

A current rumor is that an Ohio legislator from Franklin County was planning to introduce a bill similiar to Ashbrook's when the Ohio General Assembly convenes in January.

Legislators from the county, when questioned in an effort to substantiate this, said they had "heard nothing" about it but indicated that it is a "possibility."

Whitehall Superintendent Robert Crabbs, whose school board voted to continue the SRA tests in that city, said he "wouldn't be surprised" at such an action in the General Assembly.

He added further that it would be "fine" if it were done and that the school board would "certainly abide by the law."

According to Crabbs, the tests haven't been given to eighth graders in Whitehall since the beginning of this year. The superintendent said he is still waiting reports on a study being made to revamp the entire Whitehall guidance program.

He said he expects the results of this survey "sometime this year."

Ashbrook added very little more to the question Monday night than to rehash personal views he has expressed in the past.

He did make a plea to the citizens to "raise the level" of their protests and urged them to express their feelings in an adult manner. He denounced any attempts of "mud-slinging" that might ensue.

It was obvious, however, that there is a broadened interest among residents over the tests. The Arlington audience was laced with a number of school teachers who are becoming interested in the tests.

Ashbrook said that the purpose of his bill is "to assure that parents be apprised of tests of a non-academic nature which are to be administered to their children."

He said that his bill is "based on the positive belief that parents are primarily responsible for the upbringing of their children and that schools are partners in that sphere, along with the church and home, and are not preeminent."

Ashbrook further believes that:

"A school would be in serious trouble if it would undress young students for examination or inoculate them with some serum without parental permission. Yet, virtually the same thing is being done all of the time through these brain-picking tests which literally undress young people and interfere in private areas areas which would be better left alone by schools."

Some of the main test "questions" objected to by SRA opponents include:

"I'm ashamed of my father's job."

"My father is a tyrant."

"I'm losing faith in religion."

"How far should high school students go in love relations?"

"I want to know about venereal disease."

The students are asked on these tests to check only the questions which they "have problems" with. If the questions aren't checked, then this indicates that the student is problem-free in this particular area.

Ashbrook says that the Health, Education and Welfare Department sees "no danger, however, in the overall invasion of privacy that comes when children are asked questions such as these."

Bexley High School LION's ROAR

Bexley High School Choir To Sing On TV Dec. 17

The Bexley High School choir and the sixth grade chorus will present a "Christmas Carol Concert" Wednesday, Dec. 19, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

C. Robert Myers directs the high school choir and Mrs. Imogene Hilyard directs the chorus.

On Monday night, Dec. 17, the high school choir will appear on the "Mann to Man" show over WTVN television.

Pep Club has organized Bexley's first block cheering section. "Block B" is a section where blue and white cards will be flashed to spell out various words such as "go," "fight," and "win."

These visual cheers are designed to produce more school spirit and team support. Members of Pep Club will be assigned seats in this section for all the home basketball games..

Newly elected officers of the Book Club include Marcia Leake, president; Ellen Zox, vice-president; Susie Hays, secretary; and Jane Loney, treasurer.

At the Dec. 19 meeting, club members plan to exchange books as Christmas presents.

Spanish Club's annual pinata party was held Wednesday, Dec. 12. It centered around a real Mexican pinata brought from Mexico by freshman Maureen Brenner. The pinatas were filled with bubble gum, candy bars, and suckers. Club members received cascarones and decorated eggshells filled with confetti.

Festival Science Club, reorganized this year, has elected officers for the 1962-63 school year. They are Stuart Ruben, president; Charlie Chittenden, vice-president; and Janet Calland, secretary-treasurer.

Bexley High School Y-Teens will carol Monday night Dec. 17, at the Oller's Guest House and the Nora Ridgeway Rest Home. The Y-Teens will present each resident of the homes with a potted plant.

Pool Report Tops Meeting At Bexley

A 20-minute Bexley Council meeting was highlighted Tuesday night by the announcement that that city's Civic Improvement Association had reached the $75,000 mark in obtaining pledges to build a swimming pool on the Jeffrey Mansion grounds.

The report was given by Councilman J. Roth Crabbe. The association plans to start building its pool shortly after Jan. 1 as council gave its approval as it promised after the $75,000 mark had been reached.

A total of $90,000 is needed to pay for the entire project.

the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants and the AFL-CIO, are preparing petitions.

One of the most interesting views came from George Hammond, executive director of the Retail Merchants' group. He opined that law enforcement officials should continue "cracking down" on the law as it stands now in order to get various court decisions on the matter.

"This will give us a 'body-case law' and give us some guideposts to work with," said Hammond, who further pointed out two major problems in attempting a law change.

"First," he said, "is, of course, getting 166 men from all walks of life throughout the state to agree on Sunday sales. Secondly, is the situation that will result if any substitute change is made in the statute."

He feels that in the case of a change, there'll be a "two to four-year" period when the law is challenged in courts. "During that period," he added, "the law enforcement officials who don't really want to enforce the statute —along with Sunday operators—will have a ready-made excuse."

Perhaps Representative Zuber summed it up best: "It's going to be a rough session," he sighed.

You can count on that.

Use of school facilities for a band clinic to be held Feb. 9 was granted and the board also authorized the employment of a part time wrestling coach.

"Over the last three years," Crabbs said, "interest in wrestling here has grown tremendously. We now have over 60 boys out for the sport and it's a big job for one man." Vince Gonomo is current varsity coach.

William Everett was hired by the board as custodian at Rosemore School to replace Kenneth Braskett who resigned recently.

Deer Killed By Motorist

A six-point, 140-pound buck deer was accidentally killed on E. Broad-st near Yaggoner-rd, on Sunday, Nov. 25, reported Fred Schob, wildlife partrolman, Ohio Division of Wildlife. The deer was unclaimed by the person whose auto hit it, Schob said.

It was one of a herd of eight or nine deer which inhabit the Franklin-Licking County line near Broad-st. Bow hunters have been after this buck in recent weeks, so the accidental kill makes the animal a loss to sportsmen. Little of the deer was salvageable for the Franklin County Home, Schob added.

series of "Gay Philosopher" calendars distributed by our newspapers during the holiday season for many years.

The calendar reproduces another likeness of the popular rascal entitled "Shoot the Works," and depicting him preparing to hit a golf ball from a water hazard.

He describes the game of golf in his own inimitable, whimsical version of the King's English, and recalls that ". . . when I was a kid we called it 'pasture pool'."

Since the Gay Philosopher's picture won a popularity contest years ago, he has appeared often on the American scene. Rough, rugged and "genteel," he amuses and amazes folks with his cracker-barrel philosophy and good-natured pokes at modern goings-on.

For example, "The impossible just takes a little longer."

Julie Banta Wins Hartley News Trophy

The Hartley Newspapers news trophy was won by Julie Banta of North High School at the annual workshop of the High School Press Club of Central Ohio. Winners were announced Saturday at Ohio State University.

Other area winners in the contest were: Bob Granat and Betsy Brust, Bexley High School, second and third in news category; Doug Woodyard, Bexley, third in features category; Steve Ault, Bexley, first in news feature category; Donna Wilcox, South High, first in editorial writing category; Steve Ault, Bexley, second in editorial writing category; and Barry Thall, Bexley, first and second in sports category; Steve Pariser, Bexley, third in sports category.

Relief Funds To Be Sent Out Earlier

Four counties in the immediate Hartley Newspapers areas are among those to receive an advance distribution of poor relief money about a week before Christmas, according to State Auditor James A. Rhodes.

Franklin will receive $313,603, Fairfield gets $23,461, Madison $12,594 and Pickaway $21,354. The money comes from the 1.65 percent excise tax paid by public utilities since 1933 for poor relief. In all, $5 million will be sent to Ohio counties.

Whitehall Clinic Schedules Move

The free immunization clinic which has been held in Whitehall schools will be moved to the city's Municipal Building recreation area Jan. 23.

The monthly clinic has been sponsored by the Franklin County Board of Health.

Children are immunized against tetanus, whooping cough, smallpox and diptheria.

About 50 persons visit each session. The sessions are held the fourth Wednesday of the month.

Auto Club Memberships Available

The people on your Christmas list should appreciate a gift membership in Columbus Auto Club. Members of the club enjoy such benefits as 24-hour emergency road service, expert travel assistance, hotel and motel reservation service, bail bond protection, driver's license and license plate service. A first-year membership is $15; renewal membership, $12; second-car membership, $5.

Columbus Auto Club also offers gift certificates for lessons in the club-sponsored driver training school. Other Christmas presents available from Columbus Auto Club are trips abroad and cruise tickets.

Post Office Increasing Collections

The Columbus post office system has started collecting mail from all street collection boxes at three-hour intervals beginning at 7:30 a.m., Postmaster Allen M. Rowe announced.

The public is requested to take advantage of the added service and deposit greeting cards before noon so that some of them can be processed before the end-of-the-business day volume reaches the post office. Regular postal employes have been placed on 12 hour day alert to process the increase in greeting card volume.

For the convenience of Christmas mailers, the parcel post and stamp windows at classified stations will be open from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 15.

Hamilton-rd To Be Widened

Final construction plans for widening Hamilton-rd to four lanes from Broad-st south to the proposed East Freeway have been started by engineers.

Construction is expected to start next summer, which is near the starting date for the East Freeway.

The Ohio Department of Highways approved preliminary plans and right-of-way for the project following a public hearing Nov. 16, engineers reported.

New Plastic Company Is Formed

Mrs. Gertrude Ross has announced the formation of a new plastic distributing company, Plastic Letters of Ohio, which will headquarter in Columbus.

Located at 3540 E. Main-st, the firm will market letters and numerals molded in styrene and plexiglas in six different type styles. Six colors are available, along with aluminum, copper and gold.

Mrs. Ross said the company currently is establishing 10 sales districts in Ohio to serve outdoor sign users, merchandising display manufacturers and residential buyers.

The company also carries a complete line of directional devices and background plaques on which the letters can be mounted.

Robert E. Miller, sales manager, is in charge of the 10 district sales offices.

Cites Miraculous Escapes From OSU Blast

To The Editor:

The explosion at the new dining facility at Ohio State University has the flavor of "who is looking over my shoulder."

To those of us who are close to this construction job, we were no less than startled at the timing of this difficulty. Although the word tragedy can be measured in dollars there was a miracle which touched many persons working at this facility.

The construction work during the hours of 7:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 12 noon to 4 p.m. would find 50 to 60 workmen in the near vicinity of the explosion. The actual time was 11:45 a.m., the middle of lunch hour.

One particular instance in our own company disclosed one workman who went to a restaurant with another worker leaving his lunch bucket in his truck, probably the first time he had ever deviated from the normal procedure. When he returned the building end he would have been in or near was strewn over a large area. Other similar stories were heard with no less amazement. Those who were injured, but apparently not seriously, are probably thankful of the slight consequence.

With the advent season upon us it would be an excellent time to take inventory of the spiritual givings which are flourished upon us by our God. This material tragedy of a few bricks, glass and steel are put in shadow by the non loss of life.

Urges Off-Street Parking, Not One-Ways

(Copy of a letter to Albert Giles, Columbus safety director.)

Before a final decision is made and I become a victim of the spread of the one-way street mess, as our honorable mayor has so aptly termed it, please consider my suggestion.

One day the City of Columbus will be faced with the expense of opening dead-end streets to accommodate traffic movement just as Cleveland, Cincinnati and many other cities have had to do.

Columbus has more alleys parallel to residential streets than any other city to my knowledge.

Properly used they can overcome the problems that confront us in this close-in section of the West Side.

Hundreds of garages facing these alleys are not used from one year's end to the next. Why? Because it is easier to park on the street. Off-street parking should be a must.

Therefore:

Eliminate all one-way streets.

Prohibit parking on one side of each street.

Lay white lines dividing the remaining two lanes for traffic.

If necessary, place time limits on parking.

Eventually the foregoing will come to pass—whether you and I live that long remains to be seen.

Frosting On The Cake

By
"UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

We have so many "professional minders of other people's business" anymore that the whole nation is developing a terrible and dangerous mass-mind psychosis of fear and self-consciousness. Longhairs who have "studied psychology" and know nothing about man as a biological animal are now doing their double-darnedest to inject this morbid curiosity into the most intimate and private affairs of every family that still has school age children under their authority.

Recent off-side questionnaire "sneak sheets" have even been put into many school systems under empirical fiat authority and young, green as grass, wholly unsophisticated children have been quizzed to the point of psychological hazard by nosy "specialists" who must have a state of mind that resembles a sewer.

My two lovely daughters, now both graduated with honors from the University of Michigan and mothers of fine and well mannered children of their own, got proper instruction about "the facts of life" at home as growing children, at a time when sane indications showed a need for such instruction. The professional library that I have been accumulating for 40 years was always available to them when their natural curiosity had reached a proper biological age. Any able and wise and kindly old family doctor knows how to handle such situations. therefore, I see nothing but 'buttinsky" nonsense in such out-of-bounds curiosity of these so-called specialists.

As life develops into understanding in any normal child's mind, professional aid is available from legitimate sources as and when the conscientious parent requests it. Books written by recognized experts, who document their conclusions with years of clinical exposure to life, are available in any decent library.

There are signs of returning sanity in many things all about us. One of these days, politics will be fumigated. Education will be on the target of the art and science of happy and successful living. And men and women who are students and rational members of our society, will discover all over again that the most Christian thing any one can do is to mind strictly his own business in regard to the private affairs of other folks.

Winter Months Most Lethal To Drivers At Rail Crossings

Railroad grade crossing crashes occur throughout the nation more often during December and January than any other time of the year, according to the traffic surveys. Ohio's 1961 statistical reports bear out that December, 1961 and January, 1962 with totals of 40 and 53 traffic accidents respectively involving trains, constitute the highs of a 12-month period.

This serves to warn motorists that in snow belts this increase is due to poor visibility, inadequate traction on snowy and icy streets, tightly closed cars, the distracting noises of heaters and radios, and carelessness due to holiday hurry.

Ohio Highway Safety Director Grant Keys urges an all-out effort during December and January and every month to prevent this kind of needless tragedy and to help stop the upward swing in all traffic deaths, now up nine per cent over last year. Keys postscripted his statement with the note that prior to 1961, from the year 1957, accidents in this area were on the downturn.

The Columbus area has more than its share of dangerous crossings. The record of fatalities at these has not been pleasant to look at. It's up to we motorists to change the picture for the better.

Whitehall-Yearling RAM-blings

BY ANNE MALAY

Red Cross Council is being organized at Whitehall-Yearling High School. It will be open to all students. The program will be developed so that every member will have the opportunity to participate as a volunteer in one of several projects. Whitehall-Yearling High School is in need of a sponsor for the program. It will be the sponsor's responsibility to enroll the school with the American Red Cross, interpret the program to the teachers and students, and coordinate Red Cross activties in school.

Enrollment in high school Red Cross presents opportunities for youth to serve others and to develop skills.

High school Red Cross members in home economics or fine arts classes make articles for children and other patients in hospitals or institutions. Members also take courses in first aid, water safety and care of the sick and injured.

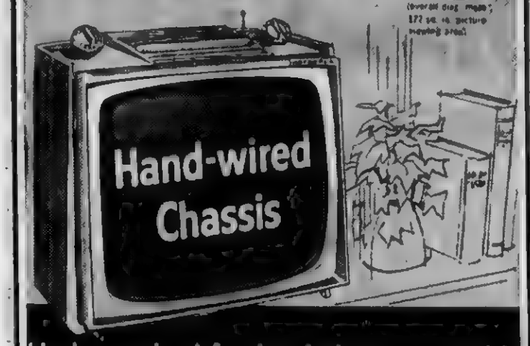
Whitehall-Yearling High School Biology Club took a trip to the Warren-Teed Pharmaceutical Co. Tuesday, Dec. 11.

There was an organizational meeting of the Cheerleader-Pep Club Monday, Dec. 3. Club purposes and projects for the school year were discussed.

Practices have begun for girls' basketball. Any girl of high school age may participate in the practices which are held every Wednesday and Friday from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Members of GAA may earn points by attending these practice sessions. The team members hope to play other girls' teams in the vicinity.

Whitehall-Yearling High School Inter-Club Council sponsored an assembly Friday morning, Dec. 7. The purpose of the assembly was to familiarize students with Whitehall's 19 clubs.

The assembly opened with the induction of the five Whitehall-Yearling High School Hi-Y officers into the national YMCA. Included were Tom Richwine, president; Jim Allen, vice-president; Arnold Shaheen, secretary; Ray Strausbough, treasurer, and Bob Schmitz, chaplain.



Guests from Westmoor High School spoke on the moral code of Hi-Y members.

Eachp resident of Whitehall's 19 clubs gave a brief speech about his club.

Three Whitehall-Yearling High School juniors attended a journalism clinic at Ohio State Saturday, Dec. 8. They were Anne Malay, Judy Wiemouth and Inge King. All are members of the school newsweek staff.

The students attended lecture sessions, entered writing competition and attended a luncheon in the Ohio Union. Guest speaker at the luncheon was Eugene Craig, cartoonist for a local daily newspaper.

Sept. 22, 1937, the New Jersey Court of Errors and Appeals upheld the constitutionality of the 1932 act requiring all public school pupils to salute and pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States.

Three Students Receive 99 Per Cent Ratings In Test

Walnut Ridge juniors and seniors received their PSAT scores last Monday, Dec. 10. Juniors Chris Lindenburg and Tom Coneybeer received 99 per cent ratings, as did Steven Butterfield.

Wednesday, there was a pep meeting for both junior and senior high. The basketball cheerleaders led the student body in cheers.

Friday, the Scots travel to Marion-Franklin in their initial City League contest. Saturday night, they will play host to Watkins Memorial.

The junior high will travel to Mohawk.

Kinder Key caroling was held Tuesday and Wednesday nights. The wrestling team will go to West for a city meet. American Legion essay contest papers must be in Dec. 20.

Dance decorations for the old-fashioned Christmas dance were made by the students with the assistance of Mrs. Abraham. Music for the dance was furnished by the Southern Cleft Music Makers.

Blaze Causes $1200 Damage

A fire causing $1,200 damage to the second and third floors of the William Duboc home at 2348 Bexley Park-rd Saturday was blamed by firemen on an overheated electric heater.

The blaze started in a third floor bedroom, burning through the floor and damaging the ceiling in the second floor bedrooms, Columbus Battalion Fire Chief William Boyer reported.

Solons Make New 'Booster' Appropriation

Whitehall councilmen have made a supplementary appropriation of $3,400 for designated accounts which could not be paid from the general fund.

From the existing general fund, $900 was appropriated and placed in accounts of building repair and maintenance, assistant city solicitor and assistant building inspector finances.

Taken from the street maintenance and repair fund was $2,500 for traffic light projects and other maintenance work.

The action makes up for insufficient funds in certain accounts which, City Auditor Walter Helber reported, "have definite obligations that should be met so as to preserve the good credit standing of the city."

To understand all makes us very indulgent.—Madame De Stael

6-Firm Combine Buys Housing Development

A combine of six Columbus firms has purchased Colonial Williamsburg, 164-housing development north of Bexley, from the Federal Housing Administration.

Robert H. Farber, assistant vice president of Inter-County Title Guaranty and Mortgage Co., the firm that arranged the deal, gave a check for $1,219,910 to FHA District Administrator Roy Allen.

The project was built in 1950 at a cost of $1.5 million and was mortgaged to the FHA and two Canton banks insured by the FHA. The FHA had filed for foreclosure and receivership in federal court.

The six firms are: Adel Homes Corp., Bayview Homes Corp., Cedarhurst Homes Corp., Dial Homes Corp, Eden Homes Corp. and Flora Homes.

Financing was obtained from the Ohio Federal Savings and Loan, Central Ohio Federal Savings and Loan, and Columbus Savings and Loan Association.

Chemistry Lab Receives Grant

Capital University's chemistry department has been granted $37,700 from the National Science Foundation for support of a "Summer Institute in Chemistry for Secondary School Teachers."

It is the second consecutive year that the department has been awarded such a grant, designed to serve 40 teachers.

Dr. Carl F. Sievert, director; Dr. Charles H. Oestreich, associate director; Dr. George F. Eckert and Professor Wendelin Frantz, of the geology department, will constitute the faculty of the 1963 institute.

Courses in chemical theory, physical chemistry, physical geology and inorganic chemistry will be offered.

The 1962 institute served 39 teachers from 14 states.

Permit Granted

C. B. Troyer, 2968 E. Main-st, has received a permit to construct a $38,000 one-story masonry drive-in restaurant. E. E. Fitzsimmons is the contractor.

COIF NEEDS

Take time out now and care for your hair so that it will look lovelier later and for a longer time. Have a light permanent to add body to the hair and provide better "set - ability" between washings. A good wave need not be very curly or even very obvious; it should, however, fill out your natural hair contour and give an appearance of more abundant hair. Before the wave, get a professional hair cut and shaping to keep your coif prettier, more polished and in the current trend.

Take time for a new wave to give your hairdo enough foundation to keep it attractive as well as mangeable. Iva's Beauty Salon, 3978 E. Broad Street, Columbus. BE. 8-5474.

Sorority Dance Set

PHI ALPHA CHI formal dance, Holly Ball, will be held Sunday, Dec. 23, 9 p.m. until 12 at Valley Dale. Tickets are available from members or at the door. Hi-Fis of Bexley will entertain. Helping to plan the affair are Susan Dloughy and Toppy Thomas, publicity chairman.

Ohio State Mothers Mark Clubs' 40th Anniversary

Fortieth anniversary meeting of the Ohio State Mothers' Club was held Wednesday, Dec. 12, 1:30 p.m. in the Ohio Union, conference room.

Accomplishments and serious and humorous events of the past 40 years were discussed by a panel. Mrs. Jacob Yavitch, music chairman, presented Judith Booth Fisher, clarinetist, from the School of Music.

The club has grown from 145 members in 1922 to 1005 in 1962, with 24 individual groups in the Columbus area. Membership is open to any mother of a student or former student at Ohio State.

The group annually awards two medical scholarships, two music scholarships and the Belva Jones Scholarship to a student from Franklin County.

In addition, the club maintains a student aid fund, administered by the Office of Student Financial Aids; members volunteer their time each Thursday at University Hospital, and substantial gifts are given to cooperative houses on the campus.

The organization inspired the formation of similar clubs in the state in 1936, and there are now 15 member clubs of the state-wide organization.

Past presidents of the club, honored at the anniversary Wednesday, are Mrs. J. T. Kirk, Mrs. Elizabeth Howe, Mrs. R. P. Barthalow, Mrs. A. B. Braden, Mrs. Neil McTeague, Mrs. Walter Wagner, Mrs. H. C. Weaver, Mrs. C. B. Harrison, Mrs. Frank L. Barnes, Mrs. H. J. Laack, Mrs. O. D. Redding, Mrs. Harry R. Dumm, and Mrs. Dennen Leach.

Mrs. Don M. Laird is in her second year as president. Mrs. William Gilsdorf and Mrs. C. E. Kramer are the remaining charter members of the club.

Card Party To Boost $26,000 Fund

Dedication, perserverance and hard work by a group of friends of the late Dorothy Sadoff (sister of Leonard Quinn of Columbus), has succeeded in raising nearly $26,000 since 1956 for cancer research at Mount Sinai Research Foundation of Chicago.

The local branch of the Dorothy Sadoff Memorial Club, sharing the aims of the parent group, has held as its project, annual card parties.

This year's event will be held at the Jewish Center Wednesday, Jan. 9, 8 p.m. There will be prizes given and refreshments served.

For further information, call Ruth Quinn, BE. 1-9800; Jeannette Lurie, BE. 1-9854; Ethel Thall, BE. 1-8026, or Betty Baler, BE. 5-4527.

High School Girls To Sing At Suburban Women's Meet

Suburban Women's Club, an affiliate of the Ohio Federation and General Federation of Women's Clubs, will meet Tuesday, Dec. 18, 8 p.m., at St. Edward Episcopal Church.

Whitehall Yearling Girls' Ensemble, under the direction of Richard Neikirk, will present a program of Christmas music.

Speaker will be Mrs. Chester A. Smith, Upper Arlington, past state Federation president and currently chairman of the committee to nominate the Ohio Mother of the Year.

Mrs. Smith will discuss her tour of South America, sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

The club will participate in a state-wide Women's Club project by offering a table of articles made by the blind, for sale following the meeting. Under the sponsorship of the Ohio Public Welfare Department, Ohio club women sold $30,000 blind-made items last year.

Presiding at the meeting will be suburban president, Mrs. Richard D. Meeks, 1467 Cunard-rd.

In charge of arrangements are: program, Mrs. John Bolin, 819 S. Cassingham-rd; fine arts, Mrs. Norman Burch, 1474 Picard-rd; community improvement, Mrs. John L. Jack, 844 S. Ashburton-rd; international affairs, Mrs. D. E. Hiebel, 4149 Andrus-av, and Miss Luema Kimball, 31 S. Hamilton-rd.

Charity Newsies Set Christmas Lighting Contest For Dec. 15

The Charity Newsies of Columbus and Franklin County are sponsoring a residential Christmas lighting contest again this year.

The second annual contest begins Dec. 15 and ends midnight Dec. 23. Franklin County has been divided into eight sections, four awards to each section. Judges will include three local members of the organization in each of the 32 sections.

Classifications are Spirit of Christmas, Overall Home, Window Decoration, and Door Decoration.

Entry blanks accompany this story. A $2.00 entry fee should be enclosed with the entry when it is returned.

This money, together with funds resulting from the sale of newspapers by the Charity Newsies, will be used to clothe underprivileged, school-age children in Franklin County.

Entry blanks should be mailed to: Charity Newsies, Christmas Lighting Contest, Post Office Box 5664, before midnight, Dec. 23.

An approximate total of 60,000 items was supplied by the Charity Newsies organization to 6,641 children from 2,672 Franklin County families last year according to President William C. McKinley.

Items supplied by the Charity Newsies included warm jackets and shoes for both boys and girls, and socks, underwear, blouses, skirts and hose. In addition 60 emergency cases of clothing, dresses, underwear, and shirts for boys. Addition-were provided food, coal, all items for girls included blankets and clothing.

PAVERS MOVE OFFICES

TOLLIVER AND CURL PAVING CONTRACTORS, INC., has announced the transfer of its offices to a new location at 2182 McKinley-av. Company sales manager Robert T. Farley said the new facilities consist of a brick office building housing three executive offices, a main business office and a larger steel garage building. The yard has two 6,000-gallon gasoline storage tanks and furnishes parking space for paving equipment operated by the firm which is engaged chiefly in asphalt paving in the commercial, industrial, and public works field.

Eagles' Swiss Steak Dinner Dated Dec. 15

Columbus Aerie 297, Fraternal Order of Eagles, 771 N. High-st, is sponsoring a swiss steak dinner Saturday, Dec. 15, from 5 to 8 p.m.

The dinner is for the benefit of Columbus Aerie and not solely for its ritual and drill team as previously announced.

The dinner is open to all Eagles and their families, their guests and friends. Donations are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12.

Round and square dancing is also planned.

You really can change people with kindness and bring yourself great happiness in doing it.

Dog Licenses Now On Sale

Dog licenses have been on sale since Dec. 1, according to Thomas C. Justice, general manager of the Humane Society.

Ohio law states every dog three months of age and older must have a license. License fees are: $2 for male, spayed female, and female dogs, or $10 for a kennel license. Dog licenses may be purchased at the County Auditor's office in the Court House or at the Humane Society's Animal Shelter, 2770 Groveport-pk.

To purchase a license by mail, send a full description of dog (breed, age, sex, color, long or short hair, the proper fee, and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the office of the County Auditor, Franklin County Court House.

Failure to purchase a license may result in arrest, and upon conviction, a fine of as much as $25 and costs.

SNOW, ICE BIGGEST WINNERS

East Blasts Salem, Eastmoor In Upset

East and Eastmoor braved slippery roads to travel to foreign courts over the weekend, returning with victories in preparation for City League competition Friday.

The Tigers walloped Salem, 75-49, for their second impressive win in two starts. The hosts scored the game's first points but East tied the score and were never headed again in recording the win.

The Tigers, paced by Ken Fowlkes' 18 markers, zipped to a 41-26 halftime lead and then just breezed completely out of reach in the second half. Ed Waller also dropped in 13 for the winners.

EASTMOOR PUT the clamps on All-Ohio center Ed Spriggs as the Warriors handed Jackson its first cage loss of the season, 52-51.

The Warriors trailed 41-38 after three quarters but turned on the steam in the final period with Mike Andrews' 17 points showing the way.

Highly instrumental in the win was Eastmoor's nagging defense that held the 6-8 Spriggs to only 13 points.

ST. CHARLES split a pair over the chilly weekend, downing DeSales in the Carolians' Central Catholic League opener Friday night, 71-57, before losing to North Saturday in a thriller, 53-51.

Guards Gary Guglielmotto and Dick Ferris paced the Cards to the win over DeSales with the former dropping in 20 markers and the latter piling up 19 points.

The North contest was a dilly all the way with the lead changing hands on almost every score. The Bears' Ray Simendinger settled the issue in the last seven seconds of play with a lay-up goal.

Mike Bauman paced the losers with 20 points while Ferris racked up 18 more markers.

SHERIDAN BANDED Walnut Ridge its first cage loss of the season Saturday night, 54-39.

The Scots trailed only 15-12 after the initial period but Sheridan slowly pulled away in the second quarter. Jim Pyles and Don McKray supplied the punch to the Scotties offense, the former meshing 12 points, the latter finishing with 11 markers.

WATTERSON CAME out shooting in the second half to down Hartley, 61-44, in another CCL contest.

The Hawks trailed only 26-23 at intermission but couldn't match the Eagles' 20-point third period.

Jack Diamond (13 points) and John Flewellen (12 points) topped the Hartley scorers.

IN THE AREA'S County League action, Reynoldsburg rallied in the second half to down Academy, 61-50.

After trailing by two at halftime, the Vikings moved ahead 38-34 in the third period only to have the hot-shooting Raiders comeback to regain the lead.

Ken Holzman (16 points) and Terry Larrimer (12 points) paced the Viking attack but Reynoldsburg's Bob Nease and Jon Helschman took scoring honors with 30 and 23 points, respectively.

The inclement weather forced postponements of two CBL games, Bexley at Mt. Vernon and Delaware at Whitehall.

CAGE ACTION scheduled for the weekend finds East (2-0) at Aquinas (2-0), Walnut Ridge (1-1) at Marion-Franklin (1-4) and Whetstone (2-2) at Eastmoor (1-1) for Friday night City League play.

In area Central Buckeye loop action, Bexley (0-3) entertains Urbana (3-0) and Arlington (3-2) hosts Whitehall (1-2).

In the Central Catholic circuit, Newark Catholic is at St. Charles (2-2) and Springfield Central Catholic is at Hartley (0-3).

In the County League, Academy (0-3) travels to Hamilton Township (1-0).

Three games are set for Saturday night play. Walnut Ridge entertains Watkins Memorial, Whitehall travels to Eastmoor for their "backyard" rivalry game and Academy journeys to West Jefferson.

Academy Wins, 42-33

Academy's Vikings found a matinee cage contest more to their liking as they downed Mifflin, 42-33, for their first win of the season Tuesday.

The Vikings led all the way against the Cowpunchers although the losers did cut Academy's margin to two points, 20-18, at halftime.

Rangy 6-4 Ken Holzman paced the Viking offense with 15 points but got scoring support from the Larrimer boys as Terry dropped in 11 points and brother John chipped in with eight more markers.

The Academy win over the taller Mifflin quintet upped the Viking mark to 1-4.

Wrestling Wrapup

Franklin Heights and East were the big winners in area wrestling competition over the past week.

The Falcon matmen racked up two victories, 48-5 over Grandview and 29-14 over University, while East won its second straight grappler victory and its first ever over Whitehall, 25-14.

Other results saw Bexley wallop Newark, 44-5, University top Hartley, 30-18, and Arlington down Hilliard, 28-18.

Physical Softness — Blame Or Remedy?

You can't get really deep into a sports conversation these days without somebody bringing up the subject of physical fitness.

The big fuss seems to revolve around the complaint that our nation's youth is a bunch of "softies."

SOMETIMES WE feel this mass condemnation is a bit unfair. The number of youngsters competing in athletics today is still large enough to keep civic leaders scrambling for increased facilities to supply the demand for basketball courts, baseball fields, etc.

But these aren't the kids President Kennedy and his physical fitness committees have in mind when they express their concern about the lack of muscular activity performed by the nation's youth.

It's the fellow who doesn't make the team or just isn't interested in banging into a 200-pound tackle who needs that little push toward some extra exercise above and beyond opening the garage doors.

EVERYBODY ISN'T a Jimmy Brown or a Mickey Mantle but that's no excuse for growing physically soft.

One of the finest articles we've seen on the subject of physical fitness appeared in the "Columbus Health Bulletin" under the heading, "What's Become of Muscle?"

The fault doesn't lie with the schools, which have provided ample physical testing and have encouraged youngsters who failed to pass the average tests to improve themselves.

MAYBE THE basic difficulties can be handed to our society in general. As the Health Bulletin points out, "technological development" has greatly contributed to easing the once-ordinary, everyday tasks of living.

"No longer do we have to split our fire wood or carry water. No more do we feed coal into the furnace or clean out the ashes . . . the hard work, in both home and factory, is done by machines."

Anyone who has ever been to Europe can easily see the reason for that continent's superiority in physical fitness. (We aren't that rich that we can tour Europe. The U.S. Air Force footed the bill).

EUROPEAN YOUTH, on the whole, don't have automobiles to drive to school or down to the corner drugstore. They don't have many TV sets to lure them away from physical exercise.

They walk, they hike and they ride bicycles. But we have better athletes, you argue, and Europeans would drive to school if they could afford an automobile.

Correct in both cases. But we're concerned about the nation as a whole and "ifs" have never yet solved anything.

WE DISAGREE with the article in one paragraph which points out the abuse of outdoor school facilities after classes and during the summer time. We have received numerous complaints that adequate facilities just aren't available to satisfy the need.

We feel that the experts are perhaps missing the boat. Too much emphasis has been put on the BLAME and not enough on the REMEDY.

You don't have to "cry over spilled milk," but you don't have to let it drip on the floor either.

Well, what can I do? We're not suggesting that you put the split-level up for sale and move out to a log cabin so Junior will be forced out of his dormancy.

That's like the fellow who moved out in the woods and lived closer to nature than a yellow-throated warbler. He was the image of Steve Reeves as he lay in his coffin, a victim of pneumonia.

BUT THERE are plenty of simple exercises that can be done right in the home without causing Mom to fret about falling plaster from heavy barbells.

You don't have to leave the house to shape a trim physique. Pushups, situps and knee-bends can work wonders if done regularly. On the other hand, most schools and YMCA's have excellent setups.

And by the way, Pop, it might not hurt you to run through a few simple exercises with Junior now that Old Man Winter is about the only one teeing off on number nine.

And Junior — you'd be amazed at those bulging muscles in your frame that were just waiting there for the chance to stand out and be counted.

WHAT WE'RE trying to say is that all our nation's youths need to get on the physical fitness bandwagon is a little parental encouragement.

We still believe that the male of the species is naturally attracted to the physical. By nature, he enjoys the rough and tumble way of living. Traditionally, American boys like to be thought of as strong and fearless.

As the Health Bulletin points out, "We desperately need something to get our boys off the seat of their pants and the muscles rippling in their arms and legs."

Dear friends,

We are sure the average citizen would be surprised to know how much equipment the modern funeral director must have.

We are constantly adding to this equipment to further improve our service. Much of this additional investment is not apparent to the public, but it is nonetheless essential if we are to maintain the high standards we have set for our services.

Respectfully,

Arthur B. Leach

The Fabric Doctor

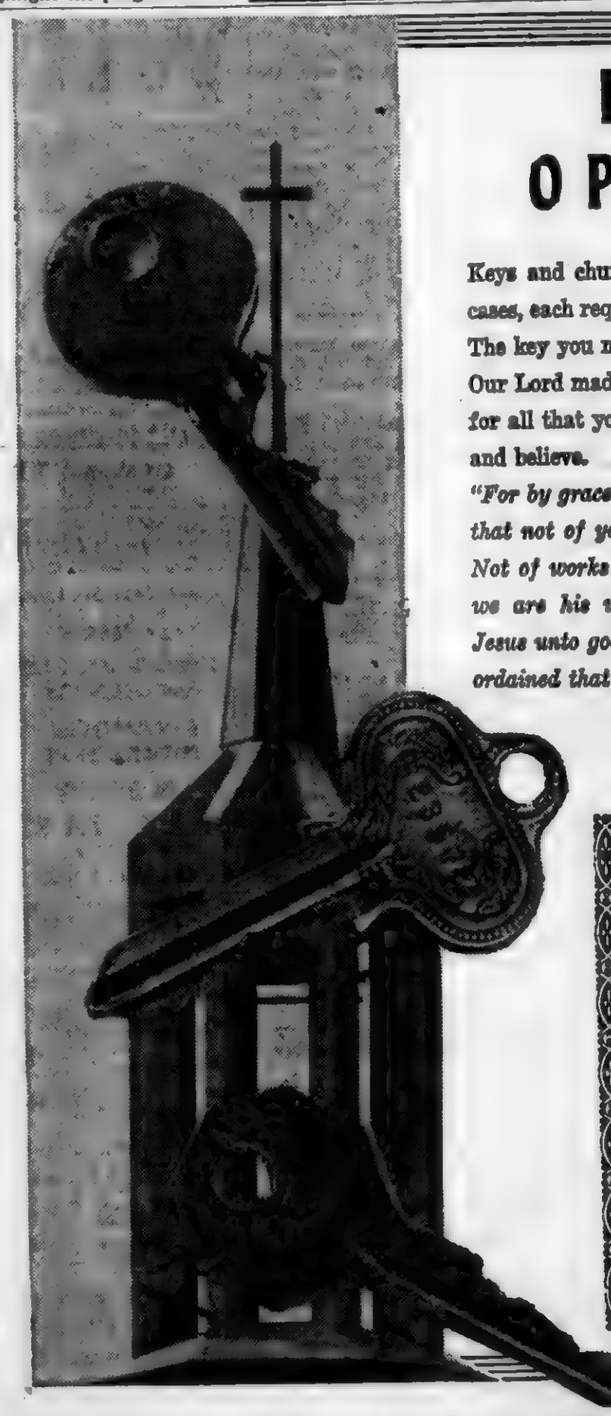
"Don't Strong Cleaning Chemicals Ruin Draperies?"

—Mrs. N. E. N.

Dear Mrs. N. E. N.:

Believe me when I say drycleaners do not use "strong cleaning chemicals" on anything. They use the utmost care cleansing draperies in tested, safe detergents, based upon many years of experience in handling similar fabics. I do not blame you for being distressed when draperies which you sent intact to your cleaner come back in shreds. It is natural to wonder how they were cleaned. However, your drycleaner is seldom at fault.

A recent survey by The Textile Research Laboratory at Ohio State University on breaks, splits and holes in draperies revealed two main causes for these conditions. (1) Environmental factors which contributed to weakening the fabrics, and (2) the fabric themselves.



The first condition included the effect of light, heat, moisture, fumes from burning fuel, abrasive wear, repeated flexing, air-borne soil, mold, mildew and other microorganisms. The second condition related to fiber content, yarn and fabric structure, dyes and finishes. The survey concluded that "whether the used and soiled curtain or drapery fabric is going to break, split or go to into holes, has been determined almost completely, as far as today's research has determined, before the drycleaner ever touches the fabric."

While a drycleaner can mishandle draperies or curtains, damage from mis-handling is different from deterioration damage and "strong cleaning chemicals" are not used by responsible cleaners. Remember, too, that fabrics do wear out even when they simply hang in the home.

DOOR OPENERS

Keys and churches are door openers. In both cases, each require you to put forth some effort. The key you must insert in the lock and turn. Our Lord made the way to heaven even easier, for all that you have to do is present yourself and believe.

"For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: Not of works lest any man should boast: For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works, which God hath before ordained that we should walk in them."

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH ... THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

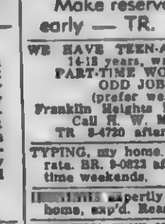
FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Meats For The Holiday Season Suggested

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS



THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits—Juice oranges, grapefruit, tangerines, apples, frozen citrus juices, cranberries.

Vegetables—Potatoes, yams, carrots, cabbage, celery, salad greens.

Other Foods — Fryers, turkeys, pork loin roasts, beef "specials," large eggs, cheese, tomato products, walnuts.

With Christmas less than two weeks away, you're likely giving some thought to what meats to serve at family gatherings during the holidays. If your choice will be partly determined by price, the good supplies of poultry and pork at this season insure economy for these two meats.

Mrs. Franks

Turkey supplies for the holiday season and later are well above average, although not as large as a year ago. Retail prices are generally low by most standards, although somewhat above the unusually low levels of last year. However, the government has purchased fewer turkeys than expected for the school lunch program, so market men say that prices on Christmas turkeys are not likely to go above the Thanksgiving quotes.

Broiler-fryer supplies are larger than usual for this time of year. December volume is expected to be 15 to 20 percent higher than last year, as a result of increases in broiler chick placements in late September and October. This situation points to low retail levels and frequent specials in the weeks ahead.

If you're looking for something different, ducklings, goose and Cornish hens may fit the bill, although the cost per serving will be more. The selection on these items is larger than usual at this season, and for small families a platter of roasted Cornish hens, for example, could be both decorative and delicious.

Pork continues to offer real values for the meat dollar on many cuts. Supplies are still seasonally large and are slightly above a year ago. This is keeping prices on the low side, although some upturn is likely in January. Pork loins, Boston butts, spareribs and bacon are cuts you can buy at a relatively low figure. Cured hams are being held back for the holidays, but you can expect many retailers to feature them, especially for New Year's festivities.

Little change is expected in the beef picture in the next few weeks. Supplies are relatively large, but demand for beef continues strong. Current wholesale prices on major beef cuts are from four to six cents a pound above a year ago, with beef loins around 10 cents higher. Holiday season demand likely will be strong for rib and other top roasts, which means price specials on such cuts as chuck roasts, round steak, sirloin steak and ground beef.

There is little change in the supply of lamb but some markets are still suggesting purchases of rib and shoulder chops and leg and shoulder roasts by their feature prices.

Men: Worried About Shopping? Read This

Two stores in the Town and Country Shopping Center will be working together Friday night (Dec. 14) on a first annual project designed to make things easy on the man in your life.

The management of both the Boston Store and J. C. Penney's realizing that males get more frustrated over Christmas shopping than over a game of golf — have designed "Stag Night" especially for them.

For two hours Friday—9 to 11 p.m.—both stores will cater to the male population and attempt to take the "hop" out of shopping.

During this time, men are invited to shop in a pleasant, un-rushed atmosphere, highlighted by a free gift-wrapping service which will make that someone's present pretty as a picture and save you from getting tangled up in your own ribbon.

Besides this, there will be modeling of sports-wear items throughout the store and, best of all, refresments will be served. You'll have to go some to find a better set-up.

Of course, the usual fine Boston Store and J. C. Penney gift items will be on sale at the same, everyday, low prices.

IN 'MAP WAR'

East Columbus Recreation To Hold Christmas Party

A Christmas program, "Santa's Doll Shop" by elementary children and the "Nativity" by teens, plus carols, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 19, at East Columbus Elementary School.

On the following day, a Christmas party for the youngsters of the East Columbus area will be held Dec. 20 at 3:30, in East Columbus Recreation Center, 734 N. Rarig. About 4 p.m. Santa will arrive, bearing treats for all present. All children are welcome. Pre-school age children must be accompanied by one parent.

The sectional checker tournament was held at East Columbus Recreation last Wednesday. Three centers participated—Pilgrim, Windsor and East Columbus. Out of the three divisions East Columbus had four winners, Patty McKee, Brian Branel, Bob Ryan and Richard Pierce. Two of these winners went on to place in the all-city tournament. Bob Ryan won the senior division and Richard Pierce was runner-up.

Requirements Set For Street Tree Planting

The semi-annual city street tree planting program is underway, according to the Division of Parks and Forestry.

Individual property owners may plant their own street trees providing a free planting permit be obtained through Parks and Forestry, the tree be of a variety selected by the city and the location and number of trees per frontage be determined by the city.

These controls are necessary because after the tree is planted it technically becomes the responsibility of the city.

The division will welcome calls for further information about tree planting programs. The number is CL. 2-2115.

From Dec. 14 through 22, the store will be open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Dec. 24, the store will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Dec. 26 and 27, the hours will be from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Dec. 28 and 29, the hours will be from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

State Hospital Employees' Party, Friday

Christmas party for State Hospital employees, retired employees, their families and friends, will be held in the hospital recreation hall Friday, Dec. 14, 8 p.m. until 1 a.m.

Sponsored by the hospital Flower and Retirement Fund, the affair will include movies for the children, white elephant table, fish pond, round and square dancing to the Snow Brothers Orchestra, plays and a "gossip party."

There will be refreshments and coffee will be free.

Tickets, at $1 for adults, will be available at the door. Children will be admitted free.

Snow Slows Construction

Freezing temperatures and snow have hindered construction of the giant warehouse facility now being built on Refugee-rd in the far South Side.

The structure is being built by the Sarah and Pauline Maier Scholarship Foundation in Charleston, W. Va., for the Chesapeake Storage Co. here at a cost of $1,175,000.

Storage capacity for at least 40 railroad cars inside is planned at the Refugee-rd warehouse—just off Lockbourne-rd, which will have two railroad tracks from the nearby New York Central System.

The building will be 969-feet long and 403-feet wide with a minimum usable height of 20 feet.

Jewish Center's Winter Concert Set January 27

The Music Committee of the Columbus Jewish Center announced Jan. 27 as the date of the Winter Concert there.

The orchestra, with Richard Suddendorf as conductor, will perform at the Jewish Center, 1125 S. College-av, and will be open to the community.

The Jewish Center Orchestra, now in its fourth season, is one of the major projects of the Adult Activities Department. Participation in the orchestra is open to all qualified musicians in the community.

The group meets for rehearsals at the center on Thursday at 8 p.m. and a cordial invitation continues to be extended to anyone interested in an orchestral experience.

Additional information can be obtained by calling the Adult Activities Department of the Jewish Center, BE. 1-2731.

MAY USE 'QUO WARRANTO' WRIT AGAINST LARGE CORPORATIONS

Attorney General To Issue Statement On Sunday Closing

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Ohio's attorney general, Mark McElroy, is expected to take a giant Sunday Closing law step at the end of this week and observers close to the situation are viewing it as an entirely new approach to Blue Law enforcement here.

According to Ted Saker, first assistant to the attorney general, McElroy "will issue" a statement of policy Thursday afternoon. A reported attempt to institute a "quo warranto" writ against large corporations should be involved.

The writ, which is action against major corporations allegedly engaged in illegal sales activity, is considered by lawmakers as an "extraordinary remedy" to the Sunday sales problem.

Saker reported that McElroy and a "small staff" have been working on the idea for "several weeks" but have been "interrupted from time to time."

Basically, a quo warranto action would cause large corporations operating on Sunday to loose their charter for any operations at all.

This move against traders of heavy merchandise does not particularly concern what has been termed "gray areas" in the Sunday Sales enforcement struggle; that is, the corner grocery and drug store.

The Greater Columbus Sunday Association reports that it is "delighted that the attorney general is considering this move" and that "we certainly support it as strongly as we can."

McElroy's statement will be the first policy move on the subject since the issue has been mauled over in Ohio.

A quo warranto proceeding will generally decide if certain corporations can do business in Ohio and the attack is expected to be launched mainly against "flagrant violators."

Saker emphasized that McElroy had, as of Tuesday afternoon, made "no specific decision" on whether or not to take this action. The first assistant added, however, that "there are several who are studying and researching" the question in an effort to give McElroy grounds to make his decision.

Large corporations which are expected to be hit first by the writ are the various discount houses in Ohio, termed by the Sunday association as "flagrant violators."

Secretary of State Ted Brown, of course, franchises all corporations in Ohio and has the main jurisdiction over their operations. If any action by McElroy is upheld by Ohio's Supreme Court, the corporate charter of violators could be revoked.

In the event that a writ is issued, the attorney general will then go to court and challenge the responsibility of these large-scale violators to completely carry out this civil action.

Any action McElroy will take, it is reported, will be in the spirit in which the law was amended by the Ohio Supreme Court in 1959.

Writ action is expected to get the approval of the Ohio Council of Churches, the AFL-CIO and other groups throughout the state.

IN WHITEHALL — CHURCH SUPPORT

Churches Mark Christmas With Worship, Song

Area churches will join those throughout the world in celebrating the birthday of Christ with services for worship and communion by candlelight, children's programs and pageants, cantatas and carols.

Everyone in the community is invited to attend services Sunday and Christmas Eve, in the church of their choice.

Among those planned in this area are the following:

STONEYBROOK . . .

The choir of Stoneybrook Methodist Church, directed by Gene Pugh, will present a musical program, Christmas Day," Sunday, Dec. 23, 9 a.m.

Program will include, "Angels We Have Heard On High," "Infant Holy, Infant Lowly" with solo by Patsy Keen; "Silent Night" with solo by Mary Margaret Webb, and "Glory To God In The Highest."

The choir will be accompanied by the new console organ, played for the first time this Sunday.

The children's choir, directed by Mrs. Ray Crossmock, will sing at the same service.

WALNUT HEIGHTS . . .

Walnut Heights Baptist Church will hold a service of Christmas music Sunday, Dec. 23, 7:30 p.m.

The choir of the Christ Memorial Baptist Church will be in charge of the music.

A watch night service emphasizing world missions will be held Monday, Dec. 31, 7 p.m. until 12.

WHITEHALL BAPTIST

Choirs of Whitehall Baptist Church, under the direction of Wallace E. Miller, minister of music and education, will present the annual Christmas

Whitehall Council Gives Nod To $3.5-Million Buildings

WATER MAIN BREAK CAUSES TRAFFIC WOES

RUSH HOUR traffic was snarled this week because of a water main break at the busy intersection of James-rd and E. Broad-st in East Columbus. The break in the 14-inch main was small enough that workmen could wait until after the morning traffic rush to repair it but the barriers were still up and caused problems for many motorists. This break followed a series of water main troubles throughout the city.

Amid a flurry of controversy Tuesday night, Whitehall councilmen gave a go-ahead-type nod to plans to develop a $3.5-million project in the E. Main-st - Fairway-blvd area.

Fairway-blvd residents objected to the development, which includes twin singles, four-family and eight-family dwellings, all to be built on a nine-acre tract (90 lots).

William P. Lewis, representing the land owner (Andrew Prout, 1000 Fairway-blvd), and the developer (Wallace Ackley), termed the project a "quality development" which would bring "substantial people" to the Whitehall area.

W. B. McKleskey, a local attorney, who spoke mainly for George Byers, Sr., 658 Fairway-blvd, told the solons that the matter would be appealed in Common Pleas Court "within the next 10 days" and added that this was "not merely a threat, but a fact."

The development, as it now stands, is expected to include a 20-foot "tree area" on the east side and each of the units will include a recreation room, two bath rooms and rent for $160 per month.

Cost of each structure was estimated at "about $46,000."

In other action:

- Council received the resignation of City Clerk Mrs. Amanda Maxwell.
- Gave Safety Director Richard Moling an informal okay to try to buy a large wrecker truck from the Whitehall Garage.
- Gave second reading to an ordinance authorizing City Solicitor Paul Haytcher to appoint and hire an assistant at $330 a month.
- Tabled several ordinances designed to change the city's zoning map.
- Adopted a 15-page ordinance which made minor changes in the city's income tax laws.
- Finally approved legislation calling for improvement of Maplewood-av, between Broad and Main-sts, at an estimated $385,000. This ordinance, first brought up at council's last regular session, was tabled. The solons expect to have the project completed by next fall.

ROBBIE REVIEW SAYS . . .

RECENT BAD weather has certainly taken its toll of street damage in the area—and, it has made bad situations worse. Robbie Review, Hartley Newspapers civic improvement expert, spotted this real "teeth-jarrer" along E. Main-st. These railroad tracks—close to the Whitehall and Columbus city limit line, are really in bad shape and should get immediate attention. The same track crosses E. Broad-st, and it's not much better there.

New East Area Elementary, Additions Included In Schools' $6 Million Plan

Columbus School Board reviewed the administration's proposed program of 1963 construction and site-acquisition at its Tuesday meeting.

Thirty-three new projects were recommended by the school administration. Dr. Harold H. Eibling, school superintendent, in making the announcement, said that 20 other projects previously announced would be included in the $6.25 million program.

The program is designed to enable Columbus Public Schools to educate at least 4,500 more children during the 1963-64 school year.

On the South Side a new elementary school is planned on Moler-rd, just east of Fairwood-av. Extensive remodeling is planned at Roosevelt Junior High with emphasis on improved lighting and science

First Eastmoor Junior High Principal Named Tuesday

Appointment of Norval Goss, vice-principal of Eastmoor High School, as first principal of Eastmoor Junior High School was announced at the Board of Education meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Howard Nicklaus, vice-principal of Linden-McKinley Junior-Senior High School, was named to take Goss' place as vice-principal of Eastmoor High.

Both appointments will become effective Jan. 1.

Goss received his bachelor of arts degree in education from Dennison University in 1951, and his master's degree in education from Ohio State University in 1957.

He taught social studies and history at Central High School from 1954 to 1957, and was a cadet principal in 1957 before assuming vice-principalship at Eastmoor High in 1958.

Nicklaus is a 1946 graduate of West High School. He received his bachelor of science degree in education and his master's degree in education from Ohio State University.

He taught at Linden-McKinley Junior-Senior High and Barrett Junior High before serving as a cadet principal in 1958. He served as vice-principal at Franklin Junior High School in 1959 and became vice-principal at Linden-McKinley in February, 1960.

Other appointments at the Board of Education meeting included, Jack Gibbs, vice-principal of Franklin Junior High, who was named vice-principal of East High, and Miss Helen Barto, vice-principal of East High, named first vice-principal of the new Brookhaven High School.

Cadet principal, William Randolph, was appointed vice-principal of Franklin Junior High School.

Eight-Day Hanukkah Festival Starts Friday

The Jewish festival of Hanukkah begins Friday, Dec. 21 at sundown. A gay festival, it is marked by lighting of candles in homes, beginning with one candle on the first night, and adding one on each following night for the eight nights of the holiday.

Oldest historical sources that deal with the festival of Hanukkah are ancient works known as the Books of the Maccabees.

They tell how Judah and his brothers came to the desolate temple, how they cleansed it and rededicated it.

Slowly, the custom of lighting Hanukkah lights in every Jewish home was developed until Hanukkah became the widespread festival that it is today.

At Temple Tifereth Israel, Rabbi Nathan Zelizer will conduct services Friday, Dec. 21, 8 p.m.

His sermon will be "Those Who Put Out the Light."

Saturday morning services begin at 9:15.

Columbus Sets $15,000 For Bliss Run Studies

Columbus City Council earmarked another $15,000 for engineering and other expenses for the delayed $250,000 Bliss Run storm sewer project in the Berwick area during regular session Monday night.

The money was okayed after residents near the run registered approval for the project.

In other major actions affecting East Siders, Council:

- Received requests to increase the police force from the East Side Businessmen's Association and from Robert W. Bashor, general manager of the Columbus Convention Bureau.
- Approved in committee a 1963 operating budget of $36.4 million, holding out hope of an employes' pay raise.
- Limited continuing overtime pay ordinances for the Traffic Engineering and Sewerage divisions to 90 days.

Planning Watch Night Services?

Ministers are invited to send in stories and details on Watch Night services planned in their churches for New Year's Eve.

Stories should be sent to Hartley Newspapers' Society Editor not later than Saturday, Dec. 22.

Peace Corps Needs Ex-4-H Club Folk

The Peace Corps is looking for former 4-H Club members with farm backgrounds, according to Albert F. Gehres, state 4-H Club leader.

An assignment would be for two years, with different groups starting their training throughout the year. Men and women 18 years of age or over, with at least a high school education, are eligible.

Interested persons should write or visit their County Extension offices for further information.

Goodwill Welcomes Tour Groups

Goodwill Industries, 1331 Edgehill-rd, invites interested groups to tour the sheltered workshop over the holidays.

The shop will be in operation Dec. 29 and Jan. 5 to make up for closing for long holiday weekends.

Conducted group tours are available any working day from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

For appointments, call 294-5181.

Some 206 groups have visited to date this year.

Take Time On Highways States AAA

Allow extra driving time over the holidays to get to your destination, suggests Russell H. Campbell of the Columbus Automobile Club.

With many offices and industries also closed on the eve of both holidays, many persons will have four-day periods in which to travel," notes the AAA club official.

Motorists should allow an extra hour for every two hours of driving time a trip would take in good weather during a non-holiday period.

Gift For Doggy Is Suggested

The perfect Christmas present for a dog is his 1963 license, reminds the Humane Society of Columbus.

Proper identitification will increase the pet's chances of being returned if he is lost or stolen, the organization says.

Licenses may be obtained either at the County Auditor's Office in Court House or at the Animal Shelter, 2770 Groveport-pk. A license may also be obtained by sending a description (breed, age, color, sex, long or short hair) to the county auditor with the fee of $2 and a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

All dogs over three months of age must be immunized against rabies. Re-immunization every twelve months is required in Columbus, Upper Arlington and Grandview Heights.

HOBBY MAKES HUBBY HAPPY... TEACHER CONCOCTS OWN RECIPES

Making up a batch of cookies from a new recipe of her very own, or perfecting and adjusting a recipe she concocted in the past is the hobby and pastime of Mrs. Patsy Buckley, 755 Stelzer-rd, and the delight of her friends.

The kindergarten teacher at East Columbus School, who cooks for the sheer love of it, spends evenings in the kitchen while her husband, Thomas, a veterinary medicine student at Ohio State, is busy with his books.

And her husband and neighbors, friends and teachers at East Columbus, are happy to volunteer as tasters when she is devising and perfecting a new recipe.

Christmas making her project for the past few weeks, is nearly completed, and the results will become gifts for the couple's friends and family.

They were married in their hometown of Lewisburg, W. Va., in June and come to Columbus soon after. "Columbus is so different from home," she said, "and at first was hard to get used to. But we've made a lot of friends and really enjoy it here now.

"I started cooking on my own while still a child," she explained, "and have made it my hobby. I enjoy baking—for gifts to friends and to serve when we entertain.

"And," she continued, thoughtfully, "devising recipes of your very own is even more interesting. "It's a means of self-expression."

Her recipe for a summer dessert has been a prize winner in competition and at the state fair. And she has taken preliminary steps to enter the next national bake-off competition by entering an original coffee cake recipe.

As a Christmas gift to new neighbors in Columbus, Mrs. Buckely has offered the following recipes, most of them originals:

For Christmas Baking

SNOW FLAKES

2¼ cups flour
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup butter
1 three ounce package cream cheese
1 cup sugar
1 egg yolk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon grated lemon or orange rind

Mix all together. Use in cookie press or wax paper funnel. Bake at 375° for 10 minutes.

EGGNOG PECAN DESSERT

1 cup pecans
3 tablespoons plain gelatin
½ cup milk
1 quart eggnog
2 egg whites stiffly beaten
⅛ teaspoons salt
2½ teaspoons brandy flavoring or ½ cup brandy
¾ cup heavy cream (whipped)

Drop pecans in boiling water for 3 minutes, drain. Toast till crisp. Chop. Soak gelatin in milk. Stir in eggnog. Heat—do not boil. Add salt and brandy.

Cool until mixture begins to thincken. Fold in egg whites and cream and walnuts. Pour into mold and chill several hours. Top with caramel sauce, or fruit sauce.

COFFEE CAKE

½ cup sugar
½ cup margarine
1 egg
⅔ cup milk (scald, then cool to luke warm)
1 cake yeast
4 to 6 cups flour

Cream sugar and margarine. Dissolve yeast in ¼ cup luke warm water. Beat egg fluffy, then add yeast. Sift flour. Place in greased bowl, cover, keep warm. Let rise twice size, then place back in bowl — let rise again. Roll out on flat surface. Add ½ box rasins and ½ cup citron. Roll up as jelly roll. Let rise again. Bake 375° until golden brown.

Glaze with 2 cups confectioner's sugar, ¼ cup milk. Decorate with red and green cherries.

WHITE LEMON FRUIT CAKE

1 pound butter
2½ cups sugar
6 eggs
3 ounces lemon extract
4 cups sifted flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ pound candied cherries (whole)
½ pound pineapple (cut up)
¼ pound white rasins
1 pound nuts (whole)

Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs and beat. Blend in lemon extract. Put in dry fruit and beat. Put 4 layers wax paper around pan. Put pan of water under the cake while baking. Bake in 250° oven for 3½ hours.

LEMON GLAZED DATE STICKS

1¼ cup cake flour
1¼ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs

Mix and add:

2 tablespoons corn starch
1 cup (cake flour)
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon hot water

Mix and add:

1 cup white sugar
½ cup nuts chopped

Stir in dates. Add flour. Stir in 2 cups chopped dates. Fill 2 greased 8x8x2 pans. Bake 30 to 35 minutes at 325 degrees.

Glaze: Heat 3 tablespoons milk with 2 tablespoons butter in bowl, mix 2 cups sifted conf. sugar. Add 1 teaspoon rind of lemon and 3 tablespoon lemon juice. Cut sticks and then spread on glaze. Let it run down sides.

CHRISTMAS GOODIES from the kitchen of Mrs. Patsy Buckley are truly her handiwork—even the recipes are her own. The white fruit cake she perfected with the assistance of her mother, and her original recipe for coffee cake is entered in the national bake-off competition.

THE HOBBY of Mrs. Patsy Buckley, kindergarten teacher at East Columbus, is as pleasing to her friends as to herself. It is they who are called upon to taste-test when she is perfecting a new, original recipe.

SANTA CLAUS

"He was dressed all in furs from his head to his foot and his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot—he was chubby and plump, a right jolly old elf, and I laughed when I saw him in spite of myself."

These words from Clement Clark Moore's "A Visit From St. Nicholas" gave to the world the popular image of Santa Claus. For appearance sake, we presume, Santa's clothes are now pictured a clean, bright red, but he's still "a jolly old elf."

Holiday Hazardous

A common hazard to rugs and carpets during the holidays is cranberry stains.

According to cleaning experts the juice of cranberries produces a staining action on most rugs and carpet fibers which the housewife will find impossible to remove unless she consults a professional rug cleaner.

Homemakers Are Honored At Luncheon

The four Suburban Homemakers, selected to represent Hartley Newspapers in the national competition held in Chicago Nov. 14, 15 and 16, were guests at a luncheon held at the home of the publisher Friday, Dec. 14.

Mrs. C. Carlton Hartley, 1370 Wilson-rd, was hostess to Mrs. Oliver Tallman, the Hilltop Record and West Side News winner; Mrs. L. T. McKinley, Eastern Review, and Reynoldsburg Record; Mrs. Philip Wagner, South Side Leader and South-East Rural-Urban News.

Also present was Mrs. Richard DeWitt, secretary to the publisher.

Each homemaker was presented with an engraved silver bowl and a certificate.

Following luncheon, the four compared pictures and experiences of their trip to Chicago in November, where they met suburban homemakers from throughout the country.

Winner of the national search for Suburban Homemaker of the Year was Mrs. Robert Haverkamp of Park Forest, Ill.

Our Times Have Changed— Christmas Once Was Illegal

Celebration of Christmas — the most widely observed religious holiday of the modern world — was at one time illegal in early American history.

Colonial New England did not celebrate Christmas, the Compton's Encyclopedia people tell us, because the stern Puritan colonists believed that such activities were wholly pagan and forbade them by law. Christmas came to the American colonies while it was the subject of strenuous controversy in England. English Puritans condemned it as "popish" and the secular celebration as a "wanton Bacchanalian feast."

Opposition of the English Puritans to festivals culminated in an act of Parliament in 1647 which abolished the observance of Christmas, Easter and Whitesuntide. This was echoed in the American colonies in 1659 when Puritans enacted a law in the general court of Massachusetts to punish those who "kept Christmas."

The law read "Whosoever shall be found observing any such day as Christmas or the like, either by forebearing of labor, feasting, or in any other way . . . shall be subject to a fine of five shillings."

The law was repealed in 1681 but many of the Puritans were not reconciled to this action. Secular reveling at Christmas had often interferred with religious devotions and offended the Puritans' moral sense. This intensified their sectarian hostility to the religious observance of Christmas — an attitude they maintained for the better part of two centuries in parts of New England.

The fun-loving Dutch colonists of New Amsterdam, however, celebrated Christmas as their chief holiday. They brought the old customs from their homeland, especially the Christmas stocking and observance of the feast day of St. Nicholas.

In the Southern colonies, the planters celebrated the yuletide with feasting, singing, and dancing. On many plantations slaves were given a holiday as long as the great yule log burned.

The latter half of the Eighteenth Century saw a swing of attention to the realm of economics and politics and religious controversies became of less importance. The fact that English and Hessian troops celebrated Christmas during the Revolutionary War may have added a patriotic note to the denominational controversy.

General Washington crossed the Delaware River on the night of Dec. 25, 1776, to surprise and defeat the Hessian troops stationed at Trenton, N. J. In the opinion of one writer, Washington's bold venture succeeded because the Hessians were enjoying their customary Christmas revels and failed to maintain the usual watch and patrols.

However, denominational opposition to the ecclesiastic observance of Christmas continued into the second half of the Nineteenth Century. An account in the New York Daily Times for Dec. 26, 1855 read:

"The churches of the Presbyterians, Baptists, and Methodists were not open on Dec. 25 except where some mission schools had a celebration. They do not accept the day as a Holy One, but the Episcopalian, Catholic and German Churches were all open. Inside they were decked with evergreens."

In the Twentieth Century, all denominations have embraced Christmas widely both as a religious and as a social celebration. Today, men, women and children in every Christian land crowd into churches to give their thanks. More than one fourth of the world's population — about 800 million people profess some form of Christian faith.

The splendor and beauty of Christmas observances is very different from the humble stable in Bethlehem where Christ was born; but the message He brought to the world is the same — "Glory be to God in the highest; and on earth peace, good will toward men."

A CHRISTMAS GREETING

On this our Blessed Savior's natal day
This wish we send you, near or far away:
For you and yours, the faith, the hopes, the wings
Of joyful praise the Host Angelic sings
As once again, across the miles, the years,
The Good News conquers time and doubts and fears.
While kings and shepherds wonder and adore,
May this day's peace be with you, evermore.

Perhaps no other phrase in any language on earth has been repeated more often than the simple greeting, "Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year." Nor has any wish ever meant more.

Beyond, or rather supplementing the advent of Christianity as a religious doctrine is its meaning as the most important event in human history.

Besides bringing the means of redemption and salvation, Christianity for the first time (and only) on earth introduces the only viable code of ethics and conduct by which the race could live in prosperity and true peace. Because all men and nations are sinners, few have conformed entirely and all have suffered.

The first Christmas and its remembrance bring a profound meaning to most minds and hearts, and leave few untouched. The observance brings a renewed vision of love, compassion and innocence, and a new hope that true peace and justice may even yet be established and that God's will may yet be done on earth as it is in Heaven.

It says here . . . simply . . .
Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Should Say 'No' To Communist Made Goods

To The Editor:

How the communist slave masters must have smiled as they watched their oppressed peoples produce wooden coat hangers, folding chairs, stools, folding hat racks, handbags, and ornaments to be sold in America during the holiday season!

Is economics, a weapon in the Cold War, to be used only by the enemy? Cannot we homemakers refuse to purchase these communist imports, thus loosening the chains that bind the poor slaves to their masters?

Contrary to what our State Department advises, and our government encourages, I believe assisting communist regimes in any way is morally wrong.

Let us all examine our purchases carefully and proudly say 'no" to those who wish to sell us articles made elsewhere than in the free world.

Mrs. William E. Williams

Christmas Is Time To Clear Air Of Strife

Christmas is essentially a time of joy for all of us, and joy is best expressed in music. The world is imbued with the spirit of "peace on earth, good will to men" when church chimes ring out familiar melodies of the Christmas carols.

The warmth of universal kindness and friendliness is expressed in every gentle word and generous act. People are as they were meant to be. If this spirit of love and good will could be kept aglow every day throughout the year, a closer kinship of all human beings would prevail in our modern scheme of civilization.

A hopeful, constructive, friendly attitude is a requisite in bringing order to world chaos.

The international whirlpool did not start with material things. Nuclear bombs do not fire themselves. Wars and threats of war are started in the jumbled minds of men and women and confusion stops only when a mutual understanding can be reached.

Washington Local School Board Says Thanks

On behalf of the Board of Education of the Washington Local Schools, I wish to express our appreciation for the wonderful support by the Rural-Urban News in our recent levy campaign.

Mr. Ed Churchhill has been most understanding and cooperative in these very trying times. His columns were factual and to the point, but at the same time reflecting an unusual understanding of school problems.

We feel the Rural-Urban News provided a valuable community service as a medium of communications. This community is now very well informed on school management.

Willard Grizzell,
Executive Head

Madison Grateful

On behalf of the Madison Local Board of Education, I want to express our appreciation for your excellent coverage of our school news.

We feel that it is largely through the weekly newspapers that we are able to keep the people in this school community informed concerning their schools.

We certainly appreciate the fine relationship which we have with you and the Rural-Urban and we trust that we will continue to merit this relationship.

Philip K. Williams
Executive Head
Madison Local Schools

Bouquet To Marty

The Board of Directors of the Reynoldsburg-Truro Republican Club wishes to take this opportunity to publicly express its appreciation to John Marty, past president of Reynoldsburg City Council, for his efforts on behalf of the Republicans and the community as a whole while he served in this capacity.

Christmas Gift Tips For Sportsmen's Wives

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

The popular cartoon conception of a fisherman or hunter is one that shows Mr. Sportsman loaded down with tackle and gear. It is true that we are collectors and the limit to the stuff we collect is bounded only by money and storage space. And on Christmas Day next week, the lucky sportsman will be the one who gets a badly needed item of fishing tackle or hunting equipment.

To be fair, however, you need more than one rod and reel to fish in central Ohio. Bluegills and bass are just not caught consistently on the same tackle. If you add a few trips a year to Lake Erie, and an annual vacation to Canada or Florida, more tackle is needed. The same is true with hunting — one set of gear for duck hunting, another for pheasants.

Christmas shopping for sportsmen is usually dreaded by wives, but they have some Santa's helpers handy in the clerks at sporting goods stores. By describing the type of hunting and fishing done, the clerks in a reliable store can be most helpful.

To get down to specifics, there is a very wide price range — you can start with a yacht and work your way down to a 50 cent compass. Most sportsmen, however, look forward to the purchase of a $100 flyrod or a $250 shotgun as a once-in-a-lifetime occasion, and would not want to be deprived of the fun of picking them out. For Christmas surprises, I would recommend presents from $1 to $20. All the sportsmen I know, I believe, would appreciate a gift certificate for higher items.

For fishermen there are: rods and reels, lines, flies, plugs, hip boots or waders, landing nets, stringers, fish knives, creels, hook disgorgers, fish skinners, sun glasses, tackle boxes (some will float), minnow buckets, gaff hooks, fishing lanterns and scales for weighing fish.

The list for hunters is as long and varied: cap, wool socks, hunting boots (leather or rubber), gun case, decoys, sweat shirts, game calls, archery equipment — bow, arrows or quiver, shooting glove, hunting gloves, hand warmer, rifle waterproof match box, jacket or coat, brush pants, quilted underwear, gun cleaning kit, gun rack, compass and hand trap for throwing clay birds.

Boaters need even more equipment: life jackets, fire extinguisher, anchor, buoyant cushions, horn, tools and oars.

For campers there are: sleeping bags, axes, lanterns, thermos jugs, air mattresses, duffel bags, cooking utensils, camp stove, refrigerator chest, camp cots, camp stools and mess kit.

Now you see why economists say that outdoor recreation is big business, and the expensive items are not even included here. Happy shopping.

Song Lifts Us Above Cares Of World

Christendom's love of religious singing is well known, and it is a joy to everyone who participates therein. Music is the voice of the heart, just as much as prayer is the voice of soul.

Rev. Alexander

The prophet Zephaniah in speaking of the restoration of Israel said, "The Lord thy God . . . will joy over thee with singing." In the 38th chapter of Job, the Lord asked Job, "Where wast thou when I laid the foundations of the earth? . . . When the morning star sang together, And all the sons of God shouted for joy?" When the singing God created the earth there was harmony, there was music, in His universe.

In the song of every bird, in the symmetry of every flower, in the rustling of leaves in the treetops, in the lapping of the waves against the shore of the ocean there is the music and harmony of God. The brook tumbles down the mountainside, singing as its goes. Yes, our God is a God of music, a God of harmony.

After the children of Israel had crossed the Red Sea, they sang, praising God for deliverance. When Jesus was born in Bethlehem a chorus of angels sang the first Christmas carol, "Glory to God in the Highest, and on earth peace among men of good will." And I especially like to think of that incident, when after the rendezvous with His apostles in the upper room, our Lord joined them in the singing of a hymn before going out into the garden of Gethsemane.

The early Christians were a singing people.Jerome wrote of them, "You could not go into the fields, but you might hear the plowman at his hallelujahs, the mower at his hymns, and the vinedresser singing David's psalms." Who can forget that even in prison in the middle of night "Paul and Silas were praying and singing hymns unto God."

And so we sing. Paul tells us that the songs of Christian worship are to be "psalms and hymns and spiritual songs." "Spiritual songs" are songs with a Christian message, the words and music of which lift the soul toward God. On the wings of song we rise above the world and are lifted nearer to God. Praise be unto Him for a religion of song!

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Florida Freeze Losses Will Be Felt Here

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Bananas, apples, tangerines, grapefruit, oranges, cranberries, grapes.

Vegetables — Carrots, potatoes, yams, salad greens, peppers.

Protein Foods — Turkeys, chuck roasts, pork loin roasts, hams, eggs.

The extreme cold weather we had last week in Ohio also reached Florida. Sub-freezing temperatures hit citrus groves and vegetable fields. The exact extent of damage is not yet known but it is estimated that approximately 75 per cent of the Florida citrus crop is grown in the area covered by these temperatures.

Mrs. Franks

What does this mean to you, the consumer? Chances are great that you will see higher prices on citrus fruits in the weeks to come. The extent prices will increase cannot be determined until a final estimate of damage is made. It normally takes two to three weeks to make an accurate estimate.

We are fortunate in that the Florida orange crop prior to the freeze was estimated by the United States Department of Agriculture to be the largest on record, at 118 million boxes. Therefore, the effect of the freeze will not be as great as if it had occurred in a year when the crop was smaller.

Federal marketing orders will keep heavily damaged oranges off the market. Many of these oranges will be diverted to juice. Depending on the number of oranges diverted, you may find even lower prices on frozen concentrates than we are presently enjoying.

You will find California navel oranges on the market, however, most of the orange supply is presently from Florida.

Florida vegetables that have been affected include: tomatoes, beans, cucumbers, eggplant, peppers, squash and corn. The extent that the damage will be felt in local markets in reduced supplies and higher prices cannot be determined at this time. You, as a shopper, should become even more price and quality conscious.

It's Life Of Adjustment, Readjustment

It's getting to be that nearly everybody these days is making an effort to alter their personality, size or shape — be it a visit to the psychiatrist, a crash diet or a change in the color of their hair.

McPeek

The drive toward "adjustability" is based on a multitude of reasons, ranging from health to vanity, from beauty to realignment of their natural endowments and the environments surrounding them.

The vogue in switches now is hair. The tinting and dyeing of one's locks has given way to wigs. One can now change with the speed of a jet from a glamorous blonde to a saucy redhead, or from a beehive to a Cleopatra look.

Once eyeglasses were designed to correct defective vision. The contact lenses came into being for those engaged in contact sports, show business and those who were self-conscious wearing eyeglasses in public. Now, if you look closely, the girl with eyes of blue might be wearing contact lenses whose orbs may be brown or green.

One of the popular "adjustments" toward developing a good smile is recapping or straightening of teeth. What was once a virtual monopoly by budding Hollywood starlets is now a trend that has reached into every American hamlet harboring an orthodontist.

For the aged, the road to maintenance of beauty is the face-lift. And the reshaping of the nose via plastic surgery is another element in the current era of adjustment. Surgical augmenting of the bosom is an even more recent — and more ambitious "adjustment."

For the man who aspires to reach greater heights, the answer lies in adjustment or elevator shoes. The little woman has always been able to keep her romance aglow by donning three-inch spikes or shunning taller escorts.

This world of adjustability has taken strong root on the American scene and can be found in a wide range of subjects, from cosmetics that permit the average woman to slant her eyes or develop kewpie-doll lips to foundation garments that accentuate the postive and eliminate the negative.

Even taxes are adjustable but the adjustment is generally upward. Perhaps the only thing not adjustable is the ability of the diplomats in Geneva to reach an agreement on disarmament.

Christina Armour, Ronald Krick Repeat Vows At St. Mary Magdalene

St. Mary Magdalene Church was the scene of the double-ring ceremony of Miss Christina Faye Armour and Mr. Ronald Louis Krick.

Fr. Carl P. Claggett celebrated the 11 a.m. nuptial high mass before an altar decorated with arrangements of coral gladioli and mums.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Armour, 136 Letchworth-av, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Krick of 4098 Astor.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. David Armour, the bride chose a gown of candlelight silk net and Alencon lace, trimmed with mother-of-pearl sequins and featuring a satin redingate which continued into a chapel train.

Her bouffant veil of illusion was caught to a crown of crystal and pearls, and she carried a prayer book with an arrangement of amazonicas, coral sweetheart roses and white heather imported from Scotland.

Mrs. Francis Armour served as matron of honor, and Miss Rosemary Krick and Miss Eileen Bonn, as bridesmaids.

They wore identical gowns of beige brocade fashioned with scooped necklines, elbow sleeves and petite waistline bows. Matching pillbox hats completed their ensembles.

The honor attendant carried variegated cream and coral duchess glamellias with polished camillia foliage, and the bridesmaids carried coral duchess glamellias with polished camellia foliage.

Mr. John Armour, brother of the bride, served as best-man, and guests were seated by Mr. Ward Doering, cousin of the bridegroom, and Mr. Louis Nobile, Jr.

A reception followed the ceremony at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church in Grove City. Hostesses were Mrs. Alisa Burke and Miss Doreen Armour and Miss Betsy Armour, sisters of the bride.

MRS. RONALD LOUIS KRICK

Following a wedding trip to New York and Washington, the couple is at home at 44 Sturbridge-rd, Gettysburg Apartments, Ap. B.

The bride was graduated from Our Lady of Victory High School and is employed at International Harvester.

Her husband was graduated from Aquinas High School, attended Ohio State University, and is associated with Battelle Memorial Institute.

Scouts To Serenade Aged

INTERMEDIATE GIRL SCOUT TROOP 893 of Turkey Run neighborhood, under the leadership of Mrs. Lane Benadum, 3370 Roswell-rd, is cooperating with the Suburban Women's Club to bring Christmas cheer to the Raywin Nursing Home, 1288 Bryden-rd, and will carol at the home Friday, Dec, 21, 6:45 p.m. In charge of encouraging organizations to remember the aged at Christmas, and planning the entertainment for residents of Raywin, are Suburban Club members, Mrs. John L. Jack, 844 S. Ashburton, and Mrs. Norman W. Burch, 1472 Picard-rd. Practicing for the program are, from left, back row, Jill Kennon, Laurie Rawdon, Nancy Nicholson, Jody Reisdorf, Lynne Bommer, Mrs. Benadum, and front row, Cindy Edgren, Suellen McWhorter, Michele Benadum, Christy Menar and Sheila Vacca.

Jewish Center's Parents' Group Arranging Two 'Clown' Shows

Members of the Parents' Group of the Jewish Center pre-school are busy these days selling tickets for the first two performances of the play, "The Clown Who Ran Away," to be presented at the Center by the Gallery Players on Dec. 23, 2 and 4 p.m.

Proceeds will help the group extend the equipment and materials facilities of the school's playground.

Officers of the organization are: Mrs. Charles Goldsmith, president; Mrs. Martin Greenberg, first vice-president; Mrs. Burton Berk, second vice-president; Mrs. Bernard Ruben, third vice-president; Mrs. Leonard Schiff, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Harvey Roth and Mrs. Philip Golding, telephone co-chairmen; Mrs. Richard Ginsburg and Mrs. Harold Seigle, publicity co-chairmen.

Ticket co-chairmen are Mrs. Earl Sonenstein of 1700 Bostwick and Mrs. Leonard Feuer, 3135 Ruhl-av.

"The Clown Who Ran Away," a play for children, was written by Conrad Seiler and will be directed for the Gallery Players by Robert J. Stephens, of the Karamu Playhouse in Cleveland. Producer will be Harold Eisenstein, director of the Gallery Players.

Tickets may be obtained from members of the Parents' Group or at the box office of the Jewish Center on the day of the play—75 cents for adults, 50 cents for children, for the two special performances. The play will also be given on Dec. 30.

Director of the Jewish Center pre-school is Mrs. A. R. Schwartz.

The Jewish Center is located at 1125 College-av.

The rank of Eagle, the highest award in Scouting, was presented to William C. Tucker, Jr. at a recent court of honor at Shady Lane Presbyterian Church.

Tucker, who is a member of Explorer Post 288, was presented the Eagle by William Kane, chairman of advancement of the White Oaks District, and by Paul Love, district executive of the White Oaks District.

The presentation of the award was the first Eagle earned by a boy in Post 288. William also is a member of the Order of the Arrow, an honorary camping society of the Boy Scouts of America.

William, 16, is the son of Major and Mrs. William C. Tucker, Sr., 1166 Lockwood-rd. Major Tucker is on the White Oaks District Commissioners' staff.

NATIONAL JAMBOREE

Applications are pouring into Scout headquarters for the Sixth National Boy Scout Jamboree to be held at Valley Forge during the week of July 17-23, 1964.

About 50 applications have been sent in so far for the Central Ohio Council, which will send four troops consisting of 37 boys in a troop to the jamboree. Boys from all over the nation and a few from countries throughout the world will be attending the affair.

Boys from the Central Ohio contingent will also be treated to side trips to the 1964 World's Fair in New York, and to Niagara Falls.

Christmas Party Dated At Center

A Christmas party for the youngsters of the East Columbus area will be held on Thursday, Dec. 20, at 3:30 p.m. in the East Columbus School Recreation Center, 734 N. Rarig.

Santa will arrive about 4 p.m. and will be bearing treats for all of the children.

Pre-school children must be accompanied by a parent.

Loretta Reible

Teacher Wins Apple Award

Loretta Reible, a fourth grade teacher in the Main Street Elementary School, 1469 E. Main-st, was honored by receiving the "Apple For The Teacher Award," presented by WCOL and the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company.

The award is given to teachers whose pupils recommend them.

The recommending letter said:

"My name is Thea Revels. I am a fourth grade pupil in the room of Miss Loretta Reible who is a teacher at the Main Street Elementary School at 1469 E. Main-st.

I am writing you to tell you why my teacher deserves the "Apple For The Teacher Award." She is a kind, likeable and understanding teacher.

There are 40 boys and girls in my room. She never gets upset or angry with the children. She is always the same. This is why I think she should be honored on this day."

Yours truly,
Thea Revels

Mrs. Evelyn De Losche is the principal.

Student Health Council Buys Turkeys for Franklin Village

Bexley High School's Student Health Council has collected $116.09 to purchase Christmas turkeys for holiday dinners at Franklin Village.

The Council collected money in home rooms last week and Bexley clubs also contributed. Y-Teens and the Girls' Athletic Club each contributed twenty dollars.

The project is one of several organized this year by the Health Council. Future projects include the Red Cross campaign and First Aid classes.

Money and baskets of food have been collected by Student Council homeroom representatives during the past week for distribution to needy families throughout the South Side Settlement.

The Girls' Athletic Club has also collected toys to give to needy families.

The Honor Roll for the second six-weeks period has been announced. Eligibility for the Honor Roll is determined on a point scale. A student must have 10 points of "A" in major courses and no marks of "C."

HATHAWAY HEADS LUTHERAN LEAGUE

C. T. HATHAWAY, seated, has been elected president of the Lutheran Welfare League of Central Ohio, Board of Trustees. Seated next to him is Mrs. Margaret L. Zimpfer, new secretary. Other officers include, standing from left, Gerald E. Keinath, treasurer and Rev. Olen A. Peters, vice-president. Newly-elected Financial Secretary John P. H. Young is not shown. These officers will serve as Board of Directors members of the Lutheran Senior City, residence development for senior citizens scheduled for construction in 1963 to serve 284 senior citizens.

Whitehall Dems Get New Leaders; Hit Proposed Gas Hike

The Whitehall Democratic Club recently elected new officers and then launched a violent attack against gas rate hikes in the suburb.

Gilbert H. O'Shaughnessy, chairman of the club's executive committee and council candidate, co-signed a letter of protest with Bill Leeson, vice-chairman, which has been filed with Whitehall lawmakers.

The letter reads:

"We wish to urge you to give every consideration to the welfare of the citizens of Whitehall by vigorously opposing the ordinance that is now pending on gas rates.

"Although we are of the opposite political faith to most of the members of your honorable body, we, nevertheless, pledge our help and assistance in opposing this attempt to increase our rates.

"We think that it is completely unfair to the people of Whitehall to have to pay $2.55 for the first 1,000 cubic feet when the City of Columbus, which completely surrounds us, is paying $1.40.

"Furthermore, other suburban communities enjoy a substantial lower rate than the City of Whitehall.

"We feel that this entire matter of the rate structure for our community should be thoroughly investigated and reviewed and under no circumstances should the ordinance that is now before council be passed."

Councilmen, meeting in regular session Tuesday night, tabled indefinitely the gas rate ordinance on a motion by lawmaker Kenneth McIntosh. Council is now awaiting a Public Utilities Commission report on present rates.

The Democratic Club officers include:

Lewis Oliver, president, 806 S. Yearling-rd; Idola Kellar, vice-president, 4256 Mayflower-blvd; John Ramsey, recording secretary, 448 Bernhard-rd; Marian Martin, secretary, 315 Collingwood, and Lewis S. Bower, treasurer, 215 Maplewood-av.

Trailer Tax Payment Due January 31

Trailer owners not receiving tax application forms in the mail should contact Trailer Tax Division of the Franklin County Auditor's Office, CA. 1-1181, Ext. 297 or 298.

The 1963 tax is assessed on house trailers located in Franklin County as of January 1, 1963. Owners should file their applications promptly in order that payment can be made by January 31.

Deputy auditors are on duty in the basement of the Court House (Mound-st entrance) Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and on Saturdays from 8:30 a.m. to noon to assist in the completion of the application and the computation of the tax.

Catholic Clubs Date Yule Dance

An amateur hunter, preparing for his first trip into the woods, went to a sporting goods store to buy a compass. He found one he liked, with a mirror on the back.

"What's the mirror for?" he asked the clerk.

"You just look in there," replied the clerk, "and it will tell you who is lost."

Nativity Scenes
Popular In Spain

Nativity scenes are so popular in Spain that vendors set up stands before the holiday to offer colorful clay, wood and cardboard figures which are arranged into Nativity scenes, known locally as "Belenes" or "Nacimientos."

In some villages it is custom to award a prize for the best arrangement of a Belenes.

A proud possession of the Benedictine Monastery of Monsterrat near Barcelona is a small carved figure of the Madonna and Child, believed to have been carved by St. Luke and brought to Spain by St. Peter in 30 A.D.

WHO SAYS WE'RE GETTING SOFT?

PRESIDENT KENNEDY has said that Americans are getting "soft," but it's a pretty good bet he wouldn't have felt too safe in generalizing on the subject had he been on the Ivan Ellis farm (four miles north of the Columbus Zoo) last Saturday as were hundreds of Franklin, Union and Delaware Countians. Hardy souls of all ages braved the cold weather, icy roads and the snow to seek out shapely pines and firs to brighten their living rooms. The visitors had to take axe (or saw) in hand and topple their own trees, drag them to the "pay station," and load them in their cars. Through the day many a small voice was heard in the forest calling out T-I-M-B-E-R!

Gallagher's Flasher Lights Get Traffic Commission Okay

Columbus Traffic Engineer Jack Gallagher is all smiles these days—especially following Tuesday's traffic commission meeting—and the reason is simple:

One of his bigger, pet projects is getting off the ground and heading for orbit.

East Columbus residents should smile, too, since action taken Tuesday affects them and their schools.

It's Gallagher's school traffic-flasher light plan—a project he first brought before the commission over a year ago but which was held up due to funds.

He first proposed flasher installations for all schools throughout the city.

Tuesday, the first 12 were approved.

Affecting East Columbus residents directly is the fact that Shady Lane Elementary, 1488 Shady Lane-rd; Berwick Elementary, 2595 Scottwood-rd, and Courtright, 1712 Courtright-rd, were included in this first "batch."

The other schools include: St. John's, 630 S. Ohio-av; Watkins Road, 1486 Watkins-rd; Fornof Elementary, 156 Dering-rd; Valleyview, 2989 Valleyview-dr; Medary, 2500 Medary-rd; Fifth Avenue, 210 W. Fifth-av; St. Gabriel, Mock-rd; Immaculate Conception, E. North Broadway and St. Mathias, 1566 Ferris-rd.

Cost of this first series of installations has been estimated at $16,000. The commission reports that it should have them in operation in January.

Speech Department Records Fifteen Radio Programs

"School Is What You Make It," is the title of a series of 15-minute dramatic radio programs produced and recorded on tape by the Speech Department.

These are currently being presented over the public address system on a weekly basis. This series, written by James S. Keiser, dramatics and speech teacher, is broadcast during home room period.

Student Council is sponsoring a contest in which students may submit an original design for a school crest. The winner will receive free a copy of the 1963 yearbook, The Shield. If the winner has already ordered the yearbook, he will receive the cash value. Deadline for entries is Feb. 15.

Student Council is also sponsoring a "Keep Desks Clean Campaign" again this year. Such sayings as "Who says anything about writing on desks, I can't even reach them," and "I don't write on desks, I carry plenty of paper with me" are seen in the main showcase.

Money for the city-wide shoe fund was collected during home room period last Thursday and Friday. All money is turned over to the Columbus Board of Education which purchases clothing for school-age children. This is the only charity the students are asked to contribute to.

Members for the 1963 Lance staff were announced last week. Mike Mirvis is editor and Robert P. Julian, journalism teacher, is adviser.

Students on the editorial committee are as follows: Judy Pier, chairman; Elaine Bush, Diane Haley, Steve Kessler, David Milenthal, Anna Marie Miller, Karl Mills, Mike Nathan, Linda Russ, Sherry Smith, Barbara Snyder, Rita Snyder, Alan Sterling, Ira Sully, Valerie Wickner and Sharon Williams.

This committee will read and choose the articles for Eastmoor's literary magazine.

Staff members of the General Promotion Committee are: Sharon Coombs, senior; Sue Israel, junior, Ted Sutton, sophomore; and Toni Miller, freshman. This group will handle sales, publicity and general promotion.

SANDERS HAS MOBILE SHOWROOM

I. O. (SANDY) SANDERS is shown here with his Caloric portable display unit. Sanders, 2656 Coventry-rd, sells built-in ovens, burners, exhaust hoods, and matching color sinks. He also sells Waste King Universal dishwashers and disposals, and represents the Columbus Stove Co. in Franklin County. Sanders often calls on people who are building homes so they can select kitchen appliances direct from his mobile display unit. He formerly was with Luethi and Welch Distributors.

Not Everyone Has 'Merry Christmas' But This Bureau Makes It Come Close

If you think everybody has a "Merry Christmas," just check with Mrs. George Huhta at the Columbus Christmas Bureau, 137 E. State-st.

She — and her staff of two workers — know that it's not true. All Christmases in the greater Columbus area can't be "Merry" for various reasons but, one thing's sure, the Christmas Bureau goes a long way to correct this.

The bureau, Mrs. Huhta reports, is a function of the United Community Council. Through this agency, groups and individuals are urged to give donations to help families during the Yuletide season.

Mrs. Huhta's staff, Mrs. Betty Ogle and Mrs. Lucy Walters, begin work as early as August when the first telephone calls and letters come in requesting help at Christmas time.

However, the agency does not shift into "high gear" until around Nov. 1.

And it's really high gear then.

Last year, for instance, Mrs. Huhta (a three-year veteran as manager of the volunteer bureau) reported that 3822 needy families in the area were on file as being aided.

This aid takes on various shapes. Some families receive just a check, others a basket of food, or clothing, or toys. Sometimes families receive all of these items as the need warrants.

As of Tuesday morning, Dec. 18, the Christmas Bureau had 3560 families listed to receive help.

The bureau is, of course, always interested in getting people to make donations. "This way," Mrs. Huhta says, "the agency can perform its duties more easily."

The list of needy families is getting progressively larger over the years, she reports.

Legion Post 430 Slates Children's Christmas Party

A Christmas party for small children of members of Bexley Post 430, American Legion, will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 23, in the Legion home, E. Livingston at Zettler-rd. Santa Claus will be there with gifts for all, according to George Oberkonz, chairman.

Assisting Oberknoz will be his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Darst, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. John Humphrey.

Enrollment of 18 new or transfer members for the 1963 Legion year was announced by Darst, who is first vice-commander.

East Siders Participating In Honors Program

Four East Side women are participating in the honors program, reserved for superior students, at the College of St. Mary of the Springs.

All sophomores, Rita Rohr, 3144 Westwick-rd, Lucy Ryan, 2808 E. Livingston-av, Anne Sullivan, 919 Geers-av and Ann Wuellner, 1215 Haddon-rd, were invited to participate in the program on the basis of their freshman point average.

Invitations to join the program are extended to students who attain and maintain a 2.6 scholastic average, based on a three point system.

These four sophomores are currently engaged in a thorough study of Sigrid Undset's "Kristin Lavransdatter," and next semester will explore "The Communist Manifesto" by Karl Marx.

As juniors, they will participate in the study of the world's great books, and as seniors, they will do individual research in their major fields.

15 High School Seniors Place In State Test

Fifteen students from the Eastern Review area have received honorable mention in the General Scholarship Test for high school seniors. They placed in the upper five per cent of the nearly 23,000 seniors who took the test.

Students from Bexley were, Stephen K. Ault, William M. Ruggles, Edward L. C. Pritchett, Jeffrey Fischer, Steven J. Haas and Mark B. Paine.

Students from Eastmoor were, Robert M. Eisenstein, David F. Hillenbrand, Harvey F. Wasserman, Sue S. Douthit and Judith Lee Clark.

Other students receiving honorable mention were Linda I. Lorenz of St. Mary of the Springs, Edith L. Kowalsky from Whitehall-Yearling, Douglas P. Beardslee from Walnut Ridge and Robin E. Phelan from St. Charles.

Kropp To Be Office Head For Auditor

The state auditor's office will be managed by Franklin A. Kropp, 2449 Berwick-blvd, when Roger W. Tracy assumes office Jan. 1.

Under Governor C. William O'Neill, Kropp served as assistant attorney general from 1952-57. Since then he has been assistant secretary of the State Teachers Retirement Fund until his recent resignation.

A graduate of Oberlin College and Michigan Law School, the new office manager is married and has four children.

Whitehall's Immunization Center Moves

The City of Whitehall is moving its immunization center for all Whitehall residents on the fourth Wednesday of each month (except December) to the new Municipal Building, 360 S. Yearling-rd.

Hours are 9 to 10 a.m. Children must be accompanied by an adult and should bring previous immunization records. The shots are available without charge.

Gen. W. A. Huntsberry Is New DCSC Commander

Brig. Gen. Walter A. Huntsberry, commanding general of the Columbus Army Depot, has been designated by Lieut. Gen. A. T. McNamara, USA, director Defense Supply Agency, to command the Defense Construction Supply Center, 52 Starling-st, in addition to his present duty. He assumed the new command Dec. 14.

General Huntsberry succeeds Col. Harry D. Hoskins, Jr., who will resume his former assignment as deputy commander of the supply center.

DCSC presently occupies office space both at 52 Starling-st and at the Army Depot. The Center will consolidate its activities at the Depot in the next year.

In his expanded role, Gen. Hunstberry will command all Defense Supply Agency activities in Columbus, with over 4500 Civil Service employees, and over 100 military personnel.

Gen. Huntsberry is a graduate of the U. S. Military Academy, Class of 1933, and a native of Winchester, Va. He served in Europe during World War II and he and his wife, Constance, are the parents of four children, Walter A., Jr., Henry C., Alanson H. and Patrick R.

Gasoline Tax Distributions Are Revealed

The first of the December Ohio gasoline tax distributions was mailed Dec. 11 to cities and villages. A second December distribution will be made later in the month.

The December gas tax distribution to counties amounts to $1,760,000 at the rate of $20,000 to each county. The distribution to townships totals $1,061,000, or $800 for each township.

Each county in the state has received $240,000 in gas tax money this year, which is $20,000 more than last year.

Each township in the state has received $8,400, the same as last year.

I-71 Project Bid Accepted

W. L. Johnson Construction Co. and Associates' bid for the Franklin-Pickaway County link of I-71, which consists of 3.5 miles from just south of the Franklin-Pickaway County line to the end of existing I-71 near Harrisburg, was accepted Tuesday by the Ohio Department of Highways.

The bid was $3,538,313.84. It was one of 12 bids on State Highway Department projects, the total cost of which was estimated at $42,744,000.

Warrior Comeback Upends Rams, 69-67

Eastmoor's fourth-period comeback, climaxed by Nick Geldis' long field goal as the regulation game ended, provided the Warriors with a "second life" which they cashed in for a 69-67 overtime win over neighborhood rival Whitehall Saturday night.

The Warriors jumped off to a 20-12 first period lead and seemed off to the races but the Rams found the range in the second stanza and nabbed a two-point advantage at halftime.

WHITEHALL TOOK the lead into the final period but Eastmoor fought back and made up the difference on Geldis' fielder.

Mike Andrews' two foul shots broke a 67-67 tie in the overtime to provide the Warriors with the win.

Andrews paced the Eastmoor win with 21 markers while Bill Bildine topped Ram scorers with 17 points.

THE WARRIORS weren't as fortunate Friday night as an upstart Whetstone quintet pulled out all the stops in a 61-44 win.

The Braves never trailed, jumping off to an early advantage. Geldis dropped in 17 points and Steve Howell added 16 more for Eastmoor.

Whitehall fared no better Friday evening either, losing to CBL opponent, Arlington, 59-38.

The Bears hopped off to a 9-0 lead before the Rams were able to score. Jeff Robinson paced Whitehall with 12 points.

EAST'S TIGERS continued to roll, winning their third straight impressively with a 71-37 runaway over Aquinas.

The Terriers, in quest of their fourth win, hung on gamely for three periods but then East's fast break moved into overdrive with the Tigers piling up 29 points.

Ed Waller nabbed scoring honors for East with 21 big points while teammate Ken Fowlkes dropped in 14.

MIKE BAUMANN AND Dick Ferris each scored 18 points to lead St. Charles to a 59-41 Central Catholic League victory over Newark Central Catholic.

The win, the Cards' second in loop play, kept St. Charles in a three-way tie for first place with Watterson and Springfield Catholic.

CONVERSELY, HARTLEY dropped its second straight CCL game, 50-43, at the hands of Springfield C. C.

The Hawks were in the game all the way but couldn't quite overcome the unbeaten Springfield quintet despite a strong final period bid.

Randy Rodich paced Hartley's scoring with 11 points.

URBANA'S DEFENDING CBL champions made quick work of Bexley's Lions, rolling off to a 24-5 first period advantage and then coasting home for a 70-45 win.

The 'Climbers displayed a well-balanced scoring attack and a tight defense in topping the Lions, still looking for their first win.

Jeff Schmidt and Roger Williamson cashed in most of Bexley's markers with 16 and 15 points respectively.

ELSEWHERE IN the area, Academy and Walnut Ridge suffered "lost weekends," basketball-wise, each dropping a pair of cage contests.

The Scotties couldn't make a 13-point first half lead stand up against hot-shooting Marion-Franklin Friday night, bowing to the Red Devils, 52-48.

Jim Pyles led all scorers with 22 points and John McQuaid added 11 more for W-R but the winners dropped in 44 per cent of their fielders and bothered the Scots with a full-court press in the second half.

Watkins Memorial slowly built up a lead Saturday night to top Walnut Ridge, 52-42. Pyles and McQuaid switched scoring roles in this one, the former racking up ten markers, the latter 18.

ACADEMY COULD MANAGE only 12 points in the second half, losing a 48-25 County League scrap to Hamilton Township Friday.

Terry Larrimer led Viking scorers with nine points.

West Jefferson pulled away in the second half to down the Vikings Saturday despite Ed Laws' 15-point performance.

Friday's last bit of pre-Christmas action finds Eastmoor (2-2) at East (3-0), North (3-1) at Walnut Ridge (1-3), Worthington (4-1) at Whitehall (1-4), Delaware (2-2) at Bexley (0-4), Academy (1-5) at Canal Winchester (2-2), Hartley (0-4) at DeSales and Springfield C. C. at St. Charles (3-2).

CAN-CAN — Eastmoor's Nick Geldis (32) ignores a pair of Whitehall defenders as he comes over the top for a field goal attempt. The Rams' Bill Dildine (35) unwillingly lends a little bodily support to Geldis, who really doesn't have three arms. The extra appendage belongs to the Ram defender in the rear.

THERE HE IS—Whitehall's Ken Maxwell (right) makes sure nobody is mistaken as to who has possession of the ball, pointing out Eastmoor's Paul Naumoff (24) as the Warrior cager drives in for a field goal attempt. Checking Maxwell's claim are Whitehall's Gary DeForest (45) and Bill Dildine(35) and Eastmoor's Mike Andrew (50).

NCAA-AAU Hassle Now Red Hot Issue

Although we would have never suspected it could happen when the whole mess got started, the NCAA-AAU dispute over control of amateur athletics in this country has become a "red-hot" issue on that big desk at 1600 Pennsylvania-av, Washington, D.C.

The sports federation hassle, which has been kicked around the sports area for quite some weeks now, took on a more serious side last week when the President indicated that the lack of "peaceful co-existence" possibly could force the absence of U.S. competition on the Olympic field in '64.

MOREOVER, UNLESS "a summit agreement" is reached soon, JFK hinted that the upcoming Pan-American games might go into the record books without U.S. representation.

The problem in a nutshell revolves around the fact that the NCAA boys are dissatisfied with the AAU's handling of certain sports and have set up their own federation. Conversely, the AAU refuses to recognize the NCAA as a legitimate amateur athletic federation.

It's as simple as that but what isn't simple is the resolution. Neither side seems willing to come down from its original demands.

IN THE MEANTIME all that has happened is the President's warning and an added charge that the fussing federations are placing their own interests ahead of those of the athletes and the country.

Just to point out how far apart the two groups are, both disagreed on the President's charge — the NCAA in agreement, the AAU screaming "foul."

It seems that the whole package can be wrapped up with that old catch-all — healthy, good-ole'-fashioned American competition.

BUT THE PROBLEM is no longer a funny matter if, as the President indicates, our participation in the Olympic games is impaired.

Neither is any situation "healthy" when it curtails athletic competition in what appears to be building up to a selfish, bullheaded standstill.

Makes you wonder what we're coming to when two groups of men who are supposedly working to promote sportsmanship and fair play among nations on the athletic field can't even keep order in their own house.

ANYWAY, THE BOYS are playing with fire now. The Justice Department is involved and the President might be checking some of the small print in the Taft-Hartley Act.

Maybe the best solution could be worked out on the athletic field itself. We can see it now. "The NCAA will play the AAU this afternoon in a touch football game on the White House lawn. The winner will assume control of amateur athletics in the United States. John F. Kennedy will serve as referee with Robert Kennedy serving as field judge."

Malloy Wins Letter

Bill Malloy, former Bexley High School gridiron standout, earned his fourth football letter at Denison University this fall.

A guard, Malloy helped the Big Red to a 7-1-1 record. He received a "D" blanket, symbolic of his fourth letter, at the Fall Sports Dinner last week.

Suburban Loop Is Now Reality

The Suburban League became a reality last week at Pleasant View High School as Teays Valley joined with three other schools to form the new athletic league.

Franklin Heights and Pleasant View, present entries in the South-Central circuit, and Hamilton Township, a County League member, complete the present league composition.

THE LEAGUE, which plans to begin competition in 1964, hopes to interest at least two other schools with the door left open for a maximum of an eight-team circuit.

League officials point out the advantage of increased attendance since the four charter members reside within a 30-mile radius.

Pleasant View principal Theodore Dagg, named as temporary president of the new league, said Tuesday although the loop has been tentatively tabbed as a south suburban gathering, teams in the northern area have not been excluded in expansion plans.

THE NEW LEAGUE is currently working on a constitution and will hold its next meeting at Franklin Heights High School at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 10.

Dagg admitted the possibility several other schools might sever other loop relations by that time to join the league. He said at least two, and probably four, other schools would be involved by the time the league is operational in '64.

Six other schools — Grove City, Hilliard, London, Circleville, Groveport and Reynoldsburg — have expressed interest in the league.

Celtic Quintet Nabs Intermediate Laurels

The Celtics nailed down the preseason title in the Intermediate Cage League at the Eastside Recreation Center last week, compiling a 5-1 mark to finish ahead of the Lakers (4-2), Royals (2-4) and warriors (1-5).

In the Junior loop, the Red Devils and Warriors tied with 4-1 records, finishing ahead of the Thunderbirds and Buckeyes, who closed out at 1-4. Regular season play opens Jan. 7.

Members of the champion Celtics are Ken Sauls, Joe Clark, Larry Willis, Junior Wells, Gene Wells and Larry Mathews.

Vikings Nab Swim Meet

Academy proved to be a poor host, sweeping honors in the Vikings' first swim meet of the season Saturday, besting Newark and Bexley and setting three new school pool records in the process.

The Vikings racked up 86 points to best second-place Newark (46) and third-place Bexley (36).

HENRY RICHTER finished the butterfly in 1:01.3 to snap one record while Dennis Miller swam the individual relay in 2:24.3 and Hugh Westwater completed the breaststroke in 1:10.3 to shatter two other records.

Here are the meet results:

200 MEDLEY RELAY — First, Academy (Shepard, Richter, Westwater and Written). Second, Newark. Third, Bexley. Time—1:54.9.
200 FREESTYLE — First, Jones (A), Hinger (N), Schlosser (A). Time—2:17.1.

40 Students Carol For Kinder Key December 11

Forty WYHS students went caroling for Kinder Key Tuesday, Dec. 11, from 8 to 9 p.m. Proceeds from this event went to the Children's Heart Fund. Following the caroling (in the Whitehall area) refreshments, donated by the Pep Club, were served to the volunteers. The group was under the leadership of Mrs. Luella Compton, WYHS Dean of Girls.

WYHS Cheerleader - Pep Club met Monday, Dec. 10 in the cafeteria after school. Five officers were chosen for the 1962-63 school year were Joan Denick, president; Patty Eader, vice-president; Diane Wilmeth, secretary; Ann Malay, chairman of the publicity committee, and Linda Mason, art chairman.

The Cheerleader - Pep Club, a newly organized group, has stated its main purposes. Primarily the group is designed to promote invincible school spirit among the WYHS student body. Community service projects are also on the agenda. Special projects such as a party for orphans and crippled children will also be carried out in the future.

Arrangements for uniforms, and seating plans at games are being discussed presently.

A special awards assembly held at WYHS Monday, Dec. 10, recognized those who have achieved outstanding results in sports or music. Letters and trophies were awarded in each division.

WYHS Senior Band helped dedicate the new Whitehall Post Office on Robinwood. The builder, Nathan Nateman, president of Crown Investment Corporation, presented a substantial donation to the band for its participation.

Whitehall's three band directors will go to the Mid-West Band Clinic in Chicago on Dec. 19-22. They hope to return with new ideas to pass on to band members.

FTA will present its annual semi-formal "Snowflake Swirl" Saturday evening, Dec. 22. Club members will decorate for this gala event Saturday afternoon. It is to be held in the school cafeteria.

WYHS Student Council has been asked to produce a handbook to be used by all high school student council organizations in Ohio.

The handbook will include student council history — beginning with its founding in a small Toledo high school—adoption of principal organizational policies of operation, the student council constitution complete with 80 by-laws, and a history of state projects and growth.

The handbook will be completed for presentation in April at the state-wide student council convention to be held in Toledo for the tenth year.

CENTER PLANS BALLET CLASS

The Jewish Center Physical Education Department announces the second 10-week session of the girls ballet course is slated to start Tuesday, Jan. 8.

Two courses will be offered. Girls, ages 6 to 8, will meet at 4 p.m., and ages 9 to 11 will meet at 5:15 p.m. All classes are one hour long.

Mrs. Tatyania Smith will be in charge of the program. Mrs. Smith, born in Russia, began her formal ballet training at the age of six, studying under such internationally famous ballet instructors as Elena Polyakova and Nina Kisanova.

Mrs. Smith worked with the Belgrade National Opera for 15 years, seven years as a soloist and eight years as a prima ballerina. She has performed in such famous ballets as the Nutcracker and Swan Lake. Mrs. Smith also instructed ballet in Trieste, Italy. Her instruction is in classical ballet, using internationally known terminology.

The fee for the 10-week course is $15 for Jewish Center members.

Members may register by calling the physical education department, BE. 1-2731.

Eagles Slate Kiddies Party

program, Sunday evening, Dec. 23 at 7:30.

All of the church choirs will participate in the program.

The Children's Choirs will sing "Away In a Manger," the Junior Choir will sing "Gentle Mary Laid Her Child."

"Good Christian Men, Rejoice" will be sung by the Youth Choir, and the Sanctuary Choir will sing some of the best loved Christmas music, including "Lo How a Rose E'er Blooming" and "O, Holy Night."

Rev. J. Willard Jarvis is pastor.

FAITH . . .

Three Christmas Eve services are scheduled at Faith Lutheran Church, 730 Collingwood-av.

Identical candlelight services will be held at 6:30 and 7:45, with music presented by the Junior Choir and a stringed quartet.

The midnight service at 11 will feature music by the Youth Choir.

All three programs will be highlighted by candles and carols.

The stringed quartet will play a medley of carols for 15 minutes before each of the early worships, and with the organ will accompany carol singing.

The quartet consists of Kathy Lamb and Howard Gray, violin; Alice Carothers, cello, and Don Broehm, stringed bass.

EAST COLUMBUS . . .

Chancel-Choir of East Columbus Christian Church, with Miss Dorothy Keller as director, will present its annual Christmas cantata at 10 a.m. worship service, Sunday morning.

The pastor, will give a sermonette, "A Song in the Night."

The children and youth of the church will hold their annual Christmas program Sunday evening, 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Elizabeth Wolfe is chairman.

SHEPARD . . .

Shepard Church of the Nazarene, meeting in Jefferson Elementary School, Carpenter Street, Gahanna, will present the Christmas cantata, "The Great Light," Sunday evening at 7:30.

The cantata music is by Haldor Lillenas, and stories and poems by Ina Duly Ogdon.

The choir is under the direction of Dr. Paul Gamertsfelder. Music accompaniment will be by Reba Woodruff, piano; Janet Gamertsfelder, organ, and Howard Gray, violin.

Readers will be Jean Wolfe and Jim Kaufman. Soloists are Katheryn Wooten, Carol McDaniel, Loren Pinyerd, Dale Beery and Phyllis Smith.

Annual childrens' Christmas program will be held Sunday morning, 9:30 to 11 a.m.

REFORMATION . . .

facilities, addition of a physical education station, a radio - drama - speech room, counseling facilities and an expanded library.

Additions are proposed for Fair Avenue and Kent Elementaries and site expansions for Mohawk Junior High, Main Street, Kent and Fair Avenue Elementaries.

Enrollment in the city's South Side school has jumped in the first six grades, from 1700 in 1956 to 3500 this fall. On the secondary level, enrollment increased during the same period from 1013 to more than 1900.

Funds for the 1963 program will come from the $29,850,000 bond issue Columbus voters approved in 1959 to finance a five-year building program. Funds from the '59 bond issue will be exhausted during 1964, Dr. Elbling said.

In eastern Columbus, a new elementary would be built east of Big Walnut Creek and the Walnut Bluffs Subdivision, between Refugee-rd on the south and the eastern extension of Myers-rd on the north.

Additions are proposed for Woodcrest and Leawood Elementaries, and site expansions for Main Street Elementary and Franklin Junior High School.

The 20 proposed new school sites scattered throughout the Columbus School district include four for the far east and one for the near east area.

In far Eastern Columbus, enrollment in the first six grades jumped from 2300 in 1955 to more than 6000 this fall, and enrollment in secondary grades during the same period, advanced from 800 to 3700.

Christmas Ornaments

Christmas orn ... s, particularly the strings of small lights or the Yule tree, are potential hazards. Children sometimes will pick up a small blub and pop it in the mouth, with obvious results. Some of the brands of tree lights are flimsily wired and can be fire hazards. Light strings that have been reused from year to year and are old and frayed also are dangerous.

Glass ornaments that shatter can provide cut fingers for both children and adults. Handle ornaments and lights with care and keep the extras and the discarded bulbs out of the reach of children.

South Is Not Included In Soldier's Wish

A New Year's greeting jotted down in a diary in the year 1863 exempted South-

Sam Smyth, a Union lieutenant fighting in the mud of the Civil War at Holly Springs, Mississippi, made this notation in his journal: "Happy New Year to all the world except our Southern Rebel friends, their aiders and abettors . . ."

Obviously, the entry was made at a time when things were going badly for the North. The entry continued: . . ." though to speak truly I think the prospect is not such as to warrant and in even hoping that the wish (of a Happy New Year) may be fulfilled . . . I had hoped to see a different state of things, and that we should enter upon the New Year with the bright prospect of a speedy termination of this exhausting conflict."

The journal with human and personalized descriptions of the Civil War, is among the collection of Lincolniana and Civil War materials in the Wyles Collection at Santa Barbara, Calif., College.

Variety of Shrubs Provide Foliage For Decorations

There are many trees and shrubs that produce attractive foliage and berries suitable for holiday home decorations.

American holly is best known, but there are other varieties, such as Yaupon, Decidious holly, Chinese holly, English holly and others.

The most popular shrubs include Carolberry, Snowberry, varieties of roses, such as Rose Multiflora, and many varieties of Viburnums and Euonymus.

Attractive foliage plants include Magnolia, pine, hemlock, Chinese fir, cryptomeria, pittosporium and aucuba gold dust.

SWISS CHRISTMAS

Switzerland begins celebration of Christmas on December 6, the birthday of St. Nicholas of Myra, the first Santa Claus. Although celebrations are pretty much the same, each village has its own way of celebrating the good Saint's birth. Typical customs include bell-ringing contests and "Sternsingen," or star singing, caroling under the stars, and the appearance of Christkind, personified by a girl in snow white garb, who passes from house to house bearing gifts for little children.

Bexley Man To Be Ordained As Catholic Priest Saturday

SIFFERLIN

A Bexley man is among nine who will be ordained to the Catholic priesthood by Bishop Clarence G. Issenmann Saturday, Dec. 22, 10 a.m. at St. Joseph Cathedral.

He is Rev. Robert F. Sifferlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Sifferlin of 379 S. Gould-rd.

Rev. Sifferlin attended St. Mary Magdalene Elementary and St. Charles Preparatory School.

He received his AB degree from St. Charles College in 1958, and has studied theology at Mount St. Mary of the West, Norwood, since 1959. He has also studied in the summer session at Ohio State University.

He has two brothers, Michael and Daniel, and a sister, Marilyn, all at home, and another sister, Mrs. Roger Frank of Cincinnati.

Adventist School 'Adopts' Family For Christmas

Students of the Columbus Seventh Day Adventist Junior Academy, 270 Napoleon-av, are by-passing the traditional exchange of gifts among students and teachers in favor of adopting a family for Christmas.

Small token gifts will be exchanged by students, but the largest part of their time, effort and money will go into their family project.

Students and teachers are preparing Christmas for a family with seven children. They will provide, clothing, food and toys, with treats for the kids.

Don't trust man, great God, with more power than he has, until he has learned to use that little better. — Ralph Waldo Emerson.

NAA Lists New Record Income

Net sales at North American Aviation, Inc., Columbus Division totaled $223,864,000 during the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, the company's annual report revealed. The local division which produced a full squadron of A-5 (A3J) Vigilantes becoming fleet operational this year ranked third in sales among the six divisions.

For the fourth time in the past six years the company's sales passed the $1 billion mark with a total figure of $1,635,083,000. This compared with sales of $1,265,445,000 during the previous fiscal year.

Per share income rose to $4.15 a share on net income of $34,557,000 against $27,750,000 a year ago. Both sales and net profit set new records.

A new high in employment was also reached with 97,000 persons employed during the period.

CITY HALL SCENERY

WHITEHALL MAYOR Walter B. Moling did the honors in lighting the city's huge Christmas tree in front of the new City Hall building, 306 S. Yearling-rd. The tree was erected and decorated by Whitehall Firefighter Paul Knoblach.

Huntington, Peoples Okay Merger Plans

The Comptroller of Currency, Washington, D. C., has announced the approval of the merger of the People's Bank, Canal Winchester, and the Huntington National Bank of Columbus.

The merger had previously been approved by the Boards of Directors of both banks, and by the shareholders of each at a special meeting Nov. 19.

The merger will became effective Saturday, Dec. 22. Thereafter, the Main Office in Canal Winchester will operate as the Canal Winchester Office of the Huntington National Bank, and the Groveport branch will be known as the Groveport Office of the Huntington National Bank.

The capital funds of the merged institutions will exceed $22,500,000, with total resources in excess of $244,000,000.

Both the Canal Winchester and Groveport offices will be operated with the same personnel.

Dwight W. North, a director of the Peoples Bank, will become a director of Huntington under the terms of the merger.

The Canal Winchester and Groveport additions will make a total of eight offices of the Huntington firm. The main office is located at 17 S. High-st; the Market Exchange office, 150 E. Main-st; the Lane Avenue office, 1531 W. Lane-av; the Eastmoor office, 3003 E. Main-st.

The Grove City office, 22 E. Park-st; the Cleveland Avenue office, 3424 Cleveland-av; the Canal Winchester office, 2 N. High-st, Canal Winchester, and the Groveport office, 556 Main-st, Groveport.

A ninth office of Huntington will be opened in the spring at 121 Georgesville-rd on Columbus' west edge.

Reward Offered For Information On Stolen Art

An oil painting entitled "The Sewing Bee" by Mrs. Ruth Leuty Manahan was stolen from the Ohio Union exhibit area at Ohio State University, Dec. 9.

It was one of 71 oil paintings done by Mrs. Manahan that went on display at the Union early in November.

The picture shows women of a rural community sitting around a pot-bellied stove, sewing and gossiping.

Mrs. Manahan, who regards the work as one of the best in the collection, is offering a reward for information leading to the return of the painting. Her phone is BE. 5-0797.

Tree Giving Has Become Traditional With Some

Tree giving, at Christmas, on a birthday, wedding anniversary or other occasion, is becoming the vogue.

Graduating as well as reunion classes at college do it. Years ago newlyweds gave each other twin trees ("his" and "hers") that were planted in front of their house on their wedding day. Many of these "marriage" trees adorn older residences in New England today.

One woman, married 15 years, has a fine apple orchard by her house, each tree a gift on her birthday, at Christmas and other events. Young persons buying homes often landscape their grounds with gift trees, large and small, on Mother's Day, Father's Day, junior's birthday and other occasions.

No matter for what celebration the tree is given, it can be planted at any favorable time of the year.

Plans To Build

Davis Investment Co., 22 Winner-av, has a permit to construct a one-story concrete block building at 3645-55 E. Livingston-av. The project is valued at $150,000.

Government Works With High Schools

It's serious business on a large scale but area high school students are rising to the occasion while performing valuable tasks for this country's government, besides reaping benefits for themselves.

Much of the thanks goes to the Defense Construction Supply Center located in the West Side of Columbus.

The center has hired part-time high schoolers under the Federal Cooperative Office Education program in a kind of pilot project that is expected to have far-reaching significance in the future.

The office education course is a terminal one during the senior year in Ohio public schools.

It emphasizes the individual skills, knowledges, and attitudes in the stenographic, clerical, and bookkeeping areas. The student goes to school half of the time and works on the job the other half with teacher - employer supervision.

The teacher coordinates the out-of-school work with the in-school classwork to enable the student to become a qualified efficient office employe.

The student must be 16, of good personal qualities, and must have developed marketable office skills prior to entry into the COE Program.

The student is paid for his work in the office and is placed in a training program which will permit him to work in the various areas of the office or sections of the industrial or Government operation. He receives additional business education in the school.

The supply center, which initiated the program early this fall, is the first Federal agency in Ohio to cooperate with local Franklin County high schools in the training program designed to graduate office workers already adjusted to the business world.

The role of the center is to provide the training in an atmosphere that encourages students who do not plan to go to college to make a career of government service in a chosen skill.

Under the program, senior high school students are given temporary appointments limited to 700 hours (afternoons and early evening after successfully completing a civil service examination.

Next spring, prior to completion of the temporary appointment, they will be given the opportunity to compete in a regular Civil Service examination for a competitive appointment in their field.

Those with higher grades will be offered career conditional appointments at the center.

Students who are now participating in the DSCS program are:

WHITEHALL—Karen Rayburn and Sandy Shaefer (both Card Punch operators) and Charles Page (EAM operator).

GROVE CITY — Paul J. Beaumont (EAM operator).

HAMILTON TWP — Marvin L. Notter (EAM operator).

CENTRAL — Kenneth Shaggs (EAM operator), Dolores Miller and Betty Jane Young (all typists).

W. M. Young Jr. To Be Keynote Speaker At Vets

Whitney M. Young, Jr., executive director of the National Urban League and vice-president of National Association of Social Workers, will be keynote speaker for the 56th anniversary convention of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, meeting Dec. 26 through 29.

Young will address a free public meeting at Veterans Memorial Auditorium December 27 at 7:30 p.m. His topic will be "Building a Great Nation Through Building a Great Fraternity."

Music will be provided by a 150-voice community choir directed by Robert C. Anderson.

They had a STAR

"Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judæa in the days of Herod the King, behold, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem, saying, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? for we have seen his star in the east and are come to worship him."

Yes, they had a star ... Today we have churches to guide us to our Saviour. Come worship the Lord in his house.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Holiday Dances Planned

The Whitehall Recreation Commission reported this week that it will sponsor two dances for area residents over the holidays. Both will be held in the new Municipal Building at 306 S. Yearling-rd.

The first is for seventh and eighth graders, or junior high students. It will be a semi-formal event Wednesday, Dec. 26, from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m.

Johnny Dollar, popular WVKO radio disc jockey, will emcee this program.

The second dance is for senior high students.

It is scheduled for Friday, Dec. 28, and is also a semi-formal event. It'll start at 8 p.m. and run until 11 p.m.

Dollar will host this one, also.

Further information can be obtained by calling the recreation director at BE. 7-8611.

Safety Director Is Chief Justice

Richard Moling, safety director of Whitehall, has been elected chief justice of the Achbar Grotto for 1963. He will be installed Jan. 5 at the Monarch's Ball in the Arts and Crafts Building, Ohio Expositions Center.

DEMO OPPONENTS ARE NOW BEING SOUGHT

Five incumbent Whitehall Republican councilmen may face opposition in the May primary.

A group of Republicans are trying to find candidates to oppose the incumbents, mainly because of the council's approval of many recent apartment building zoning matters, it was learned.

It is also rumored that this same group is trying to find an attorney who would be willing to move to the suburb and seek the solicitor's post.

BARGAIN BUCKS ABOUND

Money Sales Boom Is Seasonal Event

By JANE ROBINSON

Money is on sale right before Christmas, and some of it at bargain prices.

Each year the local banks order either from each other or their parent Federal Reserve large amounts of silver dollars for holiday giving.

It is the policy of the Reserve System to fill the orders with circulated coins as long as they are available. This year, however, shiny new silver dollars have been dug from the vaults, and with amazing results. Suddenly around several of the metropolitan areas 1902-O silver bucks began to show up. The "have" collectors collectively shuddered The "have-nots" were delighted, though equally astonished.

It was believed that all but the new in numimatists's hands had been melted into bullion during World War I (The Pittman Act of 1918 provided that silver coins in the vaults be so treated to send to foreign allies to allow them to mint their own hard money.

When the sealed mint bags which do not identify their contents other than by denomination were found to include the 1902-O's, the collector who in November had a $1500 asset found himself with a deflation problem. The 1902-O was now valued at $12.

Sad news that this may be to the collectors, it is still an attractive bargain to anyone who may discover one in coins he thought worth merely 100 inflated United States cents.

The City National Bank reported that though they usually order a couple thousand to anticipate demands, this year double the number were needed. Clayton Boyd, assistant cashier at City National, stated that newsboys often are repicients of the "cart wheels." He also recalled that a local firm commemorated its silver anniversary with distribution of a couple to each employe.

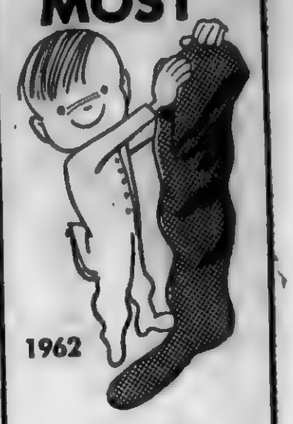
According to Col. William Ong, vice-president of the Canal Winchester Bank, only $40 remains of the $600 obtained for Christmas. Most of these were bought, he believes, by grandparents to give to their grandchildren and for Christmas remembrances for the milkmen.

The Peoples Bank, Groveport Branch spokesman, Chester Babbert, commented that they do not augment their customary level of a couple hundred, because "they all come back in the day after Christmas."

The people of Ashville are more interested in crisp green ten dollar bills, Claud Kraft of the Ashville Bank stated. Unable to get uncirculated coins through regular channels the Ashville bank did in recent years fill an order for the "clean" iron men through Philadelphia.

The businessmen who traditionally go through the homes sheltering young boys, distributing a dollar to each boy, add to the demand, according to Harry W. Hewson, resident manager of the new Federal Building and Loan Association on West Broad. His company, which ordinarily, isn't called upon for large sums of currency or coins, anticipated the Christmas need and is ready for the business of "selling money."

Though no silver dollars have been minted since 1935 the demand is evidenced in the report from the director of the mint, Eva Adams, that 33 million were released during the past fiscal year.



NATIVITY AT PENNEY'S

J. C. PENNY STORE in the Town and Country Shopping Center is currently displaying a nativity scene in its front window. Wayne McClellan, display manager, said the religious scene will remain in the window until Jan. 2. McClellan designed the entire background, but the figures were sent from New York City. There are three shepherds, three wise men, Mary, Joseph and the Christ child.

East Side Youths Held By Patrol

Four East Side residents, two boys and two girls, were arrested driving a stolen car following a high-speed chase near Hebron Tuesday night, according to the Hebron post of the Ohio Highway Patrol.

They are being held in Licking County Jail prior to release to Columbus authorities.

Patrolman Norman Cornett began following the auto for a minor traffic violation on Rt. 440, three miles west of Hebron.

The car sped away and ran a red light before Cornett finally stopped it at Rts. 440 and 37, patrolmen said. The youths range in age from 14 to 20.

Kiwanis Is Now Selling Yule Trees

The Eastern Kiwanis Club is staging its annual Christmas tree sale at the northwest corner of E. Main-st and S. Rodsevelt, according to Chairman James Leonard.

Prices range from $2.75 to $5 and Leonard reports that, as of Tuesday, there was still a good selection of over 400 trees to be sold, including Scotch pine, balsam and red and white pine.

The lot is in operation on weekdays from noon until 9 p.m.

Springfield Men Admit Burglary

Two Springfield men pleaded guilty Monday to burglarizing Mark's Service Station at 5970 E. Main-st.

Roger P. Kelly, 26, and Donald E. Hayes, 22, were bound over to the Franklin County grand jury Tuesday and held on $1,000 bond each.

A third man, believed to be Kelly's brother, is still being sought by police for questioning in the burglary.

THROUGH A CHILD'S EYES

Cuban Refugee Tells Of Christmas In Her Land

By PRISCILLA LENOX

Christmas in Cuba?

It might surprise you. Here's a report through the eyes of a youngster, Auni Alonso, a Cuban refugee who's now living at 951 Woodhill-rd in Grandview:

She was, of course, eager to tell of the Christmas holiday and how it was celebrated in her native land. She won't be home for the festive season this year, but she has fond memories of Christmases past.

She said that few Cuban families go along with the Santa Claus legend. The day of gift-giving and exchanging there is Jan. 6.

The children do not receive their presents from Santa Claus, but from the 'Three Kings.'

The type of presents are the same, however.

Christmas trees are there, though.

What foods are apt to be eaten? The Cubans eat rice as avaidly as the Chinese. Other items that appear often at mealtime are black beans, pork, guava paste and some unknown confection that has no American counterpart.

She naturally had never seen snow until she came to Columbus, and found it fun to play in, even though she found cold weather here the only unpleasant feature about being a refugee.

She laughed when she remembered that Cubans thing it cold if it is chilly enough to wear a sweater. The youngster would like to return to Havana, but enjoys living in this country and appreciates the fact that she and her family are fortunate to be here.

Her family had to leave the Communist dominated country in sections, as the Cuban officials were reluctant to give them permission to depart from their native land.

That's all behind them now. What's ahead? Christmas 1962 — American-style and it should be the merriest one yet to the Alonso family.

Cub Pack Plans Big Movie Sho

East Columbus children can attend "Thursday Afternoon At The Movies," thanks to an area Cub Scout troop.

The Theater Party for youth is being sponsored by Cub Pack 367 and has been dater for Thursday, Dec. 27, at 2 p.m. The pack is throwing in free candy for good measure.

Proceeds from the show will be used for re-registration fees and other pack needs, according to Den Mother Mrs. James Lawson.

"The Pride of the Blue Grass" is the big feature — along with short subjects. The films will be offered at the Eastview Methodist Church, 4453 Josephus-ln.

A limited number of tickets will be sold. Admission is 50 cents and tickets are available through any Pack 367 Cub Scout or by calling Den Mothers, Mrs. Lawson (BE. 5-6871) or Mrs. D. Kirk, (BE. 5-4568).

Judo Course Is Set At Center

A course in conditioning and self-defense will be offered to Jewish Center women after the first of the year. Mrs. Wanda Fenner, experienced in the art of self defense, has offered to teach interested Jewish Center women.

Mrs. Fenner will give a demonstration to the Women's morning gym class on Thursday, Jan. 10, at 11 a.m.

Jewish Center women interested in participating in the program may register at that time. There is no fee.

Christmas Ornaments

Christmas ornaments, particularly the strings of small lights or the Yule tree, are potential hazards. Children sometimes will pick up a small blub and pop it in the mouth, with obvious results. Some of the brands of tree lights are flimsily wired and can be fire hazards. Light strings that have been reused from year to year and are old and frayed also are dangerous.

Glass ornaments that shatter can provide cut fingers for both children and adults. Handle ornaments and lights with care and keep the extras and the discarded bulbs out of the reach of children.

SWISS CHRISTMAS

Switzerland begins celebration of Christmas on December 6, the birthday of St. Nicholas of Myra, the first Santa Claus. Although celebrations are pretty much the same, each village has its own way of celebrating the good Saint's birth. Typical customs include bell-ringing contests and "Sternsingen," or star singing, caroling under the stars, and the appearance of Christkind, personified by a girl in snow white garb, who passes from house to house bearing gifts for little children.

a FIRE SAFE Christmas

Each year, in the preparation for — and enjoyment of — Christmas holidays, too many of us become careless about fire hazards. As a result, hundreds of unnecessary fires occur during each holiday season, many of them resulting in human tragedy, all of them inflicting property damage.

For a fire-safe Christmas in your home remember that trees, lights and decorations are all fire hazards and follow these rules:

Trees: Pick a fresh-cut tree — one whose needles don't shed freely. Keep it in water until it is brought into the house, keep it in water as long as it's in the house. Support it well, and never locate it where it might cut off your escape in the event of fire. Take it out of the house just as soon as possible after Christmas.

Lights: Check lighting sets for frayed wires, loose connections and broken sockets. Never use candles on or near the tree. Make sure tree lights are turned off before going to bed or leaving the house. Use only weatherproof equipment for outdoor lighting and keep power off when making adjustments.

Decorations, wrappings: Use only non-combustible or "flame - proofed" decoration materials. Dispose of gift wrappings promptly.

And: Watch your smoking habits around the tree — a lighted cigarette or match can start it burning. Most of all, plan in advance what you must do for the life safety of your family in case of fire.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

As the bells ring out in jubilant acclamation of another Christmas, let us hark in our hearts to the inspiring message of hope and affirmation that they convey . . . let us rejoice anew in the blessed Birth of our Saviour with which it all began. Let us find our courage re-fortified, our spiritual strength renewed, as we reverently recall the Divine Promise of "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men" that is the shining wonder of Christmas.

Mental Health Stamp Collection To End Dec. 21

Franklin County Mental Health Association's trading stamp committee, headed by Mrs. William Reiland, 479 N. Columbia, is busy pasting trading stamps sent in by residents of Franklin County as a result of a county-wide appeal.

One hundred and fifty trading stamp books were on hand at the first count and will be turned into gifts for patients of Columbus State Hospital and Columbus Children's Psychiatric Hospital.

This collection of any and all kinds of trading stamps and/or stamp books, a new phase of the annual Christmas gift program this year, will continue until Dec. 21.

Interested individuals are encouraged to leave stamp donations at any local Swan Cleaners or send them by mail to the Franklin County Mental Health Association at 131 E. State-st, Columbus 15.

The voting age in Israel is 18.

POINTING OUT TB SOCIETY'S IMPORTANT WEEK

TB SOCIETY'S "DO-IT WEEK" is now underway. It is the time for all "putter-offers" to find their Christmas seals and use them on cards and packages and donate to support the work of the Tuberculosis Society of Columbus and Franklin County. "Do-It Week" is a last minute effort to help the society to achieve its goal," said Dr. Harold H. Eibling, general chairman. Pointing the reminding finger at all late contributors to "do it" are from left, Linda Howe, Bexley High; Dolores Hoop, Groveport High; Suzie Moore, Reynoldsburg High; Sue Puetz, South High, and Patricia Miller, West High. Other students participating are Hilliard High Schoolers Sandy O'Banion, Judi McCracken and Tim Woodruff; South High, Barbara Druggan, Jim Hemmerly and Tom Flacken; Whitehall-Yearling—Tom Richivine and Cindy Shipman—Bob Greene, Dianne Kushner; East—Carolyn Landers; Eastmoor—Martha Flaler and Elaine Bush; Central—Tom Webb; West—Sue Rosenberger and Ron Weber.

Food And Fun For Fitness, Family's Total Well-Being

With the spotlight these days focused sharply on physical fitness, the care and feeding of the American family becomes increasingly important. Hand in hand with the stress on eat well, exercise more, feel better, goes the more practical problem of how best to attain these goals.

One refreshing note injecting itself into not only family feeding, but all aspects of family living is fun. Dinner parties, birthdays, holiday gatherings, luncheons, barbecues and even refreshment time at meetings, contribute to our most festive and pleasant moments.

Besides those special occasions we all enjoy, mealtime at home offers daily opportunities for family fun. Planning menus for fitness with a festive wink presents few problems these days.

The U. S. government recommends certain daily nutrients for everyone, including protein for growth, minerals and vitamins for keeping the body functioning properly, and fats and carbohydrates for energy. Each group offers so many choices the clever homemaker has no trouble planning meals of varied interest.

The important meat group, for instance, offers not only red meats, poultry and fish, but a favorite for all youngsters up to the age of 100, peanut butter.

In the bakery department, a tempting array of cake and pies supplementing breads and cereals. Daily fruit and vegetables requirements may be met by any one of a variety of favorites from citrus fruits to cantaloupe and cabbages.

Dairy products offer endless possibilities. Chocolate milk always rates a round of applause from the youngsters while ice cream turns the plainest of fare into a festive fete.

In addition to keeping a weather eye on family eating habits during the holidays, the gal in charge must keep a close watch on the family social schedule.

It's easy to get overly tired, and it's hard to get caught up once you've fallen behind. Too many parties in close order break down some of the necessary elements for family fitness.

The holidays offer endless opportunities for festivities and family fun. Enjoy them to the fullest by carefully planning meals and social activities around a program of equal time for rest and relaxation.

OSES Reveals Holiday Hours

Ralph E. Gabele, local area manager for the Ohio State Employment Service, announced the Industrial and Service Office, 309 S. Fourth-st, will be closed Monday, Dec. 24 and also Monday, Dec. 31, as well as on Christmas and New Year's Days.

The local Claims Office, 550 W. Broad-st, and the Casual Labor Office, 192 N. Grant-av, will be open regular hours on both Dec. 24 and 31.

The numbering of the Ten Commandments differs in different churches.

Take Time On Highways States AAA

Allow extra driving time over the holidays to get to your destination, suggests Russell H. Campbell of the Columbus Automobile Club.

With many offices and industries also closed on the eve of both holidays, many persons will have four-day periods in which to travel," notes the AAA club official.

Motorists should allow an extra hour for every two hours of driving time a trip would take in good weather during a non-holiday period.

Jewish Center Plans Female Dance Class

In an effort to expand the Jewish Center dance program and properly expose Jewish Center members to all forms of the dance, the physical education department will offer a modern dance course for girls age seven and up on Wednesdays from 4 to 5 p.m.

A course of 10 lessons will be offered at a reduced fee of $10. A minimum of 10 girls will be required to start the class.

Mrs. Seymour Rosen, who is presently teaching modern dance to Center women, will be in charge of the girls' modern dance program.

Call the physical education office to register.

THIS IS a mixture of three Shady Lane Neighborhood Girl Scout troops which blended voices to carol at Nightingale Cottage and for area shut-ins on Wednesday, Dec. 19. They include members of Troops 316, 1097 and 944 from Shady Lane Presbyterian Church.

Shady Lane Girl Scouts Sing For Nightingale And Shut-Ins

Vocalists have often been told that they sing like Nightingales, but it's a little rarer for warblers to sing to Nightingales. Both statements, however, applied to three East Columbus Girl Scout troops.

The three troops — all from the Shady Lane Neighborhood—blended their voices Wednesday, Dec. 19, at Nightingale Cottage.

The cottage is a children's convalescent home on Bricerd. The serenade was staged from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday.

And ,just for good measure, the gals made the rounds in their respective neighborheods to sing for shut-ins.

The singers included:

- Troop 316, composed of 13 third grade Brownies under the leadership of Mrs. Alex Powers and Mrs. James Soutar.
- Troop 1097, which includes 16 fifth grade Intermediate Girl Scouts led by Mrs. Arthur D. McIntire, Mrs. Richard Nader and Mrs. John Sliney, and
- Troop 944, including 15 eighth grade intermediates led by Mrs. Don Dickson and Mrs. Bill Kirkman.

After the caroling, the girls were given a hot chocolate party at the Shady Lane Presbyterian Church.

THESE GIRL SCOUTS from Shady Lane Neighborhood area Troops 316, 1097 and 944 reported that old Rover didn't add much to the singing recently at Nightingale Cottage. He did offer his own brand of moral support, however, as the girls caroled for neighborhood shut-ins.

Life Saving Course Highlights Pool News At Jewish Center

The Jewish Center will offer a 10 week course in American Red Cross Senior Life Saving. The course will be Wednesday at 7 p.m. each week starting Jan. 2. Upon completion of the course the student will be certified in Senior Life Saving by the National American Red Course.

Those persons who plan to enroll in the Water Safety Instructors course should renew their Senior Life Saving Certificate.

The Jewish Center will also offer the American Red Cross Water Safety Instructors course on Wednesday evenings from 7 to 10 p.m. starting Mar. 20. The Senior Life Saving certificate is a prerequisite and must be current within three years.

TILLER TUGGERS

The 1962 summer class of Penguin sailors met for the presentation of their awards.

The sailing class, as part of the course, staged a two day regatta at Hoover Dam. The champion skipper of the regatta was Greg Antle and his crew was Sue Miller and Nancy Antle.

Second place winners were skipper Dan Miller and crew Mike Bowers. Skipper Tom Miller and George Bowers received third place honors. The other members of the class were Susan Antle, Bill Mock and Ruth Harris.

In the women's open event Sue Miller led the race with seven points.

SAILS AND TRAILS

The Sails and Trails Club is again becoming active and had their first outing Sunday, Dec. 9, at Hoover Dam — a great day for bobsledding.

50 MILES SWIM

Bill Mock leads the Swim and Stay Fit program with 38 miles already splashed down the drain.

ADULT MEN

Stan Skilken is back in the swim of things and Nate Guttman is still a good sprint man.

SPLASHES

Steve Stellman is taking the Water Safety Instructors course at M.I.T. and is a member of the sailing club there.

Jerry Anthony is the Vice Commodore of the Ohio University Sailing Club.

Patty Canty, past president of the Center Neiredes Club, made the Swan Club at Ohio State University.

Suzanne Eberle is now a member of the Columbus Civic Ballet and sister Sharon is a member of the Junior Civic Ballet group.

Ginny Shaloo was teaching dancing on Monday nights at Browning's Studio.

Suzanne, Sharon and Ginny are all members of the Nereides Synchronized Swimming Club.

David Addison, now in his second year at University of Michigan, is recovering from the sophomore show, "Bye, Bye Birdie."

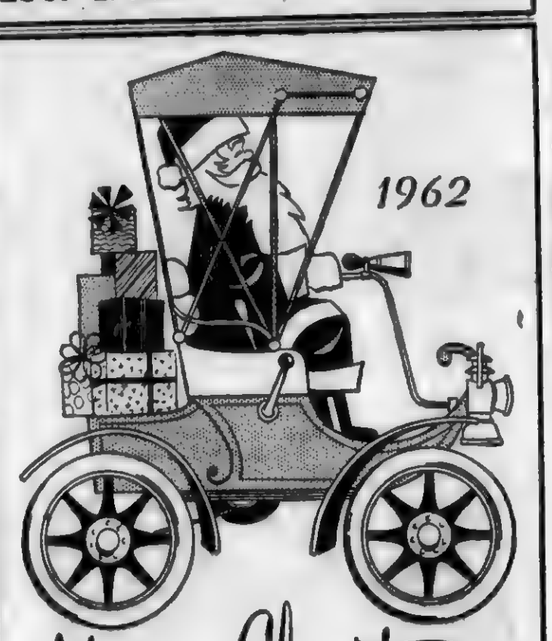
City In Turkey Linked With Virgin Mary

A ruined city in Turkey has been linked to the Virgin Mary.

Ephesus, a ghost city, lies some 35 miles from Izmir, Turkey, near the Aegean Sea. It is a meeting place of archeologists, chiefly interested in the Temple of Diana, one of the Seven Wonders of the World. In recent years, however, Christian pilgrims come in increasing numbers, drawn by the old tradition that Mary spent her final years there, cared for by St. John the Apostle.

Here, amid the tumbled ruins of the sixth century Church of St. John a tiny chapel is believed by many to stand over the site of Mary's home. Local tradition says that both Mary and John died in Ephesus, but their tombs were never discovered.

Though Goths destroyed Ephesus in A.D. 262, the Christianized city revived and was the seat of two of the most important councils in Roman Catholic history. Later invasions by Arabs, Turks and Mongols completed its ruin. The harbor silted up, and Ephesus sank into oblivion.



At present, St. John's Church is being restored in an American-Turkish project inspired and led by a Lima, O., businessman.

Health Officials Agree On Sabin Type III's Safety

Sabin Type III oral polio vaccine—held up from a Dec. 9 debut in the Greater Columbus area due to some controversy—has been given a clean bill of health by men who know.

Columbus Health Commissioner Dr. Ollie Goodloe announced that it was the "unanimous opinion" of his local expert medical committee that officials proceed with Type III for adults and children.

The serum will be administered — much in the same way and at the same places as Types I and II — on Sunday, Jan. 6.

Medical authorities have finally calculated that a person is 30 times more likely to contract polio Type III by NOT taking the vaccine than by taking it. Also, without the vaccine, a person will continue to be a potential polio carrier.

This inoculation was considered controversial because it was reported that certain persons in other parts of the U.S. and Canada had contracted polio after taking the vaccine during the summer months.

The fact is that 14 million persons have been immunized with Type III and that only 15 cases have been associated with the vaccine. These cases are still being studied to prove or disprove a direct relationship.

Health officials here report that approximately 3,000,000 doses of Type III have already been given in Ohio. Out of this number, two cases of polio were reported and both of these are also under study.

The Wyeth Co., manufacturer of the vaccine to be used in Franklin County, reports only one suspected case in 4,000,000 doses.

Numerically, according to medical men, the Sabin risk is far smaller than the risk taken with medicines for prevention of whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus, measles, smallpox or rabies.

Doctors further report that Sabin III is, in fact, among the safest of all preventive medicines — especially when administered in cold weather months when the risk is virtually non-existent.

Dr. Fred Dierker, president of the Columbus Board of Health, stated that the board "is aware of its responsibility to promulgate the best available public health measures.

"The possibility of permitting polio to ravage this community by neglecting to carry out a medical program already two-thirds completed," Dr. Dierker added, "is a heavy responsibility. The evidence demands the continuation of the Sabin program."

The records show that 56 per cent of the polio threat has been removed from Franklin County since Type I virus causes 55 per cent of all polio cases and the Type II virus, one per cent. However, 44 per cent of the danger still remains.

The Sabin on Sunday program is jointly organized under the direction of the Academies of Medicine and Pharmacy and the Columbus and Franklin County Board of Health.

JOLLY SAINT NICK DID IT AGAIN!

Wind-Up Dolls Were Most Popular Christmas Gifts

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Good ol' Santa did it again.

It's sometimes hard to believe that a man like Santa Claus — with all the things he has to think about — is able to keep up with current events. But, sure as there's Christmas, he did.

Maybe he subscribes to Time magazine. They ran a story about the new kind of "doll craze" sweeping the country. That is, the "wind-up" variety. Like Time said, they have the Jack Benny doll. You wind it up and it keeps the key.

Or, the Khrushchev doll that you wind up and it takes off its shoes and beats on the table. The President Kennedy doll you wind up and it calls a press conference. Anyway, you get the general idea.

And, so did Santa.

This Christmas Santa delivered dolls in the city patterned after Columbus people, gosh by gum by golly. And, they proved to be real popular. Seemed to give a "grass roots" flavor to Christmas here and, at the same time, gave a panoramic view to fast-fleeting 1962.

Here are a few received, all fashioned by Ibsen, Santa's "Doll House" elf:

Columbus resident Governor-elect James Rhodes made an excellent one. You could wind this "doll" up and he still wouldn't talk to newsmen. Did you see the Governor Michael V. DiSalle doll? When wound, he made liquor probe hearings public.

The Columbus Mayor Ralston Westlake doll was a real favorite this year. Wind him up and he heads for Port Columbus to greet visitors. (Sometimes, he declares emergencies, too).

How about that doll that resembles Traffic Engineer Jack Gallagher? This one's a real gas. A few turns of the key and he hangs up a traffic light which immediately turns red and throws the synchronization out of all the other toy traffic lights that came with this model.

The Congressman Sam Devine doll shows the most costuming technique. It's dressed in a referee's uniform and comes complete with its own whistle. It's a thin uniform and shows the effects of long wear.

For those who wanted a life-size doll, Jerry Lucas made a perfect model. Caution is needed in this one, though. Wind him too tight and he turns down offers with professional basketball [illegible].

For straight-talking doll, see if your friends got the former Columbus mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner model. This one talks on "If At First You Succeed, Try, Try Again." This one's very inspiring and comes complete with a straw hat and a long-playing record that tells funny stories. Your friends might not like this one, though. Most of them have probably heard the funny stories before.

Speaking of speaking dolls, how about the Police Chief George Scholer doll? Wind him up and he makes a pitch for more manpower. The Fire Chief Walter Strickfaden doll came neatly wrapped in a lowered fire insurance policy.

For football fans, there's the Woody Hayes doll that, when wound, takes off his coat. This doll is dressed in a baseball cap and short-sleeved shirt. Sewer Superintendent Carl Schoene is a good doll, too. Wind this one up and he mumbles something about "Bliss Run sewer? Oh, no!" and then falls apart.

The County Prosecutor Earl Allison doll, when wound gets another second-degree murder conviction.

The Parks Commissioner Richard Lawwill doll looks amazingly like Johnny Appleseed and carries a picnic basket.

Ibsen didn't forget the suburbs, either. Take, for example, Bexley Mayor William Schneider doll. Wind this one and it issues parking bans along E. Main-st. It also comes with a paint brush in one hand to mark traffic lanes along E. Broad-st.

The WTVN disc-jockey Spook Beckman doll is, perhaps, the most Christmasy. It comes dressed in a Santa Claus suit and immediately goes into a commercial "pitch" on where he bought his Santa Claus suit.

The Gene King model is fascinating, too. This doll, patterned after the secretary of the Greater Columbus Sunday Association, comes complete with a handful of affidavits for stores opened on the Sabbath. Little tots can issue them to their friends this summer for operating Kool-Aid stands after church.

A Look Ahead

It is that time of year when everyone asks, "What's ahead?"

Perhaps it is well that we are unable to see what is ahead. It is better that we keep our equilibrium and our faith as we go into the future looking for something better.

It is easy to find trouble. Show me a person who looks for trouble and he is sure to find it.

It is well that we remember the joys of the Christmas season and in doing so we will find the joys of a New Year.

Our Pledge For 1963

When we destroy the last page on the 1962 calendar we look back with a lot of satisfaction on the last year just passed . . . a year in which our newspapers have extended our services to many more people.

In the new year we look forward to further opportunities to be of service to the many residents of the areas in which our papers circulate.

Recent years have seen the growth of a strong suburban press all over America. The future looks even brighter.

Our pledge in 1963 is to produce even better suburban newspapers which will better serve our communities.

CHAIR DONATED

RICHARD GOLDEN, 2788 Allegheny-av, received a Christmas present early last week—a contour chair from Columbus Contour Chair Co. which was donated to the boy through funds raised by students of Bexley High School. Golden suffered a broken neck last year during a wrestling match at Hilliard and is unable to move. He is shown here with his mother, Mrs. Adam Golden.

Classes Set At Bexley For Reading

Bexley Schools Superintendent E. D. Jarvis announced this week that classes for both beginners and advanced residents will be conducted in rapid reading.

This is the second course of this type to be offered by the Bexley Schools and will begin Jan. 7 and run for six nights. Classes start at 8:30 p.m. and last an hour and will be conducted in the high school.

Jarvis pointed out that interested persons must register with the school between Jan. 2 and 4, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

BEXLEY MAN NAMED CENTER'S CHAIRMAN

Herschel S. Stephan, 3092 Elbern-av, Bexley, has been appointed chairman of the operating committee of the Franklin County Historical Society's new Center of Science and Industry in old Memorial Hall by John M. Seidel, 1760 W. Fifth-av, president of the historical group.

Stephan, a trustee of the historical society, and a former president, was instrumental in organizing the first science and industry study committee for the new center. The center will operate under the Franklin County Historical Society. Direction of the new operation will be the responsibility of S. N. (Sandy) Hallock, recently appointed director of the center.

Stephan, a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University is president of Gladden Community House and a member of the Board of Columbus Federation of Settlements. He is the senior partner of Stephan Insurance Agencies with offices at 395 E. Broad-st.

Phone numbers of the Center of Science and Industry and the Franklin County Historical Society will remain the same (CA. 1-7487).

Midnight Monday Officially Starts 1963 Stork Derby; Gifts Galore!

As the bells tool midnight on New Year's Eve, this newspaper's 1963 Stork Derby officially is under way and some proud couple in our circulation area will become the parents of a brand new baby who will be declared the winner.

If the little newcomer qualifies for the Derby, he or she will be in line for a grand assortment of merchandise and services from local business establishments.

Act Fast!

Quick action is necessary for the baby to be properly registered at the Hartley Newspaper office, 2465 W. Broad-st, by 7 a.m. Wednesday, Jan. 2. Betty Daft, society editor, will be on hand to receive the nominations.

Know The Rules!

1. Parents of the winning baby must currently reside in the area regularly serviced by this newspaper. In event eligibility of an applicant is in question, the circulation manager of this paper will verify whether the area is regularly serviced by us.

2. Exact date, hour, minute, place of birth, as well as the baby's sex, weight, and name (if chosen) must be certified in writing by the attending physician.

3. Application statements must be received in Hartley Newspaper's office by 7 a.m. Wednesday, Jan. 2. Include telephone number. Applications may be deposited in the mail slot beside the door on New Year's Day when the office is closed.

4. Hartley newspapers will not assume the responsibility for locating the winner. Parents must establish positive proof of the birth according to the Derby rules.

SUNKEN LIVING rooms are great but when it comes to sunken manholes you should go to the street department. This one is located at S. CAPITAL LISTS REASONS FOR NIXING FEDERAL AID

Capital University, currently soliciting funds through local businessmen, issued a statement of policy recently as to why it has turned its back on Federal aid.

In a two-page newsletter, entitled "Campaign Bulletin" from "The University on Main Street," the fund-raising campaign headquarters in the Southern Hotel recognized the controversy over Federal aid to education and eight reasons why they decided not to accept it.

The basic reasons listed include:

- The present economic difficulties among our private and church-related colleges do not warrant Federal aid.
- Federal aid to education is detrimental to the best interests of education itself.
- Federal aid would be detrimental to local college spirit and community pride.
- Federal aid could eventually place our colleges at the mercy of politics.
- Federal aid to education is unsound economically.
- Federal aid to church-related colleges is unconstitutional.
- Federal aid to education is one phase of the trend towards socialism.

The newsletter also states that "Capi-

Center Will Hold Over 'Clown' Show

Due to popular demand, the presentation of the Gallery Players production of "The Clown Who Ran Away" was extended to Jan. 6, when two additional performances of this children's show will be given at 2 and 4 p.m. Two performances have already been scheduled for Dec. 30.

"The Clown Who Ran Away" has been staged by Robert J. Stephens, formar children's theatre director at Cleveland's Karamu Playhouse. Barry Goodman has designed the production and Fidd Berman and Gil Parish are handling all light cues.

Virgil Gin, Gallery Players technical director, is the sound man. Stage manager is Hy Copeland, Charles Briggs is prop man and Rozlyn Greenberg is production assistant. Art director is Hal Tanenbaum.

The theme of the show provides an enchanting tale for children. Dodo the circus clown, played by Debbie Israel, scampers down the aisle of the auditorium, clambers up on the stage and then confidentially tells the audience he has run away from the circus.

With help of the children in the audience he begins to weave a story involving himself, Mr. Frumpkins, the best doll maker in the world, and his marvelous walking and talking dolls. Mr. Frumpkins is played by Henry Grinsfelder and Andrew, his assistant, is played by Dick Miles.

Members of the Jewish Center's Children's Creative Theater — Debbie Bowman, Diane Schoenbaum, Sally Hausman, Marilyn Rapenport, Ann Abramson and Anita Oppenheimer — appear as the wonder dolls.

Rudolph Bernard Boo and his henchman, Ugly, steal the dolls. These two villians are played by Abe Green and Mike Silverman. An obliging horse named Gladys helps Dodo effect a thrilling rescue. Gladys' amusing and intelligent antics are engineered by Bob Krupnick and Mark Springer.

Reservations for all performances may be secured by phoning BE. 1-2731.

DEC 1962

1962 Capsule Review Shows Year Of E-X-P-A-N-S-I-O-N

When you stop to think about it, the word "expansion" is a funny one.

It not only means expansion in the sense of sprawling growth and enlargement but, as was the case during 1962 in the Whitehall, Eastmoor, Bexley and East Columbus areas, "inner-expansion."

Whitehall, for instance, did some expanding "upward." That city's new municipal building sprouted up through the landscape at 306 S. Yearling-rd not too long ago.

In East Columbus, the East Side YMCA performed a similar feat on Woodland-av. New schools were built, much land was developed and many miles of roads were improved as local areas expanded in the nicest sense of the word.

Of course, there was some "sprawling" expansion. Whitehall acquired more acreage during 1962—so did Columbus in the east boundaries.

Expansion of principles and ideas wasn't left out by any means, either.

Take the controversy over the Science Research Associates Youth Inventory tests in Whitehall, or some Bexley issues such as the Cassady-rd grade crossing and E. Broad-st traffic lanes—two issues in that city where the public entered the picture, voiced opinions and all with the general idea of "expanding" the interests of community betterment.

Before a final farewell to 1962, it's fitting to point out some preliminary expansion done during this great year, which, perhaps, won't be felt until the years to come.

This includes such things as passage of the Bexley School Board school levy and other issues supported by voters this year which are designed so that the future will have a foundation on which to expand.

In the wrap-up of the year's activities printed below, it's certain that you'll find many more indications of expansion. Read them with pride for you, residents of the Eastern Review area, made them possible.

JANUARY

4—Columbus School Board approved plans for new Eastmoor Junior High building. East Freeway plans were coming more in focus. Mr. and Mrs Robert Helmer were winners of the Hartley Newspaper "Stork Derby."

11—The SRA Youth Inventory tests in Whitehall started controversy. First open meeting was scheduled for Feb. 5. President Kennedy toured through area en route to Gov. Michael DiSalle's birthday celebration. Columbus Country Club leveled by fire

18—Ohio State Nurses' Association announced plans for building new administrative offices at 3900 block of E. Main-st. Central High slashed 17-game win streak by Eastmoor's basketball team. Whitehall High begins adult education program.

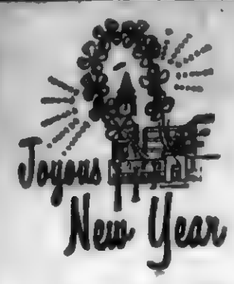
25 — Eighteen Whitehall merchants were cited in Closing Law violations. Secondary airport viewed as Port Columbus was becoming "overcrowded." Gov. DiSalle announced he would talk to Bexley Democratic Club at regular meeting Feb. 1.

FEBRUARY

1—Japanese teacher Kiyoshi Tsuneki spent time inspecting Whitehall High School. City Council okayed a $48.9 million public works program which included several East Side projects. Port Columbus received $263,130 from federal government for improvements and air navigation systems.

8—Gov. DiSalle told Bexley Democrats of state-wide welfare woes. Irate residents heard Whitehall School Board say it would issue a decision in 30 days on SRA Youth Inventory tests. Whitehall police force bought two new cruisers.

15—Harrison Sayre resigned his post as Bexley councilman. Doyt Bell named to replace him. Congressman Samuel L. Devine visited campout staged by Bexley Boy Scouts on Bexley Methodist Church grounds. "Royal Gambit" performed at Jewish Center.



22—Whitehall councilmen annexed 71 new acres. Whitehall Safety Director J. Craig Wright took a stand on controversy over Sunday Blue Laws and decided to uphold them. First moves for Bexley swimming pool on Jeffrey Mansion grounds made by residents.

MARCH

1—Welfare problems in city threshed out by area church leaders. Whitehall Zoning Board nixed requests by Hazel Realty Co. for a "general commercial" area near Whitehall Park residential section. Unemployment was reaching high mark.

8—Linn Hiatt named to Whitehall council post to replace Orton Davis who passed away. Bexley High's Barry

by BETTY DAFT

THE GET TOGETHERS, a club of eight, energetic seamstresses, meeting once a month to sew for the needy, earmarked their dues for the past four months to buy food for Christmas baskets. Assembling them at their Christmas meeting held last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Stanley Thomas, 1480 S. High-st, are, kneeling in front, Mrs. Margaret Worthington, and from left, Mrs. Harry Ridgeway, Mrs. Robert Ridgeway, Mrs. Robert Wrights, Mrs. Stanley Thomas, Miss Sadie Clendenon, Mrs. Verna Campbell (in front) Mrs. Walter Whitelaw and Mrs. Sue McKinley. Members come to monthly meetings from as far as Harrisburg and Orient.

Christmas Spirit Of Aiding Less Fortunate Is Year-Round Attitude Of Sewing Club

"We use everything but ravelings—and in time, we may find a use for them," is how Mrs. Margaret Worthington, president of "The Get-Togethers" explains the source of materials for the club's year-round sewing projects for the needy.

A mountain of cancer pads, bed jackets, lap robes, bed gowns and clothing has come from the needles and machines of the group during the past 13 years.

Worn out shirts and sheets, discarded clothing of cotton and wool, and scraps of material are fashioned into items for patients at Alum Crest Hospital, families in need and many whose homes have been burned.

Members set their record-high production in two days during the flood—23 little girls' dresses and half that many pajames, all fashioned of new material in two days' time. The items were given to the Salvation Army for distribution.

More than 800 cancer pads, as well as bed jackets, lap robes and chair pads, nightshirts and bed gowns by the dozen, have been contributed to Alum Crest Hospital during the past two years.

Although most of their sewing is contributed to Alum Crest, the club is not affiliated with the hospital, preferring to remain independent.

The "Get-Togethers," limited to eight members, meets monthly for a potluck luncheon and sewing session.

University Women Set Education Meet

Columbus Branch, American Association of University Women, will begin its 60th year with its annual education conference Saturday, Jan. 12, at the Faculty Club, Ohio State University, at 10 a.m.

Subject for the day-long discussions is "A Woman's World."

Reservations are needed for the luncheon at 12:30 p.m., and should be made with Mrs. John Gunn, 2582 Swansea-rd, or Mrs. Vern Reynolds, 899 Kinnear-rd.

Fun Tempered With Rest Sum Of Happy Holidaze

The happy holiday season featuring festive productions liberally sprinkled with good cheer, good will and good times, too often means good-by to some of the necessary elements of physical fitness.

During this period of parties, dinners and socializing, it's important to give equal time to planning non-party days.

One of the major requirements in the physical fitness program, now under great emphasis by the government, calls for proper rest and relaxation.

Since the excitement and anticipation which permeates the air may keep the youngsters emotionally stirred up, it's important to present a peaceful home-front, particularly at meal times.

Meal planning also requires a new look during this period. Since we're often treated to bounteous boards literally creaking with multi-coursed goodness, a light touch in the kitchen is definitely in order for the next day's dining.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture defines the four essential food groups necessary to good health, but it also stresses the number of calories recommended for daily intake. While we all need daily portions of meat, milk, breads and cereal, fats and carbohydrates, menus should include balanced selections.

Children should be taught to eat but not encouraged to over-eat. Contrary to popular opinion, those extra pounds of "baby fat" just don't "run off easily" later.

A minimum of friction at meal time is essential to the well-being of all members of the family. A tensionless atmosphere constitutes as important a part of physical fitness as nutrition, proper exercise, a satisfying job and proper rest.

A smart homemaker soon realizes that her dinner table offers a first line front in the quest for physical fitness, psychologically, nutritionally, emotionally and festively.

Mother, Baby Care Class Is Slated

A three-week "Mother and Baby Cae" class, offered by Red Cross, will begin Tuesday, Jan. 8.

The class will meet twice each week, on Tuesdays and Thursdays, from 10 a.m. to noon at Chapter Headquarterstm, 995 E. Broad-st.

The class provides instruction in pre-natal care, bathing, clothing, feeding and overall care of the newborn.

Instruction is designed to give confidence to the expectant mother for her new role.

The class is free, as are all Red Cross services. Registration should be made by calling Franklin County Red Cross, 995 E. Broad-st, at CL, 3-8511.

Brandeis Study Group To Hear Book Review

Brandeis Women's study group will meet at the home of Mrs. Jule Mark, 3025 Dale-av, 2 p.m., Saturday, Jan. 5.

The book, "Donbey," by Charles Dickens, will be discussed by Mrs. Alan Gilman.

Best Wishes

SPONGE OR ROCK? It's a sponge. But it illustrates the porous sandstone in which natural gas is stored underground by your gas company. ▪ Located thousands of feet below the surface of the earth, this sandstone "soaks up" tremendous volumes of natural gas, pumped there during summer months. ▪ The stored gas is held among the grains of the rock, ready for use to heat homes in winter. ▪ Underground storage, pioneered by Columbia Gas System companies, is one of the big reasons why people in this area can depend on the best possible gas service at reasonable rates.

Rash Of Robberies Reported In Columbus

Armed bandits were busy in Columbus over the weekend.

A Columbus painter lost his auto and $38 in cash to a pair of hitchhiking bandits early Sunday. John W. Martin, 34, of 71 N. Central-av, told police he stopped at Broad and Miami-sts to pick up two hitchhikers. One of the men produced a gun and forced Martin to get out of his car.

A strong-armed robbery of $45 was reported by Jack Nincere, 63, a clerk at George's Carry Out, 241 E. Long-st, on Saturday.

Another Saturday night robbery attempt at Greenway Market, 68 S. Washington-av, failed. Robert Greenway, 48, store owner said the bandit forced him to empty his pockets but, the pockets were empty. The bandit asked Greenway to "count to 100 while I back out of here" and fled.

Another thug obtained $55 at Robbins Variety Store, 1262 Oak-st. Jessimae Sheets, 46, a clerk, told police a male customer produced a gun and demanded the money.

The fifth bandit took $55 and three suits from M&S Cleaners, 1174 Oak-st. The owner, Mary Hudler, 65, said a man entered the store Saturday afternoon and said, "Open that cash register. I mean business and don't want to kill you. I have a mother of my own."

John Baum Will Speak To Eagles

Junior Past State President John Baum will be the guest speaker at the celebration of the 60th Anniversary, Fraternal Order of Eagles Aerie 297, 771 N. High-st, at 2 p.m., Sunday, Dec. 30.

At 4 p.m., a roast turkey dinner will be served. Donation for Benefit Fund is 75 cents. Dancing will start at 6 p.m. with the Anniversary cake-cutting at 7 p.m. All Eagles, their families and friends are invited.

The annual New Year's Eve Party will be held Monday, Dec. 31, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Reservations may be made through the aerie secretary.

Haulers May Hit $7.9 Billion Revenue Mark

Based on current business conditions and forecasts of the general economy, 1963 will show a continued progress for the nation's motor freight industry.

Clinton L. Sanders, president of the American Trucking Associations, Washington, D.C., said, "Total revenues for the approximately 16,000 for-hire motor freight carriers under regulation by the Interstate Commerce Commission are expected to reach $7.9 billion."

Net earnings for 1962, according to Sanders, will reflect a rebound from the adverse business in the previous year.

IN LIVE NATIVITY

ONE OF THE MOST original and beautiful Christmas decorations in town was staged by the junior class at Bishop Hartley High School. The students built a nativity scene on the school's roof and then took turns between 6 and 9:30 p.m. acting out the various parts between Dec. 23 and 25. Pictured here are some of the workers on the project as they prepare to erect a large barn used to house the manger. They are, from left, Dan Jacobs, Kim Redinbaugh, Darlene Thompson and Lyn Skeffington.

Free Coffee Featured On Turnpike

Coffee will be "on the house" for New Year's Eve travelers on the Ohio Turnpike, according to the Ohio Turnpike Commission.

In fact, one may obtain not just "one for the road" on the big road but as many cups of coffee as anyone wants, and at all service plazas. Hosts for the annual coffee fiesta will be the operators of the six Howard Johnson's restaurants and 10 Holiday House restaurants on the turnpike.

The "free coffee" opportunity lasts from 10 p.m., Monday, Dec. 31, to 7 a.m., Tuesday, Jan. 1.

Toll collectors will give notices concerning the free "coffee break" to all travelers entering the turnpike during the period of the offer. Last year the turnpike service-plaza restaurants served 2,804 free cups of coffee during the nine-hour period.

One hundred and fifty years ago Congress authorized the help finance the War of 1812.

To Attend Art Workshop

Forty-eight teachers from County schools will attend an art workshop Jan. 15, 16 and 17, at East Linden Elementary School, it was announced by Thomas J. Quick, superintendent.

The free educational service is provided by Binney and Smith, Inc., manufacturers of crayons and other school art supplies. The workshop will be conducted by Mrs. Betty Ohirogge Dabbs, who has taught extensively and holds a master's degree from Indiana University.

School officials responsible for the workshop arrangements, in addition to Supt. Quick, include Miss Kathryn L. Opes and Miss Anna Freeman, E. A. Rickert and Edward A. Karns.

New Year's Day Bowling Party

Reynoldsburg Lanes will be the scene of a New Year's Day combined party and bowling tournament.

One day only, Jan. 1, 1963, participants will receive cash prizes, free balloons and sauerkraut.

DEC 1962

Time To Revive Thrift

This is the time of the year when most of us pause to look back over the past 12 months and take a little inventory as to how we are doing.

A great segment of Americans have been taught and thoroughly believe in thrift, the kind that leaves a little extra security after the week-in-week-out needs have been taken care of.

At year end, many an American family will find itself in substantially better financial condition than at the beginning of the year. This has been brought about largely through frugality and keeping out of debt beyond the ability to pay.

Many other families, however, find they are involved in huge monthly payments, excessive interest through loan companies and ganerally living beyond their income. This can only lead to hardship and disaster.

In the period from Dec. 1 through Dec. 24 something like $720 million has been paid out by the federal government in interest alone. It is estimated that it will take almost $30 million a day, or $912 million a month to meet federal debt interest payments in 1963.

Every minute of every day finds our federal government in a worse financial condition. Yet, from all directions there is a clamoring for increased federal spending. It appears to be high time that individual Americans are more insistent upon economy in government else the savings of these frugal people will end up in a federal waste basket.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Good News In Store For Food Shoppers

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Apples, bananas, cranberries, tangerines, grapes, oranges, grapefruit

Vegetables — Cabbage, carrots, potatoes, yams

Protein Foods — The less popular cuts of pork and beef

It looks like a good year ahead for food shoppers.

The United States Department of Agriculture predicts more beef, pork, chicken and dairy products in 1963. We might find more canned vegetables and frozen fruit juices on the market during the coming year than we found last year.

Mrs. Franks

Several foods may be in shorter supply in 1963 but should be still large enough to meet needs. They are: eggs, potatoes, apples and frozen vegetables. Supplies of turkey may be smaller than a year earlier during the first few months of the new year.

Pork prices should be lower than during 1962; beef about the same; but lamb probably will be higher. Frying chickens should be cheaper; turkeys and eggs should average about the same.

Prior to the Florida freeze, orange and frozen orange juice prices were expected to be lower during the winter and spring months. However, the supply situation has changed, and citrus fruit prices may be higher during this period.

USDA forecasters had also predicted vegetable prices to be lower than a year ago but as was the case in 1961, freezing weather in the growing areas has reduced the supply and will likely bring higher prices.

Prices at food stores should average about the same as during 1962, and USDA economists believe food will continue to take only about 19 cents of each dollar of the typical family's take-home pay. This is the smallest share on record — seven cents less than the share spent for food a dozen years ago.

The cost of getting food from the farm to the retail store seems to have halted its climb of the past 10 years, and USDA economists expect it to remain about steady during 1963. In all, 1963 looks like a happy and prosperous year for Mrs. Food Shopper.

Leftovers . . . by John McPeek

'Insensible Clod' Floored By Culture

For years it worried me that there was little which I liked about contemporary poetry, abstract art and opera.

Was there something lacking in me — an inability to appreciate "the finer, the more esthetic phases" of our culture? Was there some crude block in my sensibilities?

McPeek

At first I was reluctant to admit that perhaps it was because I did not, or could not, fully understand them.

So like many others when confronted by esoteric poetry, abstract art or opera, I would adopt an alert look of understanding and feign an attitude of appreciation.

But as time passed I grew unable to tolerate such self-hypocrisy, and freely would admit I did not like such "art." This immediately would spur the defenders into accusations (albeit accusations clothed in polite euphemisms) that I was an ignorant clod, possessing no more sensibilities than a marinated oyster.

Phooey! Who do these psuedo intellectuals think they're kidding? Why don't they come out from behind their hypocritical masks (Oops! I beg their pardon—"masques") and quit trying to achieve status by nurturing inferiority complexes in others.

Let's start with contemporary poetry. Granted some of it is beautiful and expressive, but the greater part of it is pseudo-lyrical hokum, fraught with nebulous allusions.

Not even the sharpest literary Fearless Fosdick could penetrate the verbose haze of such poems to trace the meaning behind their riddle-ridden verses. Furthermore, rarely can the authors give an intelligent explanation of what they were trying to say.

Take one such contemporary poem and five "critics." What do you get? Five totally different critiques.

So that makes me ignorant and thick-headed? Well, here's one dolt who prefers the poets of olden days who were content with saying clearly what they meant in words intrinsically rich with music; not wordy sounds devoid of sense, designed to appeal to literary snobs who construe verbal puzzles as profundity.

As for abstract painting, most of it is so ridiculous it has little more artistic value than the ink blots psychiatrists use in an effort to penetrate the tortured minds of schizos.

I can understand and even appreciate the cubeistic art of Picasso, which gave birth to this shameless abstract bastard that has seduced so many in the ranks of the intelligensia. Cubistic art contains geometric power that makes it quite obvious that it was painted by a disciplined artist, not some bearded nut who repeatedly whacks a canvas with a frazzled hemp rope dipped in Kemtone.

Abstract art defenders who ooh and aah about the hidden messages in such works could get their kicks just as well by going into their back yards and stirring patterns in mud puddles.

Opera is in a different class. No one can deny it is a highly refined art form requiring greatly cultivated talents. But, designed as much for pageantry as for musical quality, it frequently is ludicrous in the former and deathly dull in the latter.

The music more often than not is labored and sometimes incoherently cacophonous in its effort to match the drama of the story, and the pageantry (at least in many early works) is an absurd anachronism that has all the credibility of the Marx brothers portraying the key roles in a dramatic presentation of "Little Women."

Who honestly is not inclined to snicker, if not guffaw outright, when a couple of 200-pound lovebirds awkwardly juxtapose their bellies to permit a tender embrace at the conclusion of a bombastic Wagnarian love duet?

What's more, most opera stars can't act well enough to qualify for a walk-on part in the average high school class play.

Let it be made clear, this should not be construed as an unprovoked attack upon these three art forms; rather it is a defensive action on behalf of we "insensible clods."

Frosting On The Cake

By "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

Something sacredly new in man's experience on this plant came out of the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia, nearly 200 years ago. For the first time, the common man had a guaranteed chance to live under law, not a slave to the whims of venal men.

Then came the Bill of Rights, as experience of the people under this new and priceless rule of law made such added evolution of this sacred document obvious and honestly utilitarian.

Men were free at last to work and aspire and save something out of their own worthy labors. Fearless men went farther West and overcame both the elements and the Indians. For 100 years after that historical gathering at Philadelphia, able and dedicated men endured every hardship and privation that one can imagine.

Stupidity, avarice, double dealing were always present to be sure, but the "leaven in the loaf" that document provided was superior to all the mistakes and hypocrisy that crooked men dreamed up.

Then, beginning in 1890, came the machine-age revolution and more and more short-sighted men of great talent and power persisted in their constant efforts to subvert the original purposes of the noblest document ever born out of the minds of men.

Countless politicians rose up to temporary power and became fabulously weathly and less and less honorable in their respect for the American Way of Life. But Almighty God seemed at every darkest dark hour to have this new chart of freedom in His care and every generation also produced and called to honest and dedicated leadership, men who were giants in their day.

Today, we see all that accomplished down through the last 200 years threatened as never before by old and disproven follies of the Sixteenth Century. Work has become a badge of ill repute; sweat has become a "dirty word." Taxes have become a destructive virus in the very body-politic of our national existence. Millions of yet-free citizens have been seduced into abject slavery to "pie in the sky" and the monstrous idea that "everything can be for free" if they vote right. That madness will destroy all of us if it is not stopped in THIS GENERATION.

THE AMERICAN WAY

An Impossible Task

Variety . . . by I. F. Howell

GROWING OLD GRACEFULLY

"Old folks" has become almost a dirty phrase. The new one is "Senior Citizens". But there are more of them than ever before. And by their own efforts and the substantial interest of others, they are enjoying longer and happier lives .

In Columbus there are at least 31 places sponsored by various organizations where older people meet quite regularly and take part in an amazing spread of activities. Churches sponsor 29, settlement houses nine, and business, community organizations, and public agencies promote 34. The Columbus Recreation Department directs nine, the largest and best known of which is the one in old Memorial Hall at 280 E. Broad-st. Franklin County participates there indirectly because it owns the place.

The Senior Citizens' Center has 968 members. Mrs. James L. Fowler is its director and William Moore its president. A monthly news letter is published, edited and written by members.

Recreation Department people instruct classes in poetry, ceramics, painting, music, dancing, leathercraft, sewing, woodcarving, and other things.

Citizens exhibit their handiwork at the Ohio State Fair. They've had 14 annual hobby shows. They have an annual selling mart, too, the last at the Art Gallery.

The Seniors hope to move early in 1963 to the new center on McDowell-st near, but separate from, Senior Citizens' Apartments. The Metropolitan Housing Authority will lease the center to the city of Columbus at $1 per year.

It says here . . . . . .

It's no disgrace to grow old. It's just a little inconvenient.

OUR READERS' Views . . .

Letters to the Editor on topics of public interest are always welcome. They should be written or typed legibly on one side of the paper only, and limited to 350 words. Always sign your name and address so that authenticity of the letter may be checked if necessary. The writer's name will not be printed if so requested.

Says Senior Citizens Getting 'Run-Around'

To the Editor:

I am quite sure that many of your readers are as interested in what is being done in the name of our Senior Citizens and such things as special housing. All kinds of specialized groups are being formed to ride herd on the Old Folks who can no longer look after themselves, so let's look at just how far from reality some of this stuff really goes.

Start with housing for the aged. To be the judge of the cost of these units per person, just go and price them and see for yourself whom such housing was really erected for. Look at figures presented by Frank Harris of the Boston Globe and by Prof. E. J. Burtt of Boston University.

They state that in 1959 the Department of Commerce said a decent income in that year — for a single person — was $3,600 and that for a married couple it was $4,800 per year. They contend, and rightly so, that no one can live decently on $2,500 per year if they are 65 or older and cite the fact that the newspapers and the Congressional Record reveals that the average income from all sources is less than $1,000 per year for this age group.

Now here are some federal double talk and standards: The Bureau of Labor estimates that $3,200 is the very least that a man and wife of 65 or over can exist on, but that the war veterans of this nation 65 or over are limited (by law) to an income of $3,000 per year for a man and wife. They can't have one cent more or they lose any veterans benefits they may have under the so-called Pension Act of 1959.

The President of these United States has ruled that federal housing and housing built with federal funds, must be rented to all races, with the result that many states will refuse such housing and funds. They realize that this directive practically eliminates all who are 65 or over if they happen to be of the wrong color, so we can mark off that kind of housing for the aged as class legislation and slanted to care for certain groups only and not for all of our Senior Citizens.

This gives you a rough idea of the run-around the old people are getting from their government at a time when pensions and allowance are being paid to Cuban refugees, over-aged Chinese soldiers on Formosa, etc., with housing furnished by our government, but they can't do the same for their own people.

Wake up, Americans, and demand equality and justice for all of USA.

1963, An Unmarked Vista Of Time, Awaits

Philippians 3:13-14 "Forgetting what lies behind and straining forward to what lies ahead, I press on toward the goal for the prize."

An art calendar had as its picture for the month of January a winter sports scene in full color. It portrayed a beautiful rolling hillside, covered with a mantle of pure white, untouched snow. At the top of the hill stood a solitary skier, poised, ready to thrust and sweep his trail through the long vista of unmarked snow.

Rev. Neff

As I looked at the picture I wondered what kind of a trail he would leave.

At this season of the year, each one of us stands with the man on the skis. Before us stretches a clean, unmarked vista of time, consisting of 365 days. What sort of trail are we going to make in it? I am confident that each one of us yearns to make a better trail than we made last year — a trail that is straight and true and clean. But how does one make a straight path or live a better life?

Consider first some ways it is not done. One does not make a new trail straight by looking back in order to straighten out the crooks and kinks in an old trail. This only seems to make the new one crooked too, as everyone knows who has actually tried to make a straight path across a field of unmarked snow or tried to row a boat in a straight course across a lake. Neither can one remake his life by brooding over the mistakes and blunders or sins of the past. A person does not make a new trail straight by drifting along or aimlessly wandering without a fixed goal ahead. Neither is one's trail likely to be straight when he frequently changes his aim from one goal to another.

There is but one way to make a trail that is straight and true. It is done only by firmly fixing our eyes upon one definite goal and walking toward it. There is but one way to live a better life this year than last — a life that is true and pure and upright. That is to fix our eyes upon Jesus Christ, who is to each of us an example in all things, and to seek his help along the way. He alone lived a life worthy of being copied, for He alone lived without sin or mistakes. And He alone, gave inspiration and power for us sufficient to help remake our lives.

Thus, may we make but one New Year's resolution: "forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth to those things which are before, I press toward the mark . . . Christ Jesus.

Wild Animals, Too, Become Citified

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Good numbers of birds have been coming to our feeder, although their trips are more frequent during cold weather.

Song birds at a feeder are perhaps the best example of wild animals that are not too wild. But all of the wildlife we have in Ohio today has learned to live remarkably well with man. It is not at all unusual to see an opossum or raccoon within city limits. Al Staffan, Columbus, who runs an urban trapline for sport has caught a mink, 27 muskrats and two raccoons this year within 50 yards of a four-lane throughway.

At least once a year someone phones me that he has seen a fox in the city, and last year three deer were killed on the highway on the east side of Columbus. Crows fly over the suburbs and the outskirts, and I've seen them cawing their way across N. High-st near Walhalla.

Waterfowl seek the sanctuary of the city, and one of the prime spots to observe wild ducks is the ponds along Frank-rd. Here, safe from disturbance and hunters they can be seen at ease loafing in flocks. Geese fly over high in the sky, and on one unforgettable autumn afternoon I saw a perfect wedge of Canadas, containing one snow goose, fly over Ohio State University's stadium during a football game. It was a contrast that will stay with me always, for above were the wild and wary birds from the arctic, and I was surrounded by a crowd of yelling people who did not even notice the moving picture of striking beauty overhead.

Squirrels are perhaps the tamest of the wild. They are tame enough to become pests in some people's attics. But however pesky, the sight of a wild animal attracts most people. We like to watch them and we like to feed them, and may it ever be so. And in the process we get a strain of city-dwelling squirrels that live more on handouts than on nuts and acorns.

The question is often asked, is it cruel to cage wild animals in a zoo? Apparently no one has ever asked a lion if he is happy, and I am not volunteering. But people who have worked for many years with animals in zoos believe their charges to be satisfied. To understand this you must grasp the concept of a territory, in which every animal lives. Animals show no mercy to each other, and by this constant sparring a peck-order and a home territory is established. In effect animals live in limited areas — cages without bars.

It is not a great strain on a beast then to accept a small "territory." Certainly, they would prefer to get out at first, but once the situation is accepted they are content. There are many examples of animals returning to cages on their own after escaping. Zoo animals live longer than wild ones, so the cage is not a physical hardship. They are freed from their two greatest enemies — hunger and predators.

It is fortunate for us that you can observe wildlife from your backyard and our window. If the animals had not learned to live with us, we wouldn't have any.

LEMONS, LIMES, TOO

ORANGE TREES BLOOM IN FRANKLIN PARK NOW

If you're a little frustratrated by the cold weather, stop by the conservatory at Franklin Park for a refreshing change of pace.

Orange trees. That's what you'll see there. Several of them are now in bloom and have small fruits on them. Also, lemon and lime trees, all blooming with a seemingly obliviouaness to the snow outside.

While you're gazing at the fruit, you may like to know the history of the orange. Besides it being one of the few words in the English language that doesn't rhyme with any other word, here are a few other interesting facts:

A striking feature of the orange and other citrus trees is their habit of bearing flowers and fruit at the same time. Because of this, orange blossoms have become the symbol of fruitfulness.

In the Middle Ages, Sarcenic brides started a custom that has survived to this day of wearing orange blossoms in their vells.

The orange originated in the Far East but traveled as men explored new lands. It is grown in many areas of the tropics and subtropics, but grows best in our own states of Florida and California, and in Italy and Spain.

Letter To The Editor

Who Will Pay For Annexation Costs?

If the present City Council predicts the location of the Ford Motor Company, or a like company in our midst, perhaps it could then seriously consider the annexation now contemplated for the Cohen and Davis developments. It would take Ford Motor or General Motors to compensate the citizens of Reynoldsburg taxwise, and even that would not lower taxes. Merely keep them in line a wee bit.

Sitting in on a council meeting about two weeks ago, the present council had the affrontery to "compliment" the citizens attending on their orderly conduct, and to add insult upon injury "complimented" them on attending council that night. At that precise time, the ball game commenced. The discussion following was the first one public to date where opposition was expressed against this controversial annexation. At this point, the council president, now departed, commented "you elected us to represent you," as if somehow they could not conceive the possibility the public should have any say in this matter, or in other words, it was all cut and dried to date, and the issue should not be raised.

Now, it would be the best time to remind our council, and the citizens of Reynoldsburg that to date, three members holding seats on council were NOT elected to council. And, the two minority party members that were elected are usually totally ignored and bypassed in the "team parties," that have been held in Marabar from time to time. We now have two elected Republicans calling the shots on council, and the annointed Republicans go along with the herd. The council president was not elected, and the two elected Democrats may as well go fly a kite for all they have to say, though, one represents a ward-councilman, and one represents the city-at- large.

Is this our present ruling faction's idea of FAIR representation? Not one person, in over 100 spoke in favor of this annexation, except the members of council. One minority member stated he was not in favor, and never was in favor of this issue. The way I figure it, the odds were way in favor of the citizens, but it was a losing battle. It was an example of real teamwork, and the public at large was the opposition, but had no vote.

It would seem our council, or the controlling element, expects the citizens of Reynoldsburg to lobby in City Hall for fair representation, so they can be ignored by Council. Must we hound them, and plague City Hall in order to protect our best interests in order to get our money's worth? Council members receive over $700 per annum, and this salary is paid by the citizens who were ignored, and this same $700 will pay their real estate taxes, and any raise incurred by this annexation. Had council been sitting in the seats of the opposition, would they seriously consider this detrimental annexation?

One question raised, that went unanswered was, will Mr. Cohen sell his $16,000 homes, on a 40-year plan, to 221 buyers, or people from the "slum-clearance-displaced persons projects? Did council bother to ask him this prior to the scheduled meeting? Had he sold homes in the past under these conditions?

Are we expected to take Mr. Cohen's and Mr. Davis' word on certain items? Will council get such promises in writing, signed and sealed relating to certain promises made regarding these developments, or will it all be a gentleman's agreement, where it might be considered boorish on the public's part to even question such agreements? What if these developments go bankrupt, which is quite popular these days, before they fulfill their obligations to the City of Reynoldsburg?

The next time our council states we elected them to office, consider the controlling factor, and whom they have been representing (it's not the public), and remember they were NOT elected to represent us, which is quite visible for all to see in the long run.

I urge the public to attend at least one city council meeting. It's an experience you won't forget.

Local Urban League Plans Annual Dinner January 16

At 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 16, the Columbus Urban League, a United Appeal agency, will hold its 45th annual dinner at the Southern Hotel, S. High and Main-sts.

Eli E. Cohen, executive secretary of the National Committee on Employment of Youth will be guest speaker.

Cohen is currently a member of the President's Committee on Youth Employment and is special consultant on youth employment to the U.S. Department of Labor. He also serves on the New York City Youth Board Committee on Jobs and Rehabilitation.

The employment of youth is receiving national and local atention and has serious implications for the total community. Cohen will outline the nature of this problem and what can be expected in the future.

Reservations are $4 per person, and can be secured by calling the Urban League at 258-9529.

Auto Club Buys Gifts

Christmas came early for boys and girls in orphans' homes of Franklin and adjoining counties, thanks to members of the Columbus Automobile Club.

Funds remaining from member contributors for the club's annual Orphans' Picnic last summer were used to purchase Christmas gifts for the homes.

These include:

Franklin Village, a television set and funds for driving lessons for residents of the proper age; homes in Circleville, London, and Marysville, television sets; home in Delaware and Methodist Home in Worthington, arts craft equipment; St. Vincent's foot lockers for older children and jig saw puzzles and blocks for the younger ones.

The Club's 57th annual outing was held July 10 at Columbus Zoo and Zoo Park. In addition to dinner and rides for all, each of the older children attending that day received a transistor radio and the younger ones large teddy bears.

Members of the Orphans' Picnic Committee, responsible for the club's biggest activity each year, are Robert O'Brien, chairman; Robert K. Levy, Sr., Dr. C. C. Sherburne, H. R. Penney, J. W. Echenrode and Fred D. Pfening, Jr.

Rash Of Robberies Reported In Columbus

Armed bandits were busy in Columbus over the weekend.

A Columbus painter lost his auto and $38 in cash to a pair of hitchhiking bandits early Sunday. John W. Martin, 34, of 71 N. Central-av, told police he stopped at Broad and Miami-sts to pick up two hitchhikers. One of the men produced a gun and forced Martin to get out of his car.

A strong-armed robbery of $45 was reported by Jack Nincere, 63, a clerk at George's Carry Out, 241 E. Long-st, on Saturday.

Another Saturday night robbery attempt at Greenway Market, 68 S. Washington-av, failed. Robert Greenway, 48, store owner said the bandit forced him to empty his pockets but, the pockets were empty. The bandit asked Greenway to "count to 100 while I back out of here" and fled.

Another thug obtained $55 at Robbins Variety Store, 1262 Oak-st. Jessimae Sheets, 46, a clerk, told police a male customer produced a gun and demanded the money.

The fifth bandit took $55 and three suits from M&S Cleaners, 1174 Oak-st. The owner, Mary Hudler, 65, said a man entered the store Saturday afternoon and said, "Open that cash register. I mean business and don't want to kill you. I have a mother of my own."

Chronology—

Mellman sparked swim team to its best season in 12-year history. Highway Department indicated it would reimburse property owners along the Columbus East Freeway who were not paid eminent domain rights from a $6 million loan from Ohio Industrial Commission.

15—Whitehall Planning Commission refused permit to gas station building on Yearling-rd mainly on protest from School Board. Whitehall's Discount City found guilty in Sunday Closing case. Bexley merchants out against City Hall there over Main-st parking woes.

22—Dame Judith Anderson was scheduled to appear at Capital University Apr. 5. Reports said that Eastmoor's new junior high building would not open in September as planned. Columbus Sewer Superintendent Carl Schoene shelved proposed $633,000 Bliss Run storm sewer project.

29—Bexley Civic Improvements Association took over plans for building Bexley swimming pool and made a big "splash" in City Hall Mar. 27 during a council meeting. Richard Moling replaced J. Craig Wright as Whitehall safety director and issued "no comment" statement on Sunday Sales law enforcement.

APRIL

5—Senator Jack R. Miller spoke to high school students at Capital University and answered main questions concerning nuclear attacks. Improvement of Yearling-rd considered by Whitehall council. Columbus announced annual "Clean-Up" week plans.

12—Connie Cisco, a Lima native, named May Day Queen at Capital University. "Committee of 100" selected to promote Bexley's five-mill school levy. Whitehall men began drive to organize Junior Chamber of Commerce there.

19—Hartley Newspaper staffer John Auble, Jr., reported on farm situation from Washington, D.C. Whitehall councilmen spent $25,515 to buy eight and one-half acres in anticipation of a municipal park in that suburb. Whitehall Safety Director Richard Moling issued statement that "it was manifestly impossible" for the Whitehall Police Force to enforce Sunday Closing laws.

26—General traffic survey report issued to Bexley Council. Also in Bexley, three-lane division of E. Broad-st stirred protests. Sunday Closing Association cited Shoppers' Fair for seven-day week. League of Women Voters formulated plans for publishing "Voters Information" newspaper.

MAY

3—Vandals in Whitehall caused problems by shooting out street lights with B-B guns. School levies were to spark May primary election. Whitehall named Thomas Farrell as that city's first dog-catcher. Eastern Kiwanis Club lauded for accomplishing more than any other club of equal size in the nation during 1961.

10—Columbus School Board announced plans for "work-study" program whereby students would be employed part time to learn trades. Capital University student Leslie Fink selected for Peace Corps duty. Bexley school levy approved by voters. Arnold Shaheen elected Whitehall's PTA president.

17—Bexley housewife Jerrie Mock planned to participate in the Women's International Air Race May 29. Safety campaign staged in Whitehall. City school flasher-light program proposed by Traffic Engineer John Gallagher bogged down for lack of funds. Hazel Realty zoning issued in Whitehall remained up in air as Planning Board asked for "more specific plans."

24—Bexley council approved swimming pool plans for Jeffrey Mansion as proposed by the Bexley Civic Improvements Association. Hartley Newspapers announced preliminary plans for annual Lake Erie Aquarama Cruise.

31—Jack Packard, 4390 Chandler-dr, named president of Eastern Civitan Club. Federal Trade Commission entered fight on trading stamps being carried on by area gasoline dealers. Flare-up started by Columbus School of Art and Design students over degree policy.

JUNE

7—Boys Industrial School Assistant Superintendent Rev. Charles L. Harrison spoke at graduation exercises at Whitehall High School. Relocation plans of Interstate 70 aired in Reynoldsburg. Area business leaders joined campaign to bolster Capital University funds.

14—Two Whitehall High School 1958 graduates — Michael Glatte and James Compton — selected for duty by Peace Corps. East Broad Street traffic lanes discussed by Bexley council but no action taken. Patrolman Patrick Harlow resigned from Whitehall police force.

21—High School lasses invaded Capital University for start of Buckeye Girls' State. Hay fever sufferers got spark of hope from the late Wright Erie of the Columbus smoke regulation department who proposed plan for stamping out ragweed. New elementary school proposed in Whitehall.

28—Columbus City planners denied a request for rezoning part of Livingston-av, between James-rd and Crestwood-av (six acres), for apartment buildings. Robert Sterrett named high priest of Temple Chapel 155, Royal Arch Masons. Hartley staffers Ed Churchill and John Auble, Jr., entered matrimony.

JULY

5—Bexley Democratic Club felt slighted by Mayor William Schneider and pulled their float from annual July Fourth parade. Sabin Oral vaccine program revealed by medical chiefs. Seventy American Field Service foreign students stopped off for a weekend in Columbus. Eastern Civitan promoted Sesquicentennial interests here at Dallas, Tex., during national meeting.

12—Former Hartley staffer John Poeppelmeyer named sports publicity director at Capital University. Harold Wood named president of Whitehall Lions Club. William F. Hunt resigned from Bexley council and was replaced by David H. Shawan.

19—Local Girl Scouts from Troop 406 revealed plans to visit Mexico with funds they raised themselves. Dr. B. J. Dennison named president of "Bexhall Club"—a group affiliated with the American Business Club. Columbus Transit Co. announced plans for extended bus service in Whitehall.

26—Area folks returned home healthy and happy from Hartley Newspapers' second annual Aquarama Cruise of Lake Erie. Bexley in controversial fuss with Columbus over Cassady-rd grade crossing.

AUGUST

2—Bexley Police Sergeant John Gannon defended the six traffic lane division on E. Broad-st and cited it as a "safety measure." Whitehall Fire Chief Arthur Reddy launched an attack against shoppers smoking tobacco in local stores.

9—Whitehall Jaycees announced project to paint house numbers in front of homes in that city. East Columbus residents sought change of Livingston-av detour route by the Columbus Transit Company. Eastmoor residents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bosserman, "adopted" a Vietnamese boy through the Foster Parents' Plan.

16—Public Utilities Director Howard Johnson ordered the Columbus Transit Company to return their Livingston-av buses to their original route instead of continuing to use the detour set up while that road was being improved. Bexley residents, led by the Bexley Civic Improvement Association, began seeking ways to finance a $100,000 ways to finance a $100,000 Mansion. Six local stores fined for Blue Law violations.

23—Big air show planned at Port Columbus for Sept. 9 in connection with Sesquicentennial celebration. Local schools ready for registration of new year. Fairmoor Recreation Center wins the Columbus Recreation Department's city softball crown.

30—YMCA leaders discussed building a "Y" facility in the far East Columbus area.

FIREFIGHTERS FETE CHILDREN

WHITEHALL FIREFIGHTERS threw their 19th annual Christmas party last Sunday and some 900 area children benefitted in this "biggest ever" wing-ding held in the Whitehall Fire House. Seen talking to Santa here are Robert A. Chrisk, Jr., and Rampi Stevens. That's Lt. Donald Marcum looking on. The kids, besides refreshments and Santa and free movies, got a ride on a Whitehall fire truck around the city.

Ten staff changes noted as Capital University opens for year. Two educators at St. Mary of the Springs, Sister Jane deChantal, O.P., and Sister M. Adrian Coyle, O.P., died.

SEPTEMBER

6—Mr. and Mrs. William Teague, Whitehall residents, "adopted" a Cuban teenager, Alberto Hernandez, through the Catholic Welfare Fund. Franklin Park rejuvenation committee met. Traffic control system erected at Vilardo-ln in Whitehall after protests by area parents.

13—Forget-Me-Nots were ready to go on sale Sept. 14 and 15. Bexley Art Guild readied plans for its big community-wide art show at Capital University. Announcement came that a traffic survey would be conducted in Bexley. New East Side YMCA on Woodland-av set its dedication date at Sept. 23.

20—Bliss Run flood control controversy brings about thoughts of setting up city-wide policy by Columbus councilmen. Final plans made to distribute Sabin oral vaccine Sept. 30. Peruvian natives visited Columbus on goodwill tour and appeared at halftime of Bexley football game.

27—A new patient-research wing officially dedicated at St. Anthony Hospital. Judge Clayton Rose and Mrs. Marie Pfeiffer selected as judges from this area in the Hartley Newspapers Homemaker contest. With completion of new municipal building in Whitehall, plans were made to utilize facility for increased recreational programs in that city.

OCTOBER

4—Evan Williams, a Bexley resident, was named Ohio governor of Kiwanis International. Schaaf Hall, a new men's dormitory, was dedicated Oct. 7 at Capital University. Whitehall councilmen gave approval to rezoning of Fairway-blvd and Main-st areas to allow for apartment-motel-service station construction there.

11—East Sider, Mrs. L. T. McKinley, 835 E. Enfield-rd, was first nominee in Suburban Homemaker contest. Gould-rd residents sought traffic lights at Bexley council meeting. Parade planned to climax Columbus' sesquicentennial celebration. St. Philip's acting group planned first production, "Halfway 'Round The World", for Nov. 3.

18—"Medieval Memories" selected as Capital homecoming theme and six gals chosen to vie for queen title. Whitehall Patrolman John Clark led a crackdown on vandals in that city and collected some 77 ominous weapons from youths. Whitehall Councilman Ray Shipley expressed concern about turning a city-owned building (the former city municipal structure) into a commercial establishment. Shipley balked at leasing the building.

25—Army rezoning affected training centers in the area. Bexley councilmen urged a drop in that city's operating levy. Janice Dunn, a 21-year-old history major from Georgetown was named homecoming queen at Capital University. Donald Leach, director of Ohio Unemployment Compensation Bureau, scheduled to talk to the East Side Businessmen's Association.

NOVEMBER

1—Bliss Run controversy raged on in Columbus City Council with both the protesting residents and the sewer

Police, Fire Communication System Stilled

Fire and police communications were disrupted Tuesday when wet and freezing weather conditions caused trouble in an underground cable along Lockbourne-rd between Frebis and Wilson-avs.

The police department's secondary broadcasting channel was completely out of order and the primary channel wasn't working correctly as late as Wednesday morning.

District sergeants were ordered to stand by substations to relay calls to cruisers if the radio broke down completely.

AGUDAS ACHIM CONGREGATION will observe Chanukah this weekend, with events scheduled Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Chanukah Observance Slated At Agudas Achim This Week

The wekend of Dec. 28, 29 and 30, concluding days of the festival of Chanukah, will be marked by Agudas Achim Congregation, 2767 E. Broad-st.

Tenth annual homecoming Sabbath will be held Friday, Dec. 28, 8:15 p.m., and the Minyonnaire reunion on Sunday, Dec. 30.

Young people who will fill the pulpit Friday evening are Miss Marcia Feuer, Miss Sharon Paine, Jeffrey Gordon and William Shenk. Discussions will follow the formal addresses.

Rabbi Samuel W. Rubenstein will conduct the services, and Cantor Philip H. Gellman, assisted by the Agudas Achim Choir, will present traditional melodies and liturgical selections.

The weekend will conclude with the Minyonnaire-Bar Mitzvah Club reunion, a religious service for young people sponsored by the Agudas Achim Brotherhood.

Police Tighten Area Regulations

Police Chief George Scholer has ordered increased enforcement of laws on Fifth-av, from Cassady to Gould, from 4 to 6 p.m., concerning speed and changing lanes without safety.

He also ordered increased enforcement of laws on Livingston, from James to Yearling, from 3 to 6 p.m., concerning speed and stop signs.

There were said to be 7,000 tobacco ships in London early in the 17th century.

IN LOVING REMEMBRANCE OF GLENFERD E. WEAVER

Dearest Son you have left us,
A long sad year since you have gone;
And thy memory we shall cherish,
Around the Grave where you are laid.

How we watched to see your coming,
How we wait to hear your call;
How we miss you dearest Glenferd,
One we loved best of all.
But the Lord said you have finished,
Come up higher Glenferd dear;
You have won a Crown in Heaven,
Through Jesus Christ Your Savior.

Often from our hearts come a bitter cry,
Why oh! Why did dear Glenferd die;
Then comes the answer so solemn deep,
Your dear Son is but asleep.

A very long year, oh! can it be,
That we have mourned for thee;
And yet it feels so fresh, the pain,
We count them over and over again.

The moon and stars are beaming,
Upon a quiet grave;
There sleepeth without dreaming,
The one we loved and could not save.

Heaven now retains our treasure,
Earth the barren casket [illegible]
And the sunlight loves to linger,
Where our darling Son sleeps.
—Ivan and Audene Weaver.

METRONOME... Pulsebeat for Music.

CHURCH... Pulsebeat for your New Year's Resolutions.

Beginners in music study have to have help in timing their practice.

The Metronome is a reminder to stay on the right beat.

The Church is the means through which God pronounces his word. God's word sets up the highest ideals for man to live by. Therefore there is no better ground to base your New Year Resolutions on, than those set up by our Lord.

"Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH ... THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

Economic Recovery In 62 Noted By OSU Research Professor

By JAMES C. YOCUM
Professor Of Business Research
Ohio State University

During the expansion that occurred since the February 1961 "trough" of the last business recession, the Columbus metropolitan area has continued to grow and prosper. The population of Franklin County rose to 740,196 by Sept. 1, 1962, compared with 716,116 in 1961.

Births in the county totaled 16,269 in the first 11 months of 1962, a slight drop from 16,734 record in the same period in 1961.

Total business turnover as measured by bank debits was up seven per cent in 1962 from 1961.

Columbus postal receipts totaled $16 million in the first 11 months of 1962 versus $15.3 million in the same period in 1961.

The number of active gas meters in the county rose to 192,919 as of Nov. 30, 1962, from 186,312 a year earlier.

Industrial consumption of electric power was 683 million kilowatt hours in the first 11 months of 1962, up from 629 million in the same months of 1961.

Even though the Columbus area is more largely industrialized, its economy showed more strength and growth during the 1962 portion of the current expansion phase of the business cycle than most other highly industrialized metropolitan areas of Ohio.

The number employed in Columbus area manufacturing was up 11 per cent from 1961, compared to an increase of 3.9 per cent in Ohio as a whole, and 3.6 per cent in the U.S.

Manufacturing payrolls in the Columbus area jumped 14 per cent above 1961, while increasing 10 per cent in Ohio as a whole and nine per cent in the U.S.

Retail trade in the Columbus area totaled over $1 billion in 1962 — a new all time high and up nine per cent from 1961. Columbus area retail sales in 1962 accounted for nearly one-twelfth of the total retail volume in Ohio.

Another extraordinary record was made by Columbus home builders. In the first 11 months of 1962, 9,082 residential building permits were taken out, an increase of 39 per cent.

Among the eight largest Ohio metropolitan areas Columbus was the only one to have an increase, by September, 1962, in manufacturing employment above the last pre-recession peak of May 1960 and had the largest increase in non-manufacturing employment of any of the areas.

In the level of unemployment, Columbus has been more fortunate than other Ohio metropolitan areas. As of October, unemployment in Columbus was only three per cent of the civilian labor force of the area. In the Dayton area the unemployment rate was also three per cent in October, but in other Ohio areas unemployment ranged from 3.5 per cent of the civilian labor force in Akron, 4.4 per cent in Cleveland to a high of 6.7 per cent in Canton and 8.7 per cent in Youngstown.

The Columbus area has shown greater-than-average stability on the down-side of the business cycle — and substantially greater-than-average vitality and growth in the expansion phase of the cycle. The strength of the upward cyclical expansion is the result of the purely cyclical recovery laid on top of the strong secular or long-term growth the Columbus area has enjoyed since World War II.

Efforts of local business, government, financial and civic interests of all types, headed by the Columbus area Chamber of Commerce, to bring desirable new businesses and industrial plants to the Columbus metropolitan area have been well rewarded.

A continuation of selective and judicious industrial development activities would seem to be to the long-run best interest of the areas' economy.

Army, District To Work On Conservancy Project

Although Scioto River Basin flood control plans by the Army and the Scioto Conservancy District do not totally coincide, both groups are pledged to work with each other on the project, according to Huntington District Engineer Col. Harrington W. Cochran, Jr.

Speaking to the Columbus Post, Society of American Engineers, at Columbus Army Dept., Col. Cochran said he expects the government and the Conservancy District to "co-ordinate and work together."

The Conservancy's Chief Engineer Harry H. Turney, Jr., indicated that co-ordination presents no major difficulties and added that "we do not know just what Congress will do toward appropriating funds at this time."

Without this knowledge, the Conservancy District must assume it will have to do the entire job. Two reservoirs, Sale Creek and Paint Creek, are not in the district's recently-adopted plan but they have been endorsed by conservancy officials.

The government plan for the Scioto area will cost an estimated $125 million, exclusive of the Delaware project, already completed. Big Darby, Deer and Paint Creek reservoirs are in the pre-construction stage and may be started in two years if Congress makes funds available.

Folk Dancing Class Open

The Columbus Recreation Department is presenting a series of lessons in folk dancing.

The 10-week program will be held from 7:30 until 10 p.m., beginning Jan. 8, at Whetstone Recreation Center, 3923 N. High-st. Registration will be held the first three weeks of the class.

Basic folk dance steps will be taught, as will dances from many lands.

HARTLEY IN OT WIN

Tigers, Cards Roll, Bexley Wins First

East and St. Charles continued hardwood success in their respective loops to highlight area cage play over the weekend.

The Tigers rolled to their fourth straight win of the season at the expense of Eastmoor, 76-46, while the Carolians maintained their share of the Central Catholic League lead with a 54-49 win over Springfield Catholic.

EAST USED A familiar pattern to subdue the Warriors, The Tigers ruled the backboards (53 rebounds) and dazzled Eastmoor with a fast-break attack in the second half, firing in 48 per cent of their floor shots.

East extended its margin from seven points in the first period to 16 and finally 22 as the Tigers set out in the final stanza.

Mike Hammond hit for 22 points and teammate Ken Fowlkes dropped in 17 more markers. Steve Howell scored 16 points for the losing Warriors.

ST. CHARLES GOT a 21-point scoring effort from guard Dick Ferris to knock Springfield Catholic out of a share of the CCL's top spot.

The Cards never trailed in the game, notching their third straight loop win. Mike Baumann backed up Ferris' performance with 13 points.

DeSALES FORCED HARTLEY into an overtime before the Hawks could secure their first cage win of the season with a 48-44 nod over the Stallions.

The Hawks led all the way until DeSales rallied to knot the score at 37-all at the end of the regulation game.

Hartley got well-balanced scoring as Randy Rodich, Tom Schlager and Steve Burman dropped in 10 points each for the winners.

BEXLEY SNAPPED A four-game losing streak with a 36-29 low-scoring win over Delaware.

The Pacers led 18-14 at halftime but the Lions came to life in the second half with top scorer Roger Williamson dropping in 12 of his 14 points.

Jim Hoyer contributed 12 more points to the Bexley cause.

ALSO IN THE CENTRAL Buckeye League, Worthington had to scramble in the final period to pull out a 61-52 victory over fired-up Whitehall.

The Rams, paced by Ken Maxwell's 15 markers, went into the final stanza with a 44-44 tie but were hampered by the loss by injury of Howie Bailey and fell behind.

The Cards gained the edge at the foul line, converting 27 of 34 free throws.

NORTH ZEROED IN on the basket in the third quarter to pull away to a 75-42 win over Walnut Ridge in a City League encounter.

The Scotties stayed in contention throughout the first half, trailing by only six points at intermission but the Polar Bears came out shooting in the second half, outscoring Walnut Ridge, 28-12.

Bob Kanuth popped in 18 markers for North while the Scots got 10-point efforts from Jim Pyles and Ken Evans.

SCRAPPY ACADEMY HUNG on for three periods before dropping its sixth cage contest in seven tries — a 65-55 verdict to Canal Winchester.

The Vikings led 12-11 after the initial quarter but the Indians forged ahead slowly, leading by three after three periods.

Terry Larrimer hit for 20 points in leading the Academy scoring attack. Teammate Ken Holzman dropped in 12 more markers.

ALL AREA TEAMS with the exception of Eastmoor and Academy see action over the holiday weekend. Friday night finds East (4-0) at Cuyahoga Falls, Walnut Ridge (1-4) at Toledo Libbey, Whitehall (1-5) at Urbana (5-0) and Bexley (1-4) at Grandview (2-5).

Hartley and St. Charles compete with Watkins Memorial and Gahanna in the Hawks' Holiday Tournament Friday and Saturday evenings. Hartley (1-4) plays Watkins (4-0) in the 7 p.m. opener while St. Charles (4-2) faces Gahanna (6-1) in the 8:30 "nightcap." Winner plays winner and loser-loser in the finals Saturday night.

Other than the tourney, three other area teams play Saturday evening. West (3-4) is at Bexley, Newark visits Whitehall and East continues on the road, stopping off at Canton McKinley.

HARTLEY'S '62-'63 VARSITY CAGE SQUAD

'62 Sports Fizzled But '63 Promising

The turn of the year is significant for a number of reasons. Basically it gives everyone a chance to look back over the outgoing and make some resolutions in regard to the incoming.

Before old acquaintance is forgotten, let's take a quick look at what happened sportswise, over the past 365.

LOCALLY, THERE wasn't much to toot our horns about with the new year getting off to a bad start as far as OSU cage fans were concerned when Cincinnati clobbered the Bucks for the second straight year in the NCAA finals.

Baseball rolled around with three shutouts recorded on three efforts, no pennants and everybody left on base. The Jets didn't make the playoffs, the Indians sputtered at midseason and collapsed and Cincy's defending NL champs died a slow death in September.

Autumn came and went with football fans wondering what ever happened to the Buckeyes' grid monster and pro-football TV fans switching channels as the Brownies consistently got inside the 20 and bogged down.

BUT THERE WERE bright spots. Jack Nicklaus bowled over the pro golf circuit in his first try, winning the Open and then nabbing the rich "World Series" of golf, understroking Arnold Palmer and Gary Player.

Maybe it's still too early to start waving the flags for Fred Taylor's "new-look" Buck cagers but Gary Bradds and Co. have so far ignored the wizards of the ratings by outscrambling everybody in a year when most followers figured the wins would be sparse.

But how about the resolutions? Jim Piersall has resolved to bury the hatchet with AL umpires. (Jim doesn't indicate where he'd like to bury it).

PAUL BROWN HAS resolved to call only 98.7 per cent of the Brownies plays next season and Woody Hayes has resolved to wear only-long sleeved shirts to OSU football games.

The Pittsburgh Pirates have resolved to print an entirely new kind of program for Buc fans next season. Realizing you can't tell the players without a scorecard, the "who's who" will be tabbed, "New Faces of '63."

The NCAA and AAU have resolved to flip a larger silver dollar to settle their scrap.

CASSIUS CLAY resolves to hold his opponents up for more than three rounds to give boxing fans a little bit more for their money.

Around the deck, the "fearless predictor" has resolved to call them all right on the high school grid scene next season.

As for us, we have only one resolution. We resolve to please all the people all the time. And if that little promise can be realized, we suppose all the forementioned suggestions have as good a chance as any.

BITTS OF WIT(T) — Ever wonder what baseball players do during the off season? Other than play winter ball, the paths that lead back to spring training are widely scattered. Redleg coach Dick Sisler is Director of Recreation for the Tennessee State Prison during the winter.

Cincinnati catcher Johnny Edwards, a native of Columbus, is enrolled at OSU, planning to graduate as a Ceramic Engineer in March, 1963.

And then there's Jim Brosnan, the journalist of the Redleg set. Pitcher Jim, who has already written two books (The Long Season and The Pennant Race" is working on another novel at his Morton Grove home in suburban Chicago.

CAP WRESTLER

TED HUPP, former three-letter wrestling star at Whitehall High School, is a member of the 1963 Capital University wrestling squad. A sophomore at Cap, Hupp was Ohio Conference champion in his division last year. While at Whitehall, he was district champ in 1960 and 1961 in the 127-pound class. Ted, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hupp of 354 Collingwood-av, now wrestles in the 137-pound class.

Golden Gloves Has Open House Dec. 29

More than a dozen boxing coaches and approximately 400 boys from the Central Ohio area have been invited to participate in the Golden Gloves Open House, Dec. 29 at 6 p.m.

The open house activity will be the forerunner of the Golden Gloves tournament which is scheduled for January.

Gary Lee Hamblin, novice boxing winner from Portsmouth, will be presented at the open house. It is also expected that the Columbus '62 champions will be on hand.

All participants will receive mementos and exhibition matches have been arranged as part of the program. The affair will be held at Golden Gloves Headquarters at 771½ E. Long-st.

Rams Honor Fuller, Roberts, '62 Gridders

Outgoing Clark Fuller and Roger Roberts, co-captains, were selected as Whitehall's most outstanding back and lineman, respectively, last week as the Rams honored their '62 football team.

Twenty-seven Rams received varsity awards. They were: third awards—John Arbuckle, Clark Fuller, Roger Roberts and Mike Short; second awards—Howie Bailey, Bill Dildine and Jim Rackham; first awards — Tac Cowart, Bob Martino, Dave Millington, Alan Nester, Gerald Powell, Eric Ford, Dave Grandwohl, Jay Hout, Bill Landis, Jerry Ramsey, Mike Schmidt, Gene Terrell, Lanny Vogel, Dwight Waugh, Rick Callicoat, Randy Koscho, Ron Pargeon and Bill Sherman, manager.

The trend of Ohio potato growers is either to plant larger and larger acreages or none at all, according to OSU extension specialists.

Wrestling Wrapup

Franklin Heights continued its success on the local wrestling front during the past week as the undefeated Falcons notched wins five, six and seven with a lopsided 53-0 win over Springfield North, a tight 22-16 win over Bexley's tough grapplers, and their fifth straight Holiday Invitational Tourney win.

The Falcon matmen won all 11 individual matches against Springfield, taking 10 of 11 by pins.

FRANKLIN HEIGHTS experienced tougher opposition against the Lions, with eight matches decided by decisions and another called a draw.

The Holiday Tourney win placed the Falcons at the top of a seven-team heap, Franklin Heights piled up 96 points while winning six divisions with Pleasant View finishing in the runnerup spot with 77.

Other results were: Upper Arlington, 58; University, 35; Hilliard, 32; West, 30; Grandview, 18, and Jonathan Alder, 0.

IN OTHER WRESTLING action, East downed Walnut Ridge, 32-8, Linden edged Central, 28-21, and Whitehall toppled Circleville, 23-14.

Chronology—

department unable to agree on a solution. Second dose of Sabin vaccine scheduled for Nov. 4. Eastern Jaycees voice protest to Lawson Milk Co. amendment to Sunday Closing laws.

5—Ohio Governor Michael V. DiSalle was defeated at the polls by his Republican opponent, James A. Rhodes. Columbus School system dedicated new Walnut Ridge High Nov. 8. Controversial art show opened at the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts. Veterans Day parades began organization.

15—Sunday sales law enforcement, indicated by voters at Nov. 6 polls, was lagging by law officials here who claimed they wanted "clarification" by Ohio legislators. Whitehall Municipal Building dedication set for Nov. 18. Bexley council discussed possibility of changing its zoning laws to permit apartment construction on Bryden-rd.

21—Thanksgiving rites planned at local churches. Greater Columbus Sunday Association sent out letters urging media executives to delete Sunday sales hours from advertising copy. Whitehall seniors announced intention of staging community-wide book drive to retrieve strayed books from that school's library.

29—Eastern and Gahanna Kiwanis clubs planned annual Christmas welfare newspaper drives. Whitehall Fire Chief Arthur Reddy issued plea to community to ventilate space heaters in an effort to cut down on death rate from same. Columbus School system dedicated Woodgrest Elementary School in East Side area. Plans announced to build recreation center in East Columbus at Barnett-rd and Livingston-av.

DECEMBER

6—Over 200 books collected by Whitehall High seniors in community-wide canvassing drive. Bexley Civic Improvement Association prepared a "blitz" on the community to collect needed funds to finance a pool at Jeffrey Mansion. Gordon Harris named principal at Eastmoor High as Ted W. Mayer was transferred to new Brookhaven High. Southeast Lions, Eastern and Gahanna Kiwanis clubs ready newspaper sales.

13—Whitehall School Board okayed a $2 slice in the tax rate by adopting figures issued by the Franklin County Budget Commission. Area mayors were asking Ohio legislators to "clarify" Sunday Blue laws but a Hartley Newspaper poll indicated that the legislators weren't too clear in the matter themselves. Congressman John Ashbrook revived interests here in SRA Youth Inventory testing program at Whitehall and Arlington schools.

20—Attorney General Mark McElroy was slated to make a statement on the Sunday sales situation. Indications were strong that he'd issue a "quo warranto" writ against major corporations operating on the Sabbath throughout the state. Columbus Council slated $15,000 for further studies on Bliss Run sewer woes.

President Wilson signed the Underwood Tariff Act on Oct. 3, 1913.

Capital Lists Reasons—

tal University believes that it has performed its task well in the past and can continue to do so in the future by voluntary support."

Most startling, perhaps, of the seven reasons is the one concerning the constitutionality of Federal help to church-related colleges. The letter cites a 1947 Supreme Court ruling which declares that "No tax in any amount . . . could be levied to support any religious activities or institutions whatever they may be called or whatever form they may adopt to teach or practice religion."

The letter, commenting on the socialistic trend, says:

"It has become a tendency on the part of many to imagine that the solution of any big problem is to run to Washington for direction and subsidy. This trend toward governmental direction and subsidy is a sort of creeping socialism of which Capital University wants no part.

"Fortunately there are still many civic, religious, educational, professional and other organizations which rise to the occasion and solve their problems without seeking Federal aid.

"This is the way in which true democracy functions to meet the basic needs of people. We should like to keep it that way in the field of higher education."

Only one of the first five U.S. presidents did not live to be 70 years old: George Washington, who died at the age of 67.

RALPH PITSENBARGER has the contented look of a hunter after a job well done as he looks over his subdued catch — a 275-pound plus, 14-point buck. Ralph bagged the animal on a hunting excursion in Jackson County recently.

Westside Hunter Bags 14 Pt. Buck

Deer season in Ohio may run only two days (Dec. 13-14) but one hunter, at least, made good use of the 48-hour period, bagging the largest buck checked in at Max Shipley's Taxidermist Shop this season.

Ralph Pitsenbarger of 521 W. State-st, traveled to Jackson County on Dec. 13 to fell a 14-point deer with his 16 gauge Remington shotgun.

HUNTING IN TEMPERATURES of -15 degrees, Pitsenbarger, accompanied by hunting buddy, Bill Mannering of Jackson, downed the animal with a rifle slug.

The buck, which weighed between 275 pounds and 300 pounds on the hoof, measured six feet from nose to rump with a horn measurement well over the minimum 142 inches required to enroll Pitsenbarger in the Buckeye Club, a Central Ohio hunting fraternity.

Ralph, who hunts every time he gets a chance, lists West Virginia as his favorite hunting spot but admits that the Ohio deer was his best bag ever.

PITSENBAGER AND Mannering were on the lookout for rabbits and pheasants when they noticed the tracks of a wounded deer. When the search grew futile, they spotted another deer atop a hill about a mile away.

Trudging through knee-deep snow, the pair made their approach and Pitsenbarger felled his catch with a shot which went through the buck's ear and neck into his shoulder.

"It was all we could manage just getting him loaded in the trunk of the car," Ralph laughed.

Although he does most of his hunting in Pendleton County, W. Va., (near the Virginia line off Rt. 33), Ralph has hunted in Germany's Black Forest for deer and wild boar.

An avid hunter and fisherman for 17 years, Ralph concluded his conversation with a tip for local anglers.

"You can tell the ice fishers that the big bluegills aren't hitting through the ice yet."

Happy New Year and our sincerest best wishes to you all.

Eastern Review Stork Derby Winner Is First 1963 Columbus Baby

Winner of the 1963 Eastern Review Stork Derby is also first baby of the New Year in Columbus.

Birthtime of little Christine Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David M. Gardner, 40 Beechford-rd, in St. Ann's Hospital at one minute past midnight Jan. 1, left little doubt of her right to "first baby" honors.

Her birth marked many firsts for the family—first child, first grandchild and first great-grandchild, and all of them beaming with pride!

Grandparents are, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Bowser of 4008 Beechbank, and Mrs. Marilyn Bradshaw of Bevery Manor. Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Barr of 725 S. Broadleigh are the great-grandparents.

The new father is employed by Big Bear, Town and Country.

When Christine failed to arrive as expected on Christmas Day, the family hoped for a New Year's baby. The attending physician, Dr. John Gallen, and the entire hospital staff joined in the family's happiness over the newcomer's "first baby" honors.

Christine was the first "First New Year's Baby" to be born at St. Ann's in six years.

A PINK BOW in the dark hair of Christine Marie Gardner distinguishes her, first baby of the New Year, from all the others in the nursery at St. Ann's Hospital. She is the first child of Mr. and Mrs. David Gardner, 40 Beechford-rd.

Depot Force Is Strengthened

Some 2000 government workers will leave the West Side in the next few months and trek across Columbus to form one of the country's seven major military supply centers.

The Defense Department announced the move Friday which will evacuate the Construction Supply Center, now being operated at 52 Starling-st, and combine it with the Columbus General Depot in East Columbus.

The name "General Depot" will also be changed and operations there will assume the name of the incoming organization, the "Defense Construction Supply Center."

Brig. Gen. Walter A. Huntsberry, who will command the new center setup, announced that the organization wil be under the direction of the Defense Supply Agency (DSA) with headquarters at Cameron Station, Alexandria, Va.

The new center will serve a 14-state area, including Kansas, Kentucky, West Virginia, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska and North and South Dakota.

General Huntsberry also reported that there will still be some activity at the Starling address, but said that this would "eventually phase out" also.

At Starling-st, the Defense Construction Supply Center was operating along with an 1800 - member organization known as the Mobility Support Center.

Further reports indicate that the mobility group will leave the West Side area in "about a year" and eventually all locate at the Supply Center's new East Columbus location but remain under the separate command of Colonel Earle Butler who is now in charge of its operations.

The last office group that will leave Starling-st is the Veterans Administration Claims department which is employing about 15 persons.

ROBBIE REVIEW REPORTS THAT:

MOTORISTS USING busy E. Main-st had better be mighty quick on that gas pedal. Traffic expert Robbie Review reports this week that in a short six-block stretch of E. Main-st between Weyant-av and James-rd (heading west) there are two speed markers indicating a 25-mile-per-hour area (see picture at left). About 50 feet west of James-rd, a speed marker says 35-mph. To complicate things, the 35 sign is almost totally concealed by a Rt. 40 marker as picture at right shows. Russ Weaver of the city's traffic commission says the speed limit is "chopped up" this way because it is regulated by state law. The commission, says Weaver, has asked for an interpretation of the law but hasn't received it yet. He said they would check the obstructing Rt. 40 sign, though.

UNCERTAIN AS TO OFFICE

Mason May Be Democratic Whitehall Municipal Candidate

Loren Mason, former councilman-at-large in Whitehall, has indicated that he will publicly announce his intentions of running for municipal office.

The announcement was to come tonight (Thursday) at a meeting of the Whitehall Democratic Club, according to that group's president, Lewis Oliver.

Mason, of 385 Collingwood-av, has been the center of considerable speculation as to what Whitehall office he plans to seek in the next election.

Besides making the announcement, Oliver said that Mason also will be the featured speaker at the meeting on the topic "Is This Progress?"

The Democratic candidates in Whitehall have launched their most strenuous campaign about the increase of apartment buildings being okayed by Whitehall councilmen who are predominantly Republican.

Oliver declared that the club is working in "close alliance with the Democratic Executive Steering Committee" in encouraging people to run for public office. "The results," Oliver added, "have thus far been most gratifying."

The Democrats have several candidates up for election, most of them seeking council seats.

HOMEOWNERS WANT FACTS

Winchester Estates Looks To Annexation

Efforts to have Harold L. Buchanan, acting planning director of the city of Columbus agree to appear before the Winchester Park Association have thus far been futile, according to information received from the group's president, Ed Popper, 3164 Saxton-ct.

Buchanan suggested the group submit its questions in letter form and he would reply. However, this was unsatisfactory to the association and Popper stated that he is trying to get Buchanan to send another representative to the next meeting scheduled Sunday, Jan. 13.

The association, which is made up of homeowners in the area, invited the residents of College Hill and Hillcrest to their last meeting to discuss the possibilities of annexation.

Interest in the plan was shown when about 40 people turned out for the meeting, held in Popper's home.

The only facts that Popper would confirm were that the meeting was held and the decision made to postpone any possible action until the facts could be learned.

However, according to one of the members of the association who attended, opinions on the matter were sharply divided.

She stated those who favor requesting annexation cited their beliefs that the move would bring lower taxes, bus transportation, street lights, garbage collection and city water.

WHITEHALL SETS PICKUP

Mayor Walter B. Moling reported this week that Whitehall city workers will be touring the city on Thursday and Friday, Jan. 3 and 4, to pick up discarded Christmas trees.

The trees should be placed at the curb, the mayor said. The crews will collect the area west of Yearling-rd on Thursday and the area east of Yearling-rd on Friday.

SABIN TYPE III oral polio vaccine touched down at Port Columbus Friday morning and these men were among the medical officials on hand to greet it. They are, from left, Madison County's Wyeth Laboratories representative, M. S. Amstutz; Franklin County Wyeth official, James E. Stein; district manager for Wyeth, L. J. Bishop; president of the Central Ohio Pharmacy Academy, Robert McLoughlin, and Knox and Fairfield County Wyeth representative, Parry E. Krinkner. Wyeth labs manufactured the Sabin.

CLEAR SAILING?

Sabin Shipment In For Sunday Sipping

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

The airliner carrying Sabin Type III landed at Port Columbus Friday morning right on schedule and welcoming health officials on hand to greet the shipment couldn't help but hope that there'll be the same "clear sailing" during the administering.

They, of course, are very much aware of the doubts some persons have in their mind over the polio vaccine which will be distributed at 119 greater Columbus locations next Sunday, Jan. 6.

They are pinning most of their hopes on the fact that the vaccine was given a clean bill of health not only by local competent medical authorities but also, more recently, by the U.S. Surgeon General.

A cold winter wind was sweeping the Port Columbus runway as the American Airlines plane carrying the controversial Sabin pulled to a halt.

James E. Stein, Franklin County territorial manager for the Wyeth Laboratories (manufacturers of the vaccine) was among the officials waiting for the shipment.

Stein explained that some 600,000 doses were being brought in for administering Sunday. 100,000 were shipped by plane and the rest will be brought in from Cincinnati by shuttle buses.

The precious serum was handled with care by the air-

TEN CASES OF Sabin Type III oral polio vaccine flew into Port Columbus Friday morning safe and sound and pretty stewardess Joyce Wisenski was on hand to be sure that the precious serum reached Columbus officials. Here, she's shown giving one of the cases to Robert McLoughlin, president of the Central Ohio Academy of Pharmacy. McLoughlin, along with four Wyeth Laboratories representatives, developers of the Sabin, were also at the airport to receive the shipment. Sabin will be administered Sunday, Jan. 6.

Measurements Of Bagged Deer Racks Available

With the Ohio gun deer season three weeks past, many large deer racks are being reported, according to Ohio Division of Wildlife fieldmen and Buckeye deer hunters.

Max Shipley of 705 N. Ogden-av, Columbus taxidermist at 1001 W. Broad-st, and a Boone and Crockett Club enthusiast, reports he has 35 big Ohio heads on hand for mounting already.

"Many of them are Buckeye Big Buck Club size and some of them are big enough for Boone and Crockett Club," he commented.

Any deer hunter who killed an Ohio deer in fair chase is eligible for membership in Big Bucks. Deer taken during the 1962 season can't be measured before Feb. 15, 1963, as there is a 60-day shrinking period.

To have a rack measured, write to Big Buck, 1500 Dublin-rd, Columbus 12.

Suburban Freight Reorganizes Sales, Operation Functions

A thoroughgoing change in operating strategy at Suburban Motor Freight, Inc., has been disclosed by James R. Riley, president. Sales and operations, for the first time in the company's 47-year history, are now functioning as separate units.

Division of sales and operations in the Columbus-based, national regular common carrier, explained Riley, has been brought about by the creation of a "diffuse marketing structure."

Riley announced that Jack L. Stewart, a vice-president and board member, has returned to Columbus to organize the independent marketing office. Stewart had been in Toledo for the past three years directing integration of a subsidiary, the Liberty Highway Co., with the parent line.

"Implementation and extension of organizational changes," said Riley, "including the headquarters staff, presages a number of new assignments."

Stewart has named two Suburban Motor Freight veterans to his staff: C. B. "Cy" Souders, sales manager, and William R. Barnhart, national accounts coordinator.

Founded in 1915, Suburban Motor Freight is one of the nation's largest highway regular common carriers. The company provides service in Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Ohio, Michigan and West Virginia, and interline accommodations to 41 other states and Canada.

field crew as the ten cardboard boxes were dislodged from a packing of dry ice used in the plane to keep the vaccine cold. The cartons were immediately shipped to the health department to be cold-storaged there.

Stein mentioned that four million doses of Wyeth Type III vaccine have been given in this country to date and that only one possible case of polio has developed coincident with the administration of the serum.

The final decision to proceed with immunization by Sabin III here was made by the Franklin County Sabin on Sunday Steering Committee.

One of the Committee's members, Robert McLoughlin, was also at Port Columbus to meet the shipment.

He said his committee — made up of respected medical authorities — have concurred with representatives of every segment of the community concerned with the problem.

"Every adult and child — even if they had a complete series of Salk shots and Type I and II Sabin vaccine — must take Type III in order to finish polio for good," McLaughlin emphasized.

The Sabin has the complete backing of the Academy of Medicine of Columbus and and Franklin County which cites the vaccine as "a community program which should receive everyone's support."

One of the most significant points in the controversy is the fact that it's among the safest of all preventative medicines, according to health officials, especially when administered during cold-weather months. McLoughlin pointed out that the risk of giving it in January weather is "virtually non-existent."

Wyeth representatives said "better than a half-million" persons received Type I vaccine and that "about a half-million" persons took Type II in the greater Columbus area.

"We have no reason now to believe that any less will take advantage of Type III," said Stein. "At least, we're planning on it happening this way and we're bringing in enough to meet this estimate."

Sabin Type III will be administered at 118 "stations" in and around the greater Columbus area. The ones located in Hartley Newspaper locations include:

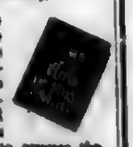
Dr. Sabin To Speak

Dr. Albert Sabin, developer of the Sabin polio vaccine, will discuss Type III on WLW-C, TV 4's "Viewpoint" program Friday, Jan. 4, at 9:30 p.m. The Sabin will be administered Sunday, Jan. 6.

Guest panelist for this special program is Dr. Richard Fulton, president of the Columbus Academy of Medicine. Dr. Sabin is expected to answer questions from the panel concerning Sabin live virus polio vaccine Type III and the controversy over its use.



The program was pre-recorded Dec. 27 in Cincinnati for showing at the mentioned time slot.

HERE'S JOHNNY WILSON, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson of 4889 Neff-rd, Grove City, at age one after his first operation for hydrocephalus, or water on the brain. He is shown shortly after his fourth birthday after recovering from the birth defect.

March Of Dimes Helps Save Boy

Johnny Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Wilson of 4889 Neff-rd, Grove City, celebrated his fourth birthday recently. It was a happy affair.

Yet at one time, Johnny's parents had little hope that he would live to celebrate even his first birthday. For he was born with the often fatal birth defect of water on the brain, or hydrocephalus.

Surgical treatment saved Johnny's life when he was three months old. At that time, doctors performed what is known as a shunt operation. They inserted in Johnny's head a plastic tube which allowed excess fluid from the brain to be harmlessly absorbed by the youngster's body.

Without the operation, fluid within the brain is prevented from taking its normal course, and causes the head to swell enormously. This is what had happened to Johnny. (If shunt surgery is not performed in time, mental retardation and blindness may ensue, even death, in certain cases.)

Since 1958, doctors have performed two other shunt operations and have treated Johnny for gastroenteritis and septicemia.

Today, Johnny leads a relatively healthy, happy and carefree life. Like any other little boy who lives on a farm, he loves to hug lambs, chase cows and tease chicks on the family's 100 acres.

He is a good example of thousands of afflicted children being helped to live nearly normal lives through a unique medical care program financed by the National Foundation - March of Dimes.

Guthrie Is Elected To Directorship

William S. Guthrie, president of Buckeye Federal Savings and Loan Association, 36 E. Gay-st, has been elected to director of the Federal Home Loan Bank, Cincinnati. His two-year term began Jan. 1.

He and three other directors will represent Ohio members.

There are eight Federal Home Loan Bank districts in the United States, with a central bank for each. These systems for savings and loans correspond to the Federal Reserve Bank system for the banking industry.

Guthrie is also a member of the U. S. Savings and Loan League Committee on Federally Chartered Associations, a director of the Columbus Board of Realtors, the Columbus Chamber of Commerce and the Greater Columbus Development Committee. He is a trustee of Wilmington College, on everal Community agency boards, the Multiple Sclerosis Society, and the governing board of First Community Church.

Buckeye Names James W. Hill Vice President

James W. Hill, 269 Village-dr, has been appointed vice-president at Buckeye Federal Savings and Loan Association, it has been announced by William S. Guthrie, president.

Hill will be in charge of the coordination and development of Buckeye's three branch offices, the development and supervision of an expanded home improvement loan program, and will assist with property appraisals and loan procurements.

For six years prior to joining Buckeye, Hill was an executive in the savings and loan industry. Before that he was assistant mortgage loan agent for the Columbus office of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co. for 15 years.

The Buckeye president also announced the firm's new customer drive-in facilities at 43 E. Long-st are now open. Two teller windows have been installed and a 30-car parking lot is available for customers transacting business at the main office, 36 E. Gay-st.

Parks Sponsor Explorers Group

The Columbus Metropolitan Parks will continue to sponsor a Junior Explorers program in 1963.

This program is open to boys and girls 10 years of age or older, who like outdoor adventure and exploration. Those wishing to take part should meet the naturalist at Blacklick Woods nature center, Saturday mornings at 9.

Programs are scheduled for every Saturday morning from 9 to noon.

Admiral Burke Slates Speeches At Two Locations

Admiral Arleigh Burke, former chief of naval operations and a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, will speak to the Foreman's Club at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 10, in the Arts and Crafts Center under the auspices of Dollar Federal Savings.

His subject will be "American National Power and World Peace."

On Jan. 11, Admiral Burke will speak at the Athletic Club under the joint auspices of the Navy League of Columbus and the Athletic Club membership.

His subject will be "Road to Freedom."

Milk Adds Flavor, Nutrition To Vegetables

To solve budget worries in planning nutritious family meals, count on a meatless main dish such as baked spinach with cream vegetable sauce. Milk is a complete protein food that adds important food nutrients to the variety of vegetables in this satisfying main dish.

A colorful combination of vegetables in a creamy sauce provides a nice topping for the baked spinach. Crunchy almond are included for a surprise texture and flavor contrast.

It is wise planning to include milk in vegetable preparation for its nutritional contributions to this low-cost food group. An adequate supply of milk, with its important protein, vitamins and minerals, is good health insurance against inadequate nutrition.

Baked spinach with cream vegetable sauce, a cottage cheese-pineapple salad, hard rolls and butter, chocolate ice cream and milk is a tasty, yet nutritious and economical luncheon or dinner menu.

BAKED SPINACH WITH CREAM VEGETABLE SAUCE

2 packages frozen chopped spinach.
⅓ cup bread crumbs.
½ teaspoon salt.
⅛ teaspoon pepper.
½ cup milk.
2 eggs, beaten.
¾ cup slivered almonds.
⅓ cup melted butter.

Cook spinach according to package directions; drain. Blend all ingredients; pack in a buttered one-quart casserole in a 325 degree oven for 45 minutes to one hour, or until set.

Unmold on platter and garnish with carrot slices and parsley, if desired. Serve with Cream Vegetable Sauce. Makes six to eight servings.

CREAM VEGETABLE SAUCE

¼ cup butter.
⅓ cup diced onion.
¼ cup flour.
2 cups milk.
½ cup diced, cooked carrots.
½ cup cooked peas.
½ cup diced, cooked celery.

Melt butter in saucepan. Add onion and cook until soft; do not brown. Blend in flour. Add milk slowly stirring constantly and cook until sauce is smooth and thickened. Add remaining ingredients and heat thoroughly. Pour over baked spinach.

B'nai B'rith Will Sponsor Jan Peerce Concert Here

JAN PEERCE

Jan Peerce, Metropolitan Opera tenor, will appear in concert at Veterans Memorial at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 16.

B'nai B'rith Zion Lodge of Columbus is sponsoring the event.

During the last five years, Peerce has extended his seasons to meet bids that come for his services from countries as widely separated as Japan and Israel.

He has sung on five continents, and was the first American artist to sing with Bolshoi Opera in Moscow.

In addition to his performances at the Metropolitan this year, Peerce will tour with the Bach Aria Group. Throughout May and June he will sing concerts and opera in the Soviet Union.

Peerce will include French and German art songs, Italian arias, and the more popular music of the day in his Columbus program.

Tickets for the Jan Peerce concert are on sale at Central ticket office (Richman's), 37 N. High-st. Mail orders must be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

'Peppermint Chiffon Pie' Is Light, Refreshing Dessert

Pie for dessert is an American tradition. The crust and filling may be prepared in any number of ways to provide a rich, satisfying, or delicate and refreshing dish to compliment any menu plan.

As a refreshing dessert, peppermint chiffon pie is an unbaked pie variety.

The combination of a buttery, chocolate crumb crust and peppermint-flavored chiffon filling produces an eye and taste appealing treat to serve often. Made with nutritious milk and eggs, it is a dessert that is extra-rich in important food values.

For meals that are heavy and need a sparkling finish, peppermint chiffon pie is made to order. It is a convenient "make-ahead" dessert that will please every one.

PEPPERMINT CHIFFON PIE

CRUST

1 cup chocolate wafer crumbs.
¼ cup sugar.
⅓ cup melted butter.

Blend crumbs, sugar and butter. Press firmly into 9" pie plate. Chill.

FILLING

1 envelope (1 tablespoon) unflavored gelatin.
6 tablespoons sugar.
½ teaspoon salt.
2 cups milk.
3 eggs, separated.
¼ teaspoon peppermint extract.
Few drops red coloring.
½ cup crushed peppermint candy.

Mix gelatin, three tablespoons sugar and salt; add milk, mix well. Beat egg yolks and blend with milk mixture. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until mixture coats spoon. Cool. Add peppermint extract and tint pink with coloring as desired.

Beat egg whites until stiff; beat in the remaining three tablespoons sugar; fold into gelatin mixture. Pour into pie shell. Chill until firm. Garnish with peppermint candy. Makes eight servings.

Let's Maintain Faith In Sabin

We're convinced! Sabin's safe.

When a newspaper is to take an editorial stand on a subject, the procedure is to check with men who know, men whose opinions are respected and men who have devoted many hours of research time to a particular situation.

Such is the case with Sabin Type III oral vaccine, the third and final installment in the fight against polio which will be administered in the greater Columbus area on Sunday, Jan. 6.

The men who know — medical officials across the country—have given the controversial vaccine their stamp of approval and that's good enough for us.

These competent medical men are urging everyone to take the final Sabin sip because they know you are 80 times more likely to contract polio Type III by not taking the vaccine than by taking it.

Besides that, any remote dangers of the vaccine are reduced to near nothingness by the fact that it's being administered in winter weather—non-polio season.

This effort needs the support of residents everywhere. Without the vaccine, a person will continue to be a potential polio carrier even if he's received Type I and II.

Even elderly persons, who may have an immunity to polio, can still be carriers of the disease.

For these reasons, Sabin Type III must be taken by everyone if we're to ever finish polio for good.

Winter Hunting Is Bonus To Sportsmen

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors
By ROD COCHRAN

Starting off a new year with last year's hunting season still in progress is a bonus to sportsmen that has come about in recent years.

The rabbit season is open to Jan. 31, and cock pheasants may be taken on state hunting areas until that date. In the south hunting zone (check your hunting regulation digest to find it) either cock or hen pheasants may be taken through January. Ohio has the longest ruffed grouse season in the nation, and it extends to Feb. 23. Hunting raccoons and opossums is allowed until Feb. 15.

All of this adds up to plenty of outdoor fun for hunters who do not fear ice and snow. Hunting and fishing have become truly year around sports. With ice fishing to fill in a few gaps, the outdoorsman can easily pass the time until spring arrives.

A winter hunt has charms all its own, but you must be adequately dressed to enjoy them. With the snow crunching under foot, crisp air and a blue sky, you will find much of interest outdoors.

Dogs that are properly conditioned love to get out and hunt under these conditions. Beagles are not hampered by snow if it is not too deep, and can trail both rabbits and birds. Rabbits seem to enjoy the chase, and often run longer over snow than at any other time.

Observation is easy when the snow is on. Once in a while you can see the whole chase from the time a rabbit is jumped until it runs in a hole or is shot. A fox stands out boldly against a white background, and few can sneak out of a field without being seen if you are quiet and observant.

Winter birds enliven the scene at this season. Woodpeckers and nuthatches search bark crannies for insects and insect eggs. Brilliant cardinals and somber song sparrows are found where seeds and berries abound. Squirrels are out seeking buried treasures in the form of hickory nuts and acorns left from last fall.

Nature is never completely dormant. A superficial glance at a field or valley will give you the impression that it is barren. But closer observation will reveal many forms of life. Patterns of tracks betray the night time activity, and are fun to follow.

Actually, hunting is just an excuse to get outdoors in mid-winter, as it is at other seasons. A fellow would look pretty silly out tramping around in snow drifts in near zero temperatures. But if he has some dogs and a gun along, then he is participating in one of our national pastimes.

SECOND EDEN

In war
Good will is placed Upon a darkened shelf
While vicious dogs of hate patrol the earth.

In peace
The cruelty
Of conflict is condoned
While victor and the vanquished share
The loss.

Yet peace
Shall be but truce
Until men's hearts and minds
Unite to rebuild Eden on
The earth.

"Peace in our time." So spoke Neville Chamberlain when he landed at Croyden after his fateful meeting in Munich with "Corporal" Hitler and the man Winston Churchhill called "that black-hearted blaggard," Benito Mussolini.

We know now, by hindsight, that the Fuehrer and Il Duce had the upper hand and could determine war or peace. Now they are gone, but other evil leaders still remain to darken the future.

It says here .....
Love is the only enduring foundation for the peace.

Leftovers ... by John McPeek

Fear Knowledge And You Block Truth

Many things disturb me:

Greed, cruelty, stupidity, selfishness, hatred, bigotry, injustice ... to name a few.

But most reprehensible of all is fear of knowledge. If this great fear — the fear of seeking truth —were to be wiped out, I'm sure most of man's inhumanity to man would end.

McPeek

There are no greater cowards than those who draw back in frightened alarm when they are confronted with views and teachings that appear to disagree with their beliefs and standards.

This is why I hate censorship and all who have the unmitigated gall to set themselves up as "protectors" of their neighbors.

There are many physical things I fear. But I thank the heavens there is not one gram of fear of knowledge within me.

I have stated before that all men should have the right to view what they choose, hear what they choose and read what they choose.

I recently read Henry Miller's "Tropic of Cancer," a novel that for nearly 30 years was banned from publication in America, his native country.

It was banned for its "obscene filth." No one can deny that the book contains much filth — but it is the filth of man, a filth that not even the most blinded amongst us can't deny surrounds us.

Do not misunderstand — I am not writing this in defense of smut. I am against what is ugly in our lives as much as you may be. But how can we find truth if we cannot first recognize and understand evil?

And should any man be censored who writes with such penetration about today's youth, as Henry Miller does in the following:

"... Youth ends where manhood begins, it is said. A phrase without meaning, since from the beginning of history man has never enjoyed the full measure of youth or known the limitless possibilities of adulthood.

"How can one know the splendor and fullness of youth if one's energies are consumed in combating the errors and falsities of parents and ancestors? Is youth to waste its strength unlocking the grip of death? Is youth's only mission on earth to rebel, to destroy, to assassinate? Is youth only to be offered up to sacrifice?

"What of the dreams of youth? Are they always to be regarded as follies? Are they to be populated only with chimeras? ... Stifle or deform youth's dreams and you destroy the creator. Where there has been no real youth there can be no real manhood.

"If society has come to resemble a collection of deformities, is it not the work of educators and preceptors?

"Today, as yesterday, the youth who would live his own life has no place to turn, no place to live his youth unless, retiring into his chrysalis, he closes all apertures and buries himself alive. The conception of our mother the earth being 'an egg which doth contain all good things in it' has undergone a profound change. The cosmic egg contains an addled yolk. This is the present view of mother earth.

"The psychoanalysts have traced the poison back to the womb, but to what avail? In the light of this profound discovery we are given permission ... to step from one rotten egg into another...

"Why breed new monsters of negation and futility? Let society scotch its own rotten corpse! Let us have a new heaven and a new earth! — that was the sense of Rimbaud's obstinate revolt."

I don't know how the preceeding discourse on the spiritual suicide of modern youth affects you, but frankly, I eagerly will wade through 50 pages of "smut" to read one such illuminating passage.

Budget Meat Suggestions Given for Month

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Bananas, apples, grapes, compare citrus prices.

Vegetables — Potatoes, yams, carrots, cabbage, celery, lettuce.

Other Foods — Thrifty meat cuts, large eggs, dairy products.

January is the month that finds housewives struggling even more to meet their weekly food budget. This is normally because they tended to forget their budget during the holidays.

Mrs. Franks

One way of bringing the budget back in line is to consider the more thrifty cuts of meat. There are numerous thrifty cuts that have the same kind of good flavor and nutrition as the more expensive cuts. In beef, there are chuck steaks, brisket, ox joints, stew meat, short ribs, pot roasts and ground beef.

In pork, you'll find that sausage meat, smoked picnics, pork hocks, shoulder steak and roasts and end-cut loin roasts and chops are possible on budget menus. Shoulder roasts from lamb and veal, as well these animals.

as stew meat, are some of the low priced cuts from

Canned meats are a treat to Mom because they're easy to prepare and a treat to the family because they're so tasty. All that is needed is a little imagination, a can opener and a supply of versatile meats-in-a-can.

Franks are good any time of year, and so is sauerkraut. The two foods are combined in the promotion "National Kraut and Frankfurter Week" beginning Jan. 24. Watch for your grocer to feature these at that time.

Frosting On The Cake

By "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

What this country needs is more cheerleaders and fewer belittlers.

More people are better off right now than any previous generation. Back breaking drudgery is still around for those who refused to go to school and "sharpen up the tools" that old Mother Nature gave them. But what we don't need is a growing army of sadsack crabbers about the entire educational set-up.

People who never taught a term of school in their lives and never went beyond the eighth grade constantly rave about "what ails our schools." Of course there still are defects and blind spots in every school system, but hungry-minded kids are exposed to more stimulation and inspiration than ever before.

Let's take an inventory of other great forces that operate every day in our urban centers to give ambitious youngsters a real start. Junior Achievement is one. High school age students of both sexes have to learn basic economics or their project goes down the drain.

Lions clubs, Kiwanis clubs, Sertoma clubs, and most recently Civitan clubs are each picking honest projects, and men of ability and purpose in life are putting time, brains and money back of such efforts. De Molay for Masonic youngsters and CYO for Catholic counterparts are influencing more teenagers than the general public knows about.

More and more high school coaches are now doing regular classroom teaching as part of their duty. That added contact enables them to sort out the dolts and make every attempt to show these indifferent youngsters what it really means to get all the education possible at a time when our social needs for skill and dedication are so desperately obvious.

What a tragedy it is that so many have only one idea about the whole school business, namely to reach the legal age for "dropping out" of school. Add to this folly the rash of green kid marriages and it becomes no mystery why this land is temporarily morally and spiritually ill.

Teachers and ministers who really love children are well aware that environment and outside social influences are either helpful or destructive, depending on how persistently parents back them up in their guidance efforts.

Conversely, any teacher today whose certificate means nothing more than a license to draw public money, has no moral right to such a license. Any church having a preacher that "the kids don't go for" is missing out dangerously because the only way to produce the new and solid citizens is to get 'em ng and raise'em right.

Cites Civic Apathy

To the Editor:

In the past, meetings of the Whitehall City Council have been well attended and people express their pros and cons but I have noticed a gradual decline in attendance.

Being a civic minded individual, I was concerned, worried and constantly seeking an answer!

I got my answer Tuesday night, Dec. 18.

Council was holding a public hearing on Ordinance 137-62 relative to apartments at Fairway-blvd and E. Main-st.

Mr. George Chamblin, 628 Fairway-blvd, speaking for himself and other property owners on Fairway-blvd, opposed the ordinance.

W. B. McKleskey also spoke in opposition.

Council by a unanimous vote adopted the ordinance, thereby allowing more apartments in Whitehall.

Before adjournment Councilman Ray Shipley commended the councilmen's "refusing to be pressured or blackmailed," as he put it, "by those people east of Hamilton-rd into rejecting the ordinance."

Woe be unto ye who dare oppose the powers that be.

Jesus Is Most Worthy Guide In New Year

The New Year celebrations are mileposts of life. New Year's Day is not different from other days of the calendar year, and yet so much seems to depend upon it.

The prophet had warned Israel, "Sanctify yourselves, for tomorrow the Lord will do wonders among you. You have not passed this way before."

Rev. Daniel

Like the Israelites, let us sanctify ourselves at the beginning of the new year that as we enter a strange land it may become a land of promise, even though it be filled full of uncertainties.

Our New Year's Eve joyousness ought to be checked by the sobering thought that is is serious business upon which we are engaged. We are not prompted by fear, but rather by a sense of uncertainty, together with the magnitude of the consequences any future conduct may involve.

The uncertainties of life loom ahead of us today, but life is not the only uncertainty in this new land of tomorrow. Those who are living prosperously today may become hungry. Those who are enjoying radiant health today may tomorrow find their lives enslaved by pain and suffering. The choice dreams of our hearts may be blasted. The vision we have had of the future may prove to be but a mirage.

But while the new year is full of uncertainties, there are many certainties as well.

There will be "wars and rumors of war." Sin will continue in this new year of our Lord. There will be adultery of the soul and of the body. There will be thievery. There will be murder. And what is more devastating than all these sins, there will be gossip. There will be countless thousands mourning because of man's inhumanity to man.

But now, these things having been said, let this also be said just as seriously and just as thoughtfully. Among the certainties there will be found love, greatest of the abiding virtues. Parents will still love their children, and their hearts will be gladdened when they find that love is returned.

There will be men and women who will love God and goodness during this new year. And, on this we who are Christians may build a firm foundation. The God who loved mankind so much will continue to love us with the same rich love.

Just as there will be many faithless individuals next year, so will there be many who are faithful. As there will be sin, so will there be ideals.

We should first prepare ourselves for the uncertainties of the future. A faith in God is the best possible preparation for the shocks of life. And then, we should strive to pick our way among the many certainties.

The Israelites were very quick to discover that in order to find their way in a new land they needed a good leader. The Ark of the Covenant was their constant guide and became their stronghold in the face of new difficulties.

The purpose of the church in this new year will be to offer to the world the leadership of Jesus through this new and strange land. He is a leader whom experience has taught us to trust in every new experience. He is the one who, facing all of life was able to live it ideally. He came face to face with sin and temptation. He knew disappointment which was greater than the disappointment we shall know. Yet He took His defeated and frustrated existence and turned it into triumphant living. His secret lay in the choices which He made.

It is Jesus whom we proclaim as our guide. It is Jesus whom we offer as a worthy leader. It is Jesus whom we shall trust in this strange land of 1963, through which we have never passed before.

—Raymond S. Daniel, pastor
Briggsdale Methodist Church

Bonus Checks Are Issued At Glick's Annual Party

"From one store in 1907 to six stores in 1962, making Glick's Central Ohio's largest home furnishers, could not have been accomplished without the loyalty and patronage of our customers who have faith in our future."

That was the remark from the president of Glick Furniture Co., Robert A. Glick, as he addressed more than 160 executives and associates who attended the firm's Christmas party recently.

During the evening bonus checks were distributed to all employes. An added bonus was given for every year of service.

Mrs. Frank Glick, chairman of the board of directors, her two sons Robert and William I. Glick, executive vice president, spoke on the company's achievements during the past year.

The president also reported on the progress of Glick's sixth store in Chillicothe which opened Nov. 14. According to Glick, the company enjoyed a successful year with sales ahead of 1961.

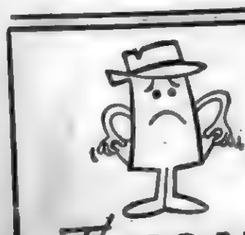
Jan. 20 Is Deadline For Those 'Dog Tags'

The 1963 dog licenses are now on sale according to Fred C. Dunn, Franklin County Auditor. Deadline for purchase is Jan. 20. After that date, a $1 penalty will be charged.

Auditor Dunn emphasized to dog owners the convenience and expediency of using a mail-order application form which appears in this paper to facilitate the purchase of licenses. The application includes complete instructions for mail purchases.

For those who do not procure a form, the following information, together with a stamped, self-addressed envelope is needed: the sex, age, color, breed, whether it is a short or long-haired dog, and the owner's name and address. Fee is $2.



Licenses are also on sale at the Court House License Division (Mound-st side of the Court House basement), Mound and High-sts, as well as at the Humane Society Animal Shelter, 2770 Groveport-pk.

All dogs three months or older on Jan. 1 must be licensed to prevent impounding and their owners being subjected to a subsequent penalty of as much as $25.

The license tag is protection for the dog, since through this registration number the owner of a lost or injured dog may be located quickly.

Money derived from the sale of licenses is allocated, in part, to finance activities of the Humane Society.

The auditor's office is open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and until noon on Saturdays for the purchases of such licenses.

HIGHWAY REPORT

Nearly All Of I-71 To Open By 1964

All but 35.7 miles of Interstate Route 71 in Ohio will be open by the end of 1964, promised Highway Director E. S. Preston this week.

Currently, Preston said, 121.9 miles of the route are open and 87.1 miles are under construction. All projects now under construction are scheduled for completion by the end of 1964, so that 209 miles of I-71 will be open at that time.

The 76-mile link between Cincinnati and Columbus and another 11-mile section north of Medina to Cuyahoga County are included in the I-71 projects now under contract. Construction costs for these projects total $64.5 million.

Preston also pointed out that even before these new lengths of Interstate are opened, they are already yielding large economic benefits.

Contractors estimate that about 25 percent of highway construction costs go directly into payrolls, so Ohio workers will earn more than $16 million during the next two years for work on I-71 alone. This is equivalent to about 2,000 jobs per year.

Interstate Route 71 will connect Louisville and Cleveland, passing through Cincinnati and Columbus and linking with I-74 (connecting Cincinnati and Davenport, Iowa), I-75 connecting St. Petersburg, Fla. and Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., I-70 (connecting Washington and Baltimore with I-15 in Utah), I-80 linking New York and San Francisco), and I-80 (connecting Boston and Seattle.)

In Ohio, I-71 will stretch 244.7 miles between downtow Cincinnati and downtow Cleveland. It will form part of the Cincinnati - Conneaut Freeway (State Route 1), which includes I-271 (Cleveland Diagonal) and part of I-90.

Parents Without Partners To Hear Attorney Sexton

What steps must be taken by a widow, widower or divorcee to purchase a home and what are their chances of getting a mortgage? What percentage of ones income should be used for installment buying?

This, along with many other important facts of installment buying, will be the subject of discussion when Parents Without Partners, Inc. meets with Robert Sexton, Columbus attorney. All single parents are invited to this meeting being held Tuesday, Jan. 8, 8:30 p.m. at Trinity Episcopal Church, 125 E. Broad-st.

Those interested in further information may contact Mrs. Juanita Mattes, membership secretary, 125 E. Broad-st, AX. 1-1817.

Four Girls Escape From Juvenile Diagnostic Center

James Grant, superintendent of the Juvenile Diagnostic Center, 2280 W. Broad-st, revealed Tuesday that four of seven teenage girls are still at large after fleeing the institution.

Grant said the girls escaped through a basement window about 7:15 p.m.

A few minutes after the escape was discovered staff members rounded up three of the girls walking along nearby roads. Police and sheriff's deputies have been alerted for the other four.

The girls live in groups of 16 with two adult chaperones in each cottage at the center. The escapees were housed in a cottage which was short of adult supervision because of the holidays, Grant said.

The missing girls, aged 13 to 15, are from Hamilton, Portage, and Cuyahoga Counties. Officials said they are wearing sweaters, skirts and coats.

There are 67 girls and 200 boys confined in the center. All have been sent here for diagnostic study.

Spotted At Blacklick

Blacklick Woods, on Livingston-av near Reynoldsburg, has become well known as an undisturbed woodland where the rare pileated woodpecker has continued to make its home since the coming of the white man.

The bird is the largest of seven species of woodpeckers in Ohio, according to Blacklick naturalists, and is a spectacular crow-size bird with conspicuous black and white coloration and a distinctive red crest.

Because of its great size and coloration, it is unmistakable at close range. Its presence often is announced by its loud flicker-like call or drumming on a hollow tree, naturalists say.

The pileated also have been reported at Darby Creek, Blendon Woods and Highbanks Metropolitan Parks.

Is Promoted

Wayne B. Lang, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Lang Jr., 811 Beechwood-rd, recently was promoted to specialist four in Korea, where he is serving with the 7th Infantry Division.

He is a supply clerk in the division's 10th Calavry.

The 24-year-old soldier attended Reynoldsburg High School.

TEENS TO MARCH FOR DIMES

TEENAGE BOYS and girls—volunteers in the 25th Anniversary March of Dimes—will be stationed on Saturday, Jan. 12, at street corners, department stores, shopping centers, and the downtown area in Franklin County, to request passersby to "Give for the Life of a Child." In exchange for a contribution, the volunteers will present each donor with a Rainbow Crutch indicating they have helped to provide exemplary medical care for these crippled children. Showa here making plans for the Jan. 12 event are from left to right, seated: Carol Chatlain, of Gahanna; Bob Ebinger, Columbus Academy; Karen Lilygein, of Reynoldsburg, and standing, Diana Davis, chairman of TAPS (teen-age program), of Eastmoor High School.

Geologist Dates Talk On Glacier

Dr. Jane Forsyth, geologist, will present an illustrated talk "A Geologist Visits Glacier National Park" at 8 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 3, at Blacklick Woods on E. Livingston-av.

Miss Forsyth, who recently visited the park, will have slides and explain some of its geology. She'll also have various rock samples.

The talk will be held in the Beech-Maple Lodge.

A recent survey shows that American men spend $35 million a year on deodorants.

Sunday Closing Discussion Dated

The "confusion of Sunday closing" will be discussed at the first meeting of the Jewish Center's Public Affairs program on Wednesday, Jan. 9, at 8:30 p.m., at the Center, 1125 College-av.

A panel of business and professional men representing Greater Columbus and the state government will discuss the issue.

Leading the group of panelists will be Archer E. Reilly, Jr., local attorney and Franklin County legislator.

Theodore R. Saker, first assistant to Ohio's attorney general, is another panel member. He will discuss enforcement and how the district attorney's office is interpreting the present law.

Representing the local business group will be Erwin J. Fanta, Columbus realtor and president of the Greater Columbus Sunday Association.

William D. Edwards, local attorney, who has defended in court many business firms which have been charged with Sunday opening, will also appear.

The meeting is open to the public, and the audience will be given an opportunity to participate in the discussion which will be moderated by Robert Shamansky, chairman of the Center's Public Affairs Club.

In subsequent meetings, the public will be invited to attend open meetings on subjects such as "The Speaker's Rule at Ohio State University," "Federal Aid to Private and Parochial Schools," "The Supreme Court Decision on Prayer" and "Medicare."

Samuel Stellman, the Center's assistant executive director, is the Center staff member working with the committee.

Vigilante To Be Used For Tests

A Navy A-5A (A3J-1) Vigilante, produced by North American Aviation's Columbus Division, is being equipped by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Flight Research Center, Edwards, Calif., for use in support of its studies of a projected supersonic transport.

Working in close cooperation with officials of the Federal Aviation Agency, engineers of the Flight Research Center will plan and conduct supersonic flights with the aircraft on assigned federal airways and into high air traffic density areas, such as Los Angeles.

The results of the air traffic control of these flights, and the flights themselves, are expected to provide the basis for the formulation of future control plans that will be necessary for the safe operation of commercial supersonic jets.

The Eagle award, the highest in Scouting, was presented recently to Kenny Meyer, 15, at a formal court of honor held by Post and Troop 195 at Fairmoor United Presbyterian Church.

The rank of Eagle was presented the boy by his father, Earl, who is an advisor of the Explorer post. Also officiating at the ceremony were Paul Love, White Oaks district executive; William Smith, institutional representative for the troop, and Charles Starrett, advisor of Post 195.

Meyer

Meyer, a ninth grader at Eastmoor High School, has earned 22 merit badges and has been inducted in the Order of the Arrow, an honorary Scouting organization, during the five years he has been a Boy Scout and Explorer. He is also very active in his church.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Meyer, 108 Mayfair-blvd, in Eastmoor.

Also receiving awards were Ricky Hockinson and Roger Starrett, both of whom earned bronze palms for passing five merit badges after receiving their Eagles.

The following were presented merit badges: Mark Bateman, Wayne Bosserman, Luis Benavides, Robert Cohen, Gary Engle, Fritz Ford, Steve Hartshorn, Garth Ireland, Steve Overmier, David Parry, Jim Soleau and Alan Swope.

Mr. Heer "Steps Up"

A bit of big news in Central Ohio this past week centered around Walter F. Heer, Sr.

He announced that he was resigning from the position as head of the Franklin County Democratic organization and at the same time was relinquishing management of the F. J. Heer Printing Co.

But Mr. Heer was careful to leave no impression that he is stepping down, or retiring. Instead he is merely taking another job and will devote his full time to other business interests.

And it stands to reason that he will be active in many ways in the civic affairs of this area.

While many people on the opposite side of the political fence have differed with him often over the past 30 years it is still a fact that he has contributed much to the growth of the community in this time.

We like his attitude toward this change. It is not retirement. He is not through. He is merely "stepping up" to a new position in our community. We wish him well.

As we start 1963, let's look backward—then forward.

At Rodenfels Chevrolet, 555 West Broad Street, it's hats off to the past; coats off to the future. 1962 treated us handsomely. Again we were able to keep our position of leadership in Central Ohio. Your valued patronage made it possible for us to sell more new cars and trucks than any other automobile dealer in Central Ohio again last year. So, hats off to you and '62.

As for the future, we plan to continue our healthy growth. A new Truck Service Center is nearing completion and will employ 18 additional mechanics. This will free up space and man power in our present Service Department to handle additional passenger cars with speed and efficiency. Our service men surely will take their coats off for the big year coming up.

If you haven't visited us lately at 555 or 515 West Broad, consider this your invitation to renew old acquaintances early in 1963. If per chance we have yet to meet, let's resolve to do something about it soon.

Gratefully,

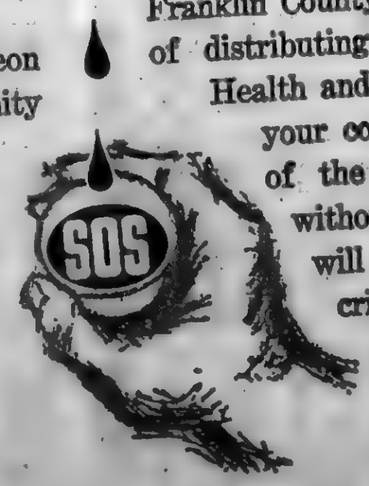
FINISH POLIO FOR GOOD JAN. 6



Franklin County is now protected against Type I and Type II polio. But until Sabin Type III vaccine is distributed on January 6, our community will be wide open to attack by the Type III virus, which causes 44% of all polio cases.

Local medical authorities and the U. S. Surgeon General feel it is most urgent that our community be protected against the Type III virus.

Medical statistics show you are 30 times safer taking the Type III vaccine than not taking it. The vaccine is among the safest of all preventive medicines and the risk it entails is smaller than the risk you take with medicines for the prevention of whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus, measles, smallpox or rabies.

Another safeguard: Unlike some communities, Franklin County is taking the added safety measure of distributing the vaccine during cold weather.

Health and medical authorities are agreed: with your cooperation, January 6 can be the end of the line for polio in our community; without your cooperation, Franklin County will continue to be threatened by this crippling disease.

JAN 1963

Which Will Win Race? Man Or Wind?

Gahanna's own "London Bridge" is falling down. Like the arches of the old policeman on the beat, the 20-ton Taylor Station Road railroad bridge is slowly falling apart.

The hazardous structure became the responsibility of the village when swept in with annexation to take care of Gahanna's expanding population. Although notified of its dangers over two years ago, only recently have village officials become concerned enough to take action on its removal.

According to Solicitor Jim Butler, the real peril of the structure is that high winds could roll it off its support to fall onto the railroad tracks below. This could mean insurmountable property damage claims affecting every taxpayer of the village.

There are also moral responsibilities involved. Innocent train passengers are in jeopardy as long as it spans the tracks; a burning home might wait for the wailing sirens of the township firemen inconvenienced by the detour to reach a vulnerable spot. And what of neighborhood children who dare to venture up to the empty space left where the wood floor had been, already removed to lessen falling damage.

At least 70 years of age, the bridge is one of the oldest in Franklin County and is made of such light iron structure that it has very little salvage value.

Solicitor Jim Butler stated the village has advertised for bids to remove the span and the village would some day like to replace the bridge, however there are no immediate funds available. Butler claims that a demand could be made upon the railroads to furnish a grade crossing, but he is certain that it would be necessary to take the matter to court to obtain it. Butler surmised that the near-5,000 population already burdoned with a $9,000,000 tax duplicate would never agree to another mill tax levy for the construction costs to replace the bridge.

Let's keep our fingers crossed that the race between the wind and man is won by professional razing crews.

now furnished through a private system owned by Burr Dawes.

Others expressed the opinion that the expense of street assessments might well outweigh any advantages, and brought out that the services anticipated from the city might not materialize.

Still others viewed the plan as "a little premature" and felt the community should wait upon an invitation to annex from the city.

The decision was made to withhold any action until more information on the matter could be obtained.

School Aspect Studied

One member reported that some of those in favor of the idea were under the impression that municipal annexation entails a change of school districts.

Asked for explanation, Phillip K. Williams, executive head of the Madison Local Schools, stated that there is no direct connection between the two.

Municipal annexation is a matter between the area in question and the city. Only the State Board of Education has the authority to change school districts.

Without such a change from the board, which is unusual when a relatively small area is involved, students of Winchester Park would still attend Madison schools, and tax money would still be turned over directly to the school district.

According to one of the homeowners, residents of the subdivision became interested in annexation after learning the plans of Don Casto, builder, to construct a shopping center at Monk's Corner.

Depot—

the Supply and Support groups will take several months since there isn't, at the present time, adequate space on the Depot grounds to house all the workers.

The Department of Defense last week, however, let a $2.5-million contract to a Chicago firm to remodel more warehouses at the Depot so that the needed offices can be set up.

The East Columbus center will be responsible for processing and shipping all DSA-managed supplies authorized for stockage there to all of the military installations in the :nentioned 14-state area.

A routing center will also be established which will be responsible for receiving, screening and transmitting requisitions to the appropriate Defense Supply Agency centers. In addition to construction materials, these centers will handle food, clothing and extiles, automotive, electronic, medical, industrial, petroleum and other general supplies.

The Defense Construction Supply Center set up began Starling-st operations in September of 1960. The Mobility Support Center was added in August of 1962. Before this, the building was known as the Engineer Maintenance Center which was started in the West Side more than eight years ago.

INSIDE THIS WEEK

'Suburbia Today' Tells How To Get Away . . .

Tired of long winter nights and stormy winter days? You will find out how to get away from it all—and come back refreshed—in this edition of your Eastern Review's January issue of Suburbia Today.

Author and traveler Philip Wylie offers a worldful of ideas for a vacation in "Ten Winter Days and Where to Go."

Fly to Yucatan, Mexico, to climb ancient pyramids; or to Costa Rica, where orchids grow like weeds; or Lebanon for an exciting leopard hunt. The hotels are comfortable, the food is delicious, and the beaches are for basking. Ole!

And what's a vacation without some new clothes? "Have Clothes, Will Travel" covers high spots in this year's resort wear — fresh easy lines of a yellow linen "skimese"; a white duck dress that's pleated all the way down; a classic raw silk suit; and the new look of paisley at the beach in a pleated bathing suit and matching shift cover-up.

In this issue, too, you'll see why we should "Take Another Look at Those Teenage Drivers!" In suburbs across the country, they're taking high school driver-education courses and they're learning from experts how to handle a car. Read why these youngsters have a 20 per cent lower accident rate than the rest of us, and what they think about "untrained" adults at the wheels.

Food editor Melanie De Proft suggests "Hearty Fare with a Gourmet Touch." There's aromatic vegetable soup Italienne—with carrots, zucchini, and tomatoes topped with Parmesan cheese; or try red snapper with caper stuffing and its own creamy sauce; or an elegant supper buffet of turkey Mediterranean. You're sure to make your family, and your guests, glad they came to dinner.

"Take Some Standard Iron Grillwork," says Garden Editor John Brimer, and make a decorative plant stand and/or room divider. Brimer gives complete directions for making the stand, plus suggestions for the plantings of ferns and ivy and cyclamen that will do best indoors in midwinter. With a little light labor and a few hours of spare time, you'll have a real showpiece.

Our cartoonists brighten the January prospect by poking fun at a harrassed mother in the snow and a golfer who doesn't give up. "Suburbia—Any Day!" gets away from it all with a young man who wants a lot for his money, a couple on shipboard, and —of all things—some natives of Australia.

In the news column, "Getting Around," you'll read about a woman in Illinois who has a recipe for making a skating rink . . . and the wonderful New Year's greeting of a three-year-old—plus a dozen other bits of real life news from pleasant people and places. All in this week!

Hybrid crops are produced by crossing lines that are essentially different, according to Ohio State University Extension agronomists.

ICE SKATE FANS GET RECREATION DEPARTMENT AID

DESPITE THE FACT that this sign at Franklin Park says "Not Responsible For Activities On The Ice," the Columbus Recreation Department reported this week that it is employing qualified ice skating instructors and supervisors to man five city parks. Besides Franklin, Schiller, Westgate, Goodale and Whetstone are now havens for the ice enthusiasts. Supervisors will be on the job from 4 to 10 p.m. on school days, from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Saturdays and from 1 to 10 p.m. on Sundays during those times when the ice will permit skating. Ice skating instruction will be offered at some ponds. The Parks and Forestry Department also is cooperating by maintaining the ice and providing wood-burning warming places.

Capital Drama Group Schedules One-Act Play

The Capital University dramatics department will present an evening of one acts Friday, Jan. 11, in Mees Hall auditorium.

Masquers will perform the plays of Ianesco, O'Neill and Lorca.

The Ianesco production will be Capital's first in the theatre of the absurd, "Avant Garde." The Lorca production will present the Spanish writer in "The House of Bernarda Alba." The O'Neill selection is "The Long Voyage Home."

Speech majors direct and produce the one acts. Producer-coordinator is Betty Brown. The directors are Sharon Trutt, Karyl Merle and Elaine Warren.

Film Set At Center

As part of the International Film Series, the Gallery Players of the Jewish Center is presenting the film, "Hiroshima, Mon Amour," Monday, Jan. 12 and Sunday, Jan. 13 at 8:40 p.m. in the center auditorium, 1125 College-av.

Harold M. Eisenstein, Gallery Players director, feels the theme of the film should inspire an interesting "Koffee Klatch Kritique" following the film. Refreshments will be served.

Galley Player subscribers are admitted free. Admission for center members is 60 cents and for non-members, 90 cents.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

By MRS. JAMES WHALEN
Whitehall Troop 157

Troop members took a trip to the Kahiki on Saturday, Dec. 1. Mrs. William Thomas, Mrs. Daniel Gibson, and leader, Mrs. C. B. Abshear accompanied the troop. Troop news reporter is Connie McFann.

Troop 436

The girls of Troop 436 finished their holiday gifts for their parents and made wreaths from red and green tissue paper.

Troop birthday was Nov. 14 which was celebrated with leader, Mrs. George Thorpe and Mrs. Carl Ceneskie.

Troop members covered boxes for the State Hospital and fixed a box for a needy family.

Troop 433

Each patrol of Troop 433 have made a first aid kit for their meetings; they brought in toys for tots which were presented to the Boys Scouts when they collected, Saturday.

The girls covered and filled boxes for the State Hospital and sold Christmas bows made by the retarded class at Goodwill Industries. The girls made a Christmas gift for their parents and held a party which was made possible by Mrs. Arnold and Mrs. Ulsh.

Troop 433 presented the flag ceremony for the PTA meeting Dec. 13 at the Etna Road School. Belinda Gregory has been elected news reporter.

A meeting was held on Nov. 28 at the Etna Road School to plan the new Whitehall Neighborhood Association. Town and Country District and Great Eastern have united. This takes in all Whitehall schools. Neighborhood chairman is Mrs. Eugene Shade and district chairman, Madeline Fields.

MARINE PRIVATE MICHAEL L. JONES, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Jones of 757 Erickson-av, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Deigo, Calif.

Are You A Master Or Janitor At Home

How long has it been since the man in your house had to take time out from bridge, a whodunit or a snooze to shake down the furnace clinkers or bank the fire in a damp basement?

Or maybe you're the one who had to haul a ton of wet wash out to the line, swab the grease out of the oven, or take out the garbage?

Ah, those were the good old days! All you needed was plenty of fortitude when the wash came back frozen solid or smudged by soot and you had to hang it in the cellar to thaw. And it was a real delight when washing a heap of dishes, pots and pans used up your hot water supply so you couldn't ease your tired back into a hot tub.

Nostalgia or not, few people want to see those days return—and very few have to, what with modern appliances taking over most of the household's janitoring jobs.

Take that business about the clinkers, for example. The Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association points out that in a 1962 home equipped with one of those streamlined gas boilers or furnaces that take up only about two and one-half square feet of floor space in the basement or utility room, nobody thinks about ash cans, stokers, fuel bins and scuttles any more.

What's more, says GAM, that little gimmick on the wall, the thermostat, keeps tabs on the temperature and clicks the heat or the gas air conditioning on or off as needed.

Wet wash? That's old hat now. Today they have gas dryers and washers that work as a team to take care of the heaviest wash and treat the most delicate fabrics without harsh soaps and eyesore washlines.

And, speaking of things of the past, nobody with a modern gas range crawls into a stove any more to do the inevitable cleaning job. Nowadays, the gas range oven parts, the burners, in some cases even the range top, can be taken to the sink and washed like a dish. No stooping, scrubbing or scraping. And there are top burner heat controls and new oven temperature controls that take care of meal preparation without constant vigilance.

In millions of homes, people no longer have to put off showers and shampoos for lack of hot water while the washing machine and dishwater are being used. A modern automatic gas storage water heater — alloy or glass-lined to prevent rust and corrosion—has such a high heat-recovery rate that, if the right-size heater is put into the house in the first place, hot-water supply is endless no matter how many water-consuming appliances are working at the same time.

Now, says GAMA, there's a new development that disposes of the last disagreeable household chore. It's the smokeless-odorless gas disposer. This appliance will take two or three bushels of the wettest, nastiest garbage you ever handled and quickly reduce it to a handful of ash without a trace of smoke or smell. A double-burner principle of combustion eliminates the smoke in this form of incineration.

The way things have been going in the gas appliance industry lately, GAMA observes, a guy has a chance to be master of his house, instead of just the janitor.

It Takes a Lot to Satisfy
A HEALTHY APPETITE

Anyone that has ever tried to fill the bottomless pits of growing boys will tell you that it is practically an impossibility. Yet we must continue to feed them so that they will continue to grow.

With the right kind of encouragement from parents, these boys will develop a hunger for God's word. Take them to church Sunday where they may study and learn more of God's word.

"Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled."

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH — THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Dear friends,

Seven days a week, our clergymen inconspicuously minister to our spiritual needs.

They are always available for sick calls, weddings, personal problems and death. We seldom give enough thought to the burdens that our clergymen so cheerfully bear.

Although their work is spiritually rewarding, they both deserve and appreciate our expression of gratitude.

Respectfully,

Arthur B Leach

RAMS, LIONS DROP PAIR

Tigers Take Sixth; Hawks Upset Cards

East's Tigers continued their winning ways on the hardwood over the holidays with wins number five and six (both on the road) but the City League co-leader had to share the area cage spotlight with Hartley's Hawks, who upset St. Charles, 39-35.

Coach Bob Hart's Tiger quintet brought their fast-break attack to Cuyahoga Falls Friday, posting a 60-51 win over their hosts. Mike Hammond paced the East offense with 22 points, 12 markers coming at the free throw line.

The Tigers had a tougher time getting started Saturday at Canton Lincoln, scrambling to a 21-21 tie at halftime. East got its fleet-footed offense moving after intermission, however, with Ed Waller pouring in 20 points.

GAHANNA WON Hartley's first invitational tournament Saturday night but the Hawks grabbed part of the spotlight with a stunning upset win at the expense of Central Catholic League co-leader, St. Charles.

Hartley rang up a five-point first quarter lead and then just stayed one step ahead of the Carolians the rest of the way to nail down its second win in seven tries.

Randy Rodich and Dick Stopper combined to pace the Hawk offense with 15 and 14 points respectively but both yielded scoring honors to the Cards' Dick Ferris, who tallied 22 markers.

THE HAWKS battled Watkins Memorial down to the wires the night before, finally bowing, 50-42, in the tourney opener.

Ferris led Hartley scorers with 12 points and teammate Jack Diamond chipped in with 10 other markers.

St. Charles faltered in the second half Friday to drop a 46-36 verdict to eventual tourney winner, Gahanna. Dick Ferris dropped in 11 points to pace the Carolians.

All other area teams fell by the wayside over the weekend with CBL entries. Whitehall and Bexley, each dropping a pair of games.

THE RAMS FELT the sting of Urbana's high-powered offense Friday, losing to the Hillclimbers, 81-41. Chuck Imel and Van Evans each scored 18 points for the winners while Ken Maxwell's eight points were tops for Whitehall.

Newark's Wildcats were no kinder Saturday as the Rams fell behind in the second quarter enroute to a 92-65 setback. Jeff Robinson pumped in 23 points for Whitehall while teammate Ken Maxwell hit for 18 more. The twin loss dropped the Rams to a 1-7 seasonal mark.

BEXLEY SWAPPED leads with Grandview for four periods before the Bobcats racked up a 50-48 win over the Lions on Jeff Todd's pair of foul shots in the final 30 seconds.

Jeff Schmidt added up 16 points for Bexley and teammate Jim Hoyer contributed 13 other markers.

West broke away from a first-period deadlock Saturday night to pull away to a 62-55 edge over the Lions. Hoyer's 14 points was high for Bexley while Charlie Castle pumped in 21 for the winning Cowboys.

TOLEDO LIBBEY started out the final period with six straight points to pull away to a 55-41 win over Walnut Ridge in the area's only other cage contest.

The Scotties moved to within seven points of Libbey as the third period came to a close but were unable to match the Toledo quintet's point splurge in the final stanza.

Jim Pyles scored 14 points and Dave Feyh added 10 more markers to the Walnut Ridge cause as the Scotties dropped their fifth decision in six tries.

TWELVE GAMES are on the cage docket for weekend play. City League action Friday finds Aquinas (4-2) at Eastmoor (2-3), Walnut Ridge (1-5) at Linden and East (6-0) at Marion-Franklin (2-6). In the CBL, Grandview (3-5) is at Whitehall (1-7) and Arlington visits Bexley (1-6).

Over in the Central Catholic circuit, co-leaders Watterson (6-0) and St. Charles (4-4) clash at the Eagles' nest, while Newark Catholic visits Hartley (2-5). Academy (1-6) travels to challenge unbeaten Universtiy in County League action.

Four Staurday games round out the weekend schedule. Walnut Ridge entertains Eastmoor, Academy hosts St. Mary's (4-2), Hartley visits Pleasant View (3-2) and St. Charles journeys to Lancaster Fenwick.

Amateur Wrestling Gaining Fan Appeal

There is always a definite progression in a sport as it moves from an amateur to a professional level but there is probably no greater diversity exhibited than in the scope of wrestling—professional vs amateur.

Sports fans who include the pro grapplers in their long line of athletic interests might be taken back a step or two if they stopped in to catch the act of matmen on the collegiate or high school level.

FOR WHAT THEY would see would bear little resemblance to the "act" or "show" performed by the "groan for pay" boys.

In fact, the many-feathered villain or the curly-haired champion of fair play, wrapped in the silk cape, would feel a bit out of place in the arena with the crew-cut high school wrestler equipped with no more than his own physical strength and the fundamentals of the sport taught meticulously by his coach.

All sports fall into one of two classes — team or individual. Wrestling, although scored on a team basis, is broken down into a number of individual contests.

AS ONE SCHOOLBOY grappler put it, "when you get out there in the center of that mat with your opponent, you know it's up to you. Nobody else can help you out."

Amateur wrestling employs many of the same basic holds that you might see in the professional ring but if you're coming out to watch a long series of bouncing acrobatics and painstaking facial expressions — forget it.

We had a little visit with Don Woodland, head wrestling coach at Franklin Heights High School and his Falcon matmen, last week.

DON NOT ONLY explained what the sport is all about on an amateur level but provided some graphic sidelights as he put his wrestlers through their paces to demonstrate the technicalities of the sport.

Woodland, who recently traveled to the nation's capital as a representative for the Ohio Wrestling Coaches Association, pointed out that high school wrestling is the fastest growing spectator and participation sport in all of the 50 states.

Just to give you a few statistics on the subject on a local level, only 12 high schools in the Central District participated in the sport five years ago.

TODAY, NEARLY 40 of the 44 schools in the district have embraced wrestling as part of their athletic program, according to Woodland.

The popularity of wrestling is underlined even more when you consider that only 13 boys turned out for the Falcon wrestling program five years ago as compared with 89 candidates this season.

"Of course, nothing succeeds like success," Woodland said, pointing out that Franklin Heights has accumulated a fine 61-21-1 record in the five-year span.

WHAT ATTRIBUTES must a boy possess to be a good wrestler? "Most important," Woodland declares, "is attitude and dedication to the sport. Also vital is above normal strength and endurance."

The attitude and dedication are things that must always be "the unknown quality." They can be nurtured but cannot be taught.

The strength and endurance part is more tangible. Before practice at Franklin Heights, for example, each wrestler must run four miles, complete 200 situps and finish up his "warmup" with 50 pushups. Agility and coordination are other factors.

WRESTLING COMPETITION on the individual basis is set up in several maximum weight classes (103 pounds, 112 pounds, etc.). Since young men, especially of high school age, are prone to growth and consequently weight increase, a two-pound advance is allowed each grappler after Jan. 1, one more pound as of Feb. 1 and an additional pound in the second day of the tournament.

"This is where the dedication part comes in," Woodland said. "If these boys want to wrestle badly enough, they know they have to cut short the pizzas and Pepsis. It's good training."

The wrestling match begins with a hand shake between combatants and the referee's whistle which starts the clock and initiates the match in the center of the mat.

Matches last through three two-minute periods unless, of course, there is a "fall." A fall occurs when a wrestler's shoulders are held in contact with the mat for a period of two seconds.

If no fall is accomplished within the time limit, the decision is awarded to the wrestler who has scored the most points during the bout.

Points (on an individual basis) are scored thusly: the takedown — when one of the combatants is taken to the floor from his starting position by his opponent. Two points awarded for first takedown, one for each takedown thereafter.

THE "REVERSAL" — when the position of advantage is reversed. Two points awarded. The "escape"—when one wrestler breaks away. One point awarded. The "predicament" — when one shoulder is on the mat and the other is at a 45 degree angle. Two points award. The "near fall" —when wrestler is in a pinning position and a fall is imminent. Three points awarded.

As far as team scoring is figured, three points are awarded for a decision, two points for a draw (only in duel meets), five points for a forfeit and five points for a fall pin.

Incidently, the winner's arm is not raised in victory until the two opponents shake hands to officially finish the match.

ONE MORE POINT in regard to the weight classifications: There's no limit to the heavyweight's weight but the minimum is 185 pounds.

That's about the story on wrestling on the amateur level. Oh! one more thing. Who attends wrestling matches? Just about everybody, but Woodland claims in his situation about 60 to 70 per cent of spectators are of the gentler sex with mom taking "most avid fan" honors.

Amateur wrestling is on the way up in the sports world. Baseball had to step aside for football and football is beginning to feel the pressure of increased interest in basketball. Could be one of these days wrestling might put a deadlock "full nelson" on that indefinable pastime called S-P-O-R-T.

BITS OF WIT(T) — The Harlem Ambassadors, starring Leon Hilliard, have a booking opening in this area for Jan. 22. The Ambassadors, who appeared at the World's Fair this year, will play any type of local team in any gym that seats 800 or more.

Sixty per cent of the gate goes to the Ambassadors with the remaining 40 per cent going to the game's sponsors. Any interested club or group should contact Hymie Ford, 407 W. Morrell-st, Jackson, Mich.

BEXLEY VARSITY SWIMMING SQUAD

BETTY BOWLED 'EM OVER

HEART FUND Bowling Tournament Chairman Earl Flora presents Mrs. Jesse (Betty) Scott of 188 S. Westgate-av, the trophy awarded to the tourney's top woman bowler. Mrs. Scott, who also received a cash prize, toppled all other gal contestants with a score of 173.

Hilltop Woman Tourney Winner

The Sixth Annual Heart Fund Bowling Tournament realized a total of $11,608.70 for the Franklin County Heart Council, tourney chairman Earl Flora announced last week.

Of the total amount contributed, $8,192.24 has been set aside for research purposes in the fight against cardiovascular diseases.

TOP WINNERS IN the the county in the men's and women's divisions were Norman E. Rohr 1177 Northridge-rd (Olentangy Center) and Mrs. Jesse (Betty) Scott, 188 S. Westgate-av. (Three-C Lanes).

Rohr finished with a score of 188 and Mrs. Scott, 173. Scores were figured on the basis of pins downed above the bowler's league average.

Both were awarded mounted gold trophies donated by the Southern Bowling and Billiard Supply Co. and cash prizes, which also were presented to top winners at all the lanes.

THE TOURNAMENT, held Nov. 11-17, carried a one dollar entry fee with 70 per cent of the proceeds going to research and the other 30 per cent used as prize money.

The total figure of $8,192,-24 for research includes the $220.50 donated by the Columbus Savings and Loan Assn. at 50 cents per pin for the 441 pins spilled in the TV Bowlathon on the eve of the tournament.

Joseph, Berry Place In Wrestling Tourney

Two ex-Whitehall wrestling stars showed well as they competed for the Ohio State mat squad recently in the Rose Bowl Tournament at Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Gary Joseph, a 130-pound junior, took third place in the competition and teammate Mike Berry, a 123-pound sophomore, got to the semi-finals before suffering defeat.

The Buckeye squad as a whole finished in fifth place in the tourney which brought together 405 wrestlers from 30 schools.

Buckeye Names James W. Hill Vice President

James W. Hill, 269 Village-dr, has been appointed vice-president at Buckeye Federal Savings and Loan Association, it has been announced by William S. Guthrie, president.

Hill will be in charge of the coordination and development of Buckeye's three branch offices, the development and supervision of an expanded home improvement loan program, and will assist with property appraisals and loan procurements.

For six years prior to joining Buckeye, Hill was an executive in the savings and loan industry. Before that he was assistant mortgage loan agent for the Columbus office of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co. for 15 years.

The Buckeye president also announced the firm's new customer drive-in facilities at 43 E. Long-st are now open. Two teller windows have been installed and a 30-car parking lot is available for customers transacting business at the main office, 36 E. Gay-st.

Carpet Cleaned IN ANY LIVING ROOM and HALL $19.95 REGARDLESS OF ROOM SIZE

LIVING ROOM, DINING ROOM and HALL $29.95 Regardless of Room Size

Why worry about the results of do-it-yourself methods and why take a chance on ruining your expensive carpets, when, for such a small charge, John M. Downey's men will take all the worry and work off your shoulders. Unbelievable as it sounds, they'll clean any living room and hall carpet for just $19.95 or any living room, dining room apse and hall for just $29.95.

GUARANTEE

Our Guarantee: We'll do the same quality work we've been doing for 3 generations. If you do not feel that your carpet has been cleaned as well as or better than it's ever been cleaned before, we will refund your money.

TB Society To Begin Tuberculosis Testing Program In City Schools

The Tuberculosis Society of Columbus and Franklin County embarks on its tuberculosis testing program in Columbus Public Schools on Jan. 7.

The Society will offer the tests to every first grader in each of the city's 106 elementary schools. The tests have already been given students in most suburban and Franklin County school systems, and 102 positive reactors found.

The test is known as the Mantoux or needle-type skin test and is approved by the Academy of Medicine and local health authorities. It is painless.

During the test, clear fluid called tuberculin is injected between the layers of the skin on the forearm. The area where the test is made is checked 48 hours later to determine reactions.

A positive reaction means the pupil has been in close contact with someone who has contagious tuberculosis and that TB germs have entered his body. All positive reactors and their close contacts are x-rayed to locate contagious tuberculosis.

Approximately one out of every 100 first graders tested is a positive reactor, medical authorities report.

Before any child will be given the test, parents must sign a request form supplied to them by the Tuberculosis Society.

Noises of 85 decibels may cause some loss of hearing but recovery occurs in a month or two. Noises of 100 decibels continued for a few minutes may cause temporary loss of hearing and if continued for over an hour may cause permanent loss of hearing in some ranges. Noises of over 120 decibels cause heating of the skin, blurring of vision probably due to vibrations, and muscular weakness in addition to loss of hearing.

Economists Change Minds On Predicted 1963 Slump

By JERRY WOLFROM
Business Editor
Hartley Newspapers

Some of the national economists who predicted a recession for 1963 apparently are backing off and taking another look.

Even as recent as August most business analysts agreed that a downturn could be expected early in 1963. Now, however, many are doing a quick about-face by predicting that no slump is in sight through the current year.

About one-third of the nation's leading economists are devoutly clinging to their early fall prognostications — but even these holdouts believe that the 1963 recession will be "extremely mild." Several of these pessimistic prophets are banking officials.

Most business observers cite the Cuban and Indian incidents as reason for their change of mind. One economist believes that the Cold War adds certain impetus to consumer spending. According to this theory, people feel they may as well do the things and buy the things they want, rather than to wait for some turn of international events to dictate their spending habits for them.

Another economist says that defense spending probably will be upped in 1963, giving the nation temporary reprieve. There is evidence that many companies have built up their inventories as a result of the tension created in India and Cuba.

Record auto sales seem to indicate that American consumers are not too worried about any impending recession. As one bank official said, "I'm beginning to believe the old saying you can't have two good years in a row, is all wrong."

Several Detroit automobile executives have echoed this reasoning by predicting 1963 sales may outdistance the records set last year.

Steel, a segment of the economy that has slumped badly in recent months, can expect an upswing as a result of healthy automotive buying. Several plants reported orders have increased 15 to 20 percent in December.

Even stock prices, so-called leading indicators of business climates, have moved steadily higher as 1962 drew to a close. Similiarly, a number of commodity prices have slipped up.

It should be noted, however, that just as quickly as they reversed themselves and predicted a properous 1963, national economists can just as easily change their minds and predict all sorts of dire business setbacks at a moment's notice.

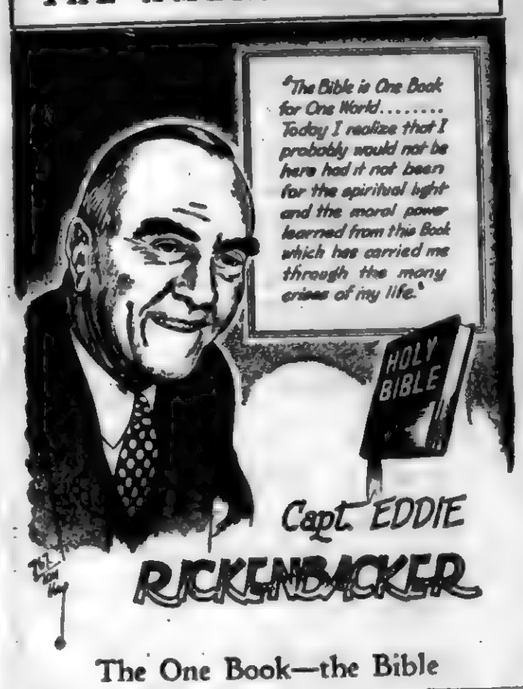
New Shopping Center On Drawing Board

Don M. Casto, Jr. of the Don M. Casto real estate firm stated this week that construction of a 25-store shopping center will definitely begin this spring at Monk's Corners.



Leases have been let, he said, for 90 per cent of the development which will be known as Berwick Plaza Shopping Center.

Located south of Refugee-rd on Route 33, the land is not within the corporation limits of Columbus.

Casto did not care to express an opinion on the possibility of the company's seeking annexation for their property.

Citizens of Winchester Park (which lies south of the proposed shopping center) have recently made efforts to ascertain from the city acting planning director facts involved in annexation.

Rep. E. Ross Adair, R-Ind., describes the Monroe Doctrine as follows: "On its deathbed, suffering from the fatal disease of lack of exercise, and complicated by the faulty diagnosis of a physician who does not understand it.

Ag Groups Combining For Meet

The combined annual meetings of the Franklin Conservation District and the Franklin Dairy Service Cooperative will be held Tuesday, Jan. 15, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the King Avenue Methodist Church, King and Neil-ave.

Directors for the district and the service unit will be elected, service reports will be given.

Program for the meeting also includes singing by the "Sweet Adelines" and "Communications of Tomorrow" a talk by John Grubenhoff of the Bell Telephone Co.

Dinner (at $1 each) will be served at noon.

Tickets can be ordered from any of the following men:

Sam Frantz, Ralph Schrock, Neil Stevenson, Wilbur Gantz, Orrin Schott, Herman Weber, Gary Dever, Galen McLeod, Kenneth Noble, Charles R. Taylor.

Dale Rawn, Richard Barbee, Dale Worthington, Leonard Gantz, your milk tester, SCD technician, any county agent or the SCD Extension office.

Galen McLeod is chairman of the Dairy Service Unit and Ralph Schrock, chairman of the Soil Conservation District.

Marion-Franklin Lad Is Rescued From Icy Scioto

Tilden Sheridan, 17, of 2688 S. High-st, was rescued last week from a log floating in the Scioto River near the Hartman Farm south of Columbus.

The Marion-Franklin High basketball player said he had been hunting on the east bank with Louis Hunt, 16, and his brother, Bill Hunt, 14, of 89 Obetz-rd. They decided to cross the river.

Since he was the only swimmer among the trio, Sheridan volunteered to go first to test the depth of the ice.

When he got near the middle, Sheridan said water started seeping in at the top of his boots. He started to retreat but dropped a shotgun he was carrying. When he bent over to retrieve it, he slipped into a hole.

His two companions ran for help and the Hamilton Township firemen, using a rescue boat, picked up Sheridan about 6 p.m. — an hour and a half after his slip.

Half-Million Dollar Permit Just 'Record'

According to officials of Columbus Division of Sewerage and Drainage, a recent city building permit concerning an addition to the sewage disposal plant on Jackson-pk for $577,000 was "just a matter of record for the Division of Building Regulations."

The contract for the addition, which was for additional sludge filtration facilities, was let Jan. 8, 1962.

"Construction has long since started," officials reported.

You Said It

"Two Bits"

A Spanish coin, the real, amounted to an eighth of the old Spanish-American dollar, the legendary "piece of eight." The real became known as a "bit" and was worth 12½ cents. Although there is no such thing as a one bit piece in U.S. currency, the term "two bits" is widely used to indicate a quarter.

Vs. Progress!

This week our newspapers are talking about progress—a whole 12 page section of it.

Now, we're all for progress—we just won't get anywhere without it. But, in our lazy-like way, we have these reflections:

No one has developed a substitute for a good old rocking chair.

When you sit down to the table there is no improvement in menus over old fashioned fried chicken, corn on the cob and plenty of juicy sliced red ripe tomatoes.

Of course we won't convince modern educators but we still think Mr. McGuffey really had something in his readers.

All the modern lipsticks, face creams, eye paint and hair tints still haven't produced a gal that exceeds in beauty that sun ripened lass who recognizes her God-given outward appearance is more to be loved than the artificials.

Today you may have more of them, but perhaps you are no better off than when your

Smut Movies Dirtying Theater Screens Here

A Hartley Headliner Report

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Smut merchants peddling miles and miles of filthy film to local theaters have got to be stopped—even if it takes an act of Congress to do it. That's the consensus of many of our socially-conscious citizens—and after seeing some of the films myself, I agree.

The nature and extent of these movies are adequate to pervert every youngster in this country, and Columbus is surely getting its Baker-dozen share.

These films have been termed by one reputable theater owner as movies that weren't "released . . . they escaped!" They depict carnal orgies, all-the-way nudity and employ every sex smybol in the book.

Most of the films (one may be showing right down the street from you now) are shot with a 16mm movie camera in motel rooms — usually on the West Coast. Generally, there is no sound track.

The technical quality of them is comparable to scrawlings on a washroom wall and any acting ability displayed by the leading characters is purely accidental.

Local law and civic leaders are, at this moment, striving to clamp down on the recent barrage of filthy movies but the statutes on the law books governing obscenity are nearly as skimpy as the costumes worn by these nude actresses which said law is supposed to prohibit.

Daily ——papers are running "border-line - obscenity" in their theater pages to advertise the films. This brings some of the picture's contact right into the living room regardless of the fact that the advertising, in some cases, speaks louder that the film itself.

Opponents of these films are divided into three groups. (1) Lt. George Watts and the Columbus vice-squad, (2) Bernard Chupka, this city's prosecuting attorney, and (3) Victor Rowman, newly-elected chairman of the Columbus Movie Review Board which meets monthly.

They, and their departmental workers, are devoting many hours to fight this commercialized obscenity. Their primary target is the youth of this city.

A U. S. Senate subcommittee, describing obscene movies as "nauseating and depraved," compared them with narcotics. They claim it has the effect of "hooking" steady customers.

The Citizens for Decent Literature, Inc. group of Cleveland reported that "once such an appetite is aroused, especially in the young, it demands more stimulating and exciting fare. Like dope addiction, smut has stages — the borderline, the obscene and pornographic and, finally, the depraved.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has termed pornography as " . . . a major cause of sex violence . . . creating criminals faster than we can build jails to house them."

Columbus people want positive action immediately.

Robert Duncan, assistant prosecuting attorney, suggested last week that some legislation be introduced into the Ohio General Assembly in January to strengthen and "clarify" the obscenity laws.

Such action was tried in the 101st and 102nd assemblies, and legislators felt they had defined obscenity satisfactory, but it died in the Senate education committee headed by Senator C. A. Mosher.

Some possible solutions are in the works right now. Most practical of these perhaps, is a composition of ideas from Chupka and from Safety Director Al Giles.

Chupka proposed last Thursday, during a regular meting of the Movie Review Board, that all films coming into Columbus be "licensed." The prosecutor pointed out that a license couldn't be denied to certain films because of content since this entered into the realm of squelching certain freedoms of expression.

Giles brough up this theory that certain restrictions could be made of a film, however (not entirely on content), that would cause the refusal of a license.

As Giles sees it, a license could be refused a film if it didn't lead in with certain expected items as the name of the producer, the name of the film studio, a list of characters and other such items contained in legitimate releases.

"This," Giles pointed out, "would offer just one deterrent to the films. I'm sure we could come up with more restrictions like this that would hamper the showing of these movies here."

Another detering factor is the possibility of a city ordinance to prohibit films shown in Columbus movie houses made on acetate film. This type is highly flammable and isn't in use by noted movie makers. A recently confiscated movie actually caught fire while the Movie Review Board was witnessing it at a private showing.

Most authorities on the matter agree on one thing, though. It's basically a question of taste and morals. It's up to the schools, the churches and the parents of this community to establish our level.

Eastmoor Opening Delayed

The second postponement in the opening of the new Eastmoor Junior High School, under construction at 3540 Medway-av, was announced by Dr. Harold Eibling, Columbus Schools' superintendent, Tuesday.

Originally scheduled to open in September, the date was advanced at that time until Jan. 28.

Dr. Eibling, in making the announcement, set Apr. 1 as the date for re-evaluation of construction progress. The school may open at that time.

Five hundred Eastmoor Junior High students are now attending Johnson Park, and will continue to study there until Eastmoor is ready for occupancy.

BEWARE!

THE CITY of Bexley evidently is concerned with "cross traffic." As any motorist using those narrow six-lanes on E. Broad-st will tell you, it makes for some of the crossest traffic in town to say nothing of the cross drivers. Anyway, as the sign at Cassingham and E. Broad-st indicates, go slow.

EVAN E. WILLIAMS (left), 2491 Sherwood-rd, was installed governor of the Ohio District, Kiwanis International, Saturday at the Deshler Hilton Hotel. The Bexley resident is being congratulated here by Dr. Harold R. Corbin, immediate past-governor from Toledo. Another East Side man, Robert S. Rosencrans, 648 Enfield-rd, was installed as district chairman. Approximately 400 Kiwanians and their wives attended the meeting.

★ SHADES OF 1959 RACE . . . ? ★

Mayoralty Hopefuls List Thoughts On Re-Election . . . Platform Plans

Four years have elapsed, but when Columbus voters trek to the polls for the primary election May 7, they'll probably be reminded of a similar situation in 1959, That's, at least, how it looks now.

This "flashback" to the past stems from the fact that the two political candidates who opposed each other in that year for the office of mayor are throwing those well-known hats in the ring again.

Although the deadline for filing is Feb. 6, Columbus Mayor, W. Ralston Westlake and former city father M. E. (Jack) Sensenbrenner have both shown that they definitely are ready to race again.

Voters should have it tougher deciding this year than in 1959, however, since both Republican Westlake and Democrat Sensenbrenner have tempting platform promises for the people of this city.

A questionnaire prepared by the Hartley Newspapers editorial staff and designed to bring to the front some of the most important things in the minds of Columbus voters has been answered by both men and is reprinted herewith:

WESTLAKE

Q. — Are you going to be a candidate for mayor of Columbus this year?

WESTLAKE—Some of my friends already are circulating nominating petitions and my name will be submitted to the Franklin County Republican committee at their next meeting.

SENSENBRENNER — Absolutely.

Q. — Why do you feel you should be elected mayor?

WESTLAKE — I feel that my record during my first term in the office is one of the best reasons why I should be given another term. The people of Columbus must have felt that I was the best qualified of all candidates when they elected me to my first term. With four years of experience in the post, I am even better qualified now to more ably serve the people during a second term.

SENSENBRENNER — I am deeply concerned with the future of our city and I want to resume the speedy pace of progress that characterized my six years of administration. Under my administration our city earned the All-America City award. This was the result of hard work and citizens working together for progress.

Q. — What platform will you campaign on?

WESTLAKE—On the salient features of my present administration: Integrity in city government, a sound fiscal policy that has kept the city in the black; substantial progress in the city's current multi-million-dollar public works construction program and imaginative, yet practical, plans for its future development as one of the most liveable cities in America. As the result of my action, the old Scioto Conservancy District was dissolved and the new, more streamlined program district was born, aided by a million-dollar loan from the city. I'll continue to push this type of program in this city.

SENSENBRENNER — We must concentrate on improvement of the whole downtown district which is so vital to all other sections of our city. Many additions are needed to enhance the services in the heart of the city such as better mass transportation and parking.

Q. — What can you claim as the outstanding factor of progress for

SENSENBRENNER

Columbus under your administration?

WESTLAKE—A dedicated group of executives and employes who have the best interest of the city at heart.

SENSENBRENNER — Our policy on annexation. We grew more area-wise in the six-year Sensenbrenner administration than in the first 140 years in the life of Columbus. This brought our city to the attention of the entire nation and provided the potential of Columbus' become the greatest city in the Mid-West. Other factors of nearly equal importance in-

Laotian Teacher At Whitehall Has Big Tasks To Perform . . .

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

The international flavor at Whitehall High, brewed for the first time last year by a Japanese exchange teacher, was bubbling again this week with the visit of a Laotian education official.

Boun Phaosihavong, a 24-year-old certification director in the Vientiane, Laos, school system, will stay in this suburban school until Feb. 15.

A participant in the International Teacher Development program, Phaosihavong has been delegated to "study and survey" teaching practices in this country in an effort to improve instruction in Laos.

The slight, bright-eyed Boun had spent three months in Washington, D.C. prior to his visit to Whitehall in efforts to learn English. The "cram" course evidently paid

DEMS ADVERTISE FOR CANDIDATES

Lewis Oliver, president of the Whitehall Democratic Club, has evidently heard of the slogan "It pays to advertise" and is using the method to stimulate political interest.

Oliver placed an ad (see inside) in this copy of the Eastern Review, advertising for "Qualified, civic-minded persons to run for public office in Whitehall on Nov. 5."

The ad, believed to be a first in Central Ohio, was inserted by Oliver because, he says, ". . . we want every citizen of Whitehall to know there is an election coming up and we want them to understand the Democratic party of Whitehall is not a closed group.

The ad also says "If you are qualified for one of these positions (mayor, councilman, etc.) and if you are dissatisfied with our present administration and if you are interested in giving the people of Whitehall a voice in their own government . . . then here's your golden opportunity."

ROBBIE REVIEW FINDS POTENTIAL SPEED TRAP

EASTERN REVIEW civic-improvement expert, Robbie Review almost jumped out of the picture when he saw this potential speed trap in Whitehall. It's on busy E. Broad, in front of Broad Street Elementary School. E. Broad, up until this "school zone," is 35 mph. What's so unusual is how the area is marked. Only a small "School Zone" sign and an even smaller "20-mile per hour" sign mark the area. Nothing is painted on the street or hanging over the street. The school, to make matters worse, is situated back from the street (see extreme right) and could easily go unnoticed by motorists fighting the already bad traffic conditions in the area.

Marion-Franklin Lad Is Rescued From Icy Scioto

Tilden Sheridan, 17, of 2688 S. High-st, was rescued last week from a log floating in the Scioto River near the Hartman Farm south of Columbus.

The Marion-Franklin High basketball player said he had been hunting on the east bank with Louis Hunt, 16, and his brother, Bill Hunt, 14, of 89 Obetz-rd. They decided to cross the river.

Since he was the only swimmer among the trio, Sheridan volunteered to go first to test the depth of the ice.

When he got near the middle, Sheridan said water started seeping in at the top of his boots. He started to retreat but dropped a shotgun he was carrying. When he bent over to retrieve it, he slipped into a hole.

His two companions ran for help and the Hamilton Township firemen, using a rescue boat, picked up Sheridan about 6 p.m. — an hour and a half after his slip.

Half-Million Dollar Permit Just 'Record'

According to officials of Columbus Division of Sewerage and Drainage, a recent city building permit concerning an addition to the sewage disposal plant on Jackson-pk for $577,000 was "just a matter of record for the Division of Building Regulations."

The contract for the addition, which was for additional sludge filtration facilities, was let Jan. 8, 1962.

"Construction has long since started," officials reported.

"Two Bits"

A Spanish coin, the real, amounted to an eighth of the old Spanish-American dollar, the legendary "piece of eight." The real became known as a "bit" and was worth 12½ cents. Although there is no such thing as a one bit piece in U.S. currency, the term "two bits" is widely used to indicate a quarter.

Vs. Progress

This week our newspapers are talking about progress—a whole 12 page section of it.

Now, we're all for progress—we just won't get anywhere without it. But, in our lazy-like way, we have these reflections:

No one has developed a substitute for a good old rocking chair.

When you sit down to the table there is no improvement in menus over old fashioned fried chicken, corn on the cob and plenty of juicy sliced red ripe tomatoes.

Of course we won't convince modern educators but we still think Mr. McGuffey really had something in his readers.

All the modern lipsticks, face creams, eye paint and hair tints still haven't produced a gal that exceeds in beauty that sun ripened lass who recognizes her God-given outward appearance is more to be loved than the artificials.

Today you may have more of them, but perhaps you are no better off than when your

Smut Movies Dirtying Theater Screens Here

A Hartley Headliner Report

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Smut merchants peddling miles and miles of filthy film to local theaters have got to be stopped—even if it takes an act of Congress to do it. That's the consensus of many of our socially-conscious citizens—and after seeing some of the films myself, I agree.

The nature and extent of these movies are adequate to pervert every youngster in this country, and Columbus is surely getting its Baker-dozen share.

"These films have been termed by one reputable theater owner as movies that weren't "released . . . they escaped!" They depict carnal orgies, all-the-way nudity and employ every sex smybol in the book.

Most of the films (one may be showing right down the street from you now) are shot with a 16mm movie camera in motel rooms — usually on the West Coast. Generally, there is no sound track.

The technical quality of them is comparable to scrawlings on a washroom wall and any acting ability displayed by the leading characters is purely accidental.

Local law and civic leaders are, at this moment, striving to clamp down on the recent barrage of filthy movies but the statutes on the law books governing obscenity are nearly as skimpy as the costumes worn by these nude actresses which said law is supposed to prohibit.

Daily newspapers are running "border-line-obscenity" in their theater pages to advertise the films. This brings some of the picture's contact right into the living room regardless of the fact that the advertising, in some cases, speaks louder that the film itself.

Opponents of these films are divided into three groups. (1) Lt. George Watts and the Columbus vice-squad, (2) Bernard Chupka, this city's prosecuting attorney, and (3) Victor Rowman, newly-elected chairman of the Columbus Movie Review Board which meets monthly.

They, and their departmental workers, are devoting many hours to fight this commercialized obscenity. Their primary target is the youth of this city.

A U. S. Senate subcommittee, describing obscene movies as "nauseating and depraved," compared them with narcotics. They claim it has the effect of "hooking" steady customers.

The Citizens for Decent Literature, Inc. group of Cleveland reported that "once such an appetite is aroused, especially in the young, it demands more stimulating and exciting fare. Like dope addiction, smut has stages — the borderline, the obscene and pornographic and, finally, the depraved.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has termed pornography as " . . . a major cause of sex violence . . . creating criminals faster than we can build jails to house them."

Columbus people want positive action immediately.

Robert Duncan, assistant prosecuting attorney, suggested last week that some legislation be introduced into the Ohio General Assembly in January to strengthen and "clarify" the obscenity laws.

Such action was tried in the 101st and 102nd assemblies, and legislators felt they had defined obscenity satisfactory, but it died in the Senate education committee headed by Senator C. A. Mosher.

Some possible solutions are in the works right now. Most practical of these perhaps, is a composition of ideas from Chupka and from Safety Director Al Giles.

Chupka proposed last Thursday, during a regular meting of the Movie Review Board, that all films coming into Columbus be "licensed." The prosecutor pointed out that a license couldn't be denied to certain films because of content since this entered into the realm of squelching certain freedoms of expression.

Giles brough up this theory that certain restrictions could be made of a film, however (not entirely on content), that would cause the refusal of a license.

As Giles sees it, a license could be refused a film if it didn't lead in with certain expected items as the name of the producer, the name of the film studio, a list of characters and other such items contained in legitimate releases.

"This," Giles pointed out, "would offer just one deterrent to the films. I'm sure we could come up with more restrictions like this that would hamper the showing of these movies here."

Another detering factor is the possibility of a city ordinance to prohibit films shown in Columbus movie houses made on acetate film. This type is highly flammable and isn't in use by noted movie makers. A recently confiscated movie actually caught fire while the Movie Review Board was witnessing it at a private showing.

Most authorities on the matter agree on one thing, though. It's basically a question of taste and morals. It's up to the schools, the churches and the parents of this community to establish our level.

Eastmoor Opening Delayed

The second postponement in the opening of the new Eastmoor Junior High School, under construction at 3540 Medway-av, was announced by Dr. Harold Eibling, Columbus Schools' superintendent, Tuesday.

Originally scheduled to open in September, the date was advanced at that time until Jan. 28.

Dr. Eibling, in making the announcement, set Apr. 1 as the date for re-evaluation of construction progress. The school may open at that time.

Five hundred Eastmoor Junior High students are now attending Johnson Park, and will continue to study there until Eastmoor is ready for occupancy.

BEWARE!

THE CITY of Bexley evidently is concerned with "cross traffic." As any motorist using those narrow six-lanes on E. Broad-st will tell you, it makes for some of the crossest traffic in town to say nothing of the cross drivers. Anyway, as the sign at Cassingham and E. Broad-st indicates, go slow.

★ SHADES OF 1959 RACE . . . ? ★

Mayoralty Hopefuls List Thoughts On Re-Election . . . Platform Plans

Four years have elapsed, but when Columbus voters trek to the polls for the primary election May 7, they'll probably be reminded of a similar situation in 1959. That's, at least, how it looks now.

This "flashback" to the past stems from the fact that the two political candidates who opposed each other in that year for the office of mayor are throwing those well-known hats in the ring again.

Although the deadline for filing is Feb. 6, Columbus Mayor W. Ralston Westlake and former city father M. E. (Jack) Sensenbrenner have both shown that they definitely are ready to race again.

Voters should have it tougher deciding this year than in 1959, however, since both Republican Westlake and Democrat Sensenbrenner have tempting platform promises for the people of this city.

A questionnaire prepared by the Hartley Newspapers editorial staff and designed to bring to the front some of the most important things in the minds of Columbus voters has been answered by both men and is reprinted herewith:

WESTLAKE

Q. — Are you going to be a candidate for mayor of Columbus this year?

WESTLAKE—Some of my friends already are circulating nominating petitions and my name will be submitted to the Franklin County Republican committee at their next meeting.

SENSENBRENNER — Absolutely.

Q. — Why do you feel you should be elected mayor?

WESTLAKE — I feel that my record during my first term in the office is one of the best reasons why I should be given another term. The people of Columbus must have felt that I was the best qualified of all candidates when they elected me to my first term. With four years of experience in the post, I am even better qualified now to more ably serve the people during a second term.

SENSENBRENNER — I am deeply concerned with the future of our city and I want to resume the speedy pace of progress that characterized my six years of administration. Under my administration our city earned the All-America City award. This was the result of hard work and citizens working together for progress.

Q.— What platform will you campaign on?

WESTLAKE—On the salient features of my present administration: Integrity in city government, a sound fiscal policy that has kept the city in the black; substantial progress in the city's current multi-million-dollar public works construction program and imaginative, yet practical, plans for its future development as one of the most liveable cities in America. As the result of my action, the old Scioto Conservancy District was dissolved and the new, more streamlined program district was born, aided by a million-dollar loan from the city. I'll continue to push this type of program in this city.

SENSENBRENNER — We must concentrate on improvement of the whole downtown district which is so vital to all other sections of our city. Many additions are needed to enhance the services in the heart of the city such as better mass transportation and parking.

Q. — What can you claim as the outstanding factor of progress for Columbus under your administration?

SENSENBRENNER

WESTLAKE—A dedicated group of executives and employes who have the best interest of the city at heart.

SENSENBRENNER — Our policy on annexation. We grew more area-wise in the six-year Sensenbrenner administration than in the first 140 years in the life of Columbus. This brought our city to the attention of the entire nation and provided the potential of Columbus' become the greatest city in the Mid-West. Other factors of nearly equal importance in-

Progress Is Theme Today

Don't miss the special 12-page Progress Report in this week's edition. Crammed full of articles by local experts in the field of religion, education, business and government, the report gives a composite evaluation of area progress in 1962.

Jaycees To Select Five For Awards

Eastern Jaycees will select five young men residing or working in the East Side to be recipients of their Distinguished Service Awards.

A banquet to be held Jan. 24 at the Desert Inn will climax National Jaycee Week.

Eastern President J. Rogers Vien has announced appointment of a selection committee consisting of Whitehall Mayor Walter B. Moling, George Novotny of North American Aviation, Rev. James Ogurchock of Holy Spirit Church, Charles Collins of Penney's Town and Country and Charles Sawyer, personnel manager of Western Electric.

The committee will sort through nominations received from more than 100 organizations and firms in the East Side, which have been asked to take part in this project.

Selection of the five finalists will be announced prior to the banquet, at which time one of the five will be named the outstanding young man of the area in 1962.

Any organization desiring information or nomination

LOOKING OVER a student-driver manual at Whitehall High School is Boun Phaosihavong, a Laotian education official who will spend a few months in that suburb studying school life in this country. Phaosihavong is surrounded by students, from left, Becky Schiller, Rick Freiberger, Gay Clark and Cheryl Jones. Miss Clark, incidentally, is her Reserve cheerleading uniform, was one innovation noted by Phaosihavong who reported that "yell teams" are unheard of in his native land.

Laotian Teacher At Whitehall Has Big Tasks To Perform . . .

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

The international flavor at Whitehall High, brewed for the first time last year by a Japanese exchange teacher, was bubbling again this week with the visit of a Laotian education official.

Boun Phaosihavong, a 24-year-old certification director in the Vientiane, Laos, school system, will stay in this suburban school until Feb. 15.

A participant in the International Teacher Development program, Phaosihavong has been delegated to "study and survey" teaching practices in this country in an effort to improve instruction in Laos.

The slight, bright-eyed Boun had spent three months in Washington, D.C. prior to his visit to Whitehall in efforts to learn English. The "cram" course evidently paid

DEMS ADVERTISE FOR CANDIDATES

Lewis Oliver, president of the Whitehall Democratic Club, has evidently heard of the slogan "it pays to advertise" and is using the method to stimulate political interest.

Oliver placed an ad (see inside) in this copy of the Eastern Review, advertising for "Qualified, civic-minded persons to run for public office in Whitehall on Nov. 5."

The ad, believed to be a first in Central Ohio, was inserted by Oliver because, he says, "... we want every citizen of Whitehall to know there is an election coming up and we want them to understand the Democratic party of Whitehall is not a closed group.

The ad also says "If you are qualified for one of these positions (mayor, councilman, etc.) and if you are dissatisfied with our present administration and if you are interested in giving the people of Whitehall a voice in their own government . . . then here's your golden opportunity."

NEW KIWANIS GOVERNOR

EVAN E. WILLIAMS (left), 2491 Sherwood-rd, was installed governor of the Ohio District, Kiwanis International, Saturday at the Deshler Hilton Hotel. The Bexley resident is being congratulated here by Dr. Harold E. Corbin, immediate past-governor from Toledo. Another East Side man, Robert S. Rosencrans, [redacted] Enfield-rd, was installed as district chairman. Approximately 400 Kiwanians and their wives attended the meeting.

Valentine Material Wanted

Amateur poets and creative writers in Hartley Newspapers' circulation area will be given a chance to submit material for the big special edition honoring St. Valentine's Day in February.

Readers with a flare to create poetry or material appropriate to the occasion should send copy to, Valentine Editor, Hartley Newspapers, 2465 W. Broad-st, Columbus 4, O.

Copy should contain 200 words or less and be received in this office no later than Jan. 25.

Hartley Newspapers reserves the right to print or reject any contributions.

ROBBIE REVIEW FINDS POTENTIAL SPEED TRAP

EASTERN REVIEW civic-improvement expert, Robbie Review almost jumped out of the picture when he saw this potential speed trap in Whitehall. It's on busy E. Broad, in front of Broad Street Elementary School. E. Broad, up until this "school zone," is 35 mph. What's so unusual is how the area is marked. Only a small "School Zone" sign and an even smaller "30-mile per hour" sign mark the area. Nothing is painted on the street or hanging over the street. The school, to make matters worse, is situated back from the street (see extreme right) and could easily go unnoticed by motorists fighting the already bad traffic conditions in the area.

THE EYES HAVE IT

Remember when eye makeup was restricted to "after dark" use? Today we recognize that eyes are a lovely focal point all through the day as well. It's not only acceptable — It's almost essential. There never has been such a time and demand for eye appeal.

You might say that you can choose your eyes the way you select your jewelry or a hat. Since all eyes are on you, an attractive and well-groomed appearance is important. "Why Did The Flowers Turn Color On My Dress?"

Mrs. R. S. C.

Dear Mrs. R. S. C.:

Your dress is one of many colorful creations that are being brought into this country from overseas. Japan and China are sending attractive dresses and cashmere-appearing coats into many of our shops. Unfortunately, they are not always labeled correctly or in sufficient detail.

Your particular dress carried light green brocaded flowers on a silk rayon satin garment. Somehow these flowers or some of them, were wet with water and permitted to dry before sending your dress to the drycleaner. Green, of course, is made up of the colors yellow and blue. The yellow component in the green flowers was loosened by the water. Then, when the dress was drycleaned, only the blue remained in the flowers that had been wet.

Yours is not the only discouraging report we've had from Oriental garments. We have heard of jackets with buttons that dissolved when drycleaned . . . coats that appear and feel like cashmere, but when cleaned like cashmere, mat sadly. Actually, these coats are rayon and wool, not cashmere. The interesting Oriental label fooled the customer and the cleaner.

Buttons that dissolve in drycleaning are an old American custom. Now, both customers and drycleaners remove them before cleaning to be safe.

Your brocaded flowers turned color because of improper dyeing in a foreign country. Remember, standards do not appear as high outside of the United States and foreign manufacturers aren't as careful as the better ones we are accustomed to here.

"Don't cut my hair", directed the brisk young miss. "Just give me a permanent!" We showed her why that wouldn't work, and now we'll let you in on the secret. A new permanent, popped on top of the last tired twists of an old wave, would come out in dried-out frizz. But that's not all! Your permanent wave and your advance-shaping go together, like strawberries and cream. Put 'em together, add a fabulous new "do" . . . and you'll be delighted!

WHAT (SHEARS) SCISSORS

All the time we're trimming, we're studying and planning. Is your hair on the "thin" side? We'll "fluff" it for extra body. Is your profile prettier from the right than the left? We'll plan your "permanent" style accordingly. Each tender tendril will be shaped for the rod that will curl it. Then we produce the permanent wave ideal for your hair condition, and presto! Soon your head takes on a heady new kind of beauty.

LIKE A LOVE NOTE

Your professional permanent wave is just that personal; every step for you alone. That's why it takes a trio of steps: shaping, curling, styling to a breathtaking new "do" designed just for your features and your life. Exclusive? You bet . . . Expensive? No Ma'am! We've designed our three-step permanent waves to fit your budget beautifully, too. (Just pay us a visit, and see.)

ARCHITECT'S CONCEPTION of the chapel of the Lutheran Senior City which is under construction at 977 Parkview-av shows the contemporary motif employed. The city has been in planning by the Lutheran Welfare League of Columbus.

Lutheran Senior City To Serve 25 Counties

Lutheran Senior City's modern architecture one-floor dwelling will provide accommodations for 285 persons of age 62 and older. Construction of Lutheran Senior City is now under way on spacious grounds located at 977 Parkview-av with entrance off Johnstown-rd.

It will serve the needs of senior citizens in a 25-county area of Central Ohio. Facilities will be for couples, as well as single persons.

The structure will consist of a number of individual neighborhoods or living quarters built around outside courts and all connected with covered hallways leading to central dining, recreation and service area.

A chaplain will serve the spiritual needs of the residents desiring such, providing the full services of a pastor in respect to domestic, family and spiritual needs.

Those residents of other faiths desiring to avail themselves of other church and ministerial services in the community will have opportunities to do so.

Lutheran Senior City is the outgrowth of five years of planning by The Lutheran Welfare League of Columbus.

Actively furthering the big dream of a haven for the older generation have been C. T. Hathaway, Revs. Bradow, Rismiller, and Kibler, assisted by the office manager of The Lutheran Welfare League, Miss F. Bell.

Residents of Lutheran Senior City will have freedom to come and go as they like, compatible with their capabilities.

Dog Owners Reminded That License Deadline Is Near

Deadline is Sunday, Jan. 20, for purchasing dog licenses.

According to Ohio law, every dog three months or older must have a license and wear a tag at all times. Failure to purchase a license for your dog may result in arrest and, if convicted, a fine of as much as $25 and costs may be imposed.

License fees are $2 for male, spayed female and female dogs or $10 for a kennel permit.

Since the deadline falls on Sunday this year and the courthouse will be closed at noon Saturday, Jan. 19, applications for licenses will be taken at the Animal Shelter, 2770 Groveport-pk, from 9 a. to 4 p.m., Sunday, Jan. 20.

All applications by mail will be honored if postmarked not later than midnight, Jan. 20.

When mailing to the Franklin County auditor, state breed, sex, age, color, long or short hair, of dog. Enclose the proper fee and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Association Of Baptists To Convene

Woman's Missionary Union of the Capital City Association of Baptists (SBC) will meet at 10 a.m. Friday, Jan. 11, at Tri-Village Baptist Church.

Conferences, to be led by association officers, have been scheduled as follows:

Prayer, Mrs. W. C. Dudley, Gahanna; community missions, Mrs. J. Frank Heaton, Whitehall; stewardship, Mrs. Charles Thomas, Ashville; mission study, Mrs. James Baker, North Linden.

Young Women's Auxiliary, Mrs. Lynn Davis, Whitehall; Girls' auxiliary, Mrs. Truman Ellison, state GA director, Whitehall, and sunbeam, Mrs. Enoch Morrow, Ashville.

A special conference for general officers will feature methods for presentation of more inspirational programs in the local church. This will be led by Mrs. J. Paul Cotner, Jr., of Southside Baptist Church.

Following a brief business session, Rev. J. Willard Jarvis, pastor Whitehall Baptist Church, will address the group. Luncheon will be served by the hostess church.

Township Heads To Convene At Deshler Hilton

The 35th annual convention of the Ohio State Association of Township Trustees and Clerks will be held at the Deshler Hilton Hotel Thursday through Saturday, Jan. 24-26.

About 1700 members are expected to attend.

The welcoming address will be given by Mayor W. Ralston Westlake.

Other speakers who will address the assembly include Frank Thatcher of Wilmington, president of the County Engineers' Association; State Senator Tennyson Guyer, Findlay; State Representative Harry Jump, Willard; Lieutenant-Governor-elect John W. Brown, Medina, who will serve as toastmaster.

The trustees' and clerks' proposed legislative program for the forthcoming 105th General Assembly of Ohio will be discussed.

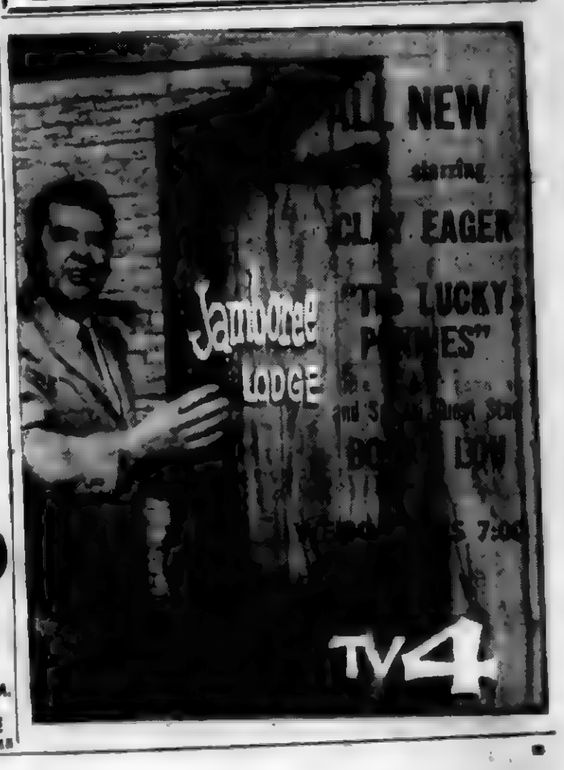
Teenagers To Assist Crutch Sale

Franklin County teenagers have volunteered to assist the TAPS (Teens against Polio) annual crutch sale to be held Saturday, Jan. 12.

Teenagers will sell plastic lapel buttons in the shape of a tiny crutch for the benefit of the March of Dimes. They will be stationed at shopping centers, neighborhood stores and the downtown area.

Only with public help can Franklin County continue its program of patient aid, research and education in the fields of birth defects, arthritis and polio.

Religion School With 34 Courses Set At Starling



The 17th annual School of Religion will open at Starling Junior High School Monday, Jan. 21, with 34 courses offered for lay people and church leaders.

Dean of the school is Rev. Rowland H. White, associate minister of Covenant Presbyterian Church.

Enrollment fee is $2 before Jan. 14, and $2.50 at the school.

FAME

Just a few facts and ideas picked up here and there—

Samuel Finley Breese Morse invented the magnetic telegraph and devised the Morse code. But he was also a painter and could have been famous for his oils.

Eli Whitney is known as the inventor of the cotton gin that revolutionized agriculture in the South. But he also devised interchangeable parts for U.S. Army rifles just before the Civil War.

Michelangelo, one of the two greatest intellectual and artistic giants of the Renaissance, is famous for his sculpture and Sistine Chapel paintings. He was also a poet of major stature.

Thomas Jefferson is remembered as author of the Declaration of Independence and as President. He was also a prolific letter writer and a competent architect and a fine violinist. He designed his own home and named it Monticello.

Two other men, Prescott and Dawes, rode with Paul Revere, but didn't have a Longfellow to write about them. Revere got the kudos.

Joshua Stoddard of Worcester, Mass., was a beekeeper to the end of his 88 years. But he invented many things, among them the American steam piano, better known as the calliope, whose sweet, nostalgic notes echoed for many a year among the hills of the Ohio River Valley. If you don't know about it, ask Grandpa.

It says here . . .

Fame is a feeble, flickering, fickle, fleeting flame.

"Any Letters Today?"

Noble Plan Helps Boys

There's only one sad thing about Christmas and the spirit of giving.

All too often we pack away our natural inclination to help others along with the tinsel and holly when the last strains of holiday carols are no more than pleasant memories.

The Big Brother Association does not ask for an assist from your hip pocket but only for the warmth of your heart.

The local facet of the national organiaztion will observe its annual Big Brother Week, Jan. 6 to 13. There are 300 boys here in the Columbus area who need Big Brothers.

These are average, boy-next-door type youngsters who have been denied a very important part of their youth—the love, guidance and understanding of a father.

Many of these boys have never known the pat on the back for a job well done or that warming smile of pride that can only be exchanged between man and boy.

Last year, 418 Big Brothers served 627 Columbus area boys. In addition, 1,125 youngsters attended the association's summer camp, Camp Oty'Okwa, in the Hocking Hills.

The association sponsors a year-round schedule of activities (corn roasts, ball games, skating parties, etc.), so Big and Little Brothers can become better acquainted.

Big Brothers work with and under the supervision of a staff of well trained social workers. The Big Brother is a friend to a fatherless boy.

He does not support the boy financially but is asked to give something much more prized by his Little Brother — the interest and time of an adult male friend.

This year the association will select an "honorary Big Brother" for the first time in its 30-year history. The selection will be announced at a Jan. 9 banquet at the Fairgrounds Youth Center.

The Big Brother Association realizes that many men would like to be active members of the organization but are unable to find the time because of business and family responsibilities. There is a way they can help, too.

The Big Brothers also need 1,200 associate members who do not have Little Brothers but who are able to help keep the organization on a strong financial foundation.

Men interested in becoming affiliated should contact W. E. Richardson, executive secretary, at the association's office at 137 E. State-st, or call CA. 8-5696.

Somewhere close to you, maybe right in your neighborhood, there is a boy who needs a Big Brother to help him along that increasingly rugged path to maturity. Won't you give him a hand?

You will find that special "Christmas feeling" isn't just reserved for Dec. 25, but can remain in your heart 365 days of the year.

Who touches a boy, by the master's plan,
Is shaping the course of the future man.
Father or laborer or teacher or priest;
Friend or stranger or saint or beast,
Is dealing with one who is living seed,
And may be MAN whom the world shall need.

Now Is Time To Test Ice Fishing Skills

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

The Central Ohio ice fishing season has been off and running for two weeks or more, according to Robert Strohm, 1530 Haft-dr, Reynoldsburg. The Ohio Division of Wildlife also has been reporting good ice fishing conditions in this area. Strohm collected 22 nice bluegills in a short time last weekend.

Strohm's favorite locations are farm ponds where the bluegills grow fat and sassy. Best fishing of the ice season is right now — success tapers off through January and February generally. As soon as the ice is safe is the best time to go, and the season began early this year.

"Who wants to fish on a block of ice?" I asked Strohm. "The same people who are avid fishermen in the spring and summer," was his answer. "Plus a few whose only angling activity is at this time of year." When the word is out that fish are hitting, the anglers will be out too.

If Strohm has an ice fishing secret, it's the use of a very light line — one, two or three-pound test monofiliament. "You are not fishing for any world records, and the strain put on your tackle is light," he claims.

The rest of the rig is geared to the line — small hook, no sinker or perhaps a very light one, a thimble-sized bobber, and a delicate wand-like rod. Good ice fishing baits are meal worms and mousies (insect larva sold at bait stores), although some fishermen are skilled enough to take fish through the ice on artificials. Most of us, however, rely on live bait, and up on Lake Erie and Sandusky Bay minnows and shiners are most popular.

There is good reason for the light tackle. Fish are tentative feeders at this season, and "bites" are not easily detected. With big equipment you might never get the feel of a bluegill nibbling at your bait. Also, they seem to scare readily and crude tackle can send them away.

As in all other kinds of fishing, you must locate the fish. Experienced anglers chop a lot of holes in the ice until they find a feeding school. Many will not fish a hole more than 10 or 15 minutes before moving on if there is no action. Around brush piles and treetops are good places to fish for bluegills — apparently they are the rabbits of the underwater world. Once a good location is found it will often produce on succeeding days. Also, ice fishermen crowd around a "hot spot" and the disturbance does not seem to bother the fish.

Your bait should be placed near the bottom, perhaps two to six inches above the bottom. To entice fish to feed in ice water you must make your bait attractive, and this is accomplished by motion. "Keep your bait moving," is the advice of Robert Strohm. "A lot of ice fishermen are unsuccessful because they put their bait in the water and leave it there while they concentrate on keeping warm. This is not the way to catch fish."

There are various theories as to why ice fishing success tapers off during the season. One idea is that water where the fish stay is warmest just after the surface freezes. But water temperatures do not vary much on the bottom — although a slight change may make the difference.

Another belief is that oxygen in the water declines while the ice is on. Underwater plants will manufacture oxygen if sunlight gets through, but snow cover may prevent this.

In any case, ice fishing will never be better than it is right now.

ONE MAN'S Opinion . . .

We Ask You . . 'Who Needs Winter?'

Winter is lousy. When you get too old to sled and too stiff to ski, what is left? And where is the man who can get up in the morning and shave with a song in his heart while it's still dark outside?

Beardshear

Half the time the snow turns to slush and the other half it just lies there and gets dirty.

No wonder birds go south. Your car won't start because the battery dies, road salt eats up the paint job you put on last spring, and your local filling station didn't prevent fuel-line freeze-up.

You stand on the corner waiting for a bus until you're sure you're an icicle and when it finally comes, you get on only to discover that you forgot your wallet.

The kids all have runny noses and the wife won't take out the garbage because she's afraid she'll slip on the ice.

And keeping track of two galoshes, gloves, one muffler, a sweater and a top-coat at every coffee stop is enough to tax the mentality of an Einstein.

Winter is the pause between autumn and spring, two of the more sensible seasons. And summer, ah summer, with green grass and sunshine, is the queen of them all.

But winter does have its compensations. You can pay the Christmas bills, calculate your income tax, break your New Year's resolutions early, rearrange the furniture, take up the plumbing, clean the linoleum, lay rugs and walk around the house.

And walking is such a fine exercise.—Ted Beardshear.

Articles Please

To the Editor:

It was with much interest and pleasure that I began reading Mr. John McPeek's articles.

His article "Fear Knowledge and You Block Truth" is fundamentally great. Why do some people want to set themselves up as keepers of their brother's morals? No Christian would.

Brother Daniel's article on the same editorial page (January 3) points up the Christian view of life.

Jesus would never have used force. People must be good because they understand how and why or it fails its purpose.

Frosting On The Cake

By "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

Every day now we hear and read about "mental illness." The papers are full of it. Radio and TV are saturated with it.

The tragedy is that so much of the air handling of this topic is neither medically nor psychologically authentic. This constant exploitation of misery and frustration and even violent anti-social behavior is absolute poison to many who can get nothing but harm from such wallowing in fear and ignorance.

There have been a few legitimate professional public service presentations by qualified experts and all TV circuits are to be complimented on them. But a constant deluge of petty behaviorism by adult infants is a far cry from authentic case histories that are documented by qualified medical and psychiatric specialists.

There is one vitally important truth that merits vigorous support, and up to now it has been wholly neglected. That is that many individuals who are supposed to be mentally ill are not "sick in the head" at all. They are just ornery as a goat and in most such instances of deliberate contrary behavior, the statement above is a vile libel against the goat.

The finest serologists and neurologists are constantly seeking new truths about genuine pathological derangement along the proven lines of such research. Individuals who are genuinely ill always have histories that any qualified researchers can ferret out and in a most gratifying percentage of cases, get heartwarming results by proper institutional care and treatment. Recent research in chemo-therapy has opened up new vistas of hope and assurance for recovery in increasing numbers of non-violent or paranoid symptoms of mild degree.

One thing is for laymen and "family ignoramases" to stop abuse of honest cases of mental aberrations. It is most un-Christian the way most people shun all such members of their own immediate family, so afflicted.

If there is an honest suspicion that some person has a "good thing going" by being deliberately obnoxious, then they should get immediate authentic counseling by a legal expert and then behave accordingly.

So many people are "difficult" solely to be important.

I enjoy your paper — especially the trades. I have swapped all kinds of things from clothing to household furnishings.

The trading stamps I received helped a lot at Christmas time. Have made a lot of friends through the column, too. Keep up the good work.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Order Restored To Citrus, Vegetable Market

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

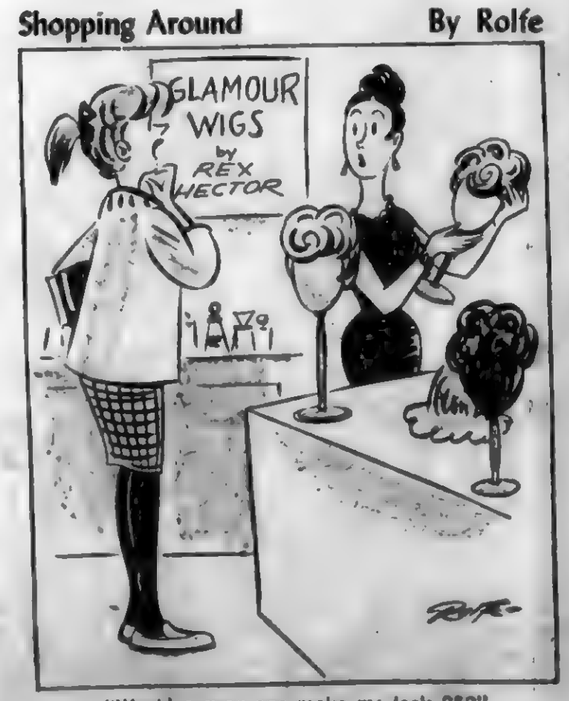
Fruits — Apples, lemons, grapes.

Vegetables — Red potatoes, yams, cabbage, celery, carrots, cauliflower.

Other Foods — Fryers, pork cuts, ground beef, large eggs, dairy products.

Now that citrus fruits again are coming in from Florida we can expect prices to return to near normal. This does not mean that prices will go as low as they were prior to the freeze when a record crop was expected.

Mrs. Franks



On Dec. 27, the embargo was lifted by the Florida Citrus Commission bringing an end to the restriction on the shipment of fresh fruit imposed because of the recent freeze in Florida.

The Florida fruit will continue to be checked to insure that it is just as good as ever on the inside. Size restrictions, however, have been relaxed and we will likely be seeing smaller oranges, tangerines, tangelos and grapefruit on the market.

Prices paid for citrus fruits can be expected to be somewhat high until the market shelves are again stocked and then prices will drop.

Some of the vegetable crop is making a fast recovery while part of the Florida area escaped damage entirely. Many of the new plantings will be ready for market within 30 to 60 days. And supply sources other than Florida will be coming in. These factors add up to vegetable situations looking much improved and likely a return to a pattern of prices slightly above normal.

CAPITAL-OTTERBEIN IN DEBATE TOURNAMENT

The fifth annual Capital-Otterbein Silver Cup debate tournament will be held on the Capital University campus Tuesday, Jan. 15, at 7 p.m. in Spielman Hall.

After dropping the series opener to Otterbein in 1958, Capital debaters have retained the coveted cup the past three years.

Representing Capital will be James Couts, a sophomore from Cardington, O. and James Lutz, sophomore, Louisville, O.

Capital's debate team has a season record of 22 wins and 16 losses, including victories over Duke, St. Joseph, William and Mary, Princeton, Dartmouth, Davidson, Brandeis, American, Heidelberg, Wooster, Youngstown, Miami, Hiram, Akron, Marietta and Pittsburgh.

Capital Concert Slated Sunday

A composition by Prof. William S. Bailey will be played by the Capital University Symphony Orchestra during its annual concert Sunday, Jan. 13, at 3 p.m. in Mees Hall auditorium.

A member of the university's Conservatory of Music since 1931, Prof. Bailey composed his "Serenade in E Minor" in the early 40's and revised it in 1957. He is presently professor of advanced theory, composition and organ at Capital.

The 50-piece orchestra, directed by Prof. Wilbur Crist, will open the concert with Mendelssohn's "Reformation Symphony." Featured as a soloist playing MacDowell's "Piano Concerto No. 2 in D Minor" will be William McDaniel, a senior from Powell. Student director will be Howard A. Core, a senior from Shadyside.

There are no reserved seats nor admission charge for the Sunday afternoon concert. A freewill offering will be collected.

Student Council Is Planning Adoption Of Vietnamese Boy

Whitehall-Yearling High School Student Council has taken steps for the adoption of a foreign child. The child is to be a Vietnamese boy between the ages of nine and 11. Correspondence and other details are to be left in the hands of a special committee of Student Council members. The committee is planning to send a belated Christmas gift to the underprivileged child.

Forty-seven WYHS senior girls took the Homemaker of Tomorrow Test sponsored by General Mills.

The winner of the national Homemaker of Tomorrow award will receive a $5,000 scholarship to the college of her choice. The state winners receive $1,500 scholarships plus tours of historical areas. Local winners will be awarded pins.

The 100 multiple choice questions covered the areas of home budgeting, child care, health, safety, recreation, spiritual guidance and family relations. An essay question was also included.

Whitehall-Yearling Student Council will sponsor the annual teacher appreciation banquet Jan. 24.

Cheerleaders conducted the second Whitehall-Yearling pep rally. The student body displayed the spirit needed to back a team. Team members agreed the cries of the students during these pep rallies give them the boost they need before games.

Whitehall-Yearling High School students returned to school after the Christmas vacation with the semester exams facing them Jan. 30 and 31.

Whitehall music directors attended the Mid-West Band Clinic which was held in Chicago three weeks ago.

Troop 522

Troop 522 of Shepard recently invested three Girl Scouts into their group — were Margaret Graetz, Mona Hicks and Rhonda Williams.

Badges earned recently include: Beverly Turner and Roxyanne Cartier, bicycle badge; games and dabbler badge, Roxyanne Cartier.

Two-year service stars and world pins were received by Rhonda Williams, Mona Hicks, and April Cliff.

Eight girls from the troop recently completed cooking classes at the Ohio Fuel Gas Company, while earning their cooking badges. They are, Beverly Turner, Jeannine Mays, Rhonda Williams, April Cliff, Beverly Paschal, Margaret Graetz, Roxyanne Cartier and Mona Hicks.

Troop leader is Juanita Cartier.

During December the Girl Scouts and Brownies of Shepard and East Columbus communities participated in many activities.

Brownie Troop 878 went caroling throughout the Shepard area and their Christmas party was attended by 30 members. Mrs. Pauline Parks is leader.

Margaret Graetz was program chairman of the Christmas party of Girl Scout Troop 522. Shirley Peyton was in charge of carols and Roxyanne Cartier, games. Refreshments were served by Jeannine Mays, Beverly Paschal, Shirley Peyton and Rhonda Williams. The troop made gifts for their parents. Mrs. Quanita Cartier is leader.

Troop 82, Mrs. Juanita Johnson, leader, and Troop 642, of which Mrs. Frances Mizelle is leader, made Christmas boxes for the children at the State School.

Troop 642 gave a skating party at Rollerland.

During the last week of Christmas, combined Troops 82, 522 and 642 went caroling. All the Girl Scout troops have been helping in the Sabin on Sunday program.

OVERCOMES FEAR

Sky's The Limit For This Lincoln Park School Marm

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

"A" is for apples and airplanes and a winsome Lincoln Park second grade school teacher has had her share of both.

She's Mel Price, 26, of 518 E. Town-st, and this West Virginia native is soaring beyond her classroom duties to amass flying time to "fulfill a childhood dream."

Right now, her major objective is obtaining a pilot license which will make her a full-fledged member of the "flying-for-fun" corps.

"I've always wanted to be a pilot," Miss Price smiled. "Mainly, perhaps, because it (flying) was something that I was afraid of."

She now has more than 40 hours of air time which, under federal rulings, is enough to gain a license. She does have to fulfill some of the "on-the-ground" requirements, however, which she is currently working on both out of Port Columbus and Don Scott airfields.

While a lass in high school, she had dreams of becoming an airline hostess. These dreams fell short, mainly because she was too long. "That's right," she said. "The height limit is five feet, two inches for a hostess. I was that tall in high school and I've grown some since."

From high school, she enrolled in education at Ohio University and received a cadet teaching certificate. She taught a semester in an elementary school in Jackson, O.

Then she became involved in a Civil Service program and was sent to France, which turned out to be the beginning of her air experiences. They had a flying school on the base where she was stationed and she gathered $50 together for flying lessons.

"The club decided to chip in and buy an airplane from the United States," she grinned, "and we sent a boy to this country to buy one. He did—an old cargo plane, I believe—but it was condemned before he could bring it back."

While in Europe, she did manage to take some education courses in the Paris extension school of the

Junior Achievement Program Will Have Its 37th Birthday

National Junior Achievement program is preparing to celebrate its 37th anniversary next spring.

The program, which gives high school students an opportunity to experience ownership, management, and operation of a miniature business, was originated by Horace A. Moses, chairman of the Strathmore Paper Co. in 1926.

In 1942, a National Headquarters was established and regional offices were installed in Chicago, Cleveland, New York, Pittsburgh, and Middletown, O. By 1950 29 areas areas were in operation, and 10 years later 166 areas had been established with 4196 Junior Achievement companies and 68,825 members participating.

Junior Achievement was incorporated in Columbus in 1950 through the efforts of the Columbus Rotary Club. There were 22 companies with approximately 350 teenage members. The program is supported by contributions from some 150 local business and industrial concerns.

Last year there were 31 companies with 673 members. Each sponsoring business or industry provides advisers who are junior executives in the sponsoring company.

Junior Achievement is a non-profit national organization which develops and expands a spare-time program to give teenage youth experience in the overall aspects of business.

The objective of the organization is to give young people a preview of the business world so they may discover for themselves the type of work they like and for which they are best suited. They receive training and experience in all phases of American business operation.

The emphasis in the program is on "learning by doing," and students are able to study the relationship between those who manage, those who produce, and those who supply funds. Students learn why business is run as it is if it is to succeed.

Each student company sells stock to raise capital, buys materials, and makes a product which members sell — mostly door-to-door. At the end of a fiscal period — a school year — the companies close their books hoping to show a profit.

Individual awards in the form of college scholarships, trophies, and plaques are made each year at the "Future Unlimited" banquet held in May. More than 800 representatives of the sponsoring firms, advisers, board members, achievers, and parents attend the annual dinner.

Wilbur T. Collins presently serves as president of the Junior Achievement Board of Directors, Warren E. Parkinson is the executive director. The Junior Achievement Center is located at 214 N. High-st.

Schools which participate in the program are: North, East, Central, Eastmoor, Grandview, Holy Family, Watterson, Marion-Franklin, South, West, Linden-McKinley, Bishop Hartley, Upper Arlington, St. Charles, Gahanna, Walnut Ridge, Whetstone and Bishop Ready.

Library Courses Available At St. Mary College

St. Mary of the Springs is offering college credit courses in library science starting in February, Margaret G. Fielders, chairman of the department said this week.

The department is offering 30 semester hours of credit in library science. This is equivalent to the number of hours offered by graduate schools for a master's degree. It also satisfies the maximum requirements of the Ohio State Department of Education.

Three new faculty members have been added to the department.

Interested students may register for courses Monday, Feb. 4, at 7 p.m. Offered will be Advanced Cataloging, which starts Feb. 4, at 7 p.m.; Reference Sources, which starts Tuesday, Feb. 5, at 7 p.m., and Introduction to the Great Books, which will resume Thursday, Feb. 14, at 7 p.m.

Dr. George Hahn at International Science Meet

An East Side metallurgist will be among 70 metals scientists from 10 nations attending an international metals conference being held in Teddington, Middlesex, England, this week.

Dr. George T. Hahn of 786 Eastmoor-blvd will present a paper on the theory and development of tungsten, molybdenum and chromium base materials.

The meeting, being held at Britain's National Physical Laboratory, will cover the relationship between advanced concepts of structure and the strength of materials.

Scientists at the conference will be representing Australia, Czechoslovakia, France, West Germany, Japan, Norway, the Soviet Union, Sweden, the United Kingdom and the United States.

After the three-day meeting, Dr. Hahn will conduct a seminar on flow and fracture of steel at the University of Liverpool, Jan. 11.

Dr. Hahn is employed at Battelle Memorial Institute.

REMODELING COMPLETED

WITH MAHOGANY TRIM and new folding doors, this bedroom represents the latest remodeling job done by Fetter and Slyby, 44 E. Broad-st. The contractors say they are ready to advise anyone contemplating a remodeling or modernizing job. All work is guaranteed because the firm employs its own workmen. F.H.A. terms with no down payment are available. Fetter and Slyby also specialize in basements, recreation rooms, dens, bedroom additions and garages. The company has been in business 10 years in Columbus. Central Ohioans contemplating any remodeling may see the recently completed modernizing operation at 696 S. Hampton-rd.

off since Phaosihavong was able to converse freely with both Whitehall faculty and students.

As could be expected, the students seemed most interested in the teens of Laos and Phaosihavong painted a vivid picture for them. He said:

"Teenagers in my country don't go on dates as here. A boy goes to the girl's home where they sit and talk. If they do desire to go out somewhere —as for a walk — they are accompanied by one of the girl's parents."

Phaosihavong, perhaps, may start an entirely new dance craze in this country. The "Twist," he said, is not done by Laotians. "Instead," he explained to eager Whitehall teens, "they do the Ram-vone."

Perhaps this could be a natural for Whitehall dancers, since "Ram" is the school's nickname.

Getting down to more serious matters, Phaosihavong pointed out there are two main items in education here that are entirely new and hold great interest for him.

"First," he continued, "is your groups called PTA. I'm sure that such organizations are beneficial to school life. Secondly, is the material aids teachers use here."

Phaosihavong was referring to use of film strips and other visual aid materials for illustrating classroom work.

Phaosihavong actually painted a pretty bleak picture of education in his homeland and even went so far as to term it "a very low educational system with poor textbooks and poor quality teachers."

With this as a background, it's understandable he would walk opened-mouth through the modern halls and classrooms in the Whitehall building.

The Laos native found discussing the late Dr. Tom Dooley interesting and praised him for the many "good works" he did in his homeland. "He would walk through the villages," Phaosihavong related, "and people would admire him as you do here to, perhaps, a movie star."

Phaosihavong, who specializes in elementary education in Laos, is married and has a two-year-old son, Sitsena. Strangely enough, he mentioned he didn't think he'd like to bring his wife, Bouarivanh, and his family to this country.

And, perhaps, it's fitting that he feels this way. He has a job to do back home.

He'll return with many new ideas for the good of his people and his dedication to education should go far to advance the standards of his neighbors.

LEADERS KEPT AT WHITEHALL

Whitehall School Board voted second terms to its two top officers at the 1963 organizational meeting Friday night.

Lawrence Robinson, 795 S. Yearling-rd, was re-elected president and William Brenning, 707 Collingwood-rd, was renamed vice-president.

Meeting nights were changed to the second Wednesday of each month (instead of Tuesday) in other action.

Innerbelt Work To Begin This Month

Work is slated to start late this month on a Columbus innerbelt section between Oak and Fulton-sts and the proposed Parsons Interchange.

E. L. Sheley, deputy director, Ohio Department of Highways, Delaware, said the project is scheduled for completion Nov. 15, 1964.

Cap Drill Team Sets irst Show

Capital University's drill team will give its first public appearance during the halftime of the Capital-Marietta basketball game Saturday, Jan. 12, in Alumni Gymnasium. Game time is 8 p.m.

Cap's AFROTC drill team is ranked with the top drill squads in the Mid-West. Although one of the smallest university drill teams in the country, it has defeated teams from the Big Ten and other larger universities and, for the past two years, has placed second behind Purdue in regional drill meets.

Yep, we're all for progress but never to the extent that we can't just get downright lazy once in awhile.

Will History Repeat?

The recent Shrine magazine, Aladdin's Lamp, contains a bit that should be passed along, as follows:

One of the most widely read books of all times is "The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire." Written in 1788 by Edward Gibbon, it sets forth five basic reasons why that great civilization withered and died. These were:

The undermining of the dignity and sanctity of the home, which is the basis for human society.

Higher and higher taxes; the spending of public money for free bread and circuses for the populace.

The mad craze for pleasure; sports becoming every year more exciting, more brutal, more immoral.

The building of great armaments when the real enemy was within — the decay of individual responsibility.

The decay of religion; faith fading into mere form, losing touch with life, losing power to guide the people.

The oft-heard warning that "history repeats itself" has an ominous meaning in the light of the above.

The average age of the world's great civilizations has been 200 years. These nations progressed through this sequence:

From Bondage to Spiritual Faith
From Spiritual Faith to Great Courage
From Courage to Liberty
From Liberty to Abundance
From Abundance to Selfishness
From Selfishness to Complacency
From Complacency to Apathy
From Apathy to Dependence
From Dependence Back Again to Bondage

In 14 years the U.S. will be 200 years old. This cycle is not inevitable.

Following the shopping tour, all were treated to a Christmas turkey dinner prepared by the Jaycee wives, and served in the Holy Spirit School cafeteria. Participating in the dinner were Kroger, A&P, Albers, Big Bear, Farm Crest Bakeries, Borden Milk Co. and the Coca-Cola Co.

Dems Lead In Numbers For Council

Candidates for muncipal offices are coming in all shapes and sizes—but, mostly Democratic—as the Feb. 6 filing date for hopefuls draws near.

Voters will have the final say at the May primary.

In the mayor race, incumbent Mayor W. Ralston Westlake has indicated that he'll be willing to be a Republican candidate for a second term.

He is expected to face former Columbus Mayor M. E. (Jack) Sensenbrenner, a Democratic candidate who served two years of an unexpired term as mayor and was re-elected to a full term from 1956 to 1960.

A spokesman for the Franklin County Republican Headquarters stated that Chairman William Schneider "had been interviewing some possible candidates" but indicated that no decision would be made until a meeting set for the end of January. No endorsements have been made by the Republicans as yet.

Jerry Ryan, recently-elected chairman of the Franklin County Democratic organization, announced the names of several Demo hopefuls for municipal posts, including that of Dr. Frederick Rose, 174 Crosswell-dr, for a judge post.

Democratic council candidates have been reported hot and heavy. At last count, ten names were on the slate and four of them listed as definite candidates.

The four include South Sider William P. Hoermle, Sr. the lone council Democrat. He plans a program including more annexation, urban renewal and a better safety program.

Hoermle said he was opposed to a possible water rate increase. He said water projects should be paid for from city income tax.

Also a sure candidate is Ronald Tuggle, 4689 Dundee-av, an official of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, who will propose an anti-strike breaking law.

Tuggle is a Linden-McKinley grad, is married and has four children.

Former City Councilman Russell M. Jones, 1757 Franklin-av, announced last week that he will run for a council post.

Jones was appointed to council in 1960 to fill a vacancy but was defeated in his 1961 bid for the seat. He said he would campaign on the issue of "carrying through to effective conclusions the many unfinished tasks which face Columbus."

Final candidate with hat already in ring is broker Morrie D. Portman, 80 S. Chesterfield, who is campaigning on more aggressive activity in urban renewal and improvenment of downtown Columbus which, he says, "has been lagging badly."

Portman was former-Mayor Sensenbrenner's assistant from 1954 to 1958 and serving as Columbus' first finance director from 1958-59. He began the city's treasury program, the Capital Budget system and conducted the first performance cost anayisis for operating city government here.

Other possible candidates announced by Democratic headquarters include:

- Attorney Roland Gilbert, 1737 Niagara.
- North American employe Carl Thompson, 2240 Ontario.
- Plumbing store owner James Bowman, 1365 Aven-dr.
- Dentist Daniel Specht, 2531 Summit.
- Attorney Joseph J. Murphy, 5397 Ivyhurst-dr and 1497 King-av.
- Local concessionaire Edwin P. Brinkman.

Oct. 24, 1945, Secretary of State James Byrnes signed the United Nations Charter. On the same date in 1949, U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie laid the cornerstone of the permanent U. N. headquarters in New York City.

Mayor—

clude the fact that we were the first city in the nation to have a master control plan of traffic using Civil Defense funds; slum elimination which started with my administration; elimination of the Fifth-av and Hudson-st railway crossing; two, fine Senior Citizens Center (now being completed at Sunshine Center and Poindexter Village); four recreation centers; improved Columbus zoo; elimination of the Third-st viaduct and, above all industry, such as Western Eelectric which we brought in) which is a tremendous asset to the city.

Q. — In your opinion, what is the most serious problem facing Columbus right now that will need attention by the next administration? Why?

WESTLAKE — Biggest

problem facing the city right now is to find ways and means of financing the tremendous construction job that must be done to keep city services abreast of its rapid growth in population. I am thinking of the rehabilitation and expansion of our water distribution system, the extension of sewer lines and new facilities for sewage treatment. This problem also includes the raising of city pay scales to a level high enough to attract the skilled and professional help we so sorely need.

SENSENBRENNER — The saving of downtown Columbus because it affects our whole tax duplicate—especially as related to mass transportation and economical parking. The city needs a 10-cent bus fare for students.

Q. — What do you see as the future for the water and sewer freeze?

WESTLAKE — I feel that the present policy of no new extensions outside city limits must be continued until the city can catch up with the needs within its own boundaries.

SENSENBRENNER — The main thing is the fact that there should be no water or sewer rights granted to any un-incorporated area. This does not preclude services to incorporated areas.

Q. — What can be done, if anything, to speed up the current sewer program — especially the new treatment plant project?

WESTLAKE — I feel that we are now doing everything possible to speed this program. Our sewer construction program for 1962 was the largest for any single year in the city's history. Over the next five years, we plan to spend more than $45-million for new sewers and sewage disposal facilities. We have hired outside engineers to speed preparation of plans. Last year we acquired the site for a second sewage treatment plant and we are now having detailed engineering plans prepared. Naturally, we can't do any building until these plans are completed, but we have tentatively set aside $2-million to start work on the plant this year.

SENSENBRENNER — A higher priority needs to be given to expediting the new sewage treatment plant near Shadeville and enlargement of the sewer system of the whole city.

Q. — If you are selected to serve as mayor of Columbus, what cabinet changes (if any) would you make?

WESTLAKE—I now have an able, hard-working and conscientious group of administrators in my cabinet. Why change?

SENSENBRENNER — There are some very fine men available and I would select, with the help of engineering and other professional societies, the very best qualified men that I could find.

Q. — What was the biggest disappointment to you during your administration?

WESTLAKE — I have had no major disappointments. Of course, there have been some minor ones, but none worth mentioning.

SENSENBRENNER—Losing the election. Also, the fact that some of the men in whom I had placed confidence did not fully live up to my expectations.

Q.— Concerning the City Charter, do you foresee any further changes in it? Why would such changes be advisable?

WESTLAKE—Yes, I think there will be some further changes in the City Charter, although I can't say when. I believe the group studying the city's salary schedules will recommend some changes in order to put city pay scales on a realistic basis and to give the city more flexibility in handling its personnel problems. Remember, the charter is nearly 50 years old and it probably needs some changes to put it in step with the times.

SENSENBRENNER — Any charter requires review periodically. What changes are needed must await this review in the light of changing circumstances.

Q. — Do you feel that the city needs additional tax revenues from new sources? Also, what new avenues of economy would you explore?

WESTLAKE — I feel that the city does not now need to tap any new sources for additional tax revenues. I also feel that our expenditures now are pretty much at a rock-bottom level. Our tidy surpluses of the past couple of years are evidence.

SENSENBRENNER — At this time I see no need in raising the source of revenue. Better government at less cost is our goal and should be everyone's goal.

Q. — Can we expect any changes in either fire or police operations in Columbus?

There already have been many changes since I became mayor and there will be more. For example, just this past year we completed and occupied the new fire headquarters and training center on Greenlawn-av with a training tower that the city had needed for years. Naturally, there will be some changes to take advantage of the efficiencies these facilities offer. Also, during my administration, the police department has been brought up to its full authorized strength for the first time in years, and this year we are adding another 25 men. That boosts its authorized strength to 631 men — highest in history. We also plan to start construction this year of a new police training academy to match the fire department's new quarters. The academy will be built on the grounds of the police pistol range on McKinley-av.

SENSENBRENNER — We need more police and firemen. They're absolutely necessary in a growing city.

Q. — Is there any other statement you care to make?

WESTLAKE—Yes. I think the City of Columbus has a date with destiny. I think it is destined eventually to become the largest and most important city in Ohio. I think we who are responsible for the government of this fast-growing city must bear that thought in mind in our day-to-day planning for the city's future.

SENSENBRENNER — There are many fine civic and business groups which have made most helpful contributions in building our city and these are needed in the future. We need active citizen participation in the affairs of local government. Finally, I love this city and envision for it a tremendous future. The greatest honor I ever had was the one given me in 1954 and again in 1956 when I was elected mayor. My hope is that voters will again return me to this high office and I pledge my every effort in building Columbus into one of the greatest cities in America.

Local Folks Please Sabin Men Sunday

Call it good public relations or, maybe, civic pride by responsible citizens, but the backers of Sabin Type III polio vaccine call it "wonderful."

There's little doubt in the minds of medical men, who chewed fingernails until last Sunday in the fear that the Sabin would be ignored, that the final program was a success.

Official count shows 492,871 persons turned out to receive the serum. Even the most optimistic expectation for Sunday was 500,000.

The estimate will surely be exceeded when the final tally is completed at the end of this week following the "make up" doses.

Some 514,000 Franklin countians received Type I vaccine Sept. 30 and 504,000 took Type II on Nov. 4. Sunday's turnout was 66 per cent of the total population in the county.

Dr. Richard W. Fulton, president of the Academy of Medicine and Sabin drive chairman here, said persons may receive the vaccine at both the city and county health centers this week.

At the County Health offices in the Court House it will be offered Friday between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

It will also be given at the City Health Building on Thursday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Thursday evening from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. and Friday evening from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.

New Sewer Closes Williams Till March

Williams-rd was closed nday morning and will re- in closed until Mar. 1 from h-st to Parsons-av.

This became necessary when the 48-inch sewer from the Scioto River was tunneled under High-st after 65 working days.

James Writesell, city inspector attached to the job, states that he hopes traffic can be maintained from 4:30 p.m. to 7:30 a.m. However if the street buckles, it may be closed 24 hours a day.

The $365,000 contract is held by the Kahill Company of Cleveland.

Felix Raufman, superintendent, explained that the subtrunk will turn north at Parsons and run to Hilock. He expressed the hope that he'd be finished and home by Easter, which is 15 weeks away.

The contract allows 200 working days before the $100-a-day penalty begins. That would permit the job to run on an additional 12 weeks.

Writesell stated that heavy rains, and sand and gravel in the soil could slow the project up beyond expectations. The banks won't hold in loose, wet sand, he said, and reinforcing timber banks must be built.

The sewer which will service the Southeast will empty in the South Scioto pumping station and from there be taken to the disposal plant.

The city inspector attributed the need for the line primarily to new housing in the area. Much of the locality has been annexed in recent years and "about all they have is the county system" he said.

IT'S A BIG DITCH THAT TUNNELS under High-st to take the 48-inch sanitary sub-trunk sewer being laid from the Scioto River along Williams-rd to Parsons-av. At Parsons the line will turn north to Hilock. The $365,000 project will service the Southeast, much of which has been recently annexed to the city.

Pilot—

University of Maryland.

In 1960 — when only 24 years old—she came to Columbus and found some openings in the educational system here. She told the school board that she would rather be placed in a teaching position with under-privileged children and received a post at Fulton Street School.

She taught there — the third grade — for a year but then resigned to go into the business world.

Landing a position in a print shop, she learned that the woman who owned the establishment wanted to retire and Miss Price decided to to try to buy the business.

She brought her brother up from West Virginia to learn the printing trade and she got her sister a job here in an office in preparation for taking her into the business also.

Some legal entanglements made it impossible for her to take over the business and she came to the conclusion that she would decide that she would dedicate her life to teaching.

The Columbus School Board welcomed her again. This time she was placed in her present teaching assignment at Lincoln Park School. She feels she has a real job to do there with students who "need love and understanding" but that's another story in her life altogether.

And the while she was packing these many ventures into her young years, she clung firmly to her hobby and flew as often as she could. Mainly, she pilots a small two-seater plane out of local airports.

"This is real adventure," she says. "There's nothing quite like being alone in flight. I'd urge any woman to take it up."

Words and phrases such as "accelerated stope," "downwind," "noise-up" and a host of others crept into her vocabulary along with "recess," "geography" and "open your books to page 375."

She doesn't have any plans to own her own plane—says it's too expensive what with upkeep and all.

But it's a safe bet that this young lady is going to stay "up in the air" for quite a while. Who knows? Maybe she will turn her interests to space travel and a trip to the moon will provide the next chapter in "The Mel Price Story."

Black Panther Believed Roaming S. Solon Area

Farm homes in the South Solon area have taken on the look of the homesteaders of the Old West — shotguns and rifles are standing ready in the corner.

Cause of the armed vigilance is the suspicion that a black panther is roaming in the area.

Max Allen, Prairie Pike-rd, South Solon, first saw the large black cat on New Years Day.

He spotted the animal — which leaves five inch wide foot tracks — about 5 p.m. He gave chase in a truck and shot about nine times before losing the race with the fleet footed cat.

Mack McDonald, also of Prairie Pike-rd, reports seeing the cat as does Allen's wife.

More than 40 people have combed the area in an armed earch in the past few days including members of the sheriff's department and Dean Roberts of London who conducted a search from the air.

Unconfirmed rumors have filtered back to London that animals as large as pigs have been carried away and one farm wife reports a litter of kittens was destroyed in a much more violent manner than is normal in rural areas.

Tracks of the suspected beast have been spotted close to buildings and around the Allen farm house.

In another incident with what is believed to be the same black cat, a farmer turned his dogs loose in the woods near his farm after spotting the animal. The dogs came cowering back to the truck they had been transported in after a very short run in the woods.

DIED Bulletin Says Ohio Industry Did Well In '62

A recent edition of the Ohio Department of Industrial and Economic Development bulletin indicates the state's economic picture in 1962 was far from disastrous.

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad reported earnings for the first 10 months of 1962 increased substantially from the corresponding period in 1961.

The company's net income for the 10-month period was $27,711,000, or $3.37 a share, compared with $21,964,000, or $2.67 a share. Gross revenues amounted to $283,727,000, compared with $258,117,000.

Babcock and Wilcox Company, Barberton, has received a multi-million dollar contract from the Baltimore Gas and Electric Company for a universal pressure steam boiler that will be used to generate 319,000 kilowatts of electricity.

The Victoreen Instrument Co. here reports earnings of $1,303,000 for the first nine months of 1962, compared with only $7,984 in the same 1961 period.

President and chairman of Victoreen, David H. Cogan, adds that sales for the latest nine months climbed from $13,417,000 to $16,609,000. Cogan pointed out that sales and earnings for the nine-month period were highest in the company's 30-year history.

The Goodyear Aircraft Corp. has won a $250,000 add-on contract for a study of correlation guidance system techniques. The study, in its fourth year, is sponsored by the Air Force System Command's Aeronautical System Division.

Five Ohio cities have been approved for Federal Urban Planning Assistance grants totaling $60,887, according to the Ohio Department of Industrial and Economic Development bulletin.

Rites Held Here For New York Surgeon, Golden

Service for Dr. Theodore Golden, a New York City surgeon, was held Sunday, Jan.6, in the Snider Funeral Home. Interment was in New Agudas Achim Cemetery.

He was formerly of Columbus. A graduate of Ohio State University Medical School in 1935, he went to New York to serve a residency and remained there.

He is survived by wife, Claire Smith Golden, New York; sons, Thomas and John, New York; a daughter, Carol, New York; mother, Mrs. Mollie Golden, 284 N. Gould-rd; father, Sam Golden, Cleveland; aunt, Mrs. Harry Shiffman, 1151 College-av.

FRANZ, Robert J., 53, of 628 Fairwood-av, died Monday, Dec. 31, in St. Anthony Hospital. Survived by wife, two sons, four daughters, four brothers, two half brothers, three sisters, five grandchildren. Requiem High Mass Friday in Holy Rosary Church. Interment, St. Joseph Cemetery by O'Shaughnessy Funeral Home.

MALLORY, Claude, 605 Kimball-pl, died Monday, Dec. 31. Survived by wife, brother, sister, nephew. Service Friday in the Friendship Baptist Church. Interment, Union Cemetery by Crosby Funeral Home.

Fox Drive Planned

A fox drive will be held Saturday, Jan. 19 at 9 a.m. near Marcy, O. on State Route 674. Lunch will be served following the hunt.

Police Report Pinpoints Need Of Enforcement

Police Chief George Scholer has announced increased police concern over motorists' failure to yield left turn and changing course without safety on Fifth-av, from Dawson to Gould, between the hours of 7 and 11 a.m.

Police are also trying to check speed and driving left of center infractions on Livingston-av, from James to Yearling, between 3 and 6 p.m.

Marvin Pipkin was awarded a patent Oct. 16, 1928, for electric light bulbs frosted on the inside.

Bexley Council Approves Pool Plans

Bexley Council, after being told by Councilwoman Ruth Mann that "all this fooling around is ridiculous," gave its approval to a $110,000 swimming pool project on the Jeffrey Mansion grounds.

Council seemed reluctant to give the Bexley Civic Improvement Association (backers of the pool plan) the go-ahead sign even though BCIA officials appeared with a model of the complex and detailed sets of the plans.

Biggest concern by the solons was the possibility that the caretaker's house may be too near the pool area and should be moved and, also, whether or not the BCIA had enough money to fulfill the construction.

William Birch, chairman of the BCIA, assured council that his group had "about $45,000 in actual cash" and about $85,000 in pledges.

Mrs. Mann, saying that "they've worked this hard, why hold back," introduced the motion needed to get council's approval. The acceptance of the motion, however, was unanimous.

Birch added that the pool will cost "between $100,000 and $110,000, depending on how much we want to 'Cadillac' it up." He explained that they may go over that figure for projects that would "engrace" the grounds.

Council also seemed to like the idea that the BCIA was striving to keep the architecture of the pool in line with that already on the Jeffrey grounds.

Architect Leon Seligson even included a tower atop the pool "house" which is similiar to one on the Jeffrey Mansion itself.

Birch assured council that the rest of the money will come through, saying, "We got $85,000 on a dream, and I'm sure that more will come through when that first shovel goes down."

Councilman Roth Crabbe, who has worked close with the BCIA, said he hoped the fact that the go-ahead light was given won't have a "reverse effect" on the project.

"Maybe the residents will think that 'well, they're started it so they must have enough money' in regards to the plan," Crabbe said.

In other action:

- Council decided to leave a temporary stop sign at Maryland and Roosevelt-av on recommendation by Mayor William Schneider.
- Approved the mayor's regular monthly statement of $2,385.

Eastmoor High School's Warriors' Spear-It

By Jeanne Weinekers

'Music Man' Is Scheduled For February Presentation

"The Music Man," Eastmoor's musical, is to be presented Feb. 15 and 16. Tickets are 75 cents and can be purchased from anyone connected with the production.

Bobbie Shaw and Mike Kapson have been selected to play Marian Paroo, and Prof. Harold Hill.

Other members include Ted Sutton, Ken Bless, Roy Arnett, Paul Grochowski, Tim Davis, Dave Henderson, Craig Bergman, Mary Morris, Mark Gussler, Andi Gorenstein, Carol Kimmel, Judy Pilzer, Sarah Welch, Bonnie Peart, Andi Helman, Karen Schuster and Rick Hoskinson.

Girls' dance chorus members are Pam Beard, Mary Ann Maughn, Sandy Lech, Melva Gornall and Jenny Betts. Student director is Lynn Balthasar.

A surprise appreciation assembly, planned by the Student Council, was held Dec. 19 for T. H. Mayer, principal, who was appointed principal of Brookhaven High School, beginning Jan. 1.

Special guests included Dr. Harold Eibling, superintendent of the Columbus Public Schools, and Mrs. T. H. Mayer.

Phil Schwartz, Nancy Perry, Sue Seckel and Duane Reynolds spoke for the graduates, many of whom were present. Louise Lincoln represented the faculty. Karl Mills, president of Student Council, spoke for the student body and presented Mayer with a plaque of appreciation.

The annual Christmas assembly was held Friday, Dec. 21, by the Music Department with all vocal music groups and the concert band participating.

The Eastmoor Warriorettes under the direction of advisor Mrs. Janet Welch, made their second appearance of the basketball season at Walnut Ridge last Saturday night.

BARNETT HEADS PICKED

Garage Fire Spreads

A fire starting inside a one-story garage at 525 Bulen-av spread to a second garage and to a nearby house Jan. 2, firemen reported.

Damage was estimated at $900 to the first garage; $100 to the second at 521 Bulen-av, and $25 to the house at 1761 McAllister-av.

Battalion Chief Albert M. Smith, said an accidentally dropped cigarette may have caused the blaze.

Pope Pius XII died Oct. 9, 1958, at the age of 82.

Walnut Ridge World

By KEN MICK and BILL GEE

Walnut Ridge Concert Band To Present Concert Jan. 13

The Walnut Ridge Concert Band will have its first annual winter concert Sunday, Jan. 13, at 2:30 p.m. in the auditorium. The hour-long program will be conducted by Alan Berry, and will feature such selections as "The Sound of Music" by Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein, and a march by John Phillip Sousa.

Admission for the event will be 75 cents. The show will be held in the WR auditorium.

Douglas Scott, a student teacher, will assist.

On Wednesday, Jan. 9, four members of the WR editorial staff attended the second press conference of the school year. Douglas Beardslee, Nancy Ebling, Mike Newell and Ken Mick quizzed Dr. Harold Eibling, superintendent of the Columbus schools, on board policy.

Members of the armed forces will be present Jan. 15 to discuss military obligations, draft status and ROTC in college. The principal speaker will be Captain Lockl, who will present a precision drill team. All of the armed forces will be represented.

Wednesday, Jan. 16, the WR Student Council will hold a bake sale in the main hall.

The Columbus Symphonic Orchestra Brass Ensemble will present two shows on the WR stage to both the junior and senior high components of the school. The performance will be held on Thursday.

School TB Tests Locate 102 Reactors

One - hundred two positive reactors were found through free school TB tests given since Oct. 29, the TB Society reported.

To date 7,819 pupils in grades one, seven and 11 in county and suburban school systems have been TB-checked, the Tuberculosis Society said. Testing of these schools last school year revealed 89 reactors among 6,743 pupils tested.

A positive reaction to the Mantoux test means that the student has been in close contact with someone who has active tuberculosis and that TB germs have entered his body.

All positive reactors and their close relatives are routinely X-rayed to locate contagious tuberculosis.

Among the school districts checked, and their number of reactors are, Whitehall, 10; Reynoldsburg, seven; Grandview, 11; Madison Local, two; Washington Local, three; Hamilton Local, seven; Canal Winchester, one;; Southwestern, 15; Bexley, eight; Scioto-Darby, seven; Arlington, 21, and Westerville, 10.

Tuberculin testing of first graders in all 106 Columbus public elementary schools was to begin Jan. 7, with parochial school testing scheduled in March.

BISHOP CLARENCE G. Issenmann is surrounded by Cuban youngsters and Catholic Welfare Bureau officials during a special party Sunday at the K of C Hall to celebrate Wisemen's Day. This is a Cuban holiday, like Christmas here, when presents are exchanged. The youths were brought to the greater Columbus area by the Welfare Bureau and are now living in foster homes and orphanages in this city.

Bishop Plans Mass In Spanish Here For Cuban Youths

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Columbus Bishop Clarence G. Issenmann mixed business with pleasure last Sunday in the K of C Hall.

The "business" is significant in the fact that it effects a new Catholic mass in this city and the "pleasure" was for the benefit of Cuban refugee youths brought to Columbus through the Catholic Welfare Bureau.

The bishop, speaking before some 300 greater Columbus residents (more than 70 Cuban children), laid preliminary plans for conducting a mass in Spanish once a month in a centralized church here for these people from Cuba.

"I would like to propose," the bishop said, "that we conduct a mass in one church here in Spanish once a month."

According to Joseph Gibboney, supervisor of the Cuban program for the Welfare Bureau, the bishop's plan should be in operation by March. The actual mass, Gibboney explained, will be in the traditional Latin but the sermon and singing will be in Spanish.

It will be a first for the Ohio area — a state which ranks fifth in the nation in number of Cubans in this country.

The bishop, who worked through an interpreter to give his talk Sunday, also said that he "feels like Pope John XXIII when he spoke to the United States Bishops" recently during the ecumenical council in Rome. "The Pope said he wished he could speak to all the bishops in the various languages," Bishop Issenmann said, "and, right now, I wish I could speak Spanish so that I could talk to you directly."

Adding a note of humor, the bishop said, "but, at least, you can tell your relatives in Cuba that you have seen the bishop . . . and tell them that he's pretty well."

The Cubans were compared by Bishop Issenmann to his ancestors who first came to this country from France. "You're carrying on a tradition," he said, "of the ancestors of all of us who had the courage to escape from other countries."

He added that he knew that the "hearts (of these children) belong in Cuba" but he said he "hopes you'll stay with us forever."

The get-together Sunday was actually part of a Cuban tradition. That is, the celebration of the Wise Men's Day (Jan. 6) a day in Cuba — like Christmas here — when gifts are distributed. There is no Santa Claus in that country.

The bishop threw gifts to the children and they, in turn, broke open a pinata filled with candy.

Besides Bishop Issenmann, the group heard comments by Gibboney (who said the bureau is "happy to be of assistance to Cubans in this country") and from Dr. Julio Sanguily, medical director at St. Anthony Hospital.

Dr. Sanguily was a medical chief in Cuba and conducted a clinic there. His son, Julio, Jr., is on the staff at Mt. Carmel Hospital. "I think all you Cuban youngsters will return home some day in peace," Dr. Sanguily theorized.

Fr. Paul Sicilia,, professor at Josephinum College in Worthington, told the group in Sponish about the patron saint of Cuba, Caridad del Cobre, and offered background material on the Wise Men's Day — known in that country as "Reyes Magos."

Bishop Issenmann concluded by telling the youths, "We know your circumstances are difficult. But, never be discouraged . . . carry on as you have begun."

Urban League Picks Speaker

Eli E. Cohen will be guest speaker at the 45th annual dinner of the Columbus Urban League, Wednesday, Jan. 16, at 6:30 p.m., in the Southern Hotel, S. High and Main-sts.

Cohen is the executive secretary of the National Committee on Employment of Youth and has been professionally concerned with vocational problems of young people for more than a quarter of a century. He is currently a member of the President's Committee on Youth Employment and is special consultant on Youth Employment to the U.S. Department of Labor.

He will outline the nature of this problem of youth employment and also give some guidelines for future planning.

Reservations may be obtained by calling the Columbus Urban League at CL. 8-9529.

Dance Classes Need Registrants

Persons interested in participating in a new series of square and folk dance classes, sponsored by the Columbus Recreation Department and the Central Ohio Corporation of Dance Clubs, may call the recreation department at CA. 1-2211, Ext. 282.

Square dance classes are being held Mondays in Hartley High School, Tuesdays at Whetstone Shelter (Park of Roses) and Fridays at the Westgate Shelter Hou e, 3271 Wicklow-rd.

Round dance classes are being held Wednesdays at the Whetstone Shelter (Park of Roses) and Thursdays at Westgate Shelter, 3271 Wicklow-rd.

Folk dance classes are being held Tuesdays at Whetstone Recreation Center, 2932 N. High-st.

All classes start at 8 p.m.

Date Try-outs For Musical

Auditions will be held by the Independent Players of Columbus for "Bells are Ringing" Sunday, Jan. 13, at 2 p.m. in the group's clubroom, 527½ W. Broad-st.

An accompanist will be available for those trying out for singing parts. Actors will be asked to read from the book of the show.

"Bells are Ringing" will be the spring production of the players group and presented Apr. 19-20 in Veterans Memorial. The book and lyrics were written by Betty Comden and Adolph Green with music by Jule Styne.

Nursing Home Open House Set For Sunday

Murray Hill Manor, called Central Ohio's first non-sectarian nursing home in 40 years, will hold open house Sunday, Jan. 13.

Murray Hill Manor, 880 Greenlawn-av, has been built to accommodate elderly persons who are alone and unable to care for themselves, according to Robert W. Stuart, administrator.

The Manor is a one-story brick structure built to house 98 men and women. Constructed by Virginia Homes, Inc., in cooperation with the Columbus Hospital Federation, the Manor exceeds the basic state and local requirements for nursing and convalescent homes, Stuart said.

Built on a three and one-half acre site, the three-wing building will be open for public inspection Sunday from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Clearance Week Scheduled At Shopping Center

The 85 stores and services in the Town and Country Shopping Center, 3600-4000 E. Broad-st will stage their annual "January Clearance Week" beginning Thursday, Jan. 10.

F. W. Grover, spokesman for the group, said a record number of after-Christmas shoppers are expected to be on hand.

Suburban News Editors On Ch. 34 Program Debut

Marcus T. Orr, managing editor of Hartley Newspapers, will be among those seen in the debut of a television program, "Suburban Viewpoint," at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 10, over WOSU-TV Channel 34.

Winston W. Hill, director of public affairs programming for the university television station will host the series to be aired on alternate Thursday nights. "Forcast for '63" is the title of the first program.

Hill explained that this pioneering series will focus attention on the communities satellite to Columbus, revealing the problems and potentials of the area.

A half hour in length, the first program will have as other editor participants:

Don Hollenback, The Booster and the Herald Booster; Monroe Courtright, The Public Opinion, Westerville; Mrs. Eleanor Boardman, The Tri-Village News and the Upper Arlington News; Ron Coffman, The Grove City Record; Bill Hartman, The Times, Canal Winchester; Mrs. Patricia Murphy, The Little Weekly.

Newspaper Staff To Receive Free Chest X-Rays

Hartley Newspapers employes will receive free Christmas Seal chest x-rays on Monday, Jan. 14, TB Society officials announced this week.

The Christmas Seal x-ray cruiser last served employes of Hartley Newspapers in 1958. At that time, 41 free chest x-rays were given and revealed three suspected findings.

Chest x-rays spot contagious tuberculosis and some other serious respiratory diseases.

The society offers free x-ray service to any firm employing 40 or more people. An estimated 60 local firms will be provided free x-ray service by spring.

North American Shipping Antenna System To East

North American Aviation's Columbus Division has started shipping its 200-ton Haystack antenna system to the erection site near Tyngsboro, Mass.

Fourteen railroad cars and two five-axle tractor-trailers will be required to complete the moving job.

Routing of the overside components for the antenna required more than two years of planning with state highway departments and railroad representatives to select roads and rail beds capable of accommodating the huge equipment.

When completed late this year, Haystack will be the most precise instrument of its size ever constructed, NA officials said.

Its beaming accuracy will allow it to track a steel sphere a quarter-inch in diameter to an altitude of 1000 miles.

Haystock's basic mission will be to help develop and test equipment needed to operate satellite-relay systems for global communication systems.

Wrestling Wrapup

The area's high school wrestlers returned to the grappling arena last week after the two-week holiday layoff with East, Walnut Ridge, Bexley and Groveport pinning opponents for mat wins.

Franklin Heights was not listed on the winners' list for the first time since the wrestling season opened. The Falcons suffered their initial setback at the hands of visiting Cleveland Eastlake — North, 33-8.

The Cleveland team, one of state's top schoolboy wrestling powers, outpointed F-H, running North's mark to 9-1 as compared with the Falcons newly-blemished 7-1 record.

Despite the fact that Aziz Dere (120) and captain John Riggs (127) suffered their first individual setbacks (the latter to '62 state runnerup Roger Anderson), undefeated Don Davis (112) and Dan Green (133) each won their 11th straight matches this season.

In other results, Bexley edged Pleasant View, 22-21, Walnut Ridge outpointed Central, 37-10, East downed Hilliard, 25-12 and Groveport overpowered Mifflin, 37-8.

Highlighting this week's mat card is Pleasant View's Invitational tourney Saturday, starting at 10 a.m. with final matches set to get underway at 2:30 p.m.

Eight teams will participate, according to P-V wrestling coach Bob Mowery. Besides host Pleasant View, Circleville, Franklin Heights, Grandview, Groveport, Grove City, University and West will compete for top honors.

Early favorite in Franklin Heights with Circleville and the Panthers probably battling it out for the runner-up spot.

Mowery suggested that a lot of the individual interest at the meet might center around Franklin Height's Aziz Dere and Pleasant View's John Holliday, both of whom will be seeking repeat wins in the tourney.

Holliday is the only returnee from last year's match in the 112-pound class while Dere, who was the 103-pound winner last year, has moved up to the 120 class this season.

Here are last week's individual results:

Whitehall 28, Newark 20

Rose (Bowl) Petals Falling Other Way

We guess the first symptoms of approaching senility come to the fore when somebody begins to start referring to his past as the "good 'ole days."

We caught ourselves using that musty expression as a post-game reflection on the Rose Bowl after the Vander-Kelens and Beathards had gone their separate ways and the only thing that filled the airways of the emptying arena was the California dusk.

SOMEBODY IN THE room was nostalgically looking back to New Years Day past. "Remember when the Big Ten teams always won the Rose Bowl," he said sadly.

We could remember. But we left just as the concerted spirit of disappointment had worked itself into the suggestion that everybody write the University of Wisconsin letters suggesting its resignation from the Big Ten Conference.

Being a native Midwestern and certainly a Big Ten fan, we were a little disappointed ourselves, figuring that the Badgers would eventually pull out the victory (which they almost did).

BUT THE more we thought about it, the more we realized that the Badgers didn't really play that bad a game. After all, any team that can score 37 points against the nation's number one football power certainly isn't a slouch.

And even if the game didn't end the way we would have liked, it did contain nearly everything a fan could ask for in a football game except a little more defense and a little less whistle tooting.

Right from the toss of the coin, it was evident that this was to be a game that wasn't going to be like any other Rose Bowl game.

WE WERE CONVINCED that the head official must be an NBC vice-president after his impromptu plug for the network with the flip of the silver but his extra-curricular arm waving throughout the rest of the game betrayed his apparent desire for his own one-hour "special."

But we guess we weren't much better ourselves, spinning the dial from Sugar to Orange to Sugar earlier in the day until our overworked "Auld Lang Syne" of the previous evening finally overcame us and we caught ourselves waking up to Mel Allen's half-dozen references to the "granddaddy of them all."

We politely asked if anybody pulled a Tommy Lewis in the Sugar Bowl and how many people were arrested for trying to shake the President's hand at the Orange Bowl game.

WE GUESS NO matter how badly we felt about Wisconsin's inability at win at Pasadena in three tries, it was nothing to compare with the disappointment of Milt Bruhn, who must be saddled with some kind of a complex by this time.

After all Milt (1.) couldn't convince the officials, (2.) had a hard time getting his players on the field the second half and (3.) didn't even get in a good lick when an overenthusiastic Trojan tackler wanted to escort a Badger ballcarrier all the way to his seat on the bench before halftime.

Maybe it was only natural that Coast scribes should misquote coach McKay into adding injury to injury by saying that the Badgers would finish dead last in the Trojans' league alignment of six teams.

There's never been any love lost between the Pasadena crowd and their compadres in the Midwest especially since one writer quoted a Big Ten coach saying that his team's opponent in the bowl a few years back would have nailed down the cellar spot in the Western Conference.

It was the West Coast's day for "touche" and sweet revenge. The only problem is they're trying to make a habit out of it. We can remember the "good 'old days" when the Big Ten won them all but maybe that pendulum has begun to swing the other way.

We hope the reversal is short lived because those of us who like to crow about Big Ten supremacy are beginning to get a bit giddy from all those feathers in our stomachs.

EASTMOOR TOPS SCOTTIES

East Routs Devils; Cards Stop Eagles

While City League running mate North fell by the wayside Friday, East's point-potent Tigers kept pace with unbeaten Linden and Central atop the CL heap, picking up a lop-sided 67-30 win over Marion-Franklin.

As both Bexley and Whitehall were dropping close CBL games Friday night, St. Charles vaulted to the top of the Central Catholic League handing Watterson its first loss of the season, 51-50, in an overtime.

ALSO HIGHLIGHTING weekend cage play around the area was Eastmoor's first City League win of the season, a come-from-behind 50-39 conquest of Walnut Ridge Saturday night.

East's fast-breaking, hot-shooting Tigers rolled up a 41-point third-period lead over outclassed Marion-Franklin before the Orange and Black let up.

Coach Bob Hart took the opportunity to look over his first 10 cagers, all of whom broke into the scoring column against the Red Devils. Bob Calloway led East's long line of scorers with 14 points.

ICE-COOL Dick Ferris and Dan Boyle headed the list of Cardinal heroes as St. Charles knocked Watterson out of the unbeaten ranks and a share of the CCL lead with one swipe.

The Eagles, who had added up seven straight wins prior to Friday night, held the upper hand through most of the game, gradually increasing their lead to seven points after three periods.

But the Cards weren't finished as they narrowed the gap and pulled up to 48-all on Boyle's goal as the last second regulation play ticked off the clock.

FERRIS CANCELLED out the Eagles' only points of the overtime with three converted free throws, the last two coming with one second remaining in the overtime.

Six Carolians got into the scoring act but Mike Baumann led St. Charles with 16 points, followed by Ferris and Boyle with 13 and 12 markers, respectively.

BEXLEY AND WHITEHALL failed to capitalize on league-leader Urbana's first "stumble" of the season Friday — the Lions edged 48-46 by Arlington and the Rams two points short of Grandview, 61-59.

Bexley stayed up with the Bears as the lead changed hands frequently. Jim Hoyer's 21 points was the best for the Lions, while Ted Rose scored as many for the winners.

Whitehall nearly overcame a 13-point fourth-period advantage enjoyed by the Bobcats, falling only one basket short. Jeff Robinson poured in 18 for the Rams while teammate Bill Dildine scored 12 more.

EASTMOOR FOUND its shooting eye in the second half Saturday night to nab its first CL win with its win over the Scotties.

The Warriors, plagued by fouls and turnovers throughout the first half, outscored the Scots, 23-7, in the third period and put the stopper on W-R hotshot Jim Pyles, holding the Scottie sharpshooter to one field goal.

Steve Howell of Eastmoor paced all scorers with 28 points while John McQuaid's 14 markers led the Scottie attack.

The shoe was on the other foot Friday evening, however, as Aquinas gradually pulled away to a 49-39 win over the Warriors.

WALNUT RIDGE was no more successful, falling under Linden's hot-shooting Panthers, 76-35. McKinley built up a 35-point halftime lead and then coasted the rest of the way.

Ken Evans' 10 points led the Scots scoring with Dennis Day adding nine more.

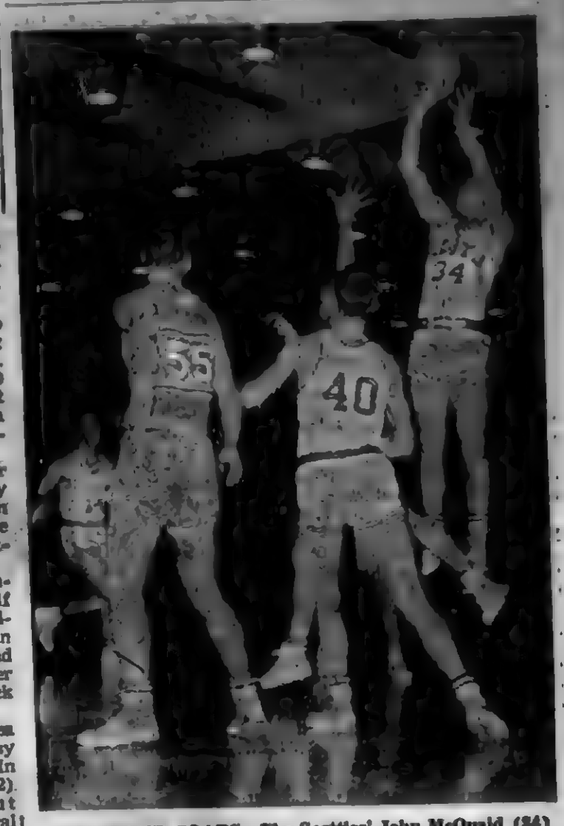
Hartley's Hawks rebounded Saturday to defeat Pleasant View, 62-49, after suffering a 47-34 CCL setback at the hands of Newark Catholic Friday. Jerry Ferris and Dick Stopper each scored nine points to top Hawk scoring against Newark.

PLEASANT VIEW'S Panthers fought Hartley on near-even terms throughout the first half Saturday but the Hawks pulled away comfortably in the second half.

Randy Rodich and Jack Diamond led the Hawk scoring pace with 18 and 15 points, respectively, while Tom Schlager added 13 more.

Academy took over undisputed possession of the County League cellar with a pair of losses to the league leader and runner-up over the weekend.

THE VIKINGS RAN into University's smooth-working offense Friday, losing 68-34. John Larrimer scored 10 points to pace Academy but the Little Bucks finished with three starters in the double-figure category.



St. Marys was little kinder Saturday, overcoming an early Academy lead to finish with a 57-43 victory, saddling the Vikings with their eighth setback in nine games.

In two other Saturday contests, Delaware's second-half rush overcame Whitehall, 64-57, as Sam Maxwell poured in 23 points for the losers and St. Charles upended Lancaster Fenwick, 57-43, behind Dick Ferris' 16 points.

ALL BUT ONE of the area quintets crowd into a busy weekend of cage activity. In the City League, North (5-2) visits East (7-0), Walnut Ridge (1-7) entertains Central (5-1) while Eastmoor is idle.

Other Friday games find Bexley (1-7) at Whitehall (1-9), Rosary (2-5) at Academy (1-8) and Hartley (3-6) at St. Charles (6-4).

Four games are on tap Saturday night. Bexley is at Mt. Vernon, Reynoldsburg (3-5) is at Academy, East is at Dayton Chaminade and West Jefferson (2-4) is at Hartley.

McQUAID SOARS—The Scotties' John McQuaid (34) steps up to take a better view of the basket as he pumps home a field goal attempt against Eastmoor. Moving in for the possible rebound are the Warriors' Steve Howell (55) and Walnut Ridge's Ken Evans (40). McQuaid was the most effective Scot marksman with 14 points scored in Eastmoor's 50-39 win.

WHITEHALL SENIOR Mike Short (left), who took national first place honors in the Senior Boys Division of the Junior Olympic Track and Field Program in the discus throw, receives his National AAU Jr. Olympic award from Columbus Recreation Department Superintendent N. J. Barack (right). Short tossed the discus 142 feet, seven inches to lead all other national entrants.

City Leads Nation In Jr. Olympic Titles

The Capital City gained national attention last week in the sporting world as Junior Olympic Track and Field officials announced that Columbus was the leading city in the country, with the most national winners in the amateur program conducted here last summer.

The program, held at Ohio Stadium, was conducted by the Columbus Recreation Department and resulted in 17 girls and 13 boys winning a total of seven first places, seven second places, three third places, nine fourth places and six fifth places.

INDIVIDUALLY honored was Whitehall High school student Mike Short, of 4140 Rickenbacker-st, who placed first in the nation in the Senior Boys' discus throw — a toss of 142 feet and seven inches.

Short, an 18-year-old senior at Whitehall was presented his National AAU Junior Olympic award last week by N. J. Barack, superintendent of the Columbus Recreation Dept.

Among other local participants honored was Cheryl Gatterdam, of 565 S. Kellner-rd, who was a member of the Ohio Track Club 440-yard Relay Team which placed second in the competition with a time of 53.11.

14 OTHER WINNERS around the area received honors for their performances.

Representing East High School were: Estelle Baskerville, 16, of 430 Eldridge-av, who finished first in the high jump (5'0"), first in the standing broad jump (9'1¾") and third in the 50-yard low hurdles with a time of 7.2 seconds; Chris Miller, 15, of 1645 Grenville-st, who finished first in the high jump (5'0"), third in the 50-yard low hurdles (7.2) and fourth in the 75-yard dash (8.7); Mary Session, 18, of 461 Hanley-st, who placed fourth in the high jump 4'5½"); Sue Neighbors, 16, of 453 Eldridge-av, who took second place in the standing broad jump with a 5'4" leap; Wanda Fuller, 15, of 1428 E. Fourth-av, who finished first as a member of the OTC 220-yard relay team (25.0) and second in the nation in the 75-yard dash (8.5).

From Roosevelt Junior High, Jim White, 15, of 741 Wilson-av, finished fifth in the 100-yard dash (10.5) and Ray Hupp, 12, of 517 Moullst, finished second in the 50-yard free-style in the Jr. Olympic Swimming meet.

Other area winners were: Patricia Watkins, 1104 E. 21st-st, 17, who finished third in the 50-yard low hurdles (7.3), fifth in the 100-yard dash (11.7) and was a member of the OTC 440-yard relay team which placed second (53.1).

Jackie Watkins, 11, of 1104 E. 21st-av, a Hamilton Elementary student, Jackie placed fifth in the 50-yard dash with her 7.0 time; Jean Fields, 897 Morning-st, a member of the 220-yard relay team in the Jr. Girls Division who finished with a time of 27.2.

Patricia Williams, 1053 Oak-st, a 13-year-old Franklin Jr. High student who was a member of the OTC 220-yard relay team which placed fourth (27.2) and won fifth place in the 50-yard dash (6.5).

Harold Griffen, 14, of 469 Reynolds-av and an Everett Jr. High student who placed fifth in the 50-yard dash with a time of 6.2 seconds.

Viking Tankers Edge Out Lima

Academy's swimming Vikings captured the final free relay event to pick up the points necessary to down visiting Lima, 52-43, Saturday.

The Vikings, who figure to be Upper Arlington's chief competitor for honors in the Central Ohio Swimming League this season, broke two school records in the freestyle and breaststroke events.

Academy took honors in five of the 11 individual and team events to secure its point edge with two of the key efforts coming in the vital team medley and free relays.

Here are the individual results:

Courageous Germar Refugee To Become American Citizen

By BETTY DAFT

German by birth, American by choice—Mrs. Eva Gossing will soon become a citizen of the country to whom she gave her allegiance and loyalty six years ago.

Paul and Eva Gossing with two of their children, Peter, then eight, and 15-year-old Ingrid, arrived at the house at 650 S. Richardson-av, made ready by members of their sponsoring Hilltop Lutheran Church, in the fall of 1956.

Another daughter, Rosemarie, with her small son, Klaus, arrived soon after.

The family, fleeing the virtual bondage living in their Russian-controlled province would mean, had been living in a displaced persons camp at Fulda, in Hessen, Germany.

And Mrs. Gossing's fiercely determined, "We came to this country; the country didn't come to us. It is we who will change," has charted her family's course and attitude.

The mysteries of the American way of life, so different from that in Germany, were tackled with a will and soon mastered by the entire family. Soap operas on television, with their continuing thread of story, were Mrs. Gossing's "language school."

We came, Mrs. Gossing said thoughtfully, "to work, to make a home for our children in freedom. All this we found, but there was something even more important — we found again a belief in people. This we had lost in Germany.

"And all this trust and kindness, we pay back," she said proudly.

This "repayment" by Mrs. Gossing has enriched the lives of all she has met. Homemade gifts from her talented hands—crocheted and baked, a sympathetic ear and an understanding heart for others' problems, have earned her a host of devoted friends.

Her husband, Paul, is an ornamental ironworker, and evidences of his skill and artistry are seen throughout the house—the base of the television, at the stairway, the living room arch and the fireplace. And a handmade coffee table, with a top of mosaic tile, and legs of wrought iron, is another example of his craftsmanship.

The Gossings, as every other family, has had its share of triumph and tragedy in the past six years . . . their successes are perhaps even more thankfully received because they seemed so far away in 1956.

Rosemarie is practicing her profession in Columbus as a registered nurse; Ingrid, at 22, is now Mrs. Paul Creager, wife of a forestry student at Ohio State University; Peter, 15, is a student at Hilltonia Junior High, and their father is working at the craft he learned so well.

However, the family's heartfelt happiness on arrival in their new home was sadly tempered during their first year here. After a series of operations on her back, their mother was paralyzed from the waist down.

But Mrs. Gossing's tragedy was far from defeat. The same faith in her God that saw her through heart-breaking experiences in her war-torn homeland, changed despair to acceptance.

With the same high courage and inner strength that made it possible to lead her children 800 miles, from Communist control to free Germany, she has shaped a full and happy life.

"The men in Germany, as here, are the heads of the household," she said gaily, "but the women wear the crowns." And hers is the hand that still guides her husband and children, and manages her household.

AMERICANA, the motif in her hand-crocheted afghan, has also been woven through the lives of Mrs. Paul Gossing, her husband and children, during their six years in this country. German-born Mrs. Gossing will apply for citizenship early this year. Native flowers, and early American churches, schools and houses, are stitched in bright colors on the afghan, to be entered in the Ohio State Fair next summer.

"I must keep busy," she explains. "No one can live my life and do these things for me, not even my good husband."

And with understanding support from her family, she keeps her house immaculate, cooks and keeps household accounts, as well as maintaining close touch with her daughters and their families, and young Peter's progress in school.

And there are so many other things to do — gifts of cookies for the milkman, mailman, "and all those who are so good to me," and crocheted pincushions for their wives, "so they won't be jealous of me," she added merrily.

"Oh, there is so much I can give to people. And my citizenship — that, too, is something I can give to Peter. For with his parents' citizenship, he, too, will become an American."

Striving always to become truly American, Mrs. Gossing still holds fast to the best of her German heritage. "I'm proud of being German, and saddened by those from Germany who are critical and unappreciative of this wonderful country."

A gift from a friend in Germany has a place of prominence on her living room wall. The framed, floral composition, made entirely from flower petals and leaves, arrived with the note, "From the ground where you once stepped, I gathered these for you, for your remembrance."

It doesn't pay to save seed from your own garden, unless you know it is free from disease, say Ohio State University Extension plant pathologists.

French Run Garden Club To See Film

French Run Garden Club will meet at 8 p.m. Monday, Jan. 14, at Graham Road School. A movie, "Your Ohio Heritage," will be shown.

After the program, members will convene at the home of Mrs. A. C. Decker, 866 Hillridge-rd, where the business meeting will be held. Mrs. Roy Kreitzburg, 832 Hillridge-rd, is co-hostess.

Speaker To Address Columbus Gardeners

Columbus Garden Club will meet Friday, Jan. 11, 10 a.m., in the auditorium of Whetstone Recreation Center.

Kenneth Hunt, director of the Glen Helen Association at Antioch, will discuss Conservation in the Yellow Springs area. Mrs. Oral J. Scheaf, 53 S. Harding-rd, is president.

ESTABLISHED 1909

Dear friends,

Statistics show that 60% of income in the funeral directing profession is absorbed in overhead costs. Salaries, depreciation, laundry, heat, light, water, telephone, contributions, rent, repairs, supplies, insurance, car upkeep, and many other expenses, drain heavily.

The remaining 40% must cover the cost of the casket and burial vault. The problem of controlling costs is a constant one.

Respectfully

Arthur B. Leach

Counselling Session Set

Dr. Robert Browning, professor at the Methodist Theological School, Delaware, and authority in the area of family life counselling, will hold a two and one-half hour session at Livingston Methodist Church Sunday, Jan. 13, 6 to 8:30 p.m.

Dr. Browning was one of the leaders at the National Family Life Conference held last October in Chicago.

W. D. Chambers On Minesweeper

William D. Chambers, enginsman third class, USN, son of Mrs. Freda V. Chambers, of 71 Beechtree-rd, is serving aboard the ocean-going minesweeper USS Direct, currently operating with the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

The Direct took part in minesweeping exercises in late November with the French Navy in a North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) test of the capabilities of the combined forces.

Following the exercise, the Direct visited Toulon, a major French naval base.

Norge Village Nearly Ready For Opening

Jim Thorson, manager of the new Kacy Jones Norge Village, 115 S. Yearling-rd, has announced the laundry is nearly ready for its grand opening.

Thorson said the new business will have 16 automatic dry cleaning machines, 20 washers, eight dryers, a hair dryer, and four 25-pound washers.

Exact date of opening will be announced soon, the manager said.

J. Brockmeyer Wins Promotion

John D. Brockmeyer, hospitalman second class, USN, son of Francis M. Brockmeyer, Sr., of 119 Barnett-rd, was advanced to the present rate recently while serving aboard the attack transport USS George Clymer.

The George Clymer is scheduled to return to San Diego in May. She currently is operating with the Seventh Fleet in the Far East.

Curtis Haywood In California

Marine Corporal Curtis H. Haywood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis A. Haywood, of 4628 E. Livingston-av, has returned to Camp Pendleton, Calif., after serving with the Fifth Marine Expeditionary Brigade of the United States quarantine forces in the Caribbean.

The force spent 15 days at sea and visited ports in Puerto Rico, Jamaica and Panama.

At this time we are living in a world full of tension. Fears of nuclear war are with us every day. In times past, men have made one of two choices . . . to rely on their own abilities . . . or to do what they can and place their lives in the hands of the Lord. The Bible tells us how men fared with the choices that they made. The strength of God is sufficient for all our needs, and men who humbled themselves and trusted in God always fared better. Let us judge our future by the past and rely on God for our needs.

ATTEND CHURCH SUNDAY

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Anyone Here Have A Penny Stamp?

Woodrow Wilson's vice-president believed that what this country needed was a good five-cent cigar.

But J. Edward Day, postmaster general, gave us a five-cent stamp instead.

Monday, rates on first class mail were boosted from four cents to five cents an ounce. Post cards went up a penny to four cents and airmail from seven to eight cents per ounce.

We are still better off than in 1847 when the first U. S. stamps were issued. For a nickel, one sheet of paper was the limit. And a dime only entitled you to two pages.

John Wald, Postmaster at Canal Winchester isn't expecting the raise to hurt business, however. He ordered 40,000 sheeted stamps for the quarter, one-third more than usual.

Asked just what one gets for his nickel, Wald counted up the times a piece of mail is handled by the postal department.

The 10 separate jobs required to get a letter to its destination back up his contention that the public "is still getting a bargain."

Drop a letter in a corner box, and what happens?

The mailman picks it up and takes it to the post office. There it is "faced," cancelled, sorted, tied and pouched, and sent on its way.

He didn't count the times it is processed enroute. Arriving at the post office of its address the letter is now taken from the pouch and untied.

Again it is sorted and placed with other mail either for city or rural mail carrier, or for post office boxes. Finally it is either delivered or boxed.

Post offices are rated according to their receipts, with those between $8,000 and $40,000 annual income regarded as second class agencies. The C nal Winchester office is now on the borderline of being first class, according to Wald.

If a re-classification should result from the higher rates, the postmaster's salary would probably be increased. However, clerks, except in the smallest fourth class group (those with less than $1500 a year receipts), would not be affected. The civil service pay schedule is the same for first, second and third class offices.

The number of employees allowed to a post office is also determined by its volume of business.

Robert Welsh, assistant to Postmaster Robert Glick at Ashville, is expecting a boom in one-cent stamps. In 1958 when a changeover from three cent to four-cent stamps was made, they ran out in a hurry, Welsh said.

It seems those who hate not to have a stamp when they want it are the penny stamp customers. Those who bought in large quantities are stuck with last year's stamps, out-moded as a sack dress.

But, add a belt to a sack and you have a "shift." Add a one-cent sticker to a 1962 Winslow Homer Commemorative, and you're in business.

The Winslow Homer honors the Civil War correspondent who turned to painting and is the last 1962 four-cent postal seal.

Welsh pointed out that with the new rules, four-cent government post cards will be pre-cancelled. (If you can remember the phrase, "penny post card," you must be as old as this writer.)

This pre-cancellation means that no longer will the date and point of origin be placed on the card. Welsh said that tests made in Philadelphia indicated that thousands of dollars could be saved in that office alone by skipping the cancelling procedure.

Wald brought up a glaring question on the matter. "What will happen to the people entering contests, which require post-marked deadlines?" he asked.

Two Hartley Newspaper employes came up with two answers. One speculated that the contestants would be asked to use picture post cards which usually cost a nickel before stamping, and are still subject to cancellation.

The other believed that the companies offering such sales promotions would resort to having the slogans, etc., enclosed in letters.

The current request for post cards is made to reduce the cost of processing the hundreds of thousands of pieces of mail usually received during a nation-wide contest.

George Washington is pictured on the new five-cent stamp. The replica was taken from an 1785 portrait by the French artist, Jean Houdon. It is 0.75 by 0.87 inches, and a dull blue printed by Cottrell presses on a silicone-treated paper.

Lincoln appears on the pre-cancelled purple "penny-post card" which now cost four cents.

WHAT IS NEW AND BLUE? The five cent first class stamp showing a 1785 portrait of George Washington was the stamp of the day, Monday.

Boy Scout News

By CARL JAPIKSE
BE. 1-8647

The winter camporee of the White Oaks District will be held on Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 12 and 13 at Edgewater Park on Hamilton-rd.

"Three hundred boys and leaders from the district are expected to attend," commented Donald Cook, camping chairman for the district. "The activities on Saturday afternoon will center on winter Scouting, but will depend on the weather."

In the evening, there will be the usual Scouting campfire. Troops participating will be judged on their Scouting ability, and ribbons will be given to the best troops.

The Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, and Explorer Scouts of the 370 unit sponsored by St. Philip's Apostle Church, sang carols to Fathers S. Hoffman and J. Fulcher of the sponsoring institution, in celebrating the holidays on December 26.

The Scouts then went to the convent of the Christ the King parish, where they sang carols to the Dominican Sisters. The unit then received mass as a body at mass, December 30.

The cubmaster of Pack 370 is Chester Wegenka, scoutmaster of the troop is Capt. Walter Mastenbrook, and Colonel McConnell is advisor of Post 370.

The Mohawk District committee and commissioner's staff will meet at Camp Lazarus on January 12, to decide on the program for the district in 1963.

Some of the items to be discussed are the camporees, the Cubbing program during the winter, and window displays during Scout week. Also to be discussed will be the election of new district officers, and their installation in May.

Construction In Ohio Still Below Standard

At the annual meeting of the Ohio Highway and Turnpike Association in Cleveland, Ohio Highway Director, Everett Preston, made public for the first time the findings of the "Ohio Highway Needs" study. A report that projects Ohio's highway program into 1980.

The report shows that despite a stepped up highway building program Ohio has a greater backlog of highway needs than ever before.

Ohio has 104,000 miles of roads and streets today—and needs 79,800 additional miles to meet the needs of the future — 1980 — when Ohio's population will be 13.4 million and the automobile registration 7.2 million cars.

The report points out that 62,000 miles of present Ohio highways need immediate improvement and that 80 per cent of the rural state highways are below standard for present traffic requirements.

Discussing highway revenues—funds needed to build and maintain the state's roads, streets and highways — it points out that today's revenues amount to $572 million and will average — on a projection — approximately $701 million yearly to 1970, then increase to $959 million yearly to 1980.

The report shows the total to develop the highway program to meet the expected needs will cost $18.8 billion. This will cost the state $797 million yearly for 10 years if the program is begun at once. Contrasting the expected revenues for that period, the program will produce an annual deficit of $96 million for construction and maintenance, of roads and streets at city, county and state levels.

The report concludes with, "Improved highways will provide innumerable benefits. These, in one way or another will accrue to every Ohio citizen."

DRIVE IN DEDICATED

SUSIE GUTHRIE, daughter of William S. Guthrie, president of Buckeye Federal Savings and Loan, standing at her left, is shown snipping the ribbon at the firm's new customer drive-in facility, 43 E. Long-st. Other Buckeye Federal officials are shown participating in the event. The new facility covers 12,000 square feet, and has two teller windows. The parking lot accommodates 10 cars. Entrances and exits to the lot are located on E. Long and Elm-sts.

Staley Named Jury Foreman

S. C. Staley of 1172 Ellsworth-av, the county's first criminal court bailiff, was sworn in Monday as the Franklin County Grand Jury foreman.

Staley retired from the bailiff's position in 1960, after having served 13 years. Formerly he spent 26 years as general superintendent of the old Ohio Wax Paper Co.

Players Date Tryouts For Two Plays

Prairie Players have scheduled tryouts for their two productions, for Monday, Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 11, 13 and 14.

The two plays are a one-act to be presented Feb. 24, "Rise and Shine," and a children's play, to be presented in March.

Mrs. William Appleby will direct the children's play and Mrs. Allen Sanford, the one-act.

Participation in the productions is limited to members of the Prairie Players Guild, although memberships will be available at the tryouts.

Tryouts will be held at 419 Darbyhurst, at 8 p.m. for both plays.

For further information call Mrs. J. J. Lane, TR. 8-5449.

Next major production of the group will be "Picnic," Jan. 25, at Prairie-Norton School.

A Better World for All... the Promise of the Future

COLUMBUS, OHIO — JANUARY 9-10, 1963

Vital Milestone Is Reached; Expressway Program Booms

$100,000,000 In Roads Now Used By Motorists

By Robert F. Mott
Executive Director
Development Committee For Greater Columbus

In keeping with the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the creation of Columbus, significant strides into the future were made in 1962. Perhaps the most significant was in the area of the expressway program, the largest public works undertaking in the history of the Greater Columbus area.

Ultimately to cost over $300 million, the system progressed to the stage that by November, 1962, the Columbus area motorists were using over $100 million worth of projects.

Reaching of this milestone resulted from completion of sufficient portions of the north and west parts of the Fort Hayes Interchange to permit the connection of the North Freeway with the North Leg of the Innerbelt, the West Leg of the Innerbelt, the Southwest Freeway, part of the South Leg of the Innerbelt, the Long-st Extension and the Third-st Viaduct.

In addition to the $100 million of projects opened to traffic, contracts were let in 1962 for the East Leg of the Innerbelt and the Outerbelt from the Southwest Freeway to U. S. Rt. 23 (S. High-st) bringing to a total of $34,464,000 the value of projects now under construction.

An early 1963 letting of the construction contract for the rest of the South Leg of the Innerbelt will add another $9,446,000 to the total under construction and could permit the completion of of the Innerbelt as well as the portion of the Outerbelt by the end of 1964.

Meanwhile, it is expected that consulting engineers will be hired shortly to prepare detailed construction plans for the West Freeway for which the alignment was established after a public hearing held in October.

Also, during the year engineering began, or was advanced, on other projects such as the extension of West North Broadway from Olentangy River-rd to Kenny-rd, the Morse-rd widening from the North Freeway to Cleveland-av, the Olentangy River-rd from Goodale to State Rt. 161, Seventeenth-av from the North Freeway to Port Columbus, the Frank-rd- Refugee-rd connector and Wilson-rd extension.

The new Thurber Village is rapidly replacing the former Flytown in the Goodale area.

Buildings already completed include the Capital Beverage warehouse and office building; national offices of the U. S. Trotting Association; a data processing center for the City National Bank and Trust; an architecturally compatible Texaco Service Station; and a neighborhood shopping center.

Plans for a four and one-half acre park in the center of the project area have been completed and construction will be started in the spring.

The Market-Mohawk project (which is almost 100 percent cleared) has progressed to the point that a qualified redeveloper submitted a redevelopment plan and proposal to the city Jan. 1. This would allow construction to begin in early 1963.

A site for a new sewage treatment plant was purchased and engineers hired to prepare detailed construction plans for the plant. Construction on the large Steizer-rd water main was completed relieving the water shortage on the east side of Columbus.

A water and sewer rate analysis was made in 1962 by consulting engineers. This study will be available in setting a course of action to provide the additional water and sewage facilities, both new and replacement, needed in the area.

Meanwhile, the Scioto Conservancy District completed and received approval of its Official Plan, which will provide not only for future water supply, but also flood control; anti-pollution, low stream flow augumentation; and recreation.

This program will be carried out in conjunction with agencies of the federal government, the Ohio Department of Highways and all local jurisdictions. The plan that evolves should help guide future developments so that "Columbus—1992" will be even more outstanding than the wonderful, fast-growing Columbus of 1962.

Col-Met Area Shows Huge Economic Surge In 1962

By JOHN J. MACKIN
Director of Research
Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce

A consistent pattern of population increases has been contributing to the economic growth of the Col-Met Area for a long time. Since the date of the first census of the population of Columbus, recorded in 1815, the Columbus growth has never taken a backward step.

As a matter of fact, Columbus has been growing at a faster rate than any other large city of the state of Ohio and faster than most other cities of comparable size in the nation.

Since the Census of 1960, up until Sept. 1, Col-Met is estimated to have grown by more than 57,000 persons, the city by more than 36,000 and the other areas of Franklin County outside the central city, by more than 20,000. This has brought the estimate, as of Sept. 1, to 740,196 for Col-Met, 507,843 for the city and 232,353 for all the areas outside the city of Columbus. As of January 1, 1963, these estimates will have risen to 746,118 for Col-Met; 512,883 for the city and 235,309 for the outside areas.

Business rose steadily during the first nine months of 1962. The increase was rapid during the first four months, then came the break in the stock market on May 28. During the following weeks, the effects were felt mildly on local business.

During the third quarter the upward swing was on again, but at a more modest rate. In the ensuing month of October, and in the light of the Cuban crisis, caution was again observed being applied temporarily by consumers and other important participants in the local economy.

In spite of these happenings, 1962 was another year of successes for Columbus businessmen. Department store sales, as reported in the Federal Reserve Bulletin, were, at the end of October, soaring higher than last year by 6 percent.

Since department store sales are only a part of the total for Franklin County, it is reasonable to expect that total sales for the year are going to be well above last year's $940,000,000 total.

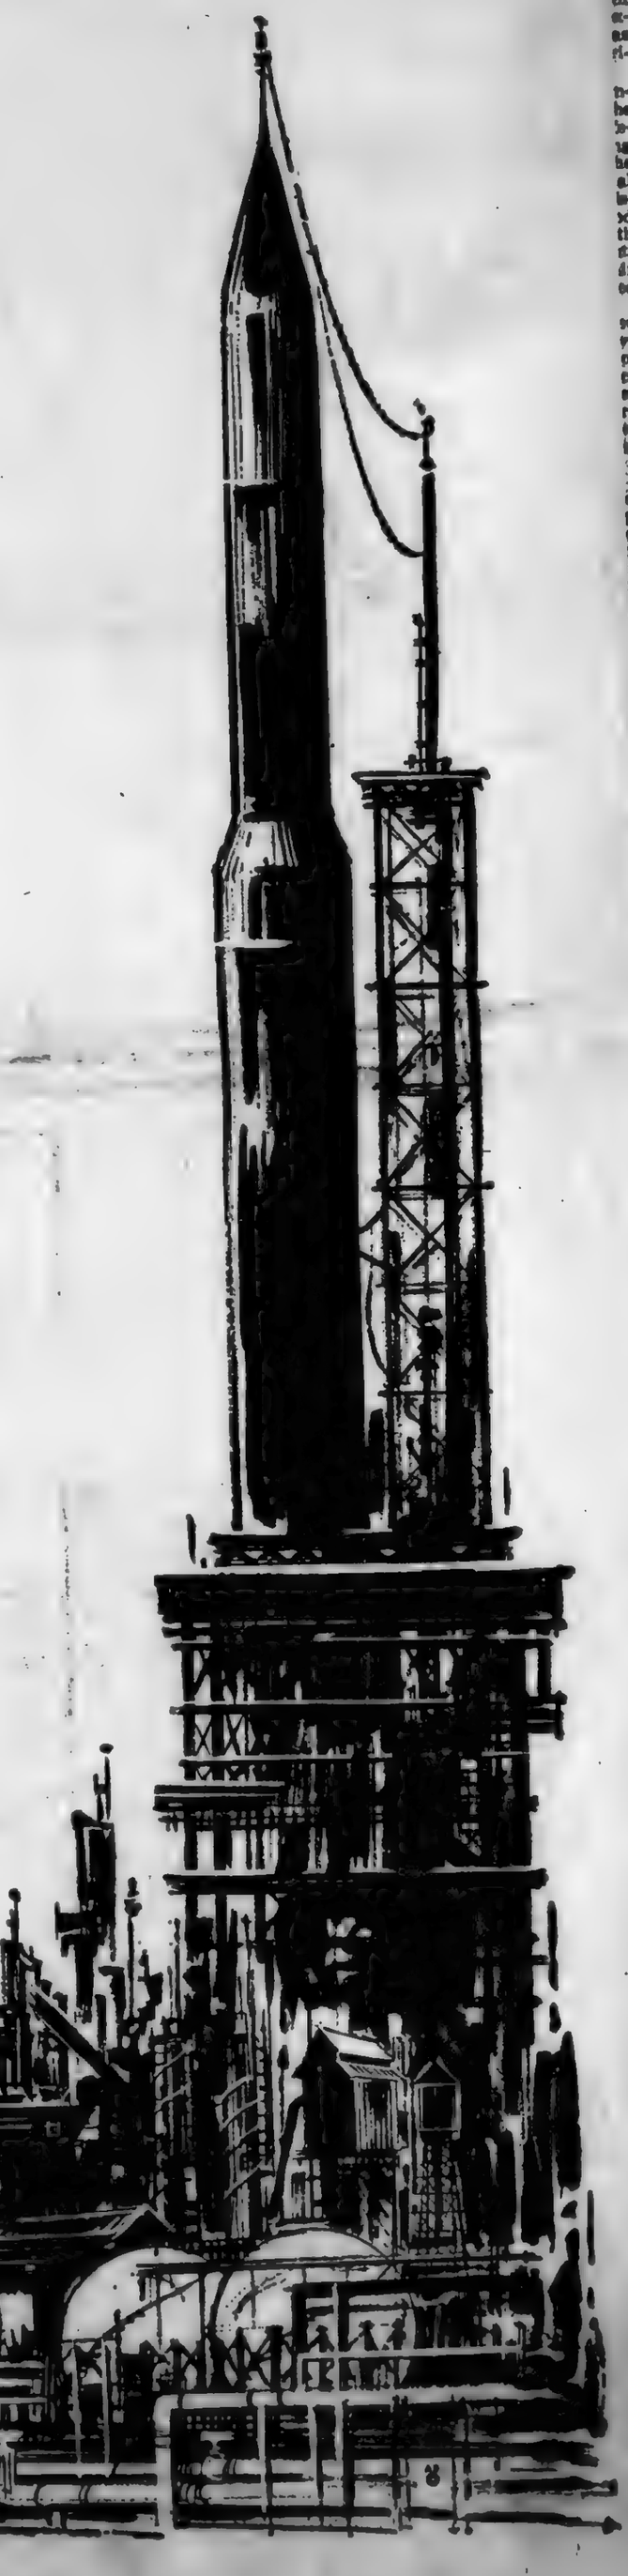
A high level of construction activity has prevailed throughout the year. So far, this has been our best year for construction since 1958. Through the first ten months of 1962, a total of 11,972 permits had been issued in Franklin County. This was 3.2 percent less than had been issued in the same period of 1961. However, on the other hand, valuations this year, through October, at $145,829,450, were 29.1 percent higher than last year.

Through November there were 21,106 real estate mortgages filed. This was 10.6 percent more than had been filed the year before. These mortgages filed this year carried a total valuation of $363,562,710, just 20.7 percent higher than those of last year.

On the other hand, 15,145 mortgages cancelled, 6.1 percent more than had been cancelled the year before. These had a total valuation of $195,584,960, 14.5 percent greater than the mortgages cancelled last year during the same period of time.

Many construction projects were planned or started which are worthy of note. A random selection from among them would require the mention of: three shopping centers, (east, northwest and in the central city); two Urban Renewal Projects; two large motor hotels in the downtown area; two large office buildings; several large suburban department stores, and further expansion of the facilities at and in connection with the Ohio State University.

City Climbs To Second In Ohio Population Race



Continued acceleration of growth in the Columbus Metropolitan Area is indicated by the record of the past year. In many respects, 1962 was the best business year ever for our community.

Building activity—manufacturing and non-manufacturing, new buildings, expansions and remodelings—showed impressive gains. In many cases all previous records were broken. This upward trend in our economy is consistent with the steady climb which marked the local business climate for many years.

Increasing population has, of course, played a role in the progress of our city. During 1962 Columbus jumped from third to second place in population among cities in the state. We have ranked first for several years in area, which reached a total of 93,227 square miles last year.

Looking ahead to 1963, we have every reason to expect the trend to continue. To help it along, The Columbus Chamber of Commerce has stepped up its program of promotion of the industrial and economic development, which should have considerable bearing on our business situation.

All in all, the year 1962 appears to have been a sturdy bridge from an economically healthy past to an even healthier future for the Columbus area.

Producers Livestock Ass'n Shows Marked Gain In '62

The year just concluded was one of the most successful in the history of Producers Livestock Association, according to the association's general manager, Gerald L. Hiller.

More than three million head of livestock were handled by the 24 branch markets of the cooperative and their subsidiary order buying company, he reports. Sale value of this livestock exceded $150,000,000. Business totals in 1962 showed substantial gains over the previous year for the same markets.

Gerald L. Hiller

Totals naturally were larger in 1962, he noted, because of the July 1, 1962 merger of the Cincinnati Live Stock Producers Association with the Columbus-based organization, but gains were scored by nearly all markets above their 1961 totals.

Through the first 11 months, the branch markets sold more than 1,500,000 hogs, over 600,000 sheep and lambs, 334,000 cattle, and 75,000 veal calves. In addition, the order buying company handled approximately 320,000 head of stock. These totals include receipts at the six former Cincinnati markets for only the five months since the merger.

The manager reported that Ohio farmers apparently will be in the cattle feeding business on a big scale in 1963, as Producers markets sold more than 169,000 stocker and feeder cattle in the first 11 months, up 57,000 over the same period the previous year.

Loans made by Producers Live Stock Credit Association, a subsidiary, totaled more than $3,000,000 during 1962, a gain of more than half a million dollars over 1961. Repayments also show an increase.

All indications point to a reasonably good year for livestock farmers in 1963, Hiller indicated. Production may somewhat exceed that of 1962, but with a continued good demand for meat and intelligent marketing by farmers, reasonable profits should be realized.

1962 COLUMBUS BOARD OF REALTORS President John H. Pace, left, is shown handing the gavel to President-elect Paul J. Falco who will head the organization in 1963.

Wheat stabilization program signup through Nov. 15 in U.S. showed 43,500 farms signed 370,456 acres to conserving uses. Participants will be eligible for price support at $1.82 per bushel, an 18c payment on normal production of acres harvested, plus diversion payments. In Ohio, 2,003 farms have agreed to divert 14,846 acres. Farmers have until Dec. 14 to sign agreements at their ASCS office.

Board Of Realtors' Membership Climbed To 1700 In 1962

The Columbus Board of Realtors is a trade association of long standing in Central Ohio. Organized in 1908, the board has been in constant operation since.

As a trade association, CBR provides the necessary services for members which makes their jobs easier in their every-day operation. Members feel more can be done collectively and more economically than can be done individually.

At the present time, the board is providing 52 different services for its members. The two most recent services offered are plat books for Columbus and Franklin County, and a special letter listing realtor services to be sent to individuals attempting to sell their own homes.

In 1962 the board added 76 new realtor members, 283 salesmen members and a new associate member. These additions bring the total membership to more than 1700—one of the largest trade associations in Central Ohio.

Also inaugurated during the past year was a Million Dollar Club which gives special recognition to salesmen members for outstanding performance.

Executive vice president of CBR, L. I. Chambers, said the membership expects to make further expansions during 1963.

Seed Growers School Set For Jan. 30-31

New research in seed production, conditioning, and merchandising will highlight talks at Ohio's annual Seed Growers School, scheduled for Jan. 30 - 31 at the Ohio Exposition Center in Columbus.

Speakers will include some of the country's outstanding authorities in the seed industry, according to Dr. Lewis C. Saboe, Ohio State University Extension agronomist.

Two symposia also are scheduled, Dr. Saboe reports, one on moving seed from the field to the consumer, the other on developing markets for certified seed.

Exhibits will show the latest in machinery, equipment, and supplies for the seed producer and processor.

Banquet speaker will be Cecil Robinson, Delaware County pork farmer, who will present an illustrated talk on life behind the Iron Curtain.

Economic Management Is Success Key At Grange

The Grange Mutual Casualty Co. was founded under the insurance laws of the State of Ohio Mar. 25, 1935, and began writing automobile business Apr. 25, 1935. Since organization, it has enjoyed steady growth and faithful service to its policyholders.

John C. Haaf

Due to economical management and careful reinsuring, the company hs been in good financial standing since its founding. In the beginning, however, is was organized as an assessment mutual company; it was in 1944 that its surpluses and reserves were sufficient to allow it to become a non-assessable company.

In 1937 Grange added the accident policy; in 1942 the general liability, and in 1944 the hospital policy. The company became a multiple-line company in 1955, allowing it to write fire and extended coverage.

The first offices of the company were located on the sixth floor of the Southern Hotel. Expansion was soon necessary, and a move was made to 50 S. Third-st. Approximately eight years later a six-story building was purchased at the corner of Town and High Streets which was occupied for four years.

Again, it was necessary to find larger quarters, due to the increase in business. Grange purchased its present location at 671 S. High-st in 1949, and since that time, five additions have been made.

Now licensed in Ohio, Tennessee, Florida, Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky and South Carolina, Grange Mutual Casualty opened a regional office in Orlando, Fla., in 1959. This office handles business transacted in Florida, South Carolina, Alabama and Georgia.

Presently being completed is a three-story building 90 by 80 feet at the Columbus address, and almost completed is a new building in Orlando, 125 by 75 feet.

Throughout this rapid expansion, the company was constantly broadening its coverage to policyholders and increasing the compensation to its agents. Through a corps of approximately 700 trained and well-qualified agents, the following forms of insurance protection are offered:

Auto property damage, auto comprehensive, fire and theft, auto collision and auto liability, comprehensive personal family liability, farmers comprehensive personal liability, general liability, garage, personal accident and hospitalization, fire and extended coverage, inland marine, and home owners and farm owners. Contracts are offered to give protection at a reasonable rate.

Total assets in 1935, $201,213, have now increased to $26,632,319. The surplus to policyholders has increased to $379,236. Approximately 350,000 policies are in force.

The officers and directors have always given an excellent accounting of the company's affairs to its policyholders.

The officers, directors and associates of Grange Mutual are naturally proud of the company. It will always be the company's aim to give policyholders the best possible service.

Dairy Prices May Drop During 1963

Many dairy farmers can expect a slightly lower income next year, predicts K. W. Kepner, Ohio State University Extension specailist in dairy marketing.

Prices which dairy farmers will receive the first quarter of 1963 will be substantially below those of a year earlier because of the lower price support level, Kepner says. For the rest of the year they should be about the same as in 1962.

"But these estimates assume the current dairy program will continue and there will be little change in the the international situation," the specialist explains. "It is almost certain that new dairy legislation will be proposed to Congress in 1963."

The average price which farmers have received for their milk this year is about $4.10 a hundredweight, Kepner says, compared to $4.22 in 1961. Next year, the average price for manufacturing milk, with 3.8 per cent butterfat, is expected to be near the price support level of $3.11 a hundredweight.

While next year is expected to bring further decline in farm cash receipts from dairying, plus lower net farm income due to higher prices which farmers will have to pay for the things they buy, individual dairy farmers still may do fairly well next year. The real key to individual producer income, says Kepner, is the adaptation of efficiency and technology to his own operation.

Better Living Begins with Gas!

All over America versatile natural gas is helping people to a better, more lively life. ■ Already providing nearly a third of the total energy needs of the nation, gas is becoming an increasingly valuable fuel, tool, and chemical raw material in the fast-moving Space Age. ■ In modern homes gas provides the ultimate in comfort and convenience. In forward-looking industries gas performs more than 25,000 different manufacturing tasks with unmatched precision and efficiency. ■ People in Ohio have a head start in sharing all the good things that can be done with gas, because of the state's location in America's Original Natural Gasland. Here gas was discovered, operating techniques were perfected, and service is best—at rates that continue to be among the lowest in the country.

Golden Anniversary • Celebrated By GSA

The year 1962 was the Golden Anniversary of Girl Scouts of the United States of America. In 1912, Juliette Low started the first Girl Scout troop in this country with 12 members. In 1962, three and a half million girls and adults are members.

Girl Scouts planted acres of golden blossoms in recognition of their fiftieth birthday. They planted crocus, tulip, daffodil, and iris bulbs as well as Brownie Scout marigolds and Girl Scout roses. They planted as a means of expressing appreciation to schools and churches and other organizations which provide meeting places. They planted in parks and around their homes.

Girl Scouts performed a flag ceremony at the Youth Concerts of the Columbus Symphony in April. Later in the year, Senior Girl Scouts did the flag ceremony for the opening session of the Ohio School Board Association convention. Senior Girl Scouts also former a color guard in the Sesquicentennial Parade. Innumerable flag ceremonies have been performed by Girl Scouts in their own troop meetings, at PTA meetings, and at various community gatherings.

One of the highlights of 1962 among local Girl Scouts was the visit of 13 Girl Guides from France. The French girls came to this country under the Experiment in International Living with help from the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund.

The Guides were here from July 20 to Sept. 12, each one staying with a hostess family which had a Senior Girl Scout daughter about the age of the French guest. Numerous opportunities for contacts with community groups and Girl Scout troops were arranged.

Girl Scouts were honored at the Ohio State Fair by a special tent program, a green and gold cover and picture on the premium booklet, and a flag ceremony at a grandstand show. The Girl Scouts responded enthusiastically by listing 124 winning entries.

The Sabin on Sunday project gave Girl Scouts the opportunity to be of service in a large community program. Girl Scouts helped in the 118 Sabin centers on Sept. 20 and Nov. 4. They helped again at the third and final SOS Jan. 6.

Two concerns are felt by all adults who believe and work in the Girl Scout program. There are hundreds of girls between the ages of seven and 17 on waiting lists. The girls are waiting, but there is a shortage of qualified and interested adults to serve as leaders. Another concern is the challenge of finding adequate meeting places for troops.

In 1963, the Girl Scouts will move into Program Change, to become effective in September. There will be four age-level divisions in the Girl Scout program instead of the present three. The single biggest event being planned by the Ohio Trefoil Girl Scout Council in 1963 is the Program Fair, scheduled at Veterans Memorial Saturday, April 27.

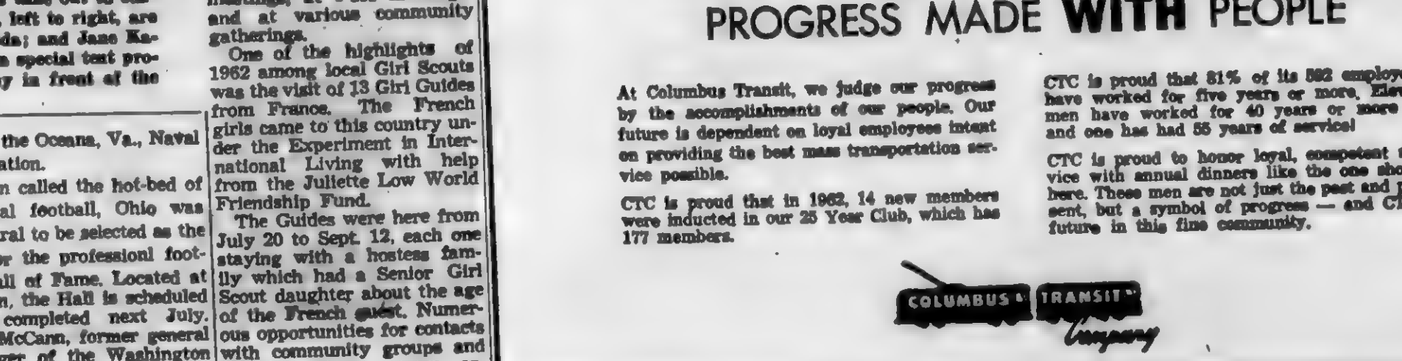
A quick glance back over the headlines that appeared in Ohio's newspapers this past year seems to indicate that the Buckeye State has a great many personalities to be proud of.

First, a tip of the hat is due young Jack Nicklaus, former Ohio Stater, who has just about dethroned Arnie Palmer as the hottest golfer in the nation.

And another Jackie, Miss Jacquelyn Mayer of Sandusky, a personable and very lovely lass, captured Miss America honors in Atlantic City in September.

New Concord's John Glenn was very much in the news in 1962, with his history-making flight. Possibly slated for similar honors are two other Ohioans, Neil A. Armstrong and Lt. Comdr. James A. Lovell, Jr.

Armstrong, a native of Wapakoneta, is a former test pilot for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.



Lovell, a Clevelander, is a flight instructor and safety officer for Fighter Squadron 142 at the Oceana, Va., Naval Air Station.

Often called the hot-bed of national football, Ohio was a natural to be selected as the site for the professional football Hall of Fame. Located at Canton, the Hall is scheduled to be completed next July. Dick McCann, former general manager of the Washington Redskins, is director of the shrine.

Incomes May Rise In 1963

Economic indicators are pointing to another new high in 1963. Pay scale hikes already in the contracts should give three million workers another $1 billion in salary increases.

Stockholders may expect dividend payments to gradually rise during 1963, but interest payments probably will level off. These offering services can expect a slight rise in rates and fees.

PROGRESS MADE WITH PEOPLE

At Columbus Transit, we judge our progress by the accomplishments of our people. Our future is dependent on loyal employees intent on providing the best mass transportation service possible.

CTC is proud that in 1962, 14 new members were inducted in our 25 Year Club, which has 177 members.

CTC is proud that 81% of its 582 employees have worked for five years or more. Eleven men have worked for 40 years or more — and one has had 55 years of service!

CTC is proud to honor loyal, competent service with annual dinners like the one shown here. These men are not just the past and present, but a symbol of progress — and CTC's future in this fine community.

James R. Riley Receives National Success Award

James Ralph Riley, president of Suburban Motor Freight, King-av, was one of 10 recipients of the 1962 American Success Story Awards in New York last month. Sponsored by the Free Enterprise Awards Association, the national presentation was made to those who "rose from the ranks to own or head giant industries."

Upon receiving the award, Riley commented, "Success in America's democracy is assured if you give unselfish service to your customers and community. Help improve the area you serve and you will prosper in material and spiritual values."

* * * * * * *

When James Ralph Riley determined on a choice of a career, he set a course designed to lead to livestock farming and auctioneering. Instead his path led to the presidency of the Suburban Motor Freight.

In the public utility segment of the truck transportation industry, Suburban Motor Freight is a regular common carrier that daily and directly serves Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, West Virginia and Michigan, provides connecting carrier accommodations to 41 other states, Washington, D. C., and Canada.

From farm boy to motor freight executive, the success road trod by Ralph Riley covered a mere 35 miles—the distance from the Riley rural homestead in Licking County to Columbus.

It is a paradoxical truth that he wouldn't have trudged the path but for an outbreak of cholera among hogs Riley was raising for market. The disease nipped his livestock aspirations in the bud, left him heavily in debt and with no alternative but to seek a living for himself and wife away from the Riley farm.

The auctioneering skill Riley acquired in Chicago in 1920, following his husbandry studies at Ohio State University, came in handy, but this state of well-being was temporary during an era of shrinking incomes.

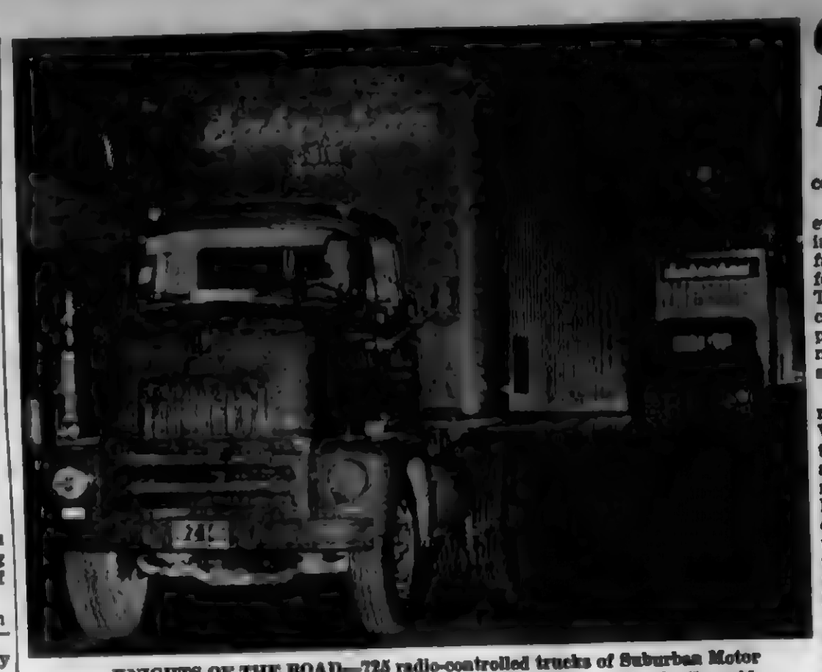
The time was 1924 when the motor freight industry was in its infancy. Riley began hauling milk from farms near Newark to Columbus and supplies to the farmers on the return trips.

In 1929 he established the first interstate truck line out of Columbus a 190-mile regular freight haul he called "Columbus - Detroit Motor Freight." The following year, his line and Suburban Transfer Lines were incorporated as Suburban Motor Freight. Riley was made its president in 1931. The company gradually grew into one of the 75 largest highway common carriers in the nation.

Now Suburban Motor Freight transports the nation's goods to and from nearly 5,000 cities and towns in mid-America. Five years ago Suburban purchased another pioneer truck line, Liberty Highway Co., Toledo, to enable Suburban to extend its regular service to important markets for which it was not previously certificated.

Riley oversees all this from Suburban's headquarters at 1100 King-av. The building is trim and scrupulously neat in every detail.

James R. Riley



His interests are varied and numerous. He is a founder of the celebrated Columbus Boy choir, whose home is now in Princeton, N. J. ,and a founding member of the American Society of Traffic and Transportation. He helped to establish the Columbus Town Meeting of the Air, and has appeared on its television program, as well as on other radio and television programs in Ohio and elsewhere.

Riley has for many years been prominently identified with civic betterment projects and such public service organizations as the United Appeal and the Big Brothers Association. He has headed the Special Gifts Committee for the Cancer Fund and the Christmas Seal sale to combat tuberculosis. He is chairman of the YMCA's current campaign in support of World Service-Buildings for Brotherhood.

He is a trustee of Baldwin-Wallace College, Piney Woods Country Life School (Mississippi), and Columbus' new Riverside Methodist Hospital.

Riley holds directorships in the State Savings Co., the Corrugated Container Co., and is a member of Scioto Country Club and the Athletic Club of Columbus.

Through industry, government, education, art, church and charity, Ralph Riley has contributed much to the lives of many. A man of exceptional vigor and ability, he is an example to the people in each mode of transportation of an individual's independent enterprise for the good of all transportation. His is a devoted citizenship.

KNIGHTS OF THE ROAD—725 radio-controlled trucks of Suburban Motor Freight, Inc., 1100 King-av, now serves more than 5000 communities in the midwest. The company employs more than 1000 persons and its carriers travel in excess of nine million miles a year. Suburban Motor Freight grossed $10,612,949 in 1961.

Common Carriers' Goal Today: Excellent Service To Public

What is a highway regular common carrier?

For a moment think of the everyday things human beings need each day. Breakfast, lunch and dinner . . . food, clothing and shelter. This means baby foods, medicines and bread . . . toothpaste, tires and turbines. It means newsprint, books and schools.

To make use of these things requires incessant mobility. Without abundant transportation, America would be like a helpless giant, unable to move arms and legs or defend himself. The national economy is geared intimately with the development of something unique under the transportation sun—the highway regular common carrier.

The ability to pick up and deliver on schedule anything, anywhere, has made regular common carriage a still growing $3 billion public service industry.

Highway regular common carriers are available to all persons requiring freight transportation services. Every manufacturer and merchant in the U. S. depends upon the services of this industry. Regular common carriers are therefore recognized and regulated as public utilities, and their prime obligation is to serve the public's freight needs.

The importance of regular common carriers to life itself is most dramatically realized when some natural disaster—a hurricane, flood or other disturbance — cuts off the flow of commerce into a community, and leaves it feeding upon itself. Only the resumption of regular common carrier traffic brings life and safety back into the community. But the daily job is every bit as vital.

The merchant can raise or lower prices subject to competition and no one may be the loser. But not the regulated public carrier.

After long and painful trial and error, the U. S. discovered that it cannot grant to private, managerial decision — regardless of how wise it may be — the simple right to provide or deny the lifesaving services of transportation to any person, producer or community.

Hence, the Federal regulation of public carriers by Congress, with the Act to Regulate Commerce which created the Interstate Commerce Commission. The Transportation Act of 1920 first gave the commission the authority to prescribe specific rates on interstate commerce. Motor carriers of property were placed under the jurisdiction of the Act of 1935 and recognized as an integral part of the national transportation system.

In 1940 Congress enunciated the National Transportation Policy which aspires to these goals: independent transport agencies; just and reasonable common carrier rates open to all without favor or discrimination; development of the inherent advantages of each mode of transport; equality of regulation as between carriers; and sound economic conditions among the carriers.

In an earlier day, whole regions, states and cities, seaports and new territories were dependent upon a single form of inland transportation. The nation's commerce rolled by the isolated communities of the land — the communities not served by the lone inland transportation system. This day has gone . . . because highway common carriers reach wherever public necessity requires.

The essential carrier of today is the motor common carrier on the highways for he serves all shippers plus all other types of carriers.

And it is the highway regular common carrier who invest millions in terminals, who buy and operate trucks, and provide employment for millions of men and women.

Highway regular common carriers make huge and direct contributions to the economy. And, as to America's defense, Maj. Gen. Paul F. Yount, Chief of Transportation, U. S. Army, has this to say:

"The maintenance of an experienced and qualified motor carrier industry trained in the movement problem involved in the shipment of supplies is deemed essential to meet the needs of national defense."

No time for birthdays

It has been a short, busy 97 years.

Since January 2, 1866, Columbus has grown from a town into Ohio's largest city in area. It has been our privilege to contribute to this growth and to keep pace with it. One of these years, we're going to take time out for a birthday.

This swift expansion of consumer demand for banking services has been matched by an equally swift development of new banking tools.

The newest such benefit to our customers is electronic banking. Our computer system, the first in any Central Ohio bank, is now processing more than 1500 checks a minute with electronic accuracy.

Neighborhood banking convenience also is being extended. Five offices have been added during 1962; the new Westview Office on Georgesville Road will open next spring.

As we enter our 98th year, we expect 1963 to be the shortest, busiest yet. Stop in when any of our complete banking or trust services will be helpful to you. We'd like you to be one of the reasons we keep so busy.

Increase In Loan Limits Helped Modern Finance To A Prosperous Year

L. Kirts Osborne, Jr., president of Modern Finance Co., with executive offices at 75 E. Gay-st, announced assets of Modern are now over $13½ million. He also reported a total of 27,911 finance transactions in the amount of $20,554,701 for the fiscal year ending Oct. 31.

According to Osborne,

steady growth of Modern Finance Co. during the past year has been influenced by the new Ohio law allowing an increase in loan limits from $1000 to $2000.

Modern Finance is in an excellent position to employ additional investment capital, because of the company's growth and future expansion plans, Osborne said. Residents of Ohio only are offered five per cent three-year subordinated investment certificates in the amounts of $100 to $25,000.

Money invested by Jan. 15 will earn five per cent from Jan. 1.

Modern Finance offers an additional service, in association with its small loans, that of Modern budget accounts. These accounts enable people to finance product purchases and services from any merchant on a small monthly payment plan.

Officers and directors at Modern include L. Kirts Osborne, president; C. Bruce Osborne, executive vice president; Lloyd L. Osborne, vice president; Carl Tangeman, secretary and counsel; Gordon Y. Boyd, treasurer; and Frank D. Fults, assistant treasurer.

Under the management of the Osborne family, Modern has grown from three offices in 1942, to 23 offices in 19 Ohio cities. Branch offices are in Ashland, Barnesville, Bellefontaine, Coshocton, Defiance, Delaware, Franklin, Greenfield, Kenton, Lancaster, Lebanon, Lima, Mansfield, Marion, Marysville, Portsmouth, Springfield and Xenia. The firm also has four branch offices in Columbus.

ASSEMBLY LINES like the one shown above sustained a high volume of production last year as Western Electric's Columbus Works increased its output of telephone switching equipment for the Bell System. During the last quarter of 1962, employment at the huge 250 acre facility passed the 5,000 mark with an annual payroll of nearly $28 million.

Employment At Western Electric Reached New High Last Year

Employment at the Columbus works of the Western Electric Co. reached a new high during the fourth quarter of 1962 in its role of manufacturing telephone equipment for the Bell system.

The level attained was 4,800 employees for the Western Electric Co., and 200 employes for the Columbus branch laboratory of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, both at 6200 E. Broad-st.

Last quarter reports reveal an annual payroll of nearly $28 million and local purchases of $2¼ million from over 300 suppliers. Nearly one-half of all purchases at the works, or $7 million, came from 930 firms within the state of Ohio.

The efforts of Western Electric's Columbus works are directed toward manufacturing equipment and apparatus which is installed in telephone exchanges.

Contributing to the growth of employment and high level of economic activity at the plant were research and development as well as expanded production on the Bell System's newest method of telephone communication, the electronic switching system. this system utilizes solid state components and computer devices, some of which operate in millionths of a second, to make telephone connections much faster than present methods. Production is currently underway for the first commercial office in Succassuna ,N.J.

Production continued on automatic number identification equipment, providing automatic identification of the subscriber's telephone number and billing information in making direct distance dialing calls.

Modifications and improvements on No. 5 crossbar equipment, also functional in the nationwide dial network, added to production levels. Plug-in and add-on features for this type of equipment to reduce installation effort, save space, and permit telephone companies to expand capacity, supplemented production.

There were no on-the-job fatalities during the year and the company received the Award of Honor from the National Safety Council for the operation of over 3,000,000 man-hours without a singie employe sustaining a disabling injury.

The first full year of a nonpartisan course in practical politics, termed "democracy in action," was completed. Through the program employes and their spouses were given the opportunity to hear local political figures discuss the precinct level of government. At the request of the Franklin County Board of Elections, the company extended the use of the lobby as a polling place during the primary and general elections.

In the community, the company worked closely with the Motorist and Pedestrian Safety Organization in furthering highway safety practices; the American Red Cross Regional Blood Center frequently visited the plant to obtain blood donations; and, for the sixth year, the employes of Western Electric remained a "fair share" contributor to United Appeal.

The growth experienced during the year is indicative of the company's goal to provide better telephone service for the nation. As a citizen of the community Western Electric is pleased to have shared this growth with the public.

Egg prices the first half of 1963 are expected to average about one cent a dozen higher than during the first six months of 1962, predict Ohio State University Extension poultry specialists.

Columbus Building Activity Upped In 1962

In 1962 industrial and commercial expansion remained steady in some areas and in others dropped slightly. Ten new manufacturing businesses were established in 1962 as compared to 13 in 1961. Seventy-three new non-manufacturing businesses (wholesale, retail and service establishments) were established in 1962, compared with 101 in 1961.

Building activity rose sharply over 1961 in the manufacturing field while non-manufacturing surpassed all previous records. Eighty manufacturing firms invested $3,389,676 in new buildings and remodelings in 1962 while in 1961, 53 manufacturing firms invested $746,450. The greatest increase in construction was seen in the wholesale, retail and service area, with 643 firms investing a total of $45,407, 639, as compared with 597 investing $25,311,605 last year.

New industries included such products as sheet metal and plastic fabricating; electrical equipment; fire and burglar alarms; chemicals; and pre-cast concrete forms. New buildings, expansions and remodelings reached a peak, with no signs of seasonal slack: Lazarus constructed a branch store at Broad-st and Georgesville-rd at a cost of $2 million; the School Employees Retirement System of Ohio has under construction a $6,100,000 motor hotel at 50 N. Third-st, Charles E. Merrill Books, Inc., added a $500,000 wing, doubling their previous 60,000 sq. ft. floor space; the Columbus Public School System spent in excess of $7 million on new schools and remodeling of existing facilities; Buckeye Federal Savings & Loan Co. is building a $100,000 drive-in bank at 43 E. Long-st.

Two additional discount department stores appeared in Columbus this year — Arlan's at Morse-rd and Cleveland-av, at a cost of $600,000; and Woolco's Graceland Store at $700,000; Chemical Abstracts announced its plans for a new building at Dodridge-st and the Olentangy River to be completed in phases, the first one due for completion in 1964 at a cost of $5 million.

An up-and-coming trend is seen in a number of small "growth industries" which have sprung up in the Columbus Area during recent months. Common among these businesses is their contribution and/or application of technical knowledge in the field of research and development for modern industry.

The local appearance of firms in these highly specialized areas is indicative of the resources Columbus has to offer new and expanding technological efforts.

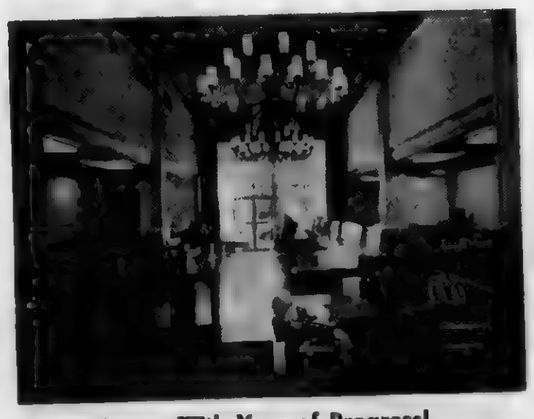
Among the most recent of these industries are: Code Credit Reports, Inc., dealing in uniform commercial code reporting services; Hennis Engitects, Inc., specializing in technical writing and industrial design; Poly-Tronics Corp., experts in molding, fabrication and application of expandable polystyrene in the appliance packaging, recreation, marine and building industries; Solidstate Controls, Inc., manufacturers of electrical equipment and devices; and Choloid Chemicals, Inc., a chemical manufacturer.

Defense contracts awarded to Columbus firms in the first half of 1962 amounted to $20,158,138 for 86 defense contracts. In the first half of 1961 62 defense contracts were awarded amounting to $6,510,711.

Total investments of new industries and local business expansions amounted to $52,040,875 in 1962 as compared to $29,859,715 in 1961.

Home Mortgage Funds Will Be Ample

There seems to be plenty of money for home mortgages and prices seem fairly stable.



Some building experts predict 1.4 million homes to be built in 1963, but others report slow sales of older homes.

Easing of interest rates in some areas in 1962 seems unlikely to be reversed in 1963. One question at the end of December was how much, if any, new integration rules might affect sales and construction of new dwellings.

Over 28 acres of working area are housed in Western Electric's Columbus Works where 5,000 men and women share a dedication to the manufacture of the finest telephone communications systems. Equipment and apparatus made right here at Columbus help the Bell Telephone companies provide Bell System subscribers with good telephone service at the lowest possible cost.

MAKING COMMUNICATIONS PROGRESS ON EAST BROAD STREET

That's what 5,000 of your neighbors are busily doing every day at Western Electric's Columbus Works. The crossbar switches for telephone central offices, line concentrators, and other communications equipment they manufacture help Ohio Bell Telephone Company and the 20 other Bell Telephone companies bring America the reliable and versatile telephone services we all take for granted.

1962 was an especially good year: More than 28 million dollars paid in wages or salaries. 7 million dollars' worth of supplies and equipment purchased by Western Electric from over 900 Ohio business firms. Many thousands of high-quality, precision-made communications products were turned out for the nationwide Bell System, with the design and development help of Bell Laboratories.

And this year should be even better. Yes, we're looking forward to 1963 here at Columbus!

NEW LOOK at the Railroad Savings and Loan Company's downtown office features remodeled front entrance, enlarged lobby, and new white and black marble front. The ceilings have been lowered, emphasizing new strip fluorescent lighting.

RAILROAD SPARKLES!

Savings Firm Has 'That New Look'

One of Columbus' most recent downtown additions is the new look of the Railroad Savings and Loan Co. at 60 E. Broad-st. Founded in 1884, the Railroad is the oldest savings and loan company in Columbus.

Improvements involved expansion as well as refurbishing. The front entrance was extended toward the street, enlarging the vestibule and lobby. The old front was replaced with white granite trimmed in black marble. An impressive street clock complements the new exterior identity.

Inside, the eye is immediately caught by the three large two-tier chandeliers, which spill light into the high ceiling. The public lobby is done in marble, while all company offices and working spaces are carpeted. In fact, the entire five story interior has been remodeled. Strip fluorescent lighting illuminates the second, third, fourth and fifth floors. The ceilings have been lowered, and solid cherry room dividers are used throughout.

The new elevator connecting the floors has been moved to the front of the building, allowing the use of more space space for company offices.

The six teller windows are equipped with three NCR posting machines. The vault has been re-faced in stainless steel. There is also a new 16-compartment teller's locker.

Heating and cooling units have been boosted, and storage and maintenance facilities have been enlarged.

The overall cost of the face-lifting amounted to $300,000. The entire project took seven months to complete.

Each person in the U.S. paid about $228 in food handling costs last year. This applied not only to the food he ate at home, but also to whatever he bought at restaurants and cafeterias.

First Community Village Will Open In February

Opening day for the nation's newest and most exciting living center for older persons is fast approaching. Early in February pioneer residents of First Community Village are expected to move into the $5.6 million "community within a community" in the southwest corner of Upper Arlington, just off U.S. Rt. 33 at Waltham-rd.

As construction progresses towards an early summer completion date for the 496 accommodations, a steadily increasing number of persons will take the important step into what has been called, "a new way of life."

Some of the initial group of village residents have begun developing a program that will be an essential part of the village's concept of a "new way of life for older persons." The program is intended to offset the growing typical trend in society which deprives a community of the seasoned experience and judgment of those persons who helped its growth over the years.

All of this activity and considerably more is being planned by First Community's Minister-Director James W. Bidle but he has considerable help from the group of pioneer residents that have been meeting regularly at First Community Church, sponsor of the project, in anticipation of the day when the village will be their home.

As residents visit back and forth throughout the village they will be rewarded with refreshing variations that will make each major area in the village a new experience. Early American, Country French and complementing English and Italian motifs are tastefully blended in a contemporary manner that preserves the best of the traditional in settings of sturdy beauty, warmth and personality.

The individual residences in the cottage apartments offer a wide variety of interior stylings. From 12 basic interiors there are 48 possible variations.

Many other persons in the surrounding communities are also playing a vital part in the creation of this new living center for older persons. Most of them are members of First Community Church and through their participation on boards and committees of the church and village have been able to give this project far more talent and time than the sponsoring church could ever afford to hire. President of the village board is John V. Johnson.

Unemployment Reduced Here Last Year

The average rate of unemployment in Franklin, Union, Madison and Pickaway counties was reduced in 1962, according to Ralph E. Gabele, Columbus area manager, Ohio State Employment Service.

Non-agricultural job placements made by the OSES offices totaled 36,188 in 1962, representing a 19.2 per cent increase over 1961.

Placements in clerical, managerial, professional, technical and sales positions totaled 3,621 in 1962 — an increase of 59.5 per cent over 1961 figures.

Unemployment claims dropped 38.4 per cent below 1961 averages, Gabele said. The weekly number of persons drawing benefits in 1962 was listed at 4,358 compared to 7,076 in 1961.

Ohio Fuel To Expand Its Gas Facilities Here In '63

The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. plans to invest $130,000 in the Columbus area in 1963 for pipeline additions and replacements and other facilities to help meet constantly growing demands for gas.

Elden H. Davis, central district manager for Ohio Fuel, said deliveries of natural gas to the company's 193,890 customers in Columbus and Franklin County in 1962 totaled more than 51⅓ billion cubic feet — a six percent increase over 1961 and 95 percent more gas than the company delivered in this area 10 years ago.

As an indication of the importance of gas to local industries, Davis noted that 8.8 billion cubic feet of gas delivered to the industries by Ohio Fuel in 1962 also is almost twice as great as the annual industrial requirements of 10 years ago.

Some of Ohio Fuel's largest industrial customers are located in Franklin County, Davis said. Large volumes of gas are needed in the glass, roller bearing, structural clay products and metal fabrication industries here.

Davis said gas is used to melt, anneal, shape, and bend various types of glassware, and in making glass fibers. In metal fabrication, gas provides heat for forging and shaping of metal. In structural clay products, gas is used to fire and cure many types of building bricks and tile.

The use of gas in Columbus and Franklin County homes has almost doubled in the last decade. Gas is used in homes for heating, cooling, cooking, clothes drying, water heating, dishwashing, incineration and refrigeration.

Ohio Fuel's ability to meet the growing needs for gas—in homes and in industry—is due to the company's long-range expansion and improvement program, Davis said.

Davis said Ohio Fuel customers in Columbus and Franklin County have these advantages:

1. Supply through six major transmission lines.

2. A re-built and enlarged medium pressure system that forms the "backbone" of gas distribution here.

3. More than 1,643 miles of pipelines in Franklin County alone to deliver gas to customers.

4. Nearby underground storage facilities which on cold winter days supply as much as 59 percent of the gas here. At the start of the current heating season Ohio Fuel's 10 underground storage areas contained 210 billion cubic feet of gas.

Gas that goes into storage areas is delivered to Ohio from the Southwest through cross-country pipelines. It is pumped into storage areas in summer and held until it is withdrawn in winter.

Davis said Ohio Fuel in 1962 spent $2,925,000 to install 98 miles of new pipelines and other facilities in Columbus and Franklin County.

TV 4 Begins 1963 With Change In 'Jamboree' Format

"Gonna Have a Big Time Tonight!" was the first song by the Lucky Pennies on the "new" Jamboree show on TV 4, Monday night, Jan. 7, at 7 p.m. The song fits the new format and style of the week-night TV 4 feature.

Performing in country and western music, Dean Richards, the Lucky Pennies, and regular guest Bonnie Lou, all from the Saturday night Midwestern Hayride, are featured with TV 4 talent stalwart Clay Eager. Other Midwestern Hayride stars like Bobby Bobo and Zeke and Billy are to be frequent guests.

Since the premiere of Jamboree in September, it has garnered a large nightly audience for the "down-home" style country and western music that features old-time favorites as well as tunes high on the current best seller lists. Every night's show also includes a favorite hymn as a strong ingredient.

Any one who has watched the Midwestern Hayride will recognize the members of the Lucky Pennies group. Penny West, Dean's wife, is on the bass fiddle, Frankie Taylor handles the accordion, Wally Proctor strums the melody guitar, and versatile Monty Morohan plays the fiddle and trumpet plus a variety of other instruments.

Leader Dean Richards, besides adding guitar rhythm, is the lead voice in the group and emcee. Wally and Dean team up now and then for a banjo-pickin' session. Special feature of the "new" Jamboree is the appearance each Monday and Thursday night of pretty Bonnie Lou, current WLW star of the Midwestern Hayride and the Ruth Lyons' "50-50 Club." "Bill Bailey" gets an excellent presentation by Bonnie, Thursday, Jan. 10.

Complicated planning, long hours, and lots of music go into the entertainment that is seen on home screens. Because of the time burden that would result in doing the show "live" every night, production at TV 4 has been arranged so the Tuesday and Wednesday shows are done "live" and then, on those nights, three more 20-minute shows are video-taped for the remaining week nights.

This is an easier, more economical, and efficient method to present the best possible shows to viewers. It keeps the talent more rested and refreshed for livelier shows.

Loans Totaled $63 Million At First Federal Last Year

The year 1962 saw home loans made by First Federal Savings and Loan Association reach a record high of more than $63-million. Of this total, more than $15½ million in new home financing was provided by this 41-year-old Columbus institution.

Willard C. Eidson, association president, also announced total assets reached a new high in excess of $71-million at the year's end. Nearly 25,000 individual savers earned a record dividend of $2,337,000, during the past 12 months.

First Federal maintains three offices. The Hilltop office, 2680 W. Broad, corner of Warren; the Downtown office, 65 E. State-st, across from the Capitol; and the Bexley office, 2450 E. Main-st, next to the Bexley Post Office.

Other First Federal services include travelers' cheques, Christmas Club savings, money orders, checks cashed, savings bonds issued and redeemed, and safe deposit boxes.

Officers of the institution are: Willard C. Eidson, president; Paul J. Solomon, vice president and cashier; Nelson Greene, vice president and secretary; Richard I. Eidson, vice president and treasurer; Frank L. Ossing, assistant cashier; James M. Leonard, assistant cashier; M. Lucille Glick, assistant secretary; Helen E. Tannehill, assistant secretary; Grant S. Martin, assistant secretary; Beth Picard, assistant secretary; Keith Martin, attorney; Morris Lopper, general counsel.

First Federal directors are: Ralph H. Anderson, Willard C. Eidson, Richard I. Eidson, Nelson Greene, Morris Lopper, Dr. J. H. Moyer, Richard R. Rodenfels, Paul J. Solomon.

Economist Says No To '63 Recession

Geoffrey Browne, managing director of the Economist Intelligence Unit, the world's leading international research group, says 1963 may be the beginning of bigger and better things.

Taking a world-wide look, EIU predicts this year will see no recession

"Sophisticated techniques for combating recession, plus progress toward wider free trade, should form effective insurance against a major setback," Browne said.

Upward Trend In Home Building To Continue Thru '63

By JOHN E. SANDEFUR, 1962 President
Home Builders Association of Greater Columbus

The home building industry of greater Columbus has experienced a good year during 1962. The market for new houses and apartments retained its 1961 upward trend and continued to improve, especially during the summer and early fall.

The total number of units will show an appreciable increase over the 1961 volume and, in fact, will be near record setting in results.

The 1962 Parade of Homes, sponsored by the HBA of Greater Columbus, in the Gacellent attendance and could hanna area attracted an exeasily have been considered an indication of the areas continued and growing interest in new homes. The variety of models on display during the parade was also indicative of the wide range available throughout the central Ohio area.

Tri-level homes have sold well for the past few years, but sales during 1962 were stimulated by several bi-level or raised ranch models along with renewed interest in story and one half and full two-story houses.

Larger families and ever increasing lot prices have prodded the return of two story houses. Speculative builders, especially those building in large developments, have all added bi-level and two-story models during 1962.

Home building remained competitive and will continue to be so because each builder knows he must not only outmaneuver his competition, but also build houses that will motivate presently satisfied old home owners and apartment dwellers into become prospects for new house sales with their many advances and advantages.

The Columbus area has attracted attention due to its fortunate position of economic stability. This factor has and will continue to help the home building industry during 1963. Economic stability encourages population growth through both migration into the area and retention of young people.

Long term debt, such as a 20 or 25 year mortgage, is much more acceptable to all segments of the population when the economy is stable and growing steadily as it is in the greater Columbus area. Mortgage funds have also been available through conventional, FHA and VA sources and this factor can also be given credit for helping make 1962 an excellent new home year.

Columbus has many shelter craftsmen, yet the builder has the problem of scheduling the available trader and crafts due to the high demand on their services. The home building industry appears to enjoy a good builder, subcontractor, craft and material situation and hopes to continue in the present harmonious fashion.

The coming year appears to hold a continued increase in the demand for housing units. Apartment building, which has been at a very high level during 1962 may taper off by late 1963 unless occupancy take a sudden surge upward. The market for single family homes may equal 1962 provided unforseen circumstances do not adversely affect the market.

New families will continue to move into the area, the first echelon of war babies are starting to get married, the economy is good, mortgage money is available, a limited number of houses are on hand and others will be built—therefore, 1963 should be a good year for the housing industry.

The industry has always contributed substantially to the economics and business health of greater Columbus and will contiuue to do so throughout 1963 and beyond.

Announce Burger Chef Appointment

James K. Smith has been appointed Columbus area supervisor for the Burger Chef Systems, by Frank P. Thomas, president of the Indianapolis firm.

Smith has over 15 years of retail sales experience and has been manager of several Columbus area chain stores. He lives at 584 S. Ashburton-st with his wife and four children.

The three Burger Chef locations in Columbus, 3825 Indianola, 1449 Oakland-pk and 3517 Sullivant-av, are part of a national franchise chain which has more than 200 stores in 27 states.

Independents Report Gain

Telephone companies other than those affiliated with the Bell System report a rapid growth rate in 1962. However, the number of companies continued to decrease.

Harold R. Bollinger, president of the U.S. Independent Telephone Association, said the rate of growth of the independents was about 33 per cent ahead of the Bell System.

Bollinger said the primary reason was because independents serve suburban and rural area where population growth has been greatest in recent years.

Personal income per person of farm population (from all sources) was $1373 in 1961. This was about 60 per cent of that received by non-farm population. Incomes expected to increase this year and further increases likely in 1963. This expectation would reflect the continuing decline in the farm population and relative stability in aggregate net farm income.

Focusing attention upon The Community!

That is the major purpose of Hartley Newspapers. . . . To keep you well informed about your local governments, your schools, activities of a social nature, feature stories concerning the people of your community . . . in fact everything of a local nature which serves to permit you to be better community informed.

The tremendous success enjoyed by Hartley Newspapers is reflected in the phenomenal increase in circulation. More than 74,000 homes in the Columbus area receive a Hartley publication each week. This means that some 250,000 persons are regular readers of our newspapers.

Little wonder that we stick out our chests and opine that "focusing attention upon the community" has been responsible to a great extent for our greatly increased circulation, which has more than tripled in a decade.

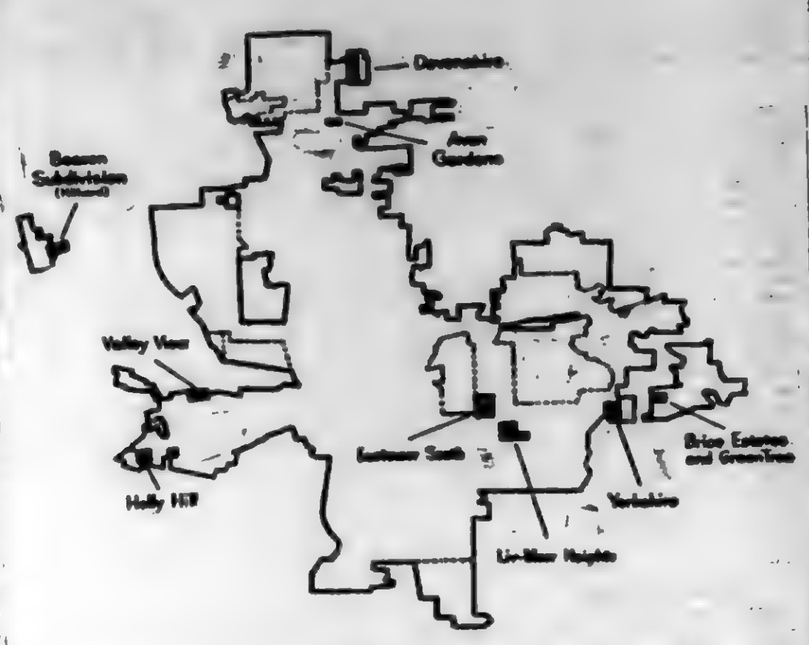
Fritsche Built 2000th Home In 1962



Ernest G. Fritsche

Over the 12 years since its founding, Ernest G. Fritsche and Co. has built more than 2,000 homes in Columbus and Franklin County. Homes are currently being built and sold in Holly Hill, off Sullivant-av; Devonshire, about one mile east of Worthington on Rt. 161; Yorkshire, on Noe-Bixby-rd, between Main and Livingston in East Columbus, and in Greentree, Reynoldsburg.

Fritsche builds on a custom basis throughout the area, including residential, multi-family and single family residences.

The Fritsche organization, one of the largest residential builders in the area, is fully staffed to provide its own land planning, development, engineering, design, field supervision, maintenance and sales.

IN THE PAST 12 YEARS Ernest G. Fritsche and Co. has built more than 2,000 homes in Columbus and Franklin County. Most of them are located in exclusive Fritsche communities shown above.

Fritsche homes are being built in price categories ranging from $12,000 to the "over $25,000 group."

When asked for background information on the growth and success of his organization, President Ernest G. Fritsche said, "We make every effort to build good and lasting value into every home, no matter what the price. We try to plan each community so that it will result in better living for the residents.

"Beyond that," Fritsche continued, "our $9.95 total cash down payment plan has proved a great boon to many of our buyers. By enabling them to buy and get into a new house," he said, "without laying out all their cash savings."

"One of the best proofs of this I have," Fritsche concluded, "is that about 40 per cent of our sales in the latest section of Holly Hill opened last fall came from referrals by residents in our earlier sections. Nearly all have used our $9.95 plan."

Production Costs Kept Net Farm Income From Rising In 1962; No Relief Seen

Net farm income in 1962 is little changed from 1961 and is expected to hold steady in 1963. While gross income has risen each year since 1959, production costs have kept pace, leaving the net stationary, but divided among fewer farmers.

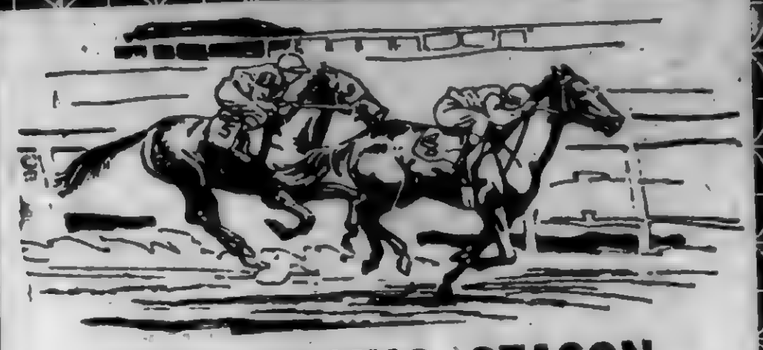
Number of consumers has increased about 2 per cent per year for the past 20 years, and farm output during the same period increased about 2.5 per cent annually. Per person consumption held practically constant. This build up of production above consumption results in an abundance of food for consumers, but tends to depress prices to producers.

Price supports for 1962 were little changed from 1961 rates. Wheat support increased slightly - soybeans, manufactured milk and butterfat all had slightly lower supports in 1962.

Farming costs in 1963 are expected to continue their upward trend of recent years. The rise will come chiefly from non-farm items used in production. Farm produced goods (feed etc.) will remain about the same. Prices received by farmers will likely sag slightly, especially on wheat and livestock. This means a slight worsening in the relative position of farmers.

A look at prices paid by farmers for production items show sharpest increases in wage rates, real estate taxes, motor vehicles and machinery, compared to the 1910-14 base period. Among the items purchased for living, building materials, auto and supplies and clothing had largest increases.

Land values are expected to continue their upward trend. In Ohio, the 1962 index was 308 per cent of 1910-14. Farm real estate debt increases at about the same rate as real estate values and stands at about 10 per cent of the value of real estate.



Total farm assets climb rapidly, and assets per farm even more sharply as size of farms increases and numbers decrease.

Livestock production responds to feed supply and to consumer demand. Meat consumption per capita has increased from 142 to 197 pounds per person over a 27 year period. Poultry more than doubled, beef increased 60 per cent — while pork showed little increase and veal and lamb each showed decrease.

Moderate producer response to improved prices for hogs during 1961 and early 1962 kept hog numbers within limits which maintained strong prices. Indications point to slightly lower hog prices the first half of 1963 as compared to a year earlier. Change in

Farm debt expected to reach $29.3 billion on Jan. 1, 1963, an increase of about six per cent or $1.6 billion since Jan. 1, 1962. CCC loans probably declined in 1962. Farmers' use of credit continuing to rise strongly in 1962, expected needs to increase again in 1963. Reflects joint effects of new technologies and cost-price squeeze.

Retailers Reach The $1 Billion Sales Mark

By P. D. Hale
Retail Merchants Assn.

The year 1962 has been a good one for the retail merchants of the Columbus Metropolitan Area.

It seems reasonable to predict that for the first time of record the retail sales volume of the area will be at or near the one billion dollar mark.

Estimates are based on figures gathered from the Fourth Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland and the Bureau of Business Research of Ohio State University. They show respectively gains of five per cent to date in department store volume and an 8.9 per cent "all type store" gain for the first 10 months of the year.

The year's record distribution of goods required the facilities of more than 5,000 retail outlets and gave employment to approximately 40,000 people.

Population increases, higher incomes and an estimated increase of more than 500,000 square feet of retail floor space, played leading roles in the results achieved. Too, alert stores used every means at their command to increase their share of the market, to cut costs and in every way possible to give more quality and quantity for the sales dollar.

The keen competition has worked to the advantage of the customer and to the desirability of the Columbus market as a place to shop.

The year has been marked by the rapid expansion of the retail industry, increasing interest of government in regulatory efforts in advertising and display, credit, labeling, etc., a widespread effort to regulate the sale of merchandise on Sunday, and a changing pattern of shoppers' habits and needs.

All have left their mark on the policies and practices of the stores, and all are of value in the shaping of plans to better serve the buying public.

Increased spending by government and business is anticipated and will still further bolster the economy of the city. Tax cuts, if voted in the new year, will add a real spark to all 1963 business.

The year will also see the addition of many new and expanding retail facilities, including some old names and some names new to the city. Plans are in the drawing board stage for many of these ventures, and each in turn, when opened to the public, will add to the drawing power of the Columbus market.

Completion of additional stretches of our expressway program, increase in the number of new commercial buildings, which offer employment to potential retail customers, in new hotels and apartments which offer living space near the heart of the city—all will be helpful to retail business and especially to those located in the Core area.

Of one thing we may be sure: Columbus merchants will meet the challenges of 1963 as aggressively as they know how, and this effort, coupled with the generally favorable business climate that exists at this time, will insure another good year of business for the merchant, and increased service and satisfaction for the customer.

"CUSTOMERS ARE FRIENDS, not just people who spend money," is the motto on which the Christian Book Store, 179 S. High-st, is operated. Here the proprietor, Mrs. Mildred Smith, displays one of the store's many inspirational books. According to Mrs. Smith, public interest in religious writings have increased immensely in the past several years.

'Personal Touch' Is Book Store Theme

By JERRY WOLFROM

From an obscure bookstore clerk to director of National Christian Book Sellers Association best describes the rapid success story of Mr. Mildred Smith, owner of the Christian Book Store, 179 S. High-st.

And for Mrs. Smith, who has made a fabulous success of her business despite no training or experience, the friends she has made in the store are more gratifying than any monetary considerations.

"We try for a personal touch," she says. "Our store is not merely a place to spend money—it's a place to make friends."

The thriving Christian Book Store had no church accounts or regular customers in 1953 when Mrs. Smith took over. Today the shop can boast of over 400 church accounts and an important list of professional leaders who drop in regularly.

"They ask for commentaries, and concordances — helps in understanding the Bible, and for inspirational writings" Mrs. Smith explained earnestly. She commented that more and more people are realizing a need for need for strength and wisdom.

The store is well stocked with religious books, records, greeting cards, sheet music, paintings, jewelry, art objects, and ceramic novelties. All merchandise is carefully hand-picked by the owner who makes regular buying trips to New York, Chicago, St. Louis, Miami, and Washington.

Mrs. Smith noted that religious gifts were quite popular as Christmas presents. "This has been a continuous trend since I've been here," she said. Christian records for children were perhaps the largest single item preferred by parents for their children, she commented.

Alone and frightened in a strange city when her husband, a young naval pilot, died soon after the family's transfer to Columbus, Mrs. Smith threw herself into the unknown enterprise in an effort to forget her grief.

Today she is listed among the top 10 booksellers in a three-state area.

EXPANSION AND CONSTRUCTION KEYNOTED

Long-Range Planning During '62 Highlighted Church Activity Here

By Dr. G. Weir Hartman,
Executive Director Columbus Area Council of Churches

Keeping pace with the growth of Columbus in these expansive times, are the churches and their services to the community. Each year witnesses an expansion that could not possibly have been foreseen a decade ago. Not only have the churches been forced to expand rapidly, but have had to do emergency long-range planning at the same time.

New Congregations

One measure of growth is the number of new congregations and buildings that have come into being in 1962. Dozens of new plants are in the process of being constructed and enlarged. Six locations for new congregations were approved by the denominations through their survey and comity committee of the Columbus Area Council of Churches. Soon there will be congregations serving in those areas where none now exists.

No less than 84 new congregations have been established since 1945; the rate of expansion remains undiminished.

Another notable advance in Central Ohio is the development of Church-related housing for retired and senior citizens. Just a year ago, Bristol Village at Waverly was purchased by the Presbyterian Incorporation, Church Homes, Inc. of which Boulevard Presbyterian Church of Upper Arlington is a party. The project will provide for 365 family units.

This year also has seen the ground-breaking and partial construction of First Community Village, a project of First Community Church. The Village will provide housing for 450 families, the first of which will be ready for occupancy before the end of the year. The minister-director for the Village is Rev. James Bidle, and business manager is Robert Keller.

On Dec. 16, ground was broken for the Lutheran Senior City on Rt. 62 at Parkview-av. The city will provide 269 housing units, with some infirmary facilities at a cost of $2,650,000.00. Heading this project for the Lutheran Welfare League is the Rev. Arthur Rismiller, Geriatics Chaplain for the League.

Council Membership Grows

During 1862, eight congregations voted voluntarily to become members of the Council of Churches. Four of these are newly-organized congregations which have had their first opportunity to make application, and the other four are older congregations.

This brings the formal membership in the Council to 152 congregations in the metropolitan area, the largest number of churches ever to hold membership.

Beginning Jan. 1, there is a Department of Faith and Order in the structure of the Council of Churches.

Faith and Order is the Department that has for its concern, matters of theological questions. What is the nature of the church? What is the nature of man? Is he the child of God or is he the child of Satan? What is Christian Baptism? What is the nature of the Christian Ministry and Ordination?

These and many related theological questions are the concern of Faith and Order. This concern was first developed on the world level, where denominations met in world conclave to face their differences. It attempts reconciliation and mutual reognition in looking toward the greater unity of the church.

It has made such an impact on the world scene, that now local congregations are involving themselves in this kind of confrontation. Chairman of the new department is the Rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Columbus, Mr. Jonathan N. Mitchell. This department involving local congregations, will parallel the theological studies that are being carried on by the denominational families. Its end result will be greater rapprochement among the denominations and a greater pathway to church unity.
